

BS198
.D5S42

Library of The Theological Seminary

PRINCETON • NEW JERSEY

PRESENTED BY Princeton University Library

BS198
.D5S42

XV 920

1059

✓
Bible. O.T. Psalms. English. (Scotland). 857.

THE

BOOK OF PSALMS

IN

LOWLAND SCOTCH:

FROM

THE AUTHORISED ENGLISH VERSION.

BY HENRY SCOTT RIDDELL.

LONDON: MDCCCLVII.

Of this volume we certify that only Two Hundred and Fifty Copies were printed, including one on thick paper.

ROBSON, LEVEY, AND FRANKLYN.

LONDON:
PRINTED BY ROBSON, LEVEY, AND FRANKLYN,
Great New Street and Fetter Lane.

THE BUIK O' PSALMS.

I.

BLISSET is the man wha gangsna in the cunsil o' the ungodlie; nar stan's in the waye o' sinnirs, nar sits in the settle o' the mokriffe:

2 But his delicht is in the law o' the Lord; an' on his law deth he muuse deeplie baith daye and nicht.

3 He sall be like ane trie sette bie the rinners o' water, that brings foret his frute in his seesen; his leefse alsua sallna wuther; an' whatsaevir he deth sall do weel.

4 The ungodlie arna sae: but ar like the caff, whilk the wund draeives awa.

5 Therfor the ungodlie sallna stan' in the juugdemint, nar sinnirs in the congregatioun o' the richteous.

6 For the Lord kens the waye o' the richteous: but the waye o' the ungodlie sall be utterlie schent.

II.

WHY do the hœaethin frennisinlie forgether, an' the peeples imagin ane vaine thing?

2 The kings o' the yirth sete thamsel's, an' the ruulers tak' cunsil thegither agayne the Lord, an' agayne his Anointed, sayin',

3 Let us briek thair ban's asinder, an' throw thair coords awa frae us.

4 He that sits in heæven sall lauch: the Lord sall hae thame in skoorn.

5 Than sall he speik untill thame in wræth, an' veks thame in his sair displeesur.

6 But for a' this hae I sete my King apoun my haly hill o' Zion.

7 I wull speik furth the decree: the Lord heth said untill me, Thou art my Son; this daye hae I gotten thee.

8 Ax o' me, an' I sall gie thee the heathin for thine heirskep, an' the maist owt-bye pairts o' the yirth for thy haudin.

9 Thou sallt brik thame wi' ane rodd o' ern; thou sallt basch thame intil flendirs like ane patter's vesshel.

10 Be wyse nowe therfor, O ye kings; be instruket, ye juudges o' the yirth.

11 Ser' the Lord wi' dreædour, an' rejoyce wi' trimmlin'.

12 Kissè the Son, in kase he be angerie, an' ye dree destruckshon in the waye whan his wræth is kinlet onlie awee.

13 Blisset ar a' thaye wha pit thair trust in him.

III.

† Ane Psalm o' David, whan he fiede frae Absalom.

LORD, howe ar thaye inkresset that truble me? Monie ar thaye that ræise up agayne me.

2 Monie ther be whilk say o' my saul, Ther is nae helpe in God for him. Selah.

3 But thou, O God, art my sheeld aroun me, my glorie, an' the upliftir o' mine heæd.

4 I cryet untill the Lord wi' my voyce, an' he heærd me owt o' his haly hill. Selah.

5 I layde me doun an' sleepet; I awaukenet; for the Lord sussteenet me.

6 I wullna be rade o' ten thousans o' peeple that hae sete thamesel's agayne me roun aboot.

7 Ræise up, O Lord; saufe me, O my God; for thou hest hutten a' mine enimies apoun the cheikbane: thou hest broken the teeth o' the ungodlie.

8 Salvatione belangs untill the Lord; thy blissin' is apoun thy peeple. Selah.

IV.

¶ Til the chief musicien on Neginoth, Ane Psalm o' David.

HEÆR me whan I ca', O God o' my richteousniss: thou hest afore nowe sete me free whan I was in distresse: hae mercie apon me, an' heær my præyer.

2 O ye sons o' men, howe lang wull ye turn my glorie intil shæme? howe lang wull ye loe vaintie, an' seik efter lees? Selah.

3 But wæte ye that the Lord heth wælet owt for himsel' him that is godlie: the Lord wull heær whan I ca' untill him.

4 Stan' in aw, an' sinna: speik wi' your ain hairt apon your bed, an' be quæit. Selah.

5 Affer ye the saacrifices o' richteousniss, an' pit your trust in the Lord.

6 Ther be monie that say, Wha wull shaw us onie guid? Lord, lifte thou up the licht o' thy countenance apon us.

7 Thou hest putten gladsumeniss in my hairt, mair nor in the time that thair coorn an' thair wine inkresset.

8 I wull baith laye me doun in peece, an' sleepe; for thou, O Lord, onlie makist me til dwell in sauftie.

V.

¶ Til the chief musicien on Neginoth, Ane Psalm o' David.

GIE æar untill my wurd, O Lord; considir my meditatione.

2 Herkan untill the voyce o' my crye, my King an' my God; for untill thee wull I præy.

3 My voyce sallt thou heær in the moornin', O Lord: in the moornin' wull I dereck my præyer untill thee, an' luik up.

4 For thou artne ane God that heth plesur in wicketniss: næther sall it dwell wi' thee.

5 The fulish sallna stan' in thy sicht: thou hætist a' wurkers o' inequitie.

6 Thou sallt destroye thame that speik lees: the Lord wull ug at the bluidie, an' slee ane leein' man.

7 But as for me, I wull cum intil thy hous in the multetud o' thy mercie; an' in thy feær wull I wurship gaitwairds thy haly temple.

8 Leede me, O Lord, in thy richteousniss because o' mine eni-mies; mak' thy waye straught afore my fece.

9 For ther is nae faithfuniss in thair mooth; thair inwaird pairts ar wicketniss itsel'; thair hauss is ane opin graffe; thaye culyie wi' thair tung.

10 Destroye thou thame, O God; let thame fa' bie thair ain cunsils: thraw thame owt in the multetud of thair wrang-gangin's; for thaye hae thrawartlie liftet thamesel's up agayne thee.

11 But let a' thae that pit thair trust in thee rejoyce; let thame evir speik ludly owt for joye, because thou defen'ist thame; let thame alsua that loe thy næme be joyfu' in thee.

12 For thou, Lord, wult bliss the richteous: wi' faavor thou wult surroun him as wi' ane sheeld.

VI.

¶ Til the chief musicien on Neginoth apon Sheminith, Ane Psalm o' David.

O LORD, rebuikna me in thine angir; næther chesan me in thy het displeesur.

2 Hae mercie apon me, O Lord; for I am waff; hæle me, O Lord, for my banes ar vekset.

3 My saul is alsua sair vekset; but thou, O Lord, howe lang?

4 Cum agayne, O Lord, an' delifer my saul; och saufe me for thy mercie's sak'.

5 For in deæth ther is nae remembirence o' thee: in the graffe wha wull gie thee thanks?

6 I am wearie wi' my greanin'; the lee-lang nicht mak' I my bed til soom; I water my cuuch wi' my teærs.

7 Mine ee is consuemet becaus o' dool; it growes auld becaus o' a' my faes.

8 Gae awa frae me, a' ye wurkers o' inequitie; for the Lord heth heærd the voyce o' my maenin'.

9 The Lord heth heærd my supplicatione; the Lord wull re-ceife my præyer.

10 Let a' mine eniemies be shæmit an' sair vekset; let thame turn bak an' be shæmet suddanlie.

VII.

† Shiggaion o' David, whilk he sang untill the Lord anent the wurd's o' Cush the Benjamite.

O LORD my God, in thee do I pit my trust; saufe me frae a' thame that persikute me, an' delifer me.

2 In kase he ræive my saul like ane lion, tatterin it in pieces, quhile ther is nane til delifer.

3 O Lord my God, gif I hae dune this, gif ther be inequitie in my han's;

4 Gif I hae rewairdet ill til him that was at peece wi' me (ay, an' I hae deliferet him that wuthouten caus is mine enimie);

5 Let the enimie persikute my saul, an' tak' it; yis, let him tramp down my liffe apoun the yirth, an' laye mine honor in the mool. Selah.

6 Ræise up, O Lord, in thine angir; lifte up thyself becaus o' the frennisin o' mine enimies; an' awauken for me til the juudge-mint that thou hest oordiret.

7 Sae sall the congregatioun o' the people be roun aboot thee; for thair sak's therfor turn thou bak on hie.

8 The Lord sall juudge the peepel: juudge me, O Lord, akordin' til my richteousniss, an' akordin' til my intiritie that is in me.

9 Och let the wicketniss o' the wicket cum til ane en'; but sete firm an' mak' siccer the just: for the richteous God tryes the hairts an' reens.

10 My saufgaird is in God, which saufes the upright in hairt.

11 God juudges the richteous, an' God is angirie wi' the wicket ilka daye.

12 Gif he turnna, he wull sherpen his sword; he heth bendet his bowe, an' mæde it readie.

13 He heth alsua prepairet for him the instriments o' deaeth; he ordeens his arras agayne the persikuters.

14 Behald the wicket travails wi' inequitie, an' heth conceifet mischief, an' brung furth fausehuud.

15 He mæde ane pitt an' howket it deepe, an' heth fa'n intil the seuch whilk he mæde.

16 His mischief sall turn bak on his ain heæd, an' his vielent deelin's sall cum down apoun his ain powe.

17 I wull prayse the Lord akordin' til his richteousniss; an' wull sing prayse til the nàme o' the Maist Hie.

VIII.

¶ Til the chief musicien apon Gittith, Ane Psalm o' David.

O LORD our Lord, howe eksellent is thy nàme in a' the yirth! wha heth sete thy glorie aboone the heàvens.

2 Owt o' the mooth o' bairns an' sookin' weans hest thou ordeenet strencth, becaus o' thine enimies, that thou michist quæit the enimie an' the avangir.

3 Whan I tak' a thóught o' thy heàvens, the wark o' thy fingirs, the muun an' the sterns, whilk thou hest ordeenet;

4 What is man, that thou art min'fu' o' him? an' the son o' man, that thou shudist veesit him?

5 For thou hest mæde him awee leauher nor the angils, an' hest crownet him wi' glorie an' honor.

6 Thou mædist him til hae owerance ower the warks o' thy han's: thou hest putten a' things ãnæth his feet:

7 A' sheepe an' owsen, ay, an' the beàsts o' the feeld;

8 The fowle o' the air, an' the fisch o' the se, an' whatsaevir passes throwe the peths o' the seis.

9 O Lord our Lord, howe eksellent is thy nàme in a' the yirth!

IX.

¶ Til the chief musicien apon Muth-labben, Ane Psalm o' David.

I WULL prayse thee, O Lord, wi' my haill hairt; I wull shaw furth a' thy mervellous warks.

2 I wull be gladsume an' rejoyce in thee: I wull sing prayse untill thy nàme, O thou Maist Hie.

3 Whan mine enimies ar turnet bak, thaye sall fa' an' perrishe at thy preesence.

4 For thou hest manteenet my richt an' caus; thou sattist in the throne juudgein' richt.

5 Thou hest snibbet the heàthin; thou hest destroyet the wicket: thair nàme thou hest putten owt for evir an' evir.

6 Och thou enimie, destruckshons hae cum til ane perpetewal en'; an' thou hest destroyet cities; thair memorall hæs perrishet wi' thame.

7 But the Lord sall induur foraye; he heth prepairet his throne for juudgemint;

8 An' he sall juudge the warld in richteousniss; he sall deel owt juudgemint til the peepel in uprichtniss.

9 The Lord alsua wull be ane saufe hie-plece for the oppresset; ane saufe hie-howff in times o' truble.

10 An' thaye that ken thy næme wull pit thair trust in thee; for thou, O Lord, hestna forhowet thame that seik thee.

11 Sing prayes til the Lord whilk dwalls in Zion; speik furth amang the peepel his doin's.

12 Whan he mak's inquæirie anent bluid, he min's thame: he forgetsna the crye o' the lawlie.

13 Hac mercie apon me, O Lord; considir my truble whilk I thole o' thame that hæte me, thou that listist me up frae the yettes o' deæth.

14 That in the yettes o' the douchter o' Zion I may shaw furth a' thy prayse: I wull rejoyce in thy salvatione.

15 The heæthin ar sunk down in the pitt whilk thaye mæde: in the nette whilk thaye hæde is thair ain fit taen.

16 The Lord is kennet bie the juudgemints that he deth; the wicket is girnet in the wark o' his ain han's. Higgaion. Selah.

17 The wicket sall be turnet intil hell, an' a' the nationes that forgete God.

18 For the needie sallna alwaye be forgottan: the expecttashon o' the puir sallna perrishe foraye.

19 Ræise up, O Lord, letna man get the owerance; let the heæthin be juudget in thy sicht.

20 Pit thame in dreædour, O Lord; that the nationes may ken thamesel's til be but men. Selah.

X.

WHAREFOR stan'ist thou afer aff, O Lord? Why hydist thou thyself in times o' truble?

2 The wicket in his pryde deth persikute the puir: let thame be taen in the contræivences whilk they hae imagnet.

3 For the wicket brags o' his hairt's desyre, an' blisses the greedie, wham the Lord abhorrs.

4 The wicket through the pryde o' his fece wullna seik efter God: God isna in a' his thoughts.

5 His wayes ar alwæies greifous; thy juudgemints ar fer aboone owt o' his sicht; as for a' his enimies, he pauchtilie geeks at thame.

6 He heth said in his hairt, I sallna be muvet; for I sall nevir be in wanluek weird.

7 His mooth is fu' o' banin', deceite, an' cheeterie: anunder his tung is mischeef an' vainitie.

8 He sits in the lurkin' plices o' the clauchans, in the hidden plices deth he murther the innicent; his eyne ar seceretlie set agayne the puir.

9 Seceretlie deth he lye in waite as ane lion in his den; he lyes waitin' til clutch the puir; he deth clutch the puir whan he wyzes thame intil his nette.

10 He cruuches down an' hummles himsel', that the puir maye fa' bie his strang anes.

11 He heth said in his hairt, God heth forgottan: he hydes his fece; he wull nevir see it.

12 Ræise up, O Lord: O God, lifte up thy han'; forgetna the afflicket.

13 Wherefor deth the wicket condem God? he heth said in his hairt, Thou wultna requæire it.

14 Thou hest seen it; for thou behaldist mischeef an' spyte, til requyte it wi' thy han': the puir commits himsel' til thee; thou art the helpir o' the faetherliss.

15 Brik thou the ærm o' the wicket an' ill man; seik owt his wicketniss til thou fin' nane.

16 The Lord is King for evir an' evir; the heæthin ar perrishet owt o' his lan'.

17 Lord, thou hest heærd the desyre o' the humble; thou wult prepar thair hairts; thou wult caus thine eær til heær;

18 Til juudge the faethirliss an' oppresset, that the man o' the yirth maye oppress nae langir.

XI.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

IN the Lord pit I my trust: howe say ye til my saul, Flee as ane burd til your mountan?

2 For lo, the wicket ben' thair bowe; thaye mak' readie thair arra apon the string, that thaye maye hiddlinslie schuut at the upricht in hairt.

3 Gif the fuoundationes be destroyet, what can the richteous do?

4 The Lord is in his haly temple, the Lord's throne is in heæven; his eyne behald, his eelydes trye the childer o' men.

5 The Lord tryes the richteous; but the wicket, an' him that loes violence, his saul hætes.

6 Apon the wicket he sall raine girns, fire an' brumstane, an' ane horrabil tempist: this sall be the portione o' thair cupp.

7 For the richteous Lord loes richteousniss; his countenance deth behald the upricht.

XII.

¶ Til the chief musicien apon Sheminit, Ane Psalm o' David.

HELP, Lord; for the godlie man ceeses; for the faithfu' fæil frae amang the childer o' men.

2 They speik vaintie ilka ane wi' his neeber: wi' fleichin' lipps, an' wi' ane duuble hairt do thaye speik.

3 The Lord sall sneg aff a' fleichin' lipps, an' the tung that speiks pruud things;

4 Wha hae said, Wi' our tung wull we gett the better; our lipps ar our ain: wha is Lord ower us?

5 For the oppresione o' the puir, for the sichin' o' the needie, nowe wull I ræise up, sayth the Lord; I wull sete him in sauftie frae him that wad wyze him intil skaith.

6 The wurd's o' the Lord ar pure wurd's: as siller tryet in ane yirthen krusabil purifiet se'en times.

7 Thou saltt keepe thame, O Lord, thou saltt preserfe thame frae this ganæratian forever.

8 The wicket gang on ilka syde whan the vilist men ar sete hie up.

XIII.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

HOWE lang wult thou forget me, O Lord? forever? howe lang wult thou hyde thy fece frae me?

2 Howe lang sall I tak' cunsil in my saul, haein' dool in my hairt daylie? howe lang sall mine enimie be eksaltet ower me?

3 Considdir, an' heær me, O Lord my God: lichten mine eyne in kase I sleepe the sleepe o' deaeth.

4 In kase mine enimie say, I hae prevailet agayne him; an' thae that truble me rejoyce whan I am muvet.

5 But I hae trustet in thy mercie: my hairt sall rejoyce in thy salvatione.

6 I wull sing untill the Lord, becaus he heth deelt buntifullie wi' me.

XIV.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

THE fule heth said in his hairt, Ther is nae God. Thaye ar corrup; thaye hae dune abomnabil warks; ther is nane that deth guid.

2 The Lord luiket doun frae heæven upon the childer o' men, til see gif ther wer onie that did understan', an' seik God.

3 Thaye ar a' gane aglee: thaye ar a'thegethir becum foulsume; ther is nane that deth guid, na, nat ane.

4 Hae a' the wurkers o' inequitie nae wætin'? wha eet up my peeples as thaye eet breæd, an' ca'na upon the Lord.

5 Ther wer thaye in grit dreædour; for God is in the congregatione o' the richteous.

6 Ye hae shæmet the cunsil of the puir, becaus the Lord is his scug.

7 Och that the salvatione o' Israel wer cum owt o' Zion! Whan the Lord brings bak the captifitie o' his peeples, Jacob sall rejoyce, an' Israel sall be gladsume.

XV.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

LORD, wha sall byde in thy taabernakle? wha sall dwell in thy haly hill?

2 He that gangs uprightlie, an' wurks richteousniss, an' speiks the trouth in his hairt.

3 He that bakbytesna wi' his tung, nar deth ill till his neeber: nar tak's up ane reproch agayne his neeber.

4 In whase eyne ane vyle persone is condemet : but he honors thame that fear the Lord : he that sweers til his ain skaith, an' jangilsna.

5 He that pitsna owt his moneye til uurie, nar tak's rewaird agayne the innicent : he that deth thae things sall nevir be muvet.

XVI.

¶ Michtam o' David.

PRESERVE me, O God : for in thee do I pit my trust.

2 O my saul, thou hest said untill the Lord, Thou art my Lord : my guidniss reechesna til thee ;

3 But til the saunts that ar in the yirth, an' til the eksellent, in wham is my delight.

4 Thair meseries sall becum monie that hie on til anither god : thair drynk-afferin's o' bluid I wullna offer, næther tak' up thair næmes intill my lipps.

5 The Lord is the portione o' my heirskep, an' my cupp : thou haudist up my lote.

6 The lynes ar fa'n untill me in winsume plices : trewlie I hae ane guiddie heirskep.

7 I wull bliss the Lord wha hæs gien me cunsil ; my reens alsua instruck me in the nicht seesens.

8 I hae aye sete the Lord afore me : becaus he is at my richt han' I sallna be muvet.

9 Therfor my hairt is gladsume, an' my glorie rejoyces ; my flesch alsua sall reste in houe.

10 For thou wultna leefte my saul in hell : næther wult thou thole thine Haly Ane til see corrupshon.

11 Thou wult shaw me the peth o' liffe : in thy preesince is fu'niss o' joye ; at thy richt han' ther ar pleesurs for evirmair.

XVII.

¶ Ane Præyer o' David.

HEÆR the richt, O Lord ; tent weel my crye ; gie cær untill my præyer, that gaesna furth frae unleilfu' lipps.

2 Let my sentince cum furth frae thy preesince ; let thine eyne behald the things that are equall.

3 Thou hest pruvet mine hairt; thou hest veesitet me in the nicht; thou hest tryet me, an' sall fin' naething. I am determinet that my mooth sallna speik wrangfullie.

4 Anent the warks o' men, bie the wurd o' thy lipps I hae keepit me frae the peth o' the destroyir.

5 Haud up my gaeings in thy peths, that my fitsteps sklydena.

6 I hae ca't apon thee, for thou wult heär me, O God; leen thine eär untill me, an' heär my speeche.

7 Shaw thy mervellous loein-kindniss, O thou that saufest bie thy richt han' thame that pit their trust in thee frae thae that ræise up agayne thame.

8 Keepe me as the apple o' the ee: hyde me aneæth the skad-daw o' thy wings, 9 Frae the wicket that oppresse me, frae my mortall faes wha ar roon about me.

10 Thaye ar kaset up in thair ane taugh; wi' thair mooth thaye speik pruudlie:

11 Thaye hae nowe gane roun about us in our steps; thaye hae sete thair eyne beekin' down til the yirth.

12 Like as ane lion that is yaup for his præye, an' as it wer ane yung lion lurkin' in hiddin plices.

13 Ræise up, O Lord; disappoynt him, ding him down; delifer my saul frae the wicket, whilk is thy sword:

14 Frae men whilk ar thy han', O Lord, frae men o' the world whilk hae thair portione in this liffe, an' whose kyte thou fillist wi' thy hydden thesauer; thaye ar fu' o' childer, an' leefe the rest o' thair guids an' geer til thair weans.

15 As for me, I wull behald thy fece in richteousniss; I sall be satisfiet whan I awauken wi' thy likeniss.

XVIII.

¶ Til the chief musicien; Ane Psalm o' David, the servent o' the Lord, wha spak untill the Lord the wurd o' this sang, in the daye that the Lord deliferet him frae the maigs o' his enimies, an' frae the maigs o' Saul.

I WULL loe thee, O Lord, my strenth.

2 The Lord is my rok, an' my reive, an' my deliferer; my God, my strenth, in wham I wull trust; my buklir, an' the hoorn o' my salvatione, an' my hie towir.

3 I wull ca' apon the Lord, wha is wurdie til be prayset; sae sall I be saufet frae a' mine enimies.

4 The brikers o' deaeth cam' roun aboot me; the fludes o' ungodlie men mæde me afeæret.

5 The coords o' hell wer roun aboot me; the girns o' deaeth preventet me.

6 In my sair weird I ca't apon the Lord, an' cryet untill my God; he heärd my voyce owt o' his temple; my crye cam' afore him, een intil his eärs.

7 Than the yirth shuuk an' trimmlet: the fuundationes alsua o' the hills muvet an' wer shogglet, becaus he was angirie.

8 Ther gaed up ane reek owt o' his nostirles, an' fire owt o' his mooth devooret; kools wer kinlet bie it.

9 He bowet the heävens alsua, an' cam' doun: an' mirkniss was anunder his feet.

10 An he ræde apon ane cherub, an' did flie; yis, he did flie apon the wings o' the wund.

11 He mæde mirkniss his seceret plece: his pavilione roun' aboot him wer mirk waters, an' thyk cluds o' the skyes.

12 At the sheene that was afore him, his thyk cluds passet; hailstones an' kools o' fire.

13 The Lord alsua thunmeret in the heävens, an' the Hieist gæfe his voyce; hailstones an' kools o' fire.

14 Yis, he sendet owt his arras, an' skatteret thame; he schot owt lichtenin's, an' dumfuunderet thame.

15 Than the chennels o' the waters wer seen, an' the fuundationes o' the warld wer mæde bare at thy rebuik, O Lord, at the blast o' the bræath o' thy nostirles.

16 He sendet frae aboone; he tuik me, he dragget me owt o' monie waters.

17 He deliferet me frae my strang fae, an' frae thame that hætet me: for thaye wer ower strang for me.

18 Thaye gaed afore til hamper me in the daye o' my sair wan-luck; but the Lord was my staye.

19 He brang me furth alsua intil ane free an' roomie plece: he deliferet me becaus he delichtet in me.

20 The Lord rewairdet me akordin' til my richteousniss; akordin' til the cleenniss o' my han's he heth foryeildet me.

21 For I hae keepet the wayes o' the Lord, an' haena wicketlie turnet awa frae thame.

22 For a' his judgemints wer afore me, an' his staatutes frae me I didna pit awa.

23 I was alsua upricht afore him, an' keepet mysel' frae mine inequitie.

24 Therfor heth the Lord rewairdet me akordin' til my rich-teousniss; akordin' til the cleenniss o' my han's in his ee-sicht.

25 Wi' the mercifu' thou wult shaw thyself' mercifu': wi' the upricht man thou wult shaw thyself' upricht.

26 Wi' the pure thou wult shaw thyself' pure; an' wi' the thrawart wicht thou wult kythe thrawart.

27 For thou wult saufe the afflicket fouk, but wult bring down heich luiks.

28 For thou wult licht my canel: the Lord my God wull enlichten my derkniss.

29 For bie thee hae I brokin throwe ane truup: an' bie my God I hae jumpet ower ane wa'.

30 As for God, his waye is perfite: the wurd o' the Lord is tryet; he is ane buklir untill a' thame that trust in him.

31 For wha is God saufin' the Lord? or wha is ane rok excepin' our God?

32 It is the Lord wha graithes me wi' strength, an' mak's my waye perfite.

33 He mak's my feet like hinds' feet, an' setes me up apon my hie plices.

34 He instrucks my han's howe til mak' weir, sae that bie mine aerms ane bowe o' steel is brokin.

35 Thou hest alsua gien me the sheeld o' thy salvatione; an' thy richt han' hæs hauden me up, an' wi' thy leal kindniss thou hest mæde me grit.

36 Thou hest mæde braide my steps anunder me, that my feet didna sklyde.

37 I hae pursuet my faes an' owertaen thame; næther did I turn agane til thaye wer consumet.

38 I hae wuundet thame that thaye werna yeable til ræise; thaye ar fa'n aneæth my feet.

39 For thou hest girthet me wi' strenth untill the battel:
thou hest causet thae til hurkle down anunder me, that ræse up agayne me.

40 Thou hest alsua gien me the necks o' my faes, that I nicht destroye thame that hæte me.

41 Thaye cryet, but ther was nane til saufe thame; een untill the Lord, but he didna answir thame:

42 Than did I betchell thame sma' as the stour afore the wund: I did thraw thame owt as the glar in the throwegangs.

43 Thou hest deliferet me frae the strævins o' the peeples; an' thou hest mæde mē the heæd o' the heæthin; ane people wham I haena kennet sall ser' me.

44 As sune as thaye heær o' me, thaye sall obeye me; the sons o' the fremet sall gie in untill me.

45 The strangirs sall eelie awa, an' be afeæret owt o' thair clos pieces.

46 The Lord leiveth; an' blisset be my rok; an' let the God o' my salvatione be sete hie.

47 It is God that gies avangemints for me, an' brings the peeples doun anunder me.

48 He delifers me frae mine enemies: ay, thou listist me up aboone thae that ræise up agayne me: thou hest freet me frae the bluid-thristie man.

49 Therfor wull I gie thanks untill thee, O Lord, among the heæthin; an' sing prayes untill thy næme.

50 Grit delifrance gies he til the King, an' shaws mercie til his anaintet, til David, an' til his affspring forever.

XIX.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

THE heævens speik furth the glorie o' God; an' the lyft shaws his han'iwarks.

2 Daye untill daye utters speeche, an' nicht untill nicht shaws knaledje.

3 Ther is nae speeche nar langwudje whare thair voyce isna heard.

4 Thair lyne hæes gane owt throwe a' the yirth, an' thair wurd til the en' o' the warld. In thame he heth set ane taabernakle for the sun;

5 Whilk is as ane bridegroome cumin' owt o' his chammer, an' rejoyces as ane strang man til rin his rece.

6 His gaeing furth is frae the en' o' the heæven, an' roun' til the en' o't agane; an' there is naething hidden frae his heet.

7 The law o' the Lord is perfite, konvertin' the saul; the testimonie o' the Lord is siccer, makin' wyse the simpel.

8 The staatutes o' the Lord ar richt, makin' the hairt gladsume: the commandement o' the Lord is pure, enlichtenin' the eyne.

9 The feær o' the Lord is cleen, induurin' forevir; the judge-mints o' the Lord ar true, an' athegither richteous.

10 Mair til be desiret ar thaye nor gowd, yis, nor meikle fyne gowd; sweeter alsua nor hinnie, an' the hinnie-kaim.

11 Mairatour bie thame is thy servent wærnet; an' in keepin' o' thame ther is grit rewaird.

12 Wha can understan' his errirs: cleense thou me frae seceret fauts.

13 Keepe bak thy servent frae the sins o' wullfu' perversitie; letna thame hae powir ower me; than sall I be upricht, an' saikless o' the grit transgressionne.

14 Let the wurd o' my mooth, an' the thought o' my hairt be accepabil in thy sicht, O Lord, my strenth an' my redeimir.

XX.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

THE Lord heær thee in the daye o' truble: the næme o' the God o' Jacob defen' thee.

2 Sen' thee helpe frae the sanctuarie, an' refreshen thee wi' strenth owt o' Zion.

3 Reca' til min' a' thy afferin's, an' accep a' thy brunt saacrifices. Selah.

4 Gie til thee akordin' til thine ain hairt, an' fuffill a' thy cunsil.

5 We wull rejoyce in thy salvatione; an' in the næme o' our God we wull sete up our bannirs: the Lord fuffill a' thy præyers.

6 Nowe do I ken that the Lord saufes his anaintet: he wull heær him frae his haly heæven wi' the saufin' strenth o' his richt han'.

7 Sume pit-confydinge in chariats, an' sume in horses; but we wull ca' til min' the næme o' the Lord our God.

8 Thaye ar brung down, an' fa'n; we are risen an' stan' upricht.

9 Saufe, Lord: let the King heær whan we ca'.

XXI.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

THE king sall joye in thy strenth, O Lord; an' in thy salvatione gritlie sall he rejoyce.

2 Thou hest gien him his hairt's desyre, an' hestna wuthhauden the requist o' his lipps. Selah.

3 Thou gaeist afore him wi' the blissin's o' guidniss: apoun his heæd thou settist ane crowne o' pure gowd.

4 He axet liffe o' thee, an' thou giefist it him, een lenth o' dayes forevir an' evir.

5 His glorie is grit in thy salvatione: honor an' magestie hest thou laide apoun him.

6 For thou hest mæde him maist blisset forevir; thou hest mæde him excessiv gladsume wi' thy countenance.

7 For the king trusts in the Lord; an' throwe the mercie o' the Maist Hie he sallna be muvet.

8 Thine han' sall fin' owt a' thine enimies: thy richt han' sall fin' owt thae that hæte thee.

9 Thou sallt mak' thame as ane frie oon in the time o' thine angir; the Lord sall swallie thame up in his wræth, an' the fire sall devoor thame.

10 Thair frute sallt thou destroye frae aff the yirth: an' thair seid frae amang the childer o' men.

11 For thaye ettlet ill agayne thee: thaye imaginet ane mischeevous contræivence whilk thaye werna yeable til carryie throwe.

12 Therfor sallt thou mak' thame turn thair bak whan thou sallt mak' readie thine arras apoun thy strings agayne the fece o' thame.

13 Be thou set hie up, O Lord, in thine ain strenth; sae sall we sing the prayes o' thy powir.

XXII.

¶ Til the chief musicien apoun Aijelet Shahr, Ane Psalm o' David.

MY God, my God, wharefore hest thou forhowet me? why art thou sae fer frae helpin' me, an' frae the wurd's o' my sair complent?

2 O my God, I crye in the dayetime, but thou heæristna, an' in the nicht seesen, an' amna seelent.

3 But thou art haly, O thou that inhabitest the prayses o' Israel.

4 Our fæthers trustet in thee; thaye trustet, an' thou didst delifer thame.

5 Thaye cryet untill thee, an' wer deliferet; thaye trustet in thee, an' werna confuundet.

6 But I am ane wurm, an' nae man; ane reproch o' men, an' despæiset o' the peepel.

7 A' thaye that see me lauch me til scoorn; thaye schute owt the lipp; thaye wagg the heæd, sayin',

8 He trustet in the Lord that he wad delifer him: let him do sae nowe, sithens he delichtet in him.

9 But thou art he that tuik me owt o' the wome: thou didist mak' me houpe whan I was apoun my mither's breæsts.

10 I was casen apoun thee frae the wome; thou hest been my God sin' mine ee saw the licht o' daye.

11 Bena fer frae me, for truble is nær; for ther is nane til helpe.

12 Monie bulls ar roun' about me; strang bulls o' Bashan hae besette me roun'.

13 Thaye gæpet apoun me wi' thair mooth, as ane ravenin an' ane rairin' lion.

14 I am teemet owt like water; an' a' my banes are sinderet: my hairt is like waks; it is meltet in the middle o' my bowils.

15 My pithe is driet up like ane patsheerd, an' my tung cleefes til my ja's; an' thou hest broucht me down intil the duste o' deæth.

16 For dogs hae cum roun' about me: the ferkishin o' the wicket hae closet me in; thaye peirsit my han's an' my feet.

17 I maye count a' my banes; thaye luik an' glower apoun me.

18 Thaye share my claese amang thame, an' for my stolye thraw lots.

19 But bena thou fer frae me, O Lord; O my strenth, hæsten thee til helpe me.

20 Delifer my saul frae the sword; my deær onlie ane frae the powir o' the dog.

21 Saufe me frae the lion's mooth: for thou hest heærd me frae the hoorns o' the unicorns.

22 I wull declare thy næme untill my brithren; in the middle o' the congregatioun wull I prayse thee.

23 Ye that fear the Lord, prayse him; a' ye the seid o' Jacob, glorifie him; an' fear him, a' ye the affspring o' Israel.

24 For he hæсна despæiset nar abhorret the afflickshon o' the affliktet: næther hæс he hidden his fece frae him; but whan he cryet untill him, he heard.

25 My prayse sall be o' thee in the grit congregatioun: I wull pay my vowes afore thame that fear him.

26 The meik sall eet, an' be satisfiet: thaye sall prayse the Lord that seik him: your hairt sall leive forever.

27 A' the en's o' the warld sall remembir, an' turn untill the Lord, an' a' the kith an' kin o' the nationes sall wurship afore thee.

28 For the kingdoom is the Lord's; an' he is the governor amang the nationes.

29 A' thaye that be fat apon the yirth sall eet an' wurship; a' thaye that gae down til the mools o' deæth sall bowe afore him, an' nane can keepe alæive his ain saul.

30 Ane seid sall ser' him: it sall be rekenet til the Lord for ane ganæratian.

31 Thaye sall cum, an' sall speik furth his richteousniss untill ane peepel that sall be born, that he heth done this.

XXIII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

THE Lord is my shepherd; I sallna inlak.

2 He mak's me til lye down in green an' baitle gangs; he leeds me aside the quæet waters.

3 He refreschens my saul; he leeds me in the peths o' richteousniss for his næme's sak'.

4 Yis, though I wauk throwe the vallie o' the skaddaw o' deæth, I wull fear nae ill: for thou art wi' me; thy cruik an' thy staffe thaye comfirt me.

5 Thou prepairist me ane tabel in the preesince o' mine eni-mies: thou anaintist my hærd wi' oolie; my cupp rins ower.

6 Shurelie guidniss an' mercie sall follo me a' the dayes o' my liffe; an' I wull dwell in the hous o' the Lord forever.

XXIV.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

THE yirth is the Lord's, an' the fu'niss o't: the warld, an' thaye that dwell therin.

2 For he heth fuundet it upon the seiss, an' sette it siccer upon the fludes.

3 Wha sall gae up until the hill o' the Lord? an' wha sall stan' in his haly place?

4 He that heth cleen han's, an' ane pure hairt; wha hethna liftet up his saul untill vainitie, nar sworn wrangouslie.

5 He sall receive the blessing frae the Lord, an' richteousness frae the God o' his salvatione.

6 This is the generation o' thame that seek him; that seek thy face, O God o' Jacob. Selah.

7 Lift up your heads, O ye yettes; an' be ye liftet up, ye evirlestin' dors, an' the King o' glorie sall cum in.

8 Wha is the King o' glorie? the Lord strang an' mightie, the Lord mightie in battel.

9 Lift up your heads, O ye yettes; een lift thame up, ye evirlestin' dors, an' the King o' glorie sall cum in.

10 Wha is the King o' glorie? The Lord o' hosts, he is the King o' glorie. Selah.

XXV.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

UNTILL thee, O Lord, do I lift up my saul.

2 O my God, I trust in thee: letna me be shæmet: letna mine enemies boast thamsels ower me.

3 Yis, let nane that waite on thee be shæmet: let thame be shæmet that transgresse wuthoutten caus.

4 Shaw me thy wayes, O Lord; teach me thy peths.

5 Leede me in thy truth, an' teach me: for thou art the God o' my salvatione; on thee do I waite a' the daye.

6 Remembir, O Lord, thy tender mercies an' lovin-kindnesses: for thaye hae been evir o' auld.

7 Remembirna the sins o' my youdith, nar my transgressioness; akordin' til thy mercie remembir thou me for thy guidniss' sak', O Lord.

8 Guid an' upright is the Lord: therfor wull he teeche sinnirs in the waye.

9 The meik wull he gæyde in juudgemint; an' the meik wull he teeche his waye.

10 A' the peths o' the Lord ar mercie an' trouth untill sic as keepe his covenant an' testimonies.

11 For thy næme's sak', O Lord, forgie mine inequitie; for it is grit.

12 What man is he that feärs the Lord? him sall he teeche in the waye that he sall chuuse.

13 His saul sall dwell at eese, an' his affspring sall inherit the yirth.

14 The seceret o' the Lord is wi' thame that feär him; an' he wull shaw thame his covenant.

15 Mine eyne ar evir toward the Lord; for he it is that sall pu' my feet owt o' the nette.

16 Turn thee untill me, an' hae mercie upon me; for lane I am an' wearifu', an' sair afflicket.

17 The trubles o' my hairt ar growne grit; O bring thou me owt o' my distresses.

18 Luik upon my afflickshon an' my paine, an' forgie a' my sins.

19 Considdir mine enimies, for thaye ar monie; an' thaye hæte me wi' crewil hætret.

20 O keepe my saul, an' delifer me: letna me be shæmet; for I pit my trust in thee.

21 Let leal honestie an' uprichtness preserfe me; for I waite on thee.

22 Redeem Israel, O God, owt o' a' his trubles.

XXVI.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

JUUDGE me, O Lord, for I hae gane on in my intiritie: I hae trustet alsua in the Lord, therfor I sallna sklyde.

2 Inquæire intil me, O Lord, an' pruuve me; trye my reens an' my hairt.

3 For thy loein-kindniss is afore mine eyne, an' I hae gane in the peths o' thy trowth.

4 I haena suttin wi' vaine persones, næther wull I gae in wi' cunnin' pretendirs.

5 I hae hætet the haill ferkishin o' ill-doirs, an' wullna sit wi' the wicket.

6 I wull wasch mine han's in innicencie; sae wull I compesse thine altar, O Lord.

7 That I may publishe wi' the voyce o' thanksgiein', an' tell o' a' thy wunderfu' warks.

8 Lord, I hae loet the habitatione o' thy hous, an' the plece whare thine honor dwalls.

9 Getherna my saul wi' sinnirs, nar my liffe wi' bluidie men;

10 In whase han's is mischeef, an' thair richt han' is fu' o' budes.

11 But as for me, I will gae on in my intiritie: redeim me, an' be mercifu' untill me.

12 My fit stan's in ane een plece: in the congregatione wull I bliss the Lord.

XXVII.

† Ane Psalm o' David.

THE Lord is my licht an' my salvatione; wham sall I fear? the Lord is the strenth o' my liffe; o' wham sall I be in dreædour?

2 Whan the wicket, een my enimies an' my faes, cam' apon me till eet up my flesch, thaye stummelt an' fell.

3 Thouch ane host shud encampe agayne me, my hairt sallna fear; thouch weir shud ræise agayne me, in this wull I be confydint.

4 Ae thing hae I desyret o' the Lord, an' wull continua til seik efter; that I maye dwell in the hous o' the Lord a' the dayes o' my liffe, til behald the beutie o' the Lord, an' til inquære in his temple.

5 For in the time o' truble he sall hyde me in his pavilione; in the secret o' his taabernakle sall he hyde me; he sall sete me up apon ane rok.

6 An' nowe sall mine heæd be liftet up aboone mine enimies roun aboot me: therfor I wull affer in his taabernakle saacrifices o' joye; I wull sing, yis, I wull sing prayses untill the Lord.

7 Hæer, O Lord, whan I crye wi' my voyce; hae mercie alsua apon me, an' answir me.

8 Whan thou saidist, Seik ye my fece; my hairt said untill thee, Thy fece, Lord, wull I seik.

9 Hydena thy fece fer frae me; pitna thy servent awa in angir: thou hest been my helpe; leefena me; næther forhowe me, O God o' my salvatione.

10 Whan my faether an' mither forhowe me, than the Lord wull tak' me up.

11 Teech me thy waye, O Lord, an' leede me in ane plaine peth, becaus o' mine enimies.

12 Gie me nat ower untill the wull o' mine enimies; for fause wutnisses hae startet up agayne me, an' sic as bræthe owt crewiltie.

13 I had swarffet, gif I hadna beliefet til see the guidniss o' the Lord in the lan' o' the leivin'.

14 Waite on the Lord: be o' guid cheer, an' he sall strenthen thine hairt: waite, I saye, on the Lord.

XXVIII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

UNTILL thee wull I crye, O Lord, my rok; bena seelent til me: in kase gif thou be seelent til me, I becum like thame that gae down intil the pitt.

2 Hæer the voyce o' my supplicationes whan I crye untill thee, whan I lift up mine han's gaitwaird thy haly orakil.

3 Draggna me awa wi' the wicket, an' wi' the wurkers o' inequitie, whilk speik peece til thair neebers, but mischeef is in thair hairts.

4 Gie thame akordin' til thair deeds, an' akordin' till the wicketniss o' thair ettelins; gie thame efter the wark o' thair han's; rendir thame thair deserfin'.

5 Becaus thaye goamna the warks o' the Lord, the verra wark o' his han's, he sall utterlie pu' thame down, an' sallna bigg thame up agane.

6 Blisset be the Lord, becaus he heth hærd the voyce o' my supplicationes.

7 The Lord is my strencth an' my sheeld; my hairt trustet in him, an' I am helpet; therfor my hairt gritlie rejoyces, an' wi' my sang wull I prayse him.

8 The Lord is thair strenth, an' he is the saufin' pith o' his anaintet.

9 Saufe thy peepel, an' bliss thine inheeritence; feede thame alsua, an' lift thame up forever.

XXIX.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

GIE untill the Lord, O ye michtie, gie untill the Lord glorie an' strenth.

2 Gie untill the Lord the glorie due untill his næme; wurship the Lord in the beutie o' haliniss.

3 The voyce o' the Lord is apun the waters: the God o' glorie thunners; the Lord is apun monie waters.

4 The voyce o' the Lord is powirfu': the voyce o' the Lord is fu' o' magistie.

5 The voyce o' the Lord briks the cedars; ay, the Lord briks the cedars o' Lebanon.

6 He mak's thame alsua til skiff like ane cafe; Lebanon an' Sirion like ane yung unicoorn.

7 The voyce o' the Lord cleefes the flames o' fire.

8 The voyce o' the Lord mak's the wulderniss til dinnle; the Lord dinnles the wulderness o' Kadesh.

9 The voyce o' the Lord gars the hinds pairt wi' yung, an' layes bare the forests: an' in his temple deth ilka ane speik o' his glorie.

10 The Lord sits apun the flude; yis, the Lord sits King forever.

11 The Lord wull gie strenth untill his peepel: the Lord wull bliss his peepel wi' peece.

XXX.

¶ Ane Psalm an' Sang at the dedicatone o' the hous o' David.

I WULL ekstoll thee, O Lord, for thou hest liftet me up, an' hestna mæde mine enimies til rejoyce ower me.

2 O Lord my God, I cryet untill thee, an' thou hest hælet me.

3 Thou, O Lord, hest brung up my saul frae the graffe; thou hest keepet me alæive, that I shudna gae doun til the pitt.

4 Sing untill the Lord, O ye saunts o' his, an' gie thanks at the remembirence o' his haliniss.

5 For his angir induurs but for ane jiffie; in his faavor is liffe: greetin' maye induur for ane nicht, but joye cums in wi' the moornin'.

6 An' in my prosperitie I said, I sall nevir be muvet.

7 Lord, bie thy faavor thou hest mæde my mountan til stan' strang: thou didist hyde thy fece, an' I was trublet.

8 I cryet til thee, O Lord; an' untill the Lord I mæde supplicatione.

9 What gaine is ther in my bluid, whan I gae doun intil the pitt? Sall the mool prayse thee? sall it speik furth thy trouth?

10 Hear, O Lord, an' hae mercie apon me: Lord, be thou my helpir.

11 Thou hest turnet for me my murnin' intil dancin': thou hest putten aff my sackclaeth, an' girthet me wi' gladsumeniss;

12 Til the en' that my glorie maye sing prayse untill thee, an' bena seelent. O Lord my God, I wull gie thanks untill thee forevir.

XXXI.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

IN thee, O Lord, do I pit my trust; let me nevir be shæmet; delifer me in thy richteousniss.

2 Bowe doun thine eær untill me; delifer me speedielie; be thou my strang rok, for ane hous o' defence til saufe me.

3 For thou art my rok an' my stranghald; therfor, for thy næme's sak', leed me an' gæyde me.

4 Pu' me owt o' the nette whilk thaye hae hiddlinslie laide for me; for thou art my strencth.

5 Intil thy han' I committe my speerit: thou hest redeemet me, O Lord God o' trouth.

6 I hae hætet thame that goam leein' vainities; but I trust in the Lord.

7 I wull be gladsume an' rejoyce in thy mercie; for thou hest consididret my trouble: thou hest knawn my saul in wandrethes.

8 An' hestna schut me up intil the han' o' the enimie; thou hest gien my feet routh o' roome.

9 Hae mercie apon me, O God, for I am in truble; mine ee is waistet wi' dool, yis, my saul an' my bellie.

10 For my liffe is spendet wi' sorra, an' my yeers wi' sichin'; my strenth fæils becaus o' mine inequitie, an' my banes ar consumet.

11 I was ane reproch amang a' mine enimies, but espeeiallie amang my neebers, an' ane fricht til mine acquaintince; thame that did see me ow'tbye fiede frae me.

12 I am forgottan as ane deæd man owt o' min'; I am like ane brokin veshell.

13 For I hae heærd the slanner o' monie; feær was on ilka syde: quhile thaye tuik cunsil thegither agayne me, thaye de-væiset til tak' awa my liffe.

14 But I trustet in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God.

15 My times ar in thy han': delifer me frae the han' o' mine enimies; an' frae thame that persikute me.

16 Mak' thy fece til shyne apon thy servent; saufe me for thy mercie's sak'.

17 Letna me be shæmet, Lord, for I hae ca't apon thee: let the wicket be shæmet, an' let thame be seelent in the graffe.

18 Let the leein' lipps be putten til seelence, whilk speik sadlie agravaatin' things pruumdie an' geckinlie agayne the richteous.

19 Och howe grit is thy guidniss, whilk thou hest layde up for thame that feær thee, whilk thou hest wroucht for thame that trust in thee afore the sons o' men.

20 Thou sallt hyde thame in the seceret o' thy preesince frae the pryde o' man; thou sallt keepe thame seceretlie in thy pavilione frae the striffe o' tungs.

21 Blisset be the Lord, for he heth shawet me mervellous kindniss in ane strang citie:

22 For I said in my hæste, I am cutet aff frae afore thine eyne; natheless thou heærdist the voyce o' my supplicationes whan I cryet untill thee.

23 O loe the Lord, a' ye his saunts: for the Lord preserfes the faithfu', an' routhlie rewairds the pruumd doir.

24 Be o' guid cheer, an' he sall refreschen an' mak' strang your hairt, a' ye that houpe in the Lord.

XXXII.

Ane Psalm o' David, Maschil.

BLISSET is he whase transgression is forgien, whase sin is kiveret.

2 Blisset is the man untill wham the Lord imputesna inequitie, an' in whase speerit ther is nae gyle.

3 Whan I keepet seelence, confessanna til God, my banes growet auld throwe my rairin' a' the daye lang.

4 For daye an' nicht thy han' was hivie apon me : my moustir is turnet intil the drouth o' simmer. Selah.

5 I ownet my sin untill thee, an' mine inequitie hae I nat hydden. I said, I wull confesse my transgressiones untill the Lord ; an' thou forgæfist the inequitie o' my sin. Selah.

6 For this sall ilka ane that is godlie præy untill thee in ane time whan thou mayist be fuund : shurelie in the fludes o' grit waters thaye sallna cum nie untill him.

7 Thou art my hydin-plece ; thou saltt preserfe me frae truble : thou saltt surroun me wi' sangs o' deliferance. Selah.

8 I wull instruck thee, an' teeche thee in the waye whilk thou saltt gae ; wi' mine ee wull I gæyde thee.

9 Bena ye as the hors, or as the muul, whilk hae nae understan'in' ; whase mooth maun be haudden in wi' bitte an' brydle, in kase thay cum neer untill thee.

10 Monie sorras sall be til the wicket ; but he that trusts in the Lord, mercie sall be roun aboot him.

11 Be gladsume in the Lord, an' rejoyce, ye richteous ; an' crye ye owt for joye, ye that ar upricht in hairt.

 XXXIII.

REJOYCE in the Lord, O ye richteous ; for prayse is cumlie in the upricht.

2 Prayse the Lord wi' herp ; sing untill him wi' the psaltrie, an' ane instriment o' ten strings.

3 Sing untill him ane new sang ; playe deftlie wi' ane luud noyse.

4 For the wurd o' the Lord is richt ; an' a' his warks ar dune in trouth.

5 He loes richteousniss an' juudgemint; the yirth is fu' o' the guidniss o' the Lord.

6 Bie the wurd o' the Lord wer the heævens mæde; an' a' the host o' thame bie the bræth o' his mooth.

7 He gethers the waters o' the se thegither as ane heep; he layes up the deip in bing-houses.

8 Let a' the yirth feær the Lord; let a' the indwallers o' the warld stan' in aw o' him.

9 For he spak', an' it was dune; he oorderet, an' it stude sicer.

10 The Lord brings the cunsil o' the heæthin til noucht; he mak's the contræivences o' the peepel o' nane effeck.

11 The cunsil o' the Lord stan's foraye; the thought o' his hairt til a' ganæratians.

12 Blisset is the natione whase God is the Lord, an' the peepel wham he heth singlet owt for his ain.

13 The Lord luiks down frae heæven; he behalds a' the sons o' men.

14 Frae the plecth o' his habitatione he luiks down upon a' the residenters o' the yirth.

15 He fashens thair hairts alike: he tak's thought o' a' thair warks.

16 Ther is nae king saufet bie the ferkishin o' ane ærmet throck: ane michtie man isna deliferet bie meikle doucht.

17 Ane hors is ane vaine thing for sauftie: næther sall he delifer onie bie his grit powir.

18 Behald, the ee o' the Lord is upon thame that feær him, upon thame that houe in his mercie;

19 Til free thair saul frae deæth, an' til keep thame alæive in scanth o' fude.

20 Our saul waites for the Lord: he is our helpe an' our sheeld.

21 For our hairt sall rejoyce in him, becaus we hae trustet in his haly næme.

22 Let thy mercie, O Lord, be upon us, akordin' as we houe in thee.

XXXIV.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David, whan he changet his havins afore Abimelech.

I WULL bliss the Lord at a' times: his prayse sall be contin-wallie in my mooth.

2 My saul sall mak' hir brag in the Lord; the lawlie sall heær o't, an' be gladsume.

3 O bie prayse mak' grit the Lord alang wi' me, an' let us ræise up his næme thegither.

4 I soucht the Lord, an' he heærd me, an' freet me frae a' my feærs.

5 They luiket untill him, an' wer lichtenet; an' thair feces werna shæmet.

6 This puir man cryet, an' the Lord heærd him, an' saufet him owt o' a' his trubles.

7 The angil o' the Lord camps roun about thame that feær him, an' he delifers thame.

8 O pree an' see that the Lord is guid: blisset is the man that trusts in him.

9 O feær the Lord, ye his saunts; for ther is nae inlak til thame that feær him.

10 The yung lions inlack, an' thole hungir: but thaye that seik the Lord sallna inlak onie guid thing.

11 Cum, ye childer, herken untill me; I wull teecli yow the feær o' the Lord.

12 What man is he that langs efter liffe, an' loes monie dayes, that he may see guid?

13 Keep thy tung frae ill, an' thy lipps frae speikin' gyle.

14 Flie awa frae ill, an' do guid; seek peece, an' perzist in it.

15 The eyne o' the Lord ar apen the richteous, an' his eærs ar opin til thair crye.

16 The fece o' the Lord is agayne thame that do ill, til neg aff the memrie o' thame frae the yirth.

17 The richteous crye, an' the Lord heærs, an' delifers thame owt o' thair trubles.

18 The Lord is neer untill thame that ar o' ane brokin hairt, an' saufes sic as be o' ane rewfu' speerit.

19 Monie ar the afflickshons o' the richteous; but the Lord delifers him owt o' thame a'.

20 He keeps a' his banes: nat ane o' thame is brokin.

21 Ill sall sley the wicket: an' thaye that hæte the richteous sall be laide waiste.

22 The Lord redeims the saul o' his servents; an' nane o' thame that trust in him sall be forlaine.

XXXV.

PLEED my caus, O Lord, wi' thame that straive wi' me: ficht agayne thame that ficht agayne me.

2 Tak' haud o' sheeld an' buklir, an' stan' up for mine helpe.

3 Drawe owt alsua the speer, an' stap the waye agayne thame that persikute me: say untill my saul, I am thy salvatione.

4 Let thame be confuundet an' putten til shæme that seik efter my saul: let thame be turnet bak' an' brung til confuusion that devæise my skaith.

5 Let thame be as caff afore the wund, an' let the angil o' the Lord chece thame.

6 Let thair waye be mirk an' sklydderie, an' let the angil o' the Lord persikute thame.

7 For withowtten caus hae thaye hidden for me thair nette in ane pitt, whilk withowtten caus thaye howket for my saul.

8 Let wanreck cum apon him unawaurs; an' let his nette whilk he heth hidden katch himsel: intil that verra wanreck let him fa'.

9 An' my saul sall be joyfu' in the Lord: it sall rejoyce in his salvatione.

10 A' my banes sall say, Lord, wha is like untill thee, that freest the puir frae him that is ower strang for him, ay, the puir an' the needie frae him that spulyies him.

11 Fause wutnissis did ræise up: thaye laid til my charge things that I kennetna.

12 Thaye rewairdet me ill for guid, til the spulyeyin' o' my saul.

13 But as for me, whan thaye wer siek my claethin' was sack-claeth; I humblet my saul wi' fastin'; an' my præyer returmet intil mine ain bozim.

14 I bure mysel as thouch he had been my frien' or brither: I bowet doun hivieli as ane that murns for his mither.

15 But in my wandrethe thaye rejoycet, an' getheret thamesels thegither, ay, the wandouchts getheret thamesels thegither agayne me, an' I kennet it na; thaye did tatter me, an' gæfena ower.

16 Wi' hypieritikil mokirs in thair gilravages, thaye naschet apon me wi' thair teeth.

17 Lord, howe lang wult thou luik on? set free my saul frae thair wanrecks, my deær onlie ane frae the lions.

18 I wull gie thee thanks in the grit congregatioun; I wull prayse thee amang meikle peeples.

19 Letna thame that ar mine enimies wrangfullie, rejoyce ower me: næther let thame blink wi' the ee that hæte me withowtten ane caus.

20 For thaye speikna peece, but thaye devæise deceitfu' matters agayne thame that ar quæet in the lan'.

21 Ay, thaye opinet thair mooth wyde agayne me, an' said, Aha, Aha!

22 This thou hest seen, O Lord: keepna seelence: O Lord, bena fer frae me.

23 Sturr up thysel, an' awauken til my juudgemint, een untill my caus, my God an' my Lord.

24 Judge me, O Lord my God, akordin' til thy richteousniss; an' let thame nat rejoyce ower me.

25 Letna thame say in thair hairts, Aha! Aha! sae wad we hae it; letna thame say, We hae swallet him up.

26 Let thame be shæmet, an' brung til confuusion thegither that rejoyce in my skaith: let them be claethet wi' shæme an' wanonor that mak' thamesels big agayne me.

27 Let thame crye owt for joye an' be gladsume that faavor my richteous caus; ay, let thame continwallie say, Let the Lord be magnifiet that heth plesur in the weelfare o' his servant.

28 An' my tung sall speik o' thy richteousniss, an' o' thy prayse a' the daye lang.

XXXVI.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David, the servant o' the Lord.

THE transgression o' the wicket sayth wuthin my hairt, that ther is nae feær o' God afore his eyne.

2 For he whytewasches himsel in his ain eyne untill his inequitie be fuund til be hætefu'.

3 The wurd o' his mooth ar inequitie an' gyle: he heth left aff til be wyse, an' til do guid.

4 He devæises mischeef apon his bed; he sets himsel in ane waye whilk isna guid; he abhorrsna ill.

5 Thy mercie, Lord, is in the heævens, an' thy faithfu'niss raxes untill the cluds.

6 Thy richteousniss is like the grit mountans: thy juudgemints ar ane grit deepe; O Lord, thou preserfist man an' beæst.

7 Howe verra grit is the virtu o' thy loein-kindniss, O God! therfor the childer o' men pit thair trust anunder the skaddaw o' thy wings.

8 Thaye sall be routhlie satisfiet wi' the fatniss o' thy hous: an' thou sallt mak' thame drynk o' the rivir o' thy pleesurs.

9 For wi' thee is the fuuntan o' liffe: in thy licht sall we see licht.

10 O continua thy loein-kindniss untill thame that ken thee; an' thy richtiousniss til the upricht in hairt.

11 Letna the fit o' pryde cum agayne me, an' letna the han' o' the wicket remuve me.

12 Ther ar the wurkers o' inequitie fa'n: thaye ar thrawn doun, an' sallna be yeable til ræise.

XXXVII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

WURPNA thysel becaus o' the ill-deedie, næther be thou enviuous agayne the wurkers o' inequitie:

2 For thaye sall sune be cutet doun like the gers, an' wuther as the green yirb.

3 Trust in the Lord, an' do guid; sae sallt thou won in the lan', an' trewlie thou sallt be fed.

4 Delicht thysel alsua in the Lord; an' he sall gie thee the wushes o' thine hairt.

5 Rowe thy waye apon the Lord; trust alsua in him; an' he sall bring it about.

6 An' he sall bring furth thy richteousniss as the licht, an' thy juudgemint as the nuun-day.

7 Rest in the Lord, an' waite pætientlie for him: wurpna thysel becaus o' him wha prospirs in his waye, becaus o' the man wha brings wicket contræivences til passe.

8 Gae ower frae angir, an' forsak wræth; wurpna thysel' in onie wayes til do ill.

9 For ill-doirs sall be snagget aff: but thaye that waite on the Lord, thaye sall inheerit the yirth.

10 For yet ane wee while, an' the wicket sallna be; ay, thou sallt eidentlie pondir his plece, an' it sallna be.

11 But the meik sall haud an' indwall the yirth; an' sall delight thamesels in the routhniss o' peece.

12 The wicket plote agayne the just, an' nashes apoun him wi' his teeth.

13 The Lord sall lauch at him, for he sees that his daye is cumin'.

14 The wicket hae pu'et owt the sword, an' hae bendet thair bowe, til thraw down the puir an' needie, an' til sley sic as be o' ane upright waye.

15 Thair sword sall gang intil thair ain hairt, an' thair bowes sall be brokin.

16 The wee thing that ane richteous man hæs is better nor the gowd an' geer o' monie wicket.

17 For the ærms o' the wicket sall be brokin; but the Lord uphauds the richteous.

18 The Lord kens the days o' the upright; an' thair inheeritance sall be forever.

19 Thaye sallna be shæmet in the ill time, an' in the days o' scanth thaye sall be satisfiet.

20 But the wicket sall dee owt, an' the facs o' the Lord sall be as the taugh o' lams: thaye sall consuume; intil reek sall thaye consuume awa'.

21 The wicket borros, an' payesna agane; but the richteous shaws mercie an' gies.

22 For sic as be blisset o' him sall inheerit the yirth, an' thaye that be curset o' him sall be cutet aff.

23 The steppes o' ane guid man ar oorderit bic the Lord; an' he delights in his waye.

24 Thouch he fa', he sallna be uutterlie thrawn down; for the Lord uphauds him wi' his han'.

25 I hae been yung, an' nowe am auld; yet hae I nat seen the richteous forhowet, nar his affspring beggin' thair breæd.

26 He is evir misrecorde, an' len's: an' his affspring ar blisset.

27 Gang awa frae ill, an' do guid; an' dwell for evirmair.

28 For the Lord loes juudgemint, an' forhowesna his saunts; thaye ar preserfet for aye; but the affspring o' the wicket sall be cutet aff.

29 The richteous sall inheerit the lan', an' won therin forever.

30 The mooth o' the richteous speiks wusdoom, an' his tung tauks o' juudgemint.

31 The law o' the Lord is in his hairt; nane o' his steppes sall sklyde.

32 The wicket keepes clos ee on the richteous, an' seiks til sley him.

33 The Lord wullna leefè him in his han', nar condem him whan he is juudget.

34 Waite on the Lord an' keepe his waye, an' he sall lift thee up til inheerit the lan'; whan the wicket ar snagget aff, an' thou salt see it.

35 I hae seen the wicket in grit powir, an' spreadin' himsel abreæd like ane green bay-trie.

36 Yet he passit awa, an' lo! he wasna: ay, I soucht him, but he couldna be fund.

37 Merk the perfite man, an' behald the upricht: for the en' o' that man is peece.

38 But the wrangangers sall be destroyet thegither, an' the en' o' the wicket sall be snagget aff.

39 But the salvatione o' the richteous is o' the Lord: he is thair strenth in the time o' truble.

40 An' the Lord sall help thame, an' delifer thame; he sall delifer thame frae the wicket, an' saufe thame becaus thaye trust in him.

XXXVIII.

† Ane Psalm o' David til bring til remembirence.

O LORD, rebuik na me in thy wræth, nar chasen me in thine het displeesur.

2 For thine arras stik faste in me; an' thine han' presses me sair.

3 Ther is nae suundniss in my flesch becaus o' thine angir; næther is ther onie rest in my banes becaus o' my sin.

4 For mine inequities ar gane aboone mine heæd: as ane hivie lade thaye ar ower hivie for me.

5 My wuunds smowe, an' ar corrup becaus o' my fulishness.

6 I am trublet; I am bowet down gritly: I gae murnin' a' the daye lang.

7 For my lains ar fillet wi' foulsume deseese, an' ther is nae suundness in my flesh.

8 I am fordweblit an' sair brokin; I hae rairet bie reesen o' the wanrest o' my hairt.

9 Lord, a' my langin' is afore thee; an' my graenin' isna hidden frae thee.

10 My hairt dunts, my strength fæils me; as for the licht o' mine eyne, it alsua is gane frae me.

11 My loers an' my frien's stan' owt bye frae my sair, an' my kinsfowk keepe afer aff.

12 Thaye alsua that seik efter my liffe laye girns for me; an' thaye that seik my skaith speik wansonsie things, an' imagin deceits a' the daye lang.

13 But I as ane deaf man heærdna, an' I was as ane dum man that opinetna his mooth.

14 Thus was I as ane man that heærsna, an' in whase mooth ar nae repreifs.

15 For in thee, O Lord, do I houpe: thou wult heær, O Lord my God.

16 For I said, Heær me, in kase itherwise thaye shud rejoyce ower me: whan my fit sklyds, thaye mak' thamesels big agayne me.

17 For I am readie til haut, an' my sorra is continwallie afore me.

18 For I wull speik owt mine inequitie: I wull be rewfu' for my sin.

19 But mine enimies ar læivelie, an' thaye ar stalwart; an' thaye that hæte me wrangfullie ar becum mae.

20 Thaye alsua that gie bak ill for guid ar mine advarsaries, becaus I follo the thing that is guid.

21 Forhowena me, O Lord: O my God, bena fer frae me.

22 Mak' hæste til help me, O Lord, my salvatione.

XXXIX.

¶ Til the chief musicien, een til Jeduthun, Ane Psalm o' David.

I SAID, I wull tak tent til my wayes, that I sinna wi' my tung :
I wull keep my mooth wi' ane brydle quhile the wicket is afore me.

2 I was dum wi' seelence ; I helde my peece een frae guid ;
an' my sorra was sturret.

3 My hairt was het wuthin me ; quhile I was muusin' the fire burnet : than spak I wi' my tung,

4 Lord, mak' me til ken mine en', an' the measur o' my dayes what it is, that I may ken howe bauch I am.

5 Behald thou hest mæde my dayes as ane han'sbreæthe, an' mine age is as naething afore thee : trewlie ilka man at his best stæte is a'thegither vaintie. Selah.

6 Shurelie ilka man gangs in ane vaine schaw : shurelie thaye ar wanrestet in vaine : he hotts up guids an' geer, an' kensna wha sall gether thame.

7 An' nowe, Lord, what waite I for ? my houpe is in thee.

8 Free me frae a' my transgressiones ; makna me the reproch o' the fulish.

9 I was dum ; I openetna my mooth ; becaus thou didist it.

10 Remuve thy straike awa frae me : I am consuemet bie the fluet o' thine han'.

11 Whan thou wi' rebuiks dest correck man for inequitie, thou makist his beutie til waiste awa like ane mæthe : shurelie ilka man is vaintie.

12 Hear my præyer, O Lord, an' gie ear untill my crye : haudna thy peece at my teàrs : for I am fremet wi' thee, an' ane sæ-jurner, as a' my faethers wer.

13 O spare me, that I may gaine bak my pithe afore I gae hance an' be nae mair.

XL.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

I WAITET pætientlie for the Lord, an' he leenet towairds me, an' heard my crye.

2 He brang me up alsua owt o' ane horrabil hole, owt o' the glarie claye, an' set my feet apon ane rok, an' mæde my gangin' siceer.

3 An' he heth putten ane new sang intill my mooth, een prayse untill our God: monie sall see it, an' feær, an' trust in the Lord.

4 Blisset is that man that mak's the Lord his trust, an' re-speeksna the pruude, nar sic as turn owt o' the waye til follo lees.

5 Monie, O Lord my God, ar thy wunderfu' warks whilk thou hest dune, an' thy thoughts whilk ar gatewairds us; thaye canna be rekenet up in oordir untill thee; gif I wad shaw thame furth bie speikin' o' thame, thaye ar mae nar can be nummeret.

6 Saacrifice an' offerin' thou didistna lang for: mine eærs thou hest opinet: brunt-offerin' an' sin-offerin' thou hestna requæiret.

7 Than said I, Lo, I cum; in the volum' o' the buik it is writtan o' me,

8 I delicht til do thy wull, O my God, ay, thy law is in my hairt.

9 I hae preechet richteousniss in the grit congregatioun: lo, I haena hainet my lips, O Lord, thou kennist.

10 I haena hidden thy richteousniss wuthin my hairt: I hae spokin' owt thy faithfuniss an' thy salvatione: I haena keepet owt o' sicht thy loein-kindniss, an' thy trowth frae the grit congregatioun.

11 Wuthhaldna thou thy tendir mercies frae me, O Lord: let thy loein-kindniss an' thy trowth continwallie preserfe me.

12 For innumerall ills hae gethirit roun' aboot me: mine inequities hae taen haud o' me, sae that I amna yeable til luik up: thaye ar mae nor the hairs o' mine heæd, therfor my hairt fæils me.

13 Be pleeset, O Lord, til delifer me: O Lord, mak' hæste til helpe me.

14 Let thame be shæmet an' confuundet thegither that seik efter my saul til kill it; let thame be drein bakwairds, an' putten til shæme that wush me ill.

15 Let thame be forlaine for ane rewaird o' thair shæme that say untill me, Aha, Aha!

16 Let a' thae that seik thee rejoyce an' be gladsume in thee; let sic as loe thy salvatione say continwallie, The Lord be prayset.

17 But I am puir an' needie, nathless the Lord taks thought o' me: thou art my helpe an' deliferer; mak' nae taigglin, O my God.

XLI.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

BLISSET is he that tak's pitie on the puir: the Lord wull delifer him in the time o' truble.

2 The Lord wull preserfe an' keep him alæive; an' he sall be blisset apone the yirth, an' thou wultna gie him up intil the wull o' his enimies.

3 The Lord refreshenin, wull mak' him stranger on the bed o' langwishmint: thou wult mak' his bed in his siekniss.

4 I said, Lord, be mercifu' untill me; hæle my saul; for I hae sinnet agayne thee.

5 Mine enimies speik ill o' me: Whan wull he dee, an' his næme sinke owtricht?

6 An' gif he cum til see me, he raves owt empie things; his hairt gethirs inequitie til itsel'; than whan he gangs owtbye he tells it.

7 A' that illwull me whuspir thegither agayne me; agayne me do thaye devæise my skaith.

8 Ane ill ailment, say thaye, has gotten ane firm grip o' him; an' now that he lyes flat, he sall ræise up nae mair.

9 Ay, een mine ain intimat frien' wham I trustet in, whilk did eet o' my breæd, heth liftet up his heel agayne me.

10 But thou, O Lord, be mercifu' untill me, an' ræise me up, that I may requit thame.

11 Bie this I ken that thou faavorist me; becaus mine enimie desna crouslie craw ower me.

12 An' as for me, thou uphaudest me in mine intiritie, an' settist me afore thy fece alwaise.

13 Blisset be the Lord God o' Israel, frae evirlestin til evirlestin. Saebeid, an' saebeid.

XLII.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Maschil, for the sons o' Korah.

AS the hart langin' cryes for the water bruiks, sae langs an' cryes my saul efter thee, O God.

2 My saul thirsts for God, for the leivin' God: whan sall I cum an' kythe afore God?

3 My teàrs hae been my fude daye an' nicht, quhile thaye continwallie say untill me, Whare is thy God?

4 Whan I mind thae things, I teem owt my saul in me; for I had gane wi' the crood; I gaed wi' thame til the hous o' God wi' the voyce o' joye an' prayse, wi' ane crood that keepet haly-day.

5 Why art thou casen down, o' my saul? an' wharefor art thou wanrestet in me? houpe thou in God; for I sall yet prayse him for the help o' his countenance.

6 O my God, my saul is casen down wuthin me, therfor wull I ca' thee til mind frae the lan' o' Jordan, an' o' the Hermonites, frae the Mizar-hill.

7 Deep ca's untill deep at the noyse o' thy water-spoons: a' thy waves an' thy brikers hae gane ower me.

8 Natheless the Lord wull comman' his loein-kindniss in the daye-time, an' in the nicht his sang sall be wi' me, an' my præyer untill the God o' my liffe.

9 I wull say untill God my rok, Why hest thou forgottan me? Wharefor gang I murnin' becaus o' the oppressione o' the enimie?

10 As wi' ane sword in my banes mine enimies reproch me, quhile thaye say daylie untill me, Whare is thy God?

11 Why art thou casen down, O my saul? an' wharefor art thou wanrestet wuthin me? houpe thou in God; for I sall yit prayse him, wha is the helth o' my countenance an' my God.

XLIII.

JUDGE me, O God, an' plead my caus agayne ane ungodlie rece: O free me frae the deceitfu' an' unjuste man.

2 For thou art the God o' my strength: why dest thou thraw me aff? why do I gang murnin' becaus o' the oppressione o' the enimie?

3 O sen' owt thy licht an' thy trouth; let thame leede me, let thame bring me til thy haly hill an' til thy taabernakles.

4 Than wull I gae untill the altar o' God my ekseedin' joye; ay, apone the herp wull I prayse thee, O God my God.

5 Why art thou casen down, O my saul? why art thou wanrestet wuthin me? houpe in God; for I sall yet prayse him, wha is the helth o' my countenance an' my God.

XLIV.

¶ Til the chief musicien for the sons o' Korah, Maschil.

WE hae heærd wi' our eærs, O God, our faethers hae tauld us what wark thou didist in thair dayes in the times o' auld.

2 Howe thou didist dræive owt the heæthin wi' thy han', an' enfeftedist thy chusen anes, howe thou didist afflick the peepel an' cuust thame owt.

3 For thaye gatna the lan' in haudin' bie thair ain sword, næther did thair ain ærm saufe thame; but thy richt han', ay, thine ærm, an' the licht o' thy countenance, becaus thou hadist ane faavor for thame.

4 For thou art my King, O God: oordir deliferances for Jacob.

5 Throwe thee wull we thraw doun our enimies: throwe thy næme wull we tramp thame anunder that ræise up agayne us.

6 For I wullna trust in my bowe, næther sall my sword saufe me.

7 But thou hest saufet us frae our faes, an' hest putten thame til shæme that hætet us.

8 In God we brag a' the daye lang, an' prayse thy næme forever. Selah.

9 But thou hest casen aff, an' putten us til shæme; an' gang-istna furth wi' our bands o' weir.

10 Thou makist us til turn bak frae the enimie; an' thaye that hæte us spulyie for thamesel's.

11 Thou hest gien us like sheep appoyntet for fude; an' hest dr'en us abreæd among the heæthin.

12 Thou sellist thy fowk for naucht, an' destna eke til thy walth bie the pryce.

13 Thou makist us ane reproch til our neebbers, ane scoorn an' ane derizone til thame that ar roun' about us.

14 Thou makist us ane bye-wurd among the heæthin, ane shakin' o' the heæd among the peepel.

15 My confuusion is continwallie afore me, an' the shæme o' my fece has kiveret me, 16 Becaus o' the voyce o' him that reproches an' blasfemes, an' bie reasin o' the enimie an' avangir.

17 A' this has cum apon us; nathless we haena forgotten thee, næther hae we deelt fauselie in thy covenant.

18 Our hairt hæsna turnet bak, næther our steppes gane agley frae thy waye.

19 Though thou hest brokin us in the plece o' drægons, an' kiveret us wi' the skaddaw o' deæth.

20 Gif we hae forgotten the næme o' our God, or streeket owt our han's til ane fremet god;

21 Sall God nat fin' this owt? for he kens the secerets o' the hairt.

22 Ay, for thy sak' we ar killet a' the daye lang; we ar cuuntet as sheep til the slauchter.

23 Awauken, why sleepist thou, O Lord? ræise up, thraw us nat aff forever.

24 Wharefor hydist thou thy fece, an' forgettist our afflickson an' thrawldoom?

25 For our sauls ar bowet down til the dust; our bellie cleefes til the yirth.

26 Ræise up for our helpe, an' redeim us, for thy mercies' sak'.

XLV.

† Til the chief musicien apon Shoshannim, for the sons o' Korah;
Ane Sang o' Loves.

MY hairt is indytin' ane guid matter: I speik o' things whilk I hae mæde anent the King; my tung is the pen o' ane swuft writer.

2 Thou art fairer nor the childer o' men; græce is teemet intil thy lippes; therfor God heth blisset thee forever.

3 Girth thy sword apon thy thie, O Maist Michtie; wi' thy glorie an' thy magistie girth thou it on.

4 An' in thy magistie ride thou an' prosper, becaus o' trouth an' meikniss an' richteousniss; an' thy richt han' sall teeche thee terribil things.

5 Thy arras ar sherp in the hairt o' the King's enimies, wharebie the peeple fa' anæth thee.

6 Thy throne, O God, is forever an' aye; the septer o' thy kingdome is ane richt septer.

7 Thou loeist richteousniss, an' hæstist wicketniss; therfor God, thy God, heth anaintet thee wi' the oolie o' gladsummiss aboone thy fellos.

8 A' thy claes smelle o' myrrh an' aloes an' cassia, owt o' the ivorie palaces, wharebie thaye hae mæde thee gladsume.

9 Kings' douchters wer amang the honorable weemen: apon the richt han' did stan' the queen in gowd o' Ophir.

10 Herken, O douchter, an' consididir, an' inclæine thine eær; forget alsua thine ain peepel, an' thy faether's hous.

11 Sae sall the King gritly desyre thy beutie; for he is thy Lord, an' wurship thou him.

12 An' the douchter o' Tyre sall be ther wi' ane propyne: een the walthie amang the peepel sall woo thy faavor.

13 The King's douchter is a' glorious wuthin: her claethin' is o' wroucht gowd.

14 She sall be brung untill the King in rayment o' needlewark: the virgins, hir comrades that follo hir, sall be brung untill thee.

15 Wi' glee an' rejoycin' sall thaye be brung; thaye sall gae intil the palace o' the King.

16 In plece o' thy faethers sall be thy childer, wham thou mayist mak' athils in a' the yirth.

17 I wull mak' thy næme til be remembiret in a' ganæratians; therefor sall the peepel prayse thee forever an' evir.

XLVI.

¶ Til the chief musicien, for the sons o' Korah; Ane Sang apon Alamoth.

GOD is our sang an' strenth, ane verra presint helpe in truble.
2 Therfor we wullna feær, though the yirth be remuvet, an' though the mountans be carryet intil the middle o' the se:

3 Though the waters o't rair, an' be trublet; though the mountans shog wi' the swallin' o' thame. Selah.

4 Ther is ane rivir whase rinners sall mak' gladsume the citie o' God, the haly plece o' the taabernakles o' the Maist Hie.

5 God is in the middle o' hir; she sallna be muvet: God sall helpe hir, an' that richt sune.

6 The heæthin frennet, the kingdoods wer comuvet: he uuteret his voyce, an' the yirth meltet.

7 The Lord o' hosts is wi' us; the God o' Jacob is our scug. Selah.

8 Cum, behald the warks o' the Lord, what desolationes he heth mæde in the yirth.

9 He mak's weir til cease untill the en's o' the yirth; he snegs the speer asinder; he burns the chariat in the fire.

10 Be quæit, an' ken that I am God: I wull be ræiset on hie amang the heæthin, I wull be mæde hie in the yirth.

11 The Lord o' hosts is wi' us; the God o' Jacob is our beild. Selah.

XLVII.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm for the sons o' Korah.

O CLAPPE your han's, a' ye peeple: crye owt luudlie til God wi' the voyce o' triumff.

2 For the Lord maist hie is terrabil; he is ane grit King ower a' the yirth.

3 He sall bring down the peeple anunder us, an' the nationes anæth our feet.

4 He sall chuuse for us our haudin', the eksellencie o' Jacob, wham he loet. Selah.

5 God heth gane up wi' ane shuute, the Lord wi' the toute o' ane trumpet.

6 Sing prayeses til God, sing prayeses: sing prayeses untill our King, sing prayeses.

7 For God is the King o' a' the yirth: sing ye prayeses wi' understan'in'.

8 God rings ower the heæthin: God sits apon the throne o' his haliniss.

9 The cheefes o' the peeple ar' getheret thegither, een the peeple o' the God o' Abraham; for the sheelds o' the yirth belang untill God: he is gritly liftet up.

XLVIII.

¶ Ane Sang an' Psalm for the sons o' Korah.

GRIT is the Lord, an' gritlie til be prayset, in the citie o' our God, in the mountan o' his haliniss.

2 Bonnie for situatione, an' the joy o' a' the yirth, is Muunt Zion, on the noor-sides, the citie o' the grit King.

3 God is kennet in hir palaces for ane beild.

4 For lo, the kings wer getheret, thaye gaed bye thegither.

5 Thaye sawe it, an' sae mervellet; thaye wer trublet, an' hæstent awa.

6 Dreædour tuik haud o' thame ther, an' paine as o' ane woman in travail.

7 Thou brikest the schips o' Tarshish wi' ane east wund.

8 As we hæ heard, sae hæ we seen in the citie o' the Lord o' hosts, in the citie o' our God: God wull mak' it stan' siccer forevir. Selah.

9 We hæ thought o' thy loein'-kindniss, O God, in the middle o' thy temple.

10 Akordin' til thy næme, O God, sae is thy prayse til the en's o' the yirth; thy richt han' is fu' o' richteousniss.

11 Let Muunt Zion rejoyce; let the douchters o' Judah be gladsume becaus o' thy juudgemints.

12 Gang aboot Zion, an' gae roun aboot hir: count the towirs thero'.

13 Merk ye weel hir bullwarks: tak' tent til hir palaces; that ye may telle it til the ganæration til cum.

14 For this God is our God forevir an' evir: he wull be our gæyde een untill deæth.

XLIX.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm for the sons o' Korah.

HEÆR this, a' ye peeple: gie æær, a' ye indwallers o' the world:

2 Beith leuch an' heich, riche an' puir thegither.

3 My mooth sall speik o' wusdoom: an' the medetatione o' my hairt sall be o' understan'in'.

4 I wull inclæine mine æær til ane parabil; I wull opin my mirk sayin' apon the herp.

5 Wharefor shud I feær in the-dayes o' ill, whan the inequitie o' my heels heth gane roun' aboot me?

6 Thaye that trust in thair walth, an' boost thamesel's in the multetud o' thair gaines;

7 Nane o' thame can bie onie meens redeim his brither, nar gie til God ane ransom for him :

8 (For the redemptione o' thair saul is pracious, an' it is at ane en' forever.)

9 That he shud still leive foraye, an' seena corruptione.

10 For he sees that wyse men dee ; likewise the fule an' the bruutish persone perrishe, an' leefe thair walth til ithers.

11 Thair inwaird thought is, that thair houses sall continua for-evir, an' thair dwallin'-pleces til a' ganæratians : thaye ca' thair lan's efter thair ain næmes.

12 Natheless man being in honor bidesna ; he is like the beæsts that decaye owtricht.

13 This thair waye is thair follie : natheless thair posteritie appruve thair sayin's. Selah.

14 Like sheepe thaye ar laide in the graffe ; deæth sall feed on thame : an' the upricht sall hae powir ower thame in the moornin' ; an' thair beutie sall waiste in the graffe frae thair dwallin'.

15 But God sall redeim my saul frae the thrawl o' the graffe ; for he sall receife me. Selah.

16 Bena thou rade whan ane is mæde riche, whan the glorie o' his hous is inkresset.

17 For whan he dees, he sall carrie naethin' awa ; his glorie sallna descen' efter him :

18 Thouch quhile he leivet he blisset his ain saul ; an' men wull prayse thee whan thou dest weel til thysel.

19 He sall gae til the ganæratian o' his faethers : thaye sall nevir see the licht.

20 Man that is in honor, an' understan'sna, is like the beæsts that perrishe.

L.

¶ Ane Psalm o' Asaph.

THE michtie God, een the Lord, heth spokin, an' ca't the yirth frae the ræisin' til the gaein' doun o' the sun.

2 Owt o' Zion, the perfiteniss o' beutie, the Lord heth shynet.

3 Our God sall cum, an' sallna be seelent : ane fire sall devoor afore him, an' roun aboot him it sall be verra tempestiouse.

4 Frae aboone he sall ca' owt til the heævens an' til the yirth, that he maye juudge the peepel.

5 Gether my saunts thegither untill me; thaye that hae mæde ane covenant wi' me bie saacrifice.

6 An' the heævens sall speik furth his richteousniss; for God himsel' is juudge. Selah.

7 Heær, O my peeple, an' I wull speik; O Israel, an' I wull bæer wutniss agayne thee: I am God, een thy God.

8 I wullna reprove thee for thy saacrifices or thy brunt-afferin's, til hae been continwallie afore me.

9 I wull tak' nae stot owt o' thy hous, nar he-gaits owt o' thy falds.

10 For ilka beæst o' the greenwud is mine, an' the kattle apon ane thousan' hills.

11 I ken a' the burds o' the mountauns, an' the untamet beæsts o' the desart ar mine.

12 Gif I wer hungerie, I wadna tell thee: for the warld an' the fu'niss o't is mine.

13 Wull I eet the flesh o' bulls, or drynk the bluid o' gaits?

14 Affer untill God thanksgiein'; an' paye thy vowes til the Maist Hie.

15 An' ca' apon me in the daye o' truble, an' I wull answir thee: I wull delifer thee, an' thou salt glorifie me.

16 But untill the wicket God says, What hest thou til do til speik owt my staatutes, or that thou shudist tak' my covenant in thy mooth?

17 Seein' thou hæstist instruksione, an' flingist my wurd's ahint thee.

18 Whan thou sawist ane reyffar, than thou becamist airt an' pairt wi' him, an' eke hest been partaker wi' advoutirers.

19 Thou gieist thy mooth til ill, an' thy tung frames deceits.

20 Thou sittist, an' speikist agayne thy brither; thou slan'erist thine ain mither's son.

21 Thae things hest thou dune, an' I keepet seelence; thou thoughtist that I was a'thegither sic ane as thyself: but I wull reprove thee, an' set thame in oordir afore thine eyne.

22 Nowe tak' thought o' this, ye that forget God, in kase I ræive you in pieces, an' ther be nane til delifer.

23 Whasae affers prayse glorifies me: an' til him that oordirs his waye aricht I wull shaw the salvatione o' God.

LI.

† Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

HAE mercie apon me, O God, akordin' til thy loein'-kindniss; akordin' untill the multetud o' thy tendir mercies blat owt my wrang-gangin's.

2 Wasch me throwelie frae mine inequitie, an' cleense me frae my sin.

3 For I own my transgressiones, an' my sin is evir afore me.

4 Agayne thee, thee onlie hae I sinnet, an' dune this ill in thy sicht; that thou nichtist be justifiet whan thou speikist, an' be cleær whan thou juudgeist.

5 Behald, I was muuldet in inequitie, an' in sin did my mither conceife me.

6 Behald, thou desyrist trouth in the inwaird pairts, an' in the hydden pairt thou sallt mak' me til ken wusdoom.

7 Scour me wi' hyssop, an' I sall be cleen: wasch me, an' I sall be whiter nor the snaw.

8 Mak' me til heær joye an' gladsumeniss; that the banes whilk thou hest brokin maye rejoyce.

9 Hyde thy fece frae my sins, an' blat owt a' mine inequities.

10 Creaat in me ane cleen hairt, O God, an' renewe ane richt speerit wuthin me.

11 Pitna me awa frae thy presence, an' takna thy Haly Speerit frae me.

12 Bring bak untill me the joye o' thy salvatione, an' uphaud me wi' thy free speerit.

13 Than wull I teeche transgressers thy wayes: an' sinners sall be turnet untill thee.

14 Delifer me frae bluid-giltiniss, O God, thou God o' my salvatione, an' my tung sall sing luudlie o' thy richteousniss.

15 O Lord, opin thou my lippes, an' my mooth sall shaw furth thy prayse.

16 For thou desyrist na saacrifice, els wad I gie it thee: thou delichtistna in brunt-afferin'.

17 The saacrifices o' God ar ane brokin speerit: ane brokin an' ane rewfu' hairt, O God, thou wultna despæise.

18 Do guid, in thy guid plesur until Zion: bigg thou the wa's o' Jerusalem.

19 Than sallt thou be pleeset wi' the saacrifices o' richteousniss wi' brunt-afferin' an' haill brunt-afferin': than sall thaye affer ousen apon thine altar.

LII.

¶ Til the chief musicien Maschil, Ane Psalm o' David whan Doeg the Edomite cam' an' tauld Saul, an' said untill him, David is cum til the hous o' Ahimelech.

WHY boostist thou thysel in mischeef, O michtie man? the guidniss o' God induurs continwallie.

2 Thy tung devæises mischeefs: like ane sherp razor wurkin' deceitfulie.

3 Thou loeist ill mair nor guid, an' leein' ræthir nor til speik richteousniss. Selah.

4 'Thou loeist a' devoorin' wurd, O thou deceitfu' tung.

5 God sall likewaies destroye thee forevir: he sall tak' thee awa, an' pu' thee owt o' thy dwallin'-plece, an' rute thee owt o' the lan' o' the leivin'. Selah.

6 The richteous sall alsua see, an' feær, an' sall lauch at him.

7 Lo, this is the man that mædena God his strenth; but trustet in the routhniss o' his riches, an' strenthenet himsel in his wicketniss.

8 But I am like ane green olive-tree in the hous o' God: I trust in the mercie o' God forevir an' aye.

9 I wull prayse thee forevir, becaus thou hest dune it; an' I wull waite on thy næme; for it is guid in the presince o' thy saunts.

LIII.

¶ Til the chief musicien apon Mahalath, Maschil, Ane Psalm o' David.

THE fule hes said in his hairt, Ther is nae God. Corrup ar thaye, an' hae dune abominabel inequitie: ther is nane that deth guid.

2 God luiket doun frae heæven apon the childer o' men, til see gif ther wer onie that did understan', an' did seik God.

3 Ilka ane o' thame is gane bak; thaye ar a'thegither becum foulsume: ther is nane that deth guid, na, nat ane.

4 Hæc the wurkers o' inequitie nae wætin? wha eet up my peeples as thaye eet bræd: thaye haena ca't apon God.

5 Ther wer thaye in grit fæer, wher nae fæer was; for God, athwart an' wyde abreæd, hæc thrawn the banes o' him that encamps agayne thee. Thou hest putten thame til shæme, becaus God heth despæisit thame.

6 Och! that the salvatione o' Israel wer cum owt o' Zion! Whan God brings bak the taen awa o' his peeples, Jacob sall rejoyce, an' Israel sall be gladsume.

LIV.

¶ Til the chief musicien on Neginoth, Maschil, Ane Psalm o' David, whan the Zephims cam' an' said til Saul, Desna David hyde himsel wi' us?

SAUFE me, O God, bie thy næme, an' guide me bie thy strenth.

2 Hæc my præyer, O God; gie eær til the wurd o' my mooth.

3 For fremet faes ar risen up agayne me, an' oppressers seik efter my saul; thaye haena set God afore thame. Selah.

4 Behald God is mine helper: the Lord is wi' thame that up-haud my saul.

5 He sall rewaird ill untill mine enimies: sneg thame aff in thy trouth.

6 I wull franklie saacri-fice untill thee: I wull prayse thy næme, O Lord, for it is guid.

7 For he heth freet me owt o' a' trouble: an' mine ee has seen his desyre apon mine enimies.

LV.

¶ Til the chief musicien on Neginoth, Maschil, Ane Psalm o' David.

GIE eær til my præyer, O God, an' hydena thysel frae my supplicatione.

2 Tak' tent untill me, an' hæc me; I murn in my compleenin', an' mak' ane noyse.

3 Becaus o' the voyce o' the enimie, becaus o' the oppressione o' the wicket; for thaye smaigr inequitie apon me, an' in wræth thaye hæte me.

4 My hairt is sair painet wuthin me : an' the terrors o' deaeth ar fa'n apon me.

5 Feærfuniss an' trimmlin' ar cum apon me, an' horrar heth ower-layde me.

6 An' I said, Oh that I had wings like ane dow ! for than wad I flie awa an' be at rest.

7 Lo, than wad I dander fer aff, an' bide in the desart. Selah.

8 I wad hæsen my saufe wayegait frae the wundie stourm an' tempist.

9 Destroye, O Lord, an' pit feid atween thair tungs, for I hae seen violence an' striffe in the citie.

10 Daye an' nicht apon the wa's thaye gang about it : mischief alsua, an' dool, ar in the midst o't.

11 Wicketniss is in the middle thero' ; deceit an' gyle gaena awa frae hir throwegangs.

12 For it wasna ane enimie that reprochet me ; than I coud hae brooket it : næther was it he that hætet me that mæde himsel' big agayne me ; than I wad hae hydden mysel' frae him.

13 But it was thou, ane man mine ekwal, my gæyde, an' mine ackwantance.

14 We tuik sweit cunsil thegither, an' gaed fit for fit thegither een til the hous o' God.

15 Let deaeth grip haud' o' thame, an' let thame gang down quik intil hell ; for wicketniss is in thair dwallin's, an' amang thame.

16 As for me, I wull ca' apon God ; an' the Lord sall saufe me.

17 E'enin' an' moornin', an' at nuun, I wull crye aluud, an' he sall heær my voyce.

18 He sall free my saul in peece frae the battil that was agayne me ; for ther wer monie wi' me.

19 God sall heær an' afflick thame, een he that bides o' auld. Selah. Becaus thaye hae nae changes, therfor thaye feærna God.

20 He heth putten furth his han's agayne sic as be at peece wi' him ; he heth brokin' his covenant.

21 The wurds o' his mooth wer mair saft an' slegie nor butter, but weir was in his hairt : his wurds wer safter nor oolie, nathless wer thaye drawn swords.

22 Thraw thy burden apon the Lord, an' he wull susteen thee : he sall nevir thole the richteous til-be muvet.

23 But thou, O Lord, sallt bring thame down intil the pit o' de-struckshon: bluidie an' deceitfu' men sallna leive owt hauff thair dayes; but I wull trust in thee.

LVI.

¶ Til the chief musicien apon Jonath-elem-rechokim, Michtam o' David, whan the Philistines tuik him in Gath.

BE mercifu' til me, O God; for man wad swallie me up; he, fichtin', daylie oppresses me.

2 Mine enimies wad swallie me up daye bie daye, for thaye be monie that ficht agayne me, O thou Maist Hie.

3 What time I am afeæret, I wull trust in thee.

4 In God I wull prayse his wurd; in God I hae put my trust: I wullna feær what flesh can do til me.

5 Ilka daye thaye distourt my wurd: a' thair thouchts ar agayne me for ill.

6 Thaye gether thamsel's thegither; thaye hyde thamesel's, thaye merk my stepps whan thaye waite for my saul.

7 Sall thaye get cleær aff bie inequitie? in thine angir throw doun the peeple, O God.

8 Thou cuuntist my wanderin's: pit thou my teærs intil thy bottell: ar thaye nat in thy buik?

9 Whan I crye untill thee, than sall my faes turn bak: this I ken; for God is for me.

10 In God wull I prayse his wurd: in the Lord his wurd wull I prayse.

11 In God hae I putten my trust; I wullna be rade for what man can do til me.

12 Thy voves ar apon me, O God: I wull gie prayse untill thee.

13 For thou hest deliferet my saul frae deæth: wullna thou free my feet frae fa'in', that I maye gang afore God in the licht o' the leivin'?

LVII.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Al-tas-chith, Michtam o' David, whan he gaed awa' frae Saul in the caefe.

BE mercifu' til me, O God, be mercifu' til me, for my saul trusts in thee: ay, in the skaddaw o' thy wings wull I mak' my skug, til a' thae sair wandrethes be gane bye.

2 I wull crye untill God maist hie; untill God, that deth a' things for me.

3 He sall sen' frae heàven, an' saufe me frae the reproch o' him that wad swallie me up. Selah. God sall sen' furth his mercie an' his truth.

4 My saul is amang lions; an' I lye een amang thame that ar set on fire, een the sons o' men, whase teeth ar speers an' arras, an' thair tung ane sherp sword.

5 Be thou liftet hie up, O God, aboone the heàvens; let thy glorie be aboone a' the yirth.

6 Thaye hae prepairet ane nette for my stepps; my 'saul is bowet down: thaye hae howket ane pitt afore me, in the middle o' whilk thaye thamesel's hae fa'n. Selah.

7 My hairt is firmlie sete, O God, my hairt is firmlie sete; I wull sing an' gie prayse.

8 Awauken up, my glorie; awauken, psalterie an' herp; I mysel' wull awauken earlie.

9 I wull prayse thee, O Lord, amang the peeple; I wull sing untill thee amang the nationes.

10 For thy mercie is grit untill the heàvens, an' thy trouth untill the cluds.

11 Be thou liftet up, O God, aboone the heàvens; let thy glorie be aboone a' the yirth.

LVIII.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Al-tas-chith, Michtam o' David.

DO ye trewlie speik richteousniss, O congregatiōne? do ye juudge uprichtlie, O ye sons o' men?

2 Ay, ye in hairt wurk wicketniss; ye wie the violence o' your han's in the yirth.

3 The wicket ar efremet frae the wome; thaye gang astraye as sune as thaye be born, speikin' lees.

4 Thair pusen is like the pusen o' ane serpint; thaye ar like the deaf eddart that stapps hir lug;

5 Whilk wullna herken til the voyce o' chermers, cherm thaye nevir sae wyselie.

6 Brik thair teeth, O God, in thair mooth; brik owt the grit teeth o' the yung lions, O Lord.

7 Let thame melt awa like waters that rin continwallie; whan he ben's his bowe til schuut his arras, let thame be as cutet in pieces.

8 As ane snail whilk melts, let ilka ane o' thame passe awa; like the wantimelie birth o' ane woman, that thaye may seena the sun.

9 Afore your pats can feel the thoorns, he sall tak' thame awa as gif wi' ane whurlwund, baith leivin', an' in his wræth.

10 The richteous sall rejoyce whan he sees the vantage; he sall wasch his feet in the bluid o' the wicket.

11 Sae that ane man sall say, 'Trewlie ther' is ane rewaird for the richteous: trewlie he is ane God that juudges in the yirth.

LIX.

† Til the chief musicien, Al-tas-chith, Michtam o' David, whan Saul sendet, an' thaye watchet the hous til kill him.

DELIFER me frae mine enimies, O my God; skug me frae thame that ræise up agayne me.

2 Delifer me frae the wurkers o' inequitie, an' saufe me frae bluidie men.

3 For lo, thaye lye on the owtluk for my saul: the michtie ar getheret agayne me: nat for my wrang-gangin', nar for my sin, O Lord.

4 Thaye rin an' mak' thamesel's readie wuthouten my faut; awauken til helpe me, an' behald.

5 Thou, therfor, O Lord God o' hosts, the God o' Israel, awauken til veesit a' the heæthin: bena mercifu' til onie wicket transgressor. Selah.

6 Thaye cum bak at e'enin': thaye mak' ane noyse like ane dog, an' gang roun' aboot the citie.

7 Behald thaye rift owt wi' thair mooth; swords ar in thair lipps, for wha (saye thaye) deth heær?

8 But thou, O Lord, sallt lauch at thame; thou sallt hae a' the heæthin in derishion.

9 Becaus o' his strenth wull I waite apou thee: for God is my saufegaird.

10 The God o' my mercie sall gae afore me: God sall let me see my wush apou mine enimies.

11 Dinna sley thame owtricht, in case my fowk forget: dræive thame abreæd bie thy wicht, an' bring thame doun, O Lord, our sheeld.

12 For the sin o' thair mooth, an' the wurd's o' thair lipps, let thame een be taen in thair pryde, an' for bannin' an' leein' whilk thaye speik.

13 Consum thame in furie, consum thame that thaye mayna be; an' let thame ken that God rings in Jacob untill the en's o' the yirth. Selah.

14 An' at e'enin' let thame cum bak; an' let thame mak' noyse like ane dog, an' gang roun' about the citie.

15 Let thame dander up an' doun seikin' fude, an' grudge gif thaye bena satisfiet.

16 But I wull sing o' thy powir; ay, I wull sing aluud o' thy mercie in the moornin': for thou hest been my defense an' beeld in the daye o' my truble.

17 Untill thee, O my strength, wull I sing; for God is my defense, an' the God o' my mercie.

LX.

¶ Til the chief musicien apon Shushan-eduth, Michtam o' David, til teeche whan he stræfe wi' Aran-naharaim, an' wi' Aran-zobah, whan Joab cam' bak an' smate o' Edom in the Vallie o' Saut twal thousan'.

O GOD, thou hest casen us aff, thou hest drien us abreæd, thou hest been displeaset: O turn thysel' til us agane.

2 Thou hest mæde the yirth til trimmel; thou hest brokin it: men' the gaaps thero', for it shogs.

3 Thou hest shawet thy peeples sad an' sair things; thou hest mæde us til drynk the wine o' wunderment.

4 Thou hest gien ane banner til thame that fear thee, that it maye be displayet becaus o' the trouth. Selah.

5 That thy belofet may be deliferet; saufe wi' thy richt han', an' heær me.

6 God heth spokin' in his haliniss; I wull rejoyce: I wull devyde Shechem, an' mæseser owt the vallie o' Succoth.

7 Gilead is mine, Manassah is mine; Ephraim alsua is the strength o' mine heær, an' Judah is my lawgieer.

8 Moab is my wasch-pat: ower Edom wull I thraw my shoo: Philistia, wult thou now triumff ower me?

9 Wha wull bring me intil the strang citie? wha wull leede me intil Edom?

10 Wult thou, O God, whilk hest casen us aff? an' thou, O God, whilk didistna gang owt wi' our bands o' weir?

11 Gie us help frae truble; for the help o' man is vaine.

12 Throwe God we wull do douchtielie: for he it is that sall tramp doun our enimies.

LXI.

¶ Til the chief musicien apon Niginah, Ane Psalm o' David.

HEÆR my crye, O God; tak' tent untill my præyer.

2 Frae the en' o' the yirth wull I crye untill thee, whan my hairt is overcum leed me til the rok that is heicher nor I.

3 For thou hest been ane scug for me, an' ane strang towir frae the enimie.

4 I wull bide in thy taabernakle for aye: I wull trust in the kuvert o' thy wings. Selah.

5 For thou, O God, hest heærd my voves: thou hest gien me the heirseep o' thame that feær thy næme.

6 Thou wult draw lang the liffe o' the king, an' mak' his yeers as monie ganæratians.

7 He sall bide afore God for aye: O prepair mercie an' trouth whilk may preserfe him.

8 Sae wull I sing prayse til thy næme forever, that I maye daylie paye my voves.

LXII.

¶ Til the chief musicien, til Jeduthun, Ane Psalm o' David.

TREWLIE my saul waites apon God: frae him cums my salvatione.

2 He onlie is my rok an' my helth: he is my hie plece, I sall-na be gritlie muvet.

3 How lang wull ye imagin mischeef agayne ane man? ye sall be sleyn a' o' ye: as ane boulgie wa' sall ye be, an' as ane waigglin' fense.

4 Thaye onlie konsult til thraw him doun frae his eksellencie : thaye delicht in lees : thaye bliss wi' thair mooth, an' ban inwairdlie.

5 My saul, waite thou onlie apon God ; for my expektashone is frae him.

6 He onlie is my rok an' my salvatione : he is my defense ; I sallna be muvet.

7 In God is my salvatione an' my glorie : the rok o' my strenth an' my sauftie-howff is in God.

8 Trust in him at a' times, ye peeple ; teem owt your hairts afore him : God is ane sauftie-howff for us. Selah.

9 Shurelie men o' leuch degree ar vanitie : an' men o' heich degree ar ane lee. Til be layde in the balinse thaye ar a'thegither lighter nor vaintie.

10 Trustna in oppressione, an' becumna vaine in reyflake : gif riches inkresse, setna your hairt apon thame.

11 God heth spokin ance ; twæis hae I heærd this, that powir belangs untill God.

12 Alsua untill thee, O Lord, belangs mercie ; for thou rendirist til ilka man akordin' til his warks.

LXIII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David, whan he was in the Wulderniss o' Judah.

O GOD, thou art my God, earlie wull I seik thee : my saul thrists for thee, my flesh langs for thee in ane drie an' wearie lan' whare nae water is ;

2 Til see thy powir an' thy glorie, sae as I hae seen thee in the sanctuarie.

3 Becaus thy loein-kindniss is better nor liffe, my lipps sall prayse thee.

4 Thus wull I bliss thee while I leive ; I wull lift up my han's in thy næme.

5 My saul sall be satisfiet as wi' marra an' fatniss, an' my mooth sall prayse thee wi' joyfu' lipps ;

6 Whan I remembir thee apon my bed, an' tak' deep thought o' thee in the hoors o' the nicht.

7 Becaus thou hest been my staye, therfor in the skaddaw o' thy wings wull I rejoyce.

8 My saul follos clos efter thee : thy richt han' uphauds me.

9 But thaye that seik my saul til destroye it, sall gang intil the lower pairts o' the yirth.

10 Thaye sall fa' bie the sword; thaye sall be ane melteth for the tods.

11 But the king sall rejoyce in God : ilka ane that sweers bie him sall glorie : but the lipps o' thame that speik lees sall be stappet.

LXIV.

† Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

HÆER my voyce, O God, in my præyer; preserfe my liffe frae fear o' the enemie.

2 Hyde me frae the seceret cunsil o' the wicket: frae the ræising up o' the wurkers o' inequitie;

3 Wha sherpen thair tungs like ane sword, an' ben' thair bowes til schuut thair arras, een bitter wurd.

4 That thaye may schuut wi' hidden ettle at the perfite : in ane wanwuth thaye schuut wuthouten dreædour.

5 Thaye eg on thamesel's in ane ill thing : thaye commuun anent layin' girus hiddlinslie : thaye saye, Wha sall see thame?

6 Thaye howk owt inequities : thaye akomplish ane eident en-quæirie: baith the inwaird thought o' ilka ane o' thame an' the hairt is deepe.

7 But God sall schuut at thame wi' ane arra; suddanlie sall thaye be wundet.

8 Sae sall thaye mak' thair ain tung til fa' apon thamesel's: a' sall flee awa that see thame.

9 An' a' men sall fear, an' sall speik furth the wark o' God; for thaye sall wyselie dwell in deepe thought on his doin'.

10 The richteous sall be gladsume in the Lord, an' sall trust in him; an' a' the upricht in hairt sall glorie.

LXV.

† Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm an' Sang o' David.

PRÆYSE waites for thee, O God, in Zion; an' untill thee sall the vowe be payet.

2 Untill thee, O thou that heærist præyer, sall a' flesh cum.

3 Inequities mak' inraid agayne me; as for our transgressiones, thou sallt cleense thame awa.

4 Blisset is the man wham thou chuusist, an' causist til cum near untill thee, that he may dwell in thy courts. We sall be satisfiet wi' the guidniss o' thy hous, een o' thy haly temple.

5 Bie terrabil things in richteousniss wult thou answir us, O God o' our salvatione, wha art the konfidence o' a' the en's o' the yirth, an' o' thame that ar afer aff upon the se.

6 Whilk bie his strenth settist siccer the mountans, bein' girthet wi' powir;

7 Whilk stillist the noyse o' the seis, the noyse o' the waves, an' the racket o' the peeple.

8 Thaye alsua that dwell in the maist owt-bye pairts ar afeæret at thy tokens: thou makist the owt-gangin' o' the moornin' an the e'enin' til rejoyce.

9 Thou veesitist the yirth, an' waterist it; thou gritlie inrichist it wi' the river o' God, whilk is fu' o' water: thou prepairist the coorn whan thou hest sae mæde it readie.

10 Thou waterist the riggs o't abundentlie; thou settelist the furs thero'; thou makist it saft wi' shoors; thou blissist the brairdin' o't.

11 Thou crownist the yeer wi' thy guidniss, an' thy peths drap fatniss.

12 Thaye drap upon the pasters o' the wuldirniss; an' the wee hills rejoyce on ilka syde.

13 The heff-gangs ar claethet wi' hirsels o' sheepe; the vallies ar alsua kiveret ower wi' coorn; thaye crye owt for joy, thaye lilt alsua an' sing.

LXVI.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Sang or Psalm.

MAK' ane joyfu' noyse untill God, a' ye lan's.

2 Sing furth the honor o' his næme; mak' his prayse glorious.

3 Say untill God, Howe terrabil art thou in thy warks! through the gritniss o' thy powir sall thine enimies submisse thame-sel's til thee.

4 A' the yirth sall wurship thee, an' sall sing untill thee; thaye sall sing til thy næme.

5 Cum an' see the warks o' God: he is terrabil in his doin' towards the childer o' men.

6 He turnet the se intil dry lan'; thaye gaed throwe the flude on fit: ther did we rejoyce in him.

7 He ruuls bie his powir forever; his eyne behald the nationes: letna the rebellicous lift thamesel's up. Selah.

8 O bliss our God, ye peepel, an' mak' his prayse be heärd;

9 Whilk hauds our saul in liffe, an' tholesna our feet til be muvet.

10 For thou, O God, hest pruvet us; thou hest tryet us as siller is tryet.

11 Thou brangist us intil the nette; thou laydist afflicksone on our lains.

12 Thou hest causet men til ryde ower our heäds: we gaed throwe fire an' throwe water; but thou brangist us owt intil ane walthie plece.

13 I wull gang intil thy hous wi' brunt-afferin's; I wull paye thee my vows, 14 Whilk my lipps hae uutteret an' my mooth heth spokin, whan I was in truble.

15 I wull affer untill thee brunt-sacrifices o' fatlins, wi' the insense o' tips: I wull affer ousen wi' gaits.

16 Cum an' heär, a' ye that feär God; I wull speik owt what he heth dune for my saul.

17 I cryet untill him wi' my mooth, an' he was ekstollet wi' my tung.

18 Gif I goam inequitie in my hairt, the Lord wullna heär me.

19 But trewlie God heth heärd me; he heth ta'en tent til the voyce o' my præyer.

20 Blisset be God, wha hethna turnet awa my præyer frae him, nar his mercie frae me.

LXVII.

† Til the chief musicien on Neginoth, Ane Psalm or Sang.

GOD be mercifu' untill us, an' bliss us, an' caus his fece til shyne apon us. Selah.

2 That thy waye may be kennet apon yirth, an' thy saufin' helth amang a' nationes.

3 Let the peeple prayse thee, O God; let a' the peeple prayse thee.

4 O let the nationes be blythe, an' sing for joye; for thou sallt juudge the peeple richteouslie, an' govern the nationes apon yirth. Selah.

5 Let the peeple prayse thee, O Lord; let a' the peeple prayse thee.

6 Than sall the yirth gie furth hir inkresse; an' God, een our God, sall bliss us.

7 God sall bliss us; an' a' the en's o' the yirth sall fæar him.

LXVIII.

† Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm or Sang o' David.

LET God ræise up, let his enimies be scatteret: let thame alsua that hæte him flie afore him.

2 As reek is drein awa, sae awa let thame be drein: as waks melts afore the fire, sae let the wicket melt awa in the presinse o' God.

3 But let the richteous be gladsume: let thame rejoyce afore God; yis, let thame rejoyce ekseedin'lie.

4 Sing untill God, sing prayses til his næme: ekstol him that rydes apon the heævens by his næme JAH, an' rejoyce afore him.

5 Ane faether o' the faetherliss, an' ane juudge o' the widaws, is God in his haly dwallin'.

6 God setts the rewfu' an' lane in families: he brings owt thae whilk ar bund in cheens; but the contramashous dwell in ane barren lan'.

7 O God, whan ye gaed furth afore the peeple, whan thou didist mærch throwe the wulderniss; Selah:

8 The yirth shuuk, the heævens drappet at the presinse o' God, the God o' Israel.

9 Thou, O God, didist sen' ane routh rain, wharebie thou didist refreshan an' mak' firm thine heirskep whan it was wurn wearie.

10 Thy congregatione has dwalt therin: o' thy guidniss thou hest, O God, layde up sumethin' for the puir.

11 The Lord gæfe the wurd, an' grit was the companie o' thae that publishet it.

12 Kings o' ærmies did flee at ance : an' she wha stayet at hame devydet the spulsyie.

13 Thouch ye hae læyne amang the pats, yit sall ye be as the wings o' ane dow, kiveret wi' siller, an' her feathers wi' yallo gowd.

14 Whan the Almichtie skatteret kings for hir, she was white as snaw in Salmon.

15 The hill o' God is as the hill o' Bashan ; ane heich hill, as the hill o' Bashan.

16 Therfor, why lowp ye an' conten', ye hills o' heich heæds ? This is the hill whilk God desyres til dwall in ; yis, the Lord wull dwall in it for aye.

17 The chareats o' God ar twontie thousan' ; een monie thousan's o' angils : the Lord is amang thame in his haly plect, as in Sinai.

18 Thou hest gane up on hie : thou hest led captifitie captife : thou hest receifet giftes for men ; ay, for the contramashous alsua, that the Lord God nicht dwall amang thame.

19 Blisset be the Lord, wha daye efter daye lades us wi' guid things, een the God o' our salvatione. Selah.

20 He that is our God is the God o' salvatione : an' untill God the Lord the furthgæin's frae deæth belang.

21 But God sall wuund the heæd o' his enimies, an' the hairie scaup o' sic ane as gaes wullfullie still on in his trespassis.

22 The Lord said, I wull bring agane frae Bashan : I wull bring my peeples agane frae the deeps o' the se.

23 That thy fit may be dippet in the bluid o' thine enimies, an' in the sæme the tung o' thy dogs.

24 Thaye hae seen thy gaeings, O God ; een the gaeings o' my God, my King, in the sanctuarie.

25 The singirs gaed afore, the playirs on instriments folloet efter : amang thame wer the yung dames playin' on timbrils.

26 Bliss ye God in the congregatione ; een the Lord, frae the fountan o' Israel.

27 Ther is wee Benjamin, wi' thair ruuler, the cheefs o' Judah, an' thair cunsil, the cheefs o' Zebulun, an' the cheefs o' Naphtali.

28 Thy God heth comman'et thy strenth : wi' strenth mak' sicer, O God, that whilk thou hest dune for us.

29 Becaus o' thy temple at Jerusalem, sall kings bring propines untill thee.

30 Rebuik the throck o' speermen, the ferkishen o' the bulls, wi' the cafes o' the peeple, til ilka ane submissee himsel' wi' peices o' siller : skatter thou the peeple that delicht in weir.

31 Princes sall cum owt o' Egypt; Ethiopia sall sune streeke owt his han's untill God.

32 Sing untill God, ye kingdoms o' the yirth; O sing prayes untill the Lord. Selah.

33 Til him wha rydes apon the heävens o' heävens whilk wer o' auld; lo, he deth sen' owt his voyce, an' that ane voyce michtie.

34 Ascrybe ye strenth untill God: his eksellencie is ower Israel, an' his strenth is in the cluds.

35 O God, thou art terrabil owt o' thy haly pleges: the God o' Israel is he that gies strenth an' powir untill his peeple. Blisset be God.

LXIX.

¶ Til the chief musicien apon Shoshannim, Ane Psalm o' David.

SAUFE me, O God, for the waters hae cum in untill my saul.

2 I synk amang deep glar, whare ther is nae stan'in': I am cum intil deep waters, whare the fludes ower-gang me.

3 I am wearie o' my cryin'; my hass is dryet, mine eyne fæil while I waite for my God.

4 Thaye that hæte me wuthouten ane caus ar mae nor the hairs o' mine heæd: thaye that wad destroye me, bein' mine enemies wrangfulie, ar michtie: than I rendiret that whilk I tuikna awa.

5 O God, thou kennist my fulishniss, an' my sins arna hidden frae thee.

6 Letna thame that waite on thee, O Lord God o' hosts, be shæmet for my sak': letna thae that seik thee be confuundet for my sak', O God o' Israel.

7 Becaus for thy sak' I hae tholet reproch: shæme heth kiveret my fece.

8 I am becum ane fremet untill my brithren, an' ane forener until my mither's childer.

9 For the zeel o' thine hous hæs eeten me up; an' the reproches o' thame that reprochet thee hae fa'n apon me.

10 Whan I grat an' chetenet my saul wi' fastin', that was til my reproch.

11 I mæde sackclaith alsua my cleedin', an' I becam' ane bie-wurd til thame.

12 Thaye that sit in the yette speik agayne me, an' I was the sang o' the drunkards.

13 But as for me, my præyer is untill thee, O Lord, in ane akseptabil time : O God, in the multitud o' thy mercie, heær me in the trouth o' thy salvatione.

14 Owt o' the clart delifer me, an' letna me synk : let me be deliferet frae thame that hæte me, an' owt o' the deep waters.

15 Letna the waterflude owerfleete me, næther let the deep swallie me up, an' letna the pitt apon me shute hir mooth.

16 Heær me, O Lord, for thy loein-kindniss is guid ; turn untill me akordin' til the multitud o' thy tendir mercies.

17 An' hydena thy fece frae thy servant, for I am in truble ; heær me speedilie.

18 Draw nær untill my saul, an' redeim it ; delifer me becaus o' mine enimies.

19 Thou hest kennet my reproch, an' my shæme, an' my wan-honor : mine advarsaries ar a' afore thee.

20 Reproch hæs brokin mine hairt, an' I am fu' o' hiviniss ; an' I luikit for sum til tak' pitie, but ther was nane, an' for comfertirs, but I fand nane.

21 Ga' thaye alsua gæfe me for my meæt, an' in my thrist thaye gæfe me venigar til drynk.

22 Let thair tabel becum ane girn afore thame ; an' that whilk shud hæe been for thair weelfare, let it becum ane kittlebrode.

23 Let thair eyne be derkenet that thaye seena, an' let thair lains continwallie shak'.

24 Teem owt thine indignatione apon thame, an' let thy frenfu' angir tak' haud o' thame.

25 Let thair næme be waiste an' lane, an' let nane dwall in thair tents.

26 For thaye persikute him wham thou hest smittin, an' thaye speik til the sad skaith o' thae wham thou hest wuundet.

27 Eek punishmint til thair eniquitie, an' let thame nat cum intil thy richteousniss.

28 Let thame be blattet owt frae the buik o' the læivin', an' nat be writ wi' the richteous.

29 But I am puir an' fu' o' sorra : let thy salvatione, O God, sett me up on hie.

30 I wull prayse the næme o' God wi' ane sang, an' wull magnifie him wi' thanksgiein'.

31 This alsua sall please the Lord mair nor ane stot or bullok that heth cluts an' hoorns.

32 The lawlie sall see this, an' be gladsume : an' your hairts sall læive that seik God.

33 For the Lord heærs the puir, an' despæisesna his prisenirs.

34 Let the heævens an' yirth prayse him, the seis an' ilka thing that muves therin.

35 For God wull saufe Zion, an' wull bigg the cities o' Judah ; that thaye maye dwell ther, an' hae it in haudin.

36 The affspring alsua o' his servents sall inheerit it, an' thaye that loe his næme sall dwell therin.

LXX.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David til bring til remembirence.

MAK' hæste, O God, to delifer me ; mak' hæste til helpe me, O Lord.

2 Let thame be shæmet an' confuundet that seik efter my saul : let thame be turnet bakward, an' putten til confushon, that desyre my skaith.

3 Let thame be turnet bak for ane rewaird o' thair shæme that say, Aha ! Aha !

4 Let a' thae that seik thee rejoyce an' be gladsume in thee ; an' let sic as loe thy salvatione say continwallie, Let God be magnifiet.

5 But I am puir an' needie, mak' hæste untill me, O God : ye ar my help an' deliferer ; mak' nae taiggling, O Lord.

LXXI.

IN thee, O Lord, do I pit my trust ; let me nevir be putten til confushon.

2 Delifer me in thy richteousniss, an' caus me til gete cleer aff ; inclæine thine eær untill me, an' saufe me.

3 Be thou my strang hous, whareuntill I may continwallie re-sourt: thou hest gien commandement til saufe me: for thou art my rok an' cassel.

4 Delifer me, O my God, owt o' the han' o' the wicket; owt o' the han' o' the unrichteous an' cruill man.

5 For thou art my houpe, O Lord God; thou art my trust frae my youdith.

6 Bie thee hae I been hauden up frae the wome: thou art he that tuik me owt o' my mither's bowils; my prayse sall be contin-wallie o' thee.

7 I am as ane wunder untill monie: but thou art my strang hauld.

8 A' the daye let my mooth be fillet wi' thy honor an' thy prayse.

9 Thrawna me aff in the time o' my auld age; forsakna me whan my pith gaes waye.

10 For mine enimies speik agayne me; an' thaye that laye waite for my saul tak' cunsil thegither, 11 Sayin', God heth forhowet him; persikute an' tak' him; for ther is nane til delifer him.

12 O God, bena fer frae me: O my God, mak' hæste for my helpe.

13 Let thame be confuundet an' consumet that ar advsaries til my saul: let thame be kiveret wi' reproch an' wanhonor that seik my skaith.

14 But I wull houpe continwallie, an' prayse thee mair an' mair.

15 My mooth sall shaw furth thy richteousniss an' salvatione a' the daye; for I kenna the nummer o' thy mercies.

16 I wull gae on in the strenth o' the Lord God: I wull mak' mentione o' thy richteousniss, an' thine onlie.

17 O God, thou hest taucht me frae my youdith; an' hiddertil hae I spokin furth thy wunderfu' warks.

18 Nowe alsua whan I am auld an' græy-heædet, O God, forhowena me til I hae shawet furth thy strenth til this ganæration, an' thy powir til ilka ane that is til cum.

19 Alsua thy richteousniss, O God, is verra hie, wha hest dune grit things: O God, wha is like until thee?

20 Thou, whilk hest shawet me grit an' sair troubles, salt quikan me agane, an' agane sallt bring me up frae the deeps o' the yirth.

21 Thou sallt inkresse my gritniss, an' comfirt me on ilka syde.

22 I wull alsua prayse thee, een thy trouth, wi' the psaltrie, O my God: untill thee wull I sing wi' the herp, O thou Haly Ane o' Israel.

23 Whan I sing untill thee, my lipps sall gritlie rejoyce, an' my saul; whilk thou hest redeimet.

24 My tung alsua sall tauk o' thy richteousniss a' the daye lang: for thaye ar confuundet an' broucht untill shæme that soucht my skaith.

LXXII.

¶ Ane Psalm for Solomon.

GLE the king thy juudgemints, O God, an' thy richteousniss untill the king's son.

2 He sall juudge thy fowk wi' richteousniss, an' thy puir wi' juudgemint.

3 The mountans sall bring furth peece til the peeple, an' the wee hills bie richteousniss.

4 He sall juudge the puir o' the peeple; he sall saufe the childer o' the needie, an' sall brik in flinders the oppresser.

5 Thaye sall fear thee as lang as the sun an' muun induur, throuhowt a' ganæratians.

6 He sall cum doun like raine apoun the mawn gerse, as shoors that water the yirth.

7 In his dayes sall the righteous flourish, an' routh o' peece, sae lang as the muun induurs.

8 He sall hae dominione alsua frae se til se, an' frae the river til the en's o' the yirth.

9 Thaye that dwell in the wuldirniss sall beck afore him, an' his enimies sall lick the mool.

10 The kings o' Tarshish an' o' the isles sall bring propines; the kings o' Sheba an' Seba sall offer giftes.

11 Yis, a' the kings sall fa' doun afore him; a' nationes sall ser' him.

12 For he sall delifer the needie whan he cryes, the puir alsua an' him that hæe nae helpir.

13 He sall spare the puir an' needie, an' o' the needie sall saufe the sauls.

14 He sall redeim thair sauls frae deceite an' violence, an' precious sall thair bluid be in his sicht.

15 An' he sall leive, an' til him sall be gien o' the gowd o' Sheba: præyer sall alsua be mæde for him continwallie, an' daylie sall he be præyset.

16 Ther sall be ane neiffu' o' coorn in the yird upon the tap o' the mountans: the frute o't sall shak' like Lebanon; an' thaye o' the citie sall flourish like gerse o' the yirth.

17 His næme sall induur forever: his næme sall be continuaet as lang as the sun; an' men sall be blisset in him: a' nationes sall ca' him blisset.

18 Blisset be the Lord God, the God o' Israel, wha onlie deth wunderfu' things.

19 An' blisset be his glorious næme forever: an' let the haill yirth be fillet wi' his glorie. Saebied, an' Saebied.

20 The prayers o' David the son o' Jesse ar endet.

LXXIII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' Asaph.

TREWLIE God is guid til Israel, een til sic as ar o' ane cleen hairt.

2 But as for me, my feet wer amaist gane: my stepps had weel nie sklydet.

3 For I was enveeous at the fulish, whan I saw the weelfare o' the wicket.

4 For ther ar nae bands in thair deæth, but thair strenth is stoot.

5 Thaye arna in truble as ither men; næther ar plæguet like ither men.

6 Therfor pryde is roun' aboot thame as ane cheen; violence kivers thame as ane rocklay.

7 Thair eyne stan' owt wi' taugh; thāye hae mair nor hairt coude wush.

8 Thaye ar corrup, an' speik wicketlie anent oppressione; thaye speik loftilie.

9 Thaye set thair mooth agayne the heævens; an' thair tung wags throwe the yirth.

10 Therfor his peeples turn bak hidder; an' waters o' ane fu cup ar wrung owt til thame:

11 An' thaye say, Howe deth God ken? an' is ther feille in the Maist Hie?

12 Behald, thae ar the ungodlie, wha prosper in the warld: thaye inkresse in walth.

13 Trewlie I hae cleanset my hairt in vaine, an' waschet my han's in innicencie.

14 For a' the daye lang hae I been plæguet, an' chesaneet ilka moornin'.

15 Gif I say, I wull speik thus; behald, I shude offen' agayne the ganæration o' thy childer.

16 Whan I soucht til understan' this, it was ower painfu' for me.

17 Until I gaed intil the sanctuarie o' God, an' than understude I thair en'.

18 Shurelie thou didist set thame in slidderie plices: thou dingist thame doun intil destruckshon.

19 Howe ar thaye broucht intil desolatione as in ane wanwuth! thaye ar utterlie consumet wi' terrors.

20 As ane dreem whan ane awaukens, sae, O Lord, whan thou awaukenist, thou sallt despæise thair image.

21 Thus my hairt was greifet, an' I was prodet in my reens.

22 Sae fulish was I an' ignorant: I was as ane beæst afore thee.

23 Natheless I am continwallie wi' thee: thou hest haudden me bie my richt han'.

24 Thou sallt gæyde me wi' thy cunsil, an' efterwards receife me intil glorie.

25 Wham hae I in heæven but thee? an' ther is nane apon yirth that I desyre forbye thee.

26 My flesh an' my hairt fæil: but God is the strencth o' my hairt, an' my portione forever.

27 For lo, thame that ar fer frae thee sall perrishe: thou hest destroyet a' thame that gang a-lustin' frae thee.

28 But it is guid for me til draw near til God: I hae putten my trust in the Lord God, that I may speik furth a' his warks.

LXXIV.

¶ Maschil o' Asaph.

O GOD, wharefor hest thou casen us aff forever? why deth thine angir reek agayne the sheepe o' thy heff-gang?

2 Mind thy congregacione, whilk thou hest coft o' auld; the rodd o' thine heirskep, whilk thou hest redeimet; this Muunt Zion, wharein thou hest dwalt.

3 Lift up thy feet untill the en'liss desolationes, een a' that the enemie heth dune wicketlie in the sanctuarie.

4 Thine enimies rair in the middle o' thy congregaciones; thaye sete up thair ensygns for sygns.

5 Ance ane man was renommet akordin' as he had liftet up æxes apon the thick tries.

6 But nowe thaye brik doun the cervet wark thero' at ance wi' æxes an' hammirs.

7 Thaye hae thrawn fire intil thy sanctuarie; thaye hae fylet, bie thraving doun the dwallin'-plece o' thy næme til the gruun'.

8 Thaye said in thair hairts, Let us destroye thame thegither; thaye hae brunt up a' the synigogues o' God in the lan'.

9 We seena our sygns; ther is nae mair onie prophit, næther is ther amang us onie that kens howe lang.

10 O God, howe lang sall the advarsarie speik dispichtfulie? sall the enemie blasfeme thy næme foraye?

11 Why haudist thou bak thy han', een thy richt han'? pu' it owt o' thy bozim.

12 For God is my King o' auld, wurkin' salvatione in the middle o' the yirth.

13 Thou didist cleefe the se bie thy strenth; thou didist brik the heæds o' the drægons in the waters.

14 Thou didist smatter the heæds o' leviathan intil flenders, an' gæfist him til be fude til the peepel habitatin' the wuldiniss.

15 Thou didist cleefe the fuuntan an' the flude: thou dryetist up michtie rivers.

16 The daye is thine, the nicht alsua is thine; thou hest prepairet the licht an' the sun.

17 Thou hest sete a' the boordirs o' the yirth: thou hest mæde simmir an' wintir.

18 Ae thing keep in mind, that the enimie hæ s reprochet, O Lord, an' that the fulish peep le hæ blasfemet thy næ me.

19 O deliferna the saul o' thy turtle-dow untill the ferkishin' o' the wicket; forgetna the congregati one o' thy puir foraye.

20 Hæ respeck untill the covenant; for the mirk p leces o' the yirth ar fu' o' the habitati ones o' cruiltie.

21 O letna the oppresset cum bak down o' mooth; let the puir an' needie prayse thy næ me.

22 Ræise up, O God, plead thine ain caus; bæ r in mind howe the fulish man reproches thee daylie.

23 Forgetna the voyce o' thine enimies: the throck an' dirdum o' thae that rise up agayne thee inkresses continwallie.

LXXV.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Al-tas-chith, Ane Psalm or Sang o' Asaph.

UNTILL thee, O God, do we gie thanks; untill thee do we gie thanks; for that thy næ me is næ r thy wunderfu' warks crye owt.

2 Whan I sall receife the congregati one, uprightly wull I juudge.

3 Dissolfet is the yirth an' a' the indwallers thero'; I haud up the pillers o't. Selah.

4 I said untill the fules, Deelna fulishlie; an' til the wicket, Liftna up the hoorn:

5 Liftna up your hoorn on hie, nar speik wi' ane styffe necke.

6 For promovall cums næ ther frae the east nar frae the wast, nar frae the south.

7 But God is the juudge; he pits down ane, an' sets anither up.

8 For in the han' o' the Lord ther is ane cup, an' the wine is reid; it is fu' o' mikstir, an' he teems owt the same: but the dreggs o't a' the wicket o' the yirth sall wring owt, an' drynk thame.

9 But I wull declair forevir: I wull sing prayses til the God o' Jacob.

10 A' the hoorns o' the wicket alsua, wull I sneg aff: but the hoorns o' the richteous sall be liftet up.

LXXVI.

¶ Til the chief musicien on Niginoth, Ane Psalm or Sang o' David.

IN Judah is God kennet : in Israel his næme is grit.

2 In Salem alsua is his taabernakle, an' his dwallin'-plece in Zion.

3 Ther brak he the arras o' the bowe, the sheeld, the sword, an' the battel. Selah.

4 Thou art mair glorious an' eksellint nor the mountans o' preye.

5 The stoot-hairtet ar spulysiet : thaye hae sleepit thair sleep owtricht, an' nane o' the men o' micht hae fuund thair han's.

6 At thy rebuik, O God o' Jacob, baith the chariat an' hors ar casen intil ane deepe sleepe.

7 Thou, een thou, art til be feæret ; an' wha maye stan' afore thy sicht whan ance thou art angrie ?

8 Thou didist caus juudgemint til be heærd frae heæven, the yirth feæret an' was quash, 9 Whan God ræise up til juudgemint, til saufe a' the meik o' the yirth. Selah.

10 Shurelie the wræth o' man sall prayse thee, an' the remaner o' wræth thou wult restane.

11 Vowe, an' paye untill the Lord your God ; let a' that be roun' aboot him bring propines untill him that oucht to be feæret.

12 He sall sneg aff the speerit o' princes : he is terrabil til the kings o' the yirth.

LXXVII.

¶ Til the chief musicien, til Jeduthun, Ane Psalm o' Asaph.

ICRYET untill God wi' my voyce, een untill God wi' my voyce, an' he gæfe eær untill me.

2 In the daye o' my truble I soucht the Lord ; my sair ran in the nicht, an' gæfe na ower ; my saul wadna be comfirtet.

3 I remembiret God, an' was trublet : I compleenet, an' my speerit was owercum. Selah.

4 Ye haud mine eyne waukin' ; I am sae trublet that I downa speik.

5 I hae taen serious thought o' the dayes o' auld, the yeers o' aulden times.

6 I bring til mind my sang in the nicht: I commuun wi' my ain hairt, an' my speerit mæde eident serch.

7 Wull the Lord thraw aff forever? wull he be faaverable nae mair?

8 Is his mercie foraye cleen gane? deth his promish fæil for-evirmair?

9 Hæs God forgotten til be gracious? hæes he in angir schut up his tendir mercies? Selah.

10 An' I said, This is my fæilin'; but I wull ca' til mind the yeers o' the richt han' o' the Maist Hie.

11 I wull ca' til mind the warks o' the Lord; shurelie I wull remembir thy wunders o' auld.

12 In thought I wull dwell on a' thy wark, an' tauk o' thy doin's.

13 Thy waye, O God, is in the sanctuarie; wha is sae grit ane God as our God?

14 Ye ar the God that deth ferlies: ye hae declairit thy strencth amang the peepel.

15 Wi' thine ærm ye hae redeimit thy chosin anes; the sons o' Jacob an' Joseph. Selah.

16 The waters saw thee, O God, the waters saw thee: thaye were afærit; the deeps alsua wer trublet.

17 The cluds teemet owt water: the skyes sendet owt ane suund: thine arras alsua gaed abreæd.

18 The voyce o' thy thunnars was in the heæven; the lichtenins lichtenet the warld; the yirth trimmlét an' shuuk.

19 Thy waye is in the se, an' thy peth in the grit waters; an' thy fitstepps arna kennet.

20 Like ane hirsle o' sheepe ye led thy peepel bie the han' o' Moses an' Aaron.

LXXVIII.

¶ Maschil o' Asaph.

GIE æar, O my peepel, til my law: inclæine your eærs til the wurd o' my mooth.

2 I wull opin my mooth in ane parabil: I wull utter mirk sayins' o' auld;

3 Whilk we hae heàrd, an' kennet, an' our faethers hae tauld us.

4 We wullna hyde thame frae thair childer, shawin' til the ganæratians til cum the prayses o' the Lord, an' his strenth, an' his wunderfu' works that he hæd dune.

5 For he sete siccerlie up ane testimonie in Jacob, an' appoyntet ane law in Israel, bie whilk he oordiret our faethers that thaye shud mak' thame kennet til thair childer.

6 That the ganæratian til cum nicht ken thame, een the childer whilk shude be born, wha shude ræise up an' declair thame til thair childer;

7 That thaye nicht sete thair houe in God, an' nat forgete the warks o' God, but keepe his commandements :

8 An' nichtna be as thair faethers, ane stubborn an' rebellous ganæratian; ane ganæratian that setena thair hairt aricht, an' whase speerit wasna steedfaste wi' God.

9 The childer o' Ephraim, being ærmet an' beærin' bowes, turnet bak in the daye o' battel.

10 Thaye keepetna the covenant wi' God, an' refuuset til gæyde thair stepps bie his law;

11 An' forgat his warks, an' his wundirs that he had shawet thame.

12 Mervellous things did he in the sicht o' thair faethers in the lan' o' Egypt, in the feeld o' Zoan.

13 He devydet the se, an' causet thame til gae throwe, an' he mæde the waters til stan' as ane bing.

14 In the dayetime alsua he lede thame wi' ane clud, an' a' the nicht wi' ane licht o' fire.

15 He cleefet the rok in the wuldirniss, an' gæfe thame drynk as owt o' the grit deeps.

16 He brang streams alsua owt o' the rok, an' causet waters til rin doun like rivers.

17 An' thaye sinnet yet mair agayne him bie provookin' the Maist Hie in the wuldirniss.

18 An' thaye tempet God in thair hairt, bie axin' meæt for thair lust.

19 Yis, thaye spak agayne God: thaye said, Can God oordir ane tabel in the wuldirniss?

20 Behald he smat the rok, that the waters rashet owt, an' the streams owerflet; can he gie us bræed alsua? can he provyde flesch for his peepel?

21 Therfor the Lord heærd this, an' was angirie; sae ane fire was kindlet agayne Jacob, an' angir alsua cam up agayne Israel;

22 Becaus thaye beleifetna God, an' trustetna in his salvatiōne.

23 Though he had commandet the cluds frae aboone, an' opinet the dors o' heæven.

24 An' had rainet doun manna apon thame til eet, an' had gien thame o' the coorn o' heæven.

25 Man did eet angils' fude: he sendet thame meæt til the fu'.

26 He causet ane east wund til blaw in the heæven; an' bie his powir he brang in the south wund.

27 He rainet flesh alsua apon thame as dust, an' featheret fowlis like as the san' o' the se;

28 An' he lut it fa' in the middle o' thair camp roun' about thair bydin'-pleces.

29 Sae thaye did eet an' were weel fillet: for he gæfe thame thair ain desyre.

30 Thaye werna mæde misken thair greede; but while thair meæt was yit in thair mooths, 31 The angir o' God cam' apon thame and sleyet the stootist o' thame, an' smat doun the chosin men o' Israel.

32 For a' this thaye didna quat sinnin', an' beleifetna for his wunderfu' warks.

33 Therfor thair dayes did he consum in vaintie, an' thair yeers in truble.

34 Whan he sleyet thame, than thaye soucht him; an' thaye turnet an' enquæret earlie efter God.

35 An' thaye remembiret that God was thair rok, an' the hie God thair Redeemer.

36 Natheless thaye flattiret him wi' thair mooth, an' thaye spak fauslie untill him wi' thair tungs.

37 For thair hairt wasna richt wi' him, næther wer thaye steedie in his covenant.

38 But he, being fu' o' tendir pitie, forgæfe thair inequitie, an' destroyet thame nat: yis, monie ane time turnet he his angir awa, an' didna stur up a' his wræth.

39 For he remembiret that thaye wer but flesh, ane wund that passes bye, an' cumsna agayne.

40 Howe aft did thaye provook him in the wulderniss, an' greife him in the desart!

41 Yis, thaye turnet bak, an' tempet God, an' sete buunds til the Haly Ane o' Israel.

42 Thaye remembiretna his han', nar the daye whan he deliferet thame frae the enimie.

43 Howe he had wroucht his sygns in Egypt, an' his wunders in the feeld o' Zoan.

44 An' had turnet thair rivers intil bluid, an' thair fludes that thaye cudna drynk.

45 He sendet sindrie sort o' flees amang thame, whilk devooret thame, an' paddas that destroyet thame.

46 He gæfe alsua thair inkresse untill the katerpillar, an' thair laabor untill the locust.

47 He destroyet thair vines wi' hail, an' thair sykamor-tries wi' frost.

48 He gæfe up thair kattle alsua til the hail, an' thair floks til het thunner-bolts.

49 He castet apon thame the frennishin o' his angir, wræth, an' indignatione, an' truble, bie sen'in' ill angils amang thame.

50 He mæde ane waye til his angir; he sparetna thair sauls frae deæth; but gæfe thair liffe ower til the pestilence.

51 An' smat a' the first-born in Egypt; the chief o' thair strenth in the taabernakles o' Ham;

52 But mæde his ain peeples til gae furth like sheepe, an' gæydet thame in the wuldiniss like ane hirsle.

53 An' he lede thame sauflie, sae that thaye feæret nat; but the se owerflet thair enimies.

54 An' he broucht thame til the boordir o' his sanctuarie, een til this mountan whilk his richt han' had coft.

55 He cust owt the heæthin alsua afore thame, an' devydet thame ane heirskep bie lyne, an' mæde the clans o' Israel til dwell in tentes.

56 Yet thaye tempet an' provooket the maist hie God, an' keepeatna his testimonies.

57 But turnet bak, an' deelt unfaithfullie like thair faethers; thaye gaed agey like ane shauchlet bowe.

58 For thaye provooket him til angir wi' thair hie-pleces, an' muvet him til jeelesie wi' thair gravin imagies.

59 Whan God heærd this, he was amuvet wi' displeesur, an' gritlie abhorret Israel:

60 Sae that he forhowet the taabernakles o' Shiloh, the tente whilk he plecet amang men;

61 An' deliferet his strenth intil captifitie, an' his glorie intil the enimie's han'.

62 He gæfe his peepel ower alsua untill the sword, an' was wroth wi' his inheeritence.

63 The fire consuemet thair yung men, an' thair maidens werna gien til wadlock.

64 Thair priests fell bie the sword, an' thair widaws mæde nae meane.

65 Than the Lord awaukenet like ane owt o' sleepe, an' like ane wicht man that cryes luud owt bie resen o' wine.

66 An' he smat his enimies in the hint pairs: he pat thame til ane perpetuall reproch.

67 Forbye this he refuuset the taabernakle o' Joseph, an' chusena the cep o' Ephraim;

68 But chuse the cep o' Judah, the Muunt Zion whilk he loet.

69 An' he bigget his sanctuarie like hie paleces, like the yirth whilk he heth sete siccer foraye.

70 He chuse David alsua his servent, an' tuik him frae the sheepe-falds.

71 Frae folloin' the yowes grit wi' yung, he brang him til feed Jacob his peepel, an' Israel his heirskep.

72 Sae he fed thame akordin' til the intiritie o' his hairt, an' gæydet thame bie the skeelfu'niss o' his han's.

LXXIX.

† Ane Psalm o' Asaph.

O GOD, the heæthin ar cum intil thine heirskep: thy haly temple hae thaye fylet; thaye hae layde Jerusalem on heeps.

2 The deæd bouks o' thy servents hae thaye gien til be fude untill the fowles o' heæven, the flesh o' thy saunts untill the beæsts o' the yirth.

3 Thair bluid thaye shede like water roun' about Jerusalem, an' ther was nane til burie thame.

4 We ar grown ane reproch til our neebbers, ane scoorn an' derishion til thame that ar roun about us.

5 Howe lang, Lord, wilt thou be angrie forevir? sall thy jeelesie burn like ane fire?

6 Teem owt thy wræth apon the heæthin that haena kennet thee, an' apon the kingdooms that haena ca't apon thy næme.

7 For thaye hae devooret Jacob, an' layde waiste his dwallin'-plece.

8 O remembirna agayne us byegane inequities: let thy tendir-mercies swuftlie be afore an' roun' us; for we ar brung verra leich.

9 Helpe us, O God o' our salvatione, for the glorie o' thy næme; an' delifer us, an' screenge awa our sins for thy næme's sak'.

10 Wharefor shud the heæthin say, Whare is thair God? Let him be kennet amang the heæthin in our sicht bie the revangin' o' the bluid o' thy servents whilk is shede.

11 Let the sichin' o' the prisiner cum afore thee, in ekwal measur til the gritniss o' thy powir preserfe thou thae that ar appoyntet til dee;

12 An' gie bak til our neebers se'en-fald intil thair bozim thair reproch, wharewi' thaye hae reprochet thee, O Lord.

13 Sae we thy people, an' sheepe o' thy heff, wull gie thee thanks forevir; we wull shaw furth thy prayse til a' ganæratians.

LXXX.

† Til the chief musicien apon Shoshannim-eduth, Ane Psalm for Asaph.

GIE cær, O Sheepherd o' Israel, ye that leed Joseph as ane hirscl; ye that dwell atween the chirabims, shyne furth.

2 Afore Ephraim, an' Benjamin, an' Manassah, stur up thy strenth, an' cum an' saufe us.

3 Turn us agayne, O God, an' caus thy fece til shyne, an' we sall be saufet.

4 O Lord God o' hosts, howe lang wull ye be angrie agayne the præyer o' thy peepel?

5 Ye feed thame wi' the breæd o' teærs, an' gie thame teærs til drynk in grit measur.

6 Ye mak' us ane striffe untill our neebers, an' our enimies lauch amang thamesel's.

7 Turn us agayne, O God o' hosts, an' caus thy fece til shyne, an' we sall be saufet.

8 Ye hae brung ane vine owt o' Egypt; ye hae casen owt the heæthin, an' sette it.

9 Ye mæde readie room afore it, an' did caus it til tak' deepe rute, an' it fillet the lan'.

10 The hills wer kiveret wi' the skaddaw o't, an' the bouchs o't wer like the guidlie cedars.

11 She sendet owt hir bouchs untill the se, an' hir brenches untill the river.

12 Why hest thou than brokin doun hir hedjes, sae that a' thaye that gang bie the waye do herrie her?

13 The boar owt o' the wud deth waiste hir, an' hir the wild beæst o' the desart deth devoor.

14 Turn agayne, we beseik thee, O God o' hosts; luik doun frae heæven, an' behald, an' veesit this vine;

15 An' the vinyard whilk thy richt han' heth sette, an' the brench whilk thou mædist strang for thyself.

16 It is brunt wi' fire; it is whanget doun: thaye schent at the rebuik o' thy countenance.

17 Let thy han' be apoun the man o' thy richt han', apoun the Son o' man wham thou mædist strang for thyself.

18 Sae wull we nat gae bak frae thee; quikan us, an' we wull ca' apoun thy næme.

19 Turn us agayne, O Lord God o' hosts; caus thy fece til shyne, an' we sall be saufet.

LXXXI.

¶ Til the chief musicien apoun Gittith, Ane Psalm for Asaph.

SING luudlie untill God our strenth: mak' ane joyfu' noyse untill the God o' Jacob.

2 Tak' ane psalm, an' fetche hidder the timbrel, the pleesent herp wi' the psaltrie.

3 Blaw up the trumpit in the new-muun, in the time apoyntet, on the solim feest-daye.

4 For this was ane staatute for Israel, an' ane law o' the God o' Jacob.

5 This he ordeenet in Joseph for ane testimonie, whan he gaed owt agayne the lan' o' Egypt; whare I heærd ane langwedje that I understudena.

6 I tuik aff the burdin frae his shouders: his han's wer deliferet frae the pats.

7 Ye ca't in truble, an' I deliferet thee; I answerit thee in the seceret plect o' thunner: I pruvet thee at the waters o' Meribah. Selah.

8 Heær, O my peepel, an' I wull testifie untill thee: O Israel, gif ye wull herken untill me;

9 Ther sall be nae fremet god in thee; næther sall ye wurship onie unco god.

10 I am the Lord thy God, wha brang thee owt o' the lan' o' Egypt: opin ye thy mooth wyde, an' I wull fill it.

11 But my peepel wadna herken til my voyce; an' Israel wad hae naething ado wi' me.

12 Sae I gæife thame up untill thair ain hairts' lust, an' thaye gaed on in thair ain cunsils.

13 O that my peepel had herkenet untill me, an' Israel had gane in my wayes!

14 I shud sune hae brung doun thair enimies, an' turnet my han' agayne thair advarsaries.

15 The hæters o' the Lord shud hae submisset thamesel's untill him: but thair time shud hae induuret forever.

16 He shud hae fed thame alsua wi' the finist o' the wheet: an' wi' hinny owt o' the rok shud I hae sætisfiet thee.

LXXXII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' Asaph.

GOD stan's in the congregatioun o' the michtie; he juudges amang the gods.

2 Howe lang wull ye juudge unjustlie, an' accep' the persens o' the wicket? Selah.

3 Defen' the puir an' faetherliss: do justice til the needie an' til the afflicket.

4 Delifer the puir an' needie: rede thame owt o' the maig o' the wicket.

5 Thaye kenna, næther wull thaye understand; thaye gang on in mirk; a' the fuoundationes o' the yirth ar owt o' oorder.

6 I hae said, Ye ar gods, an' a' o' yow ar childer o' the Maist Hie.

7 But ye sall dee like men, an' fa' like ane o' the chiefs.

8 Ræise up, O God, juudge the yirth: for thou sallt be the eiriter o' a' nationes.

LXXXIII.

¶ Ane Sang or Psalm o' Asaph.

KEEPENA thou seelent, O God: haudna thy peece, an' bena stil, O God.

2 For, lo, thine enimies mak' ane racket; an' thaye that hæte thee hae liftet up the heæd.

3 Thaye hae taen craftie cunsil agayne thy peeple, an' consultet agayne thy hydden anes.

4 Thaye hae said, Cum an' let us sneg thame aff frae bein' ane natione; that the næme o' Israel may be nae mair remembiret.

5 For thaye hae taen cunsil thegither wi' ae consent; thaye ar bandet thegither agayne thee.

6 The taabernakles o' Edom, an' the Ishmaelites; o' Moab, an' the Hagarenes;

7 Gabal, an' Amon, an' Amalek; the Philistines, wi' the in-dwallers o' Tyre;

8 Assur akane is jainet wi' thame: thaye hae holpen the childer o' Lot. Selah.

9 Do untill thame as untill the Midianites; as til Sisera, as til Jabin at the burn o' Kison;

10 Whilk perrishet at En-dor: thaye becam' as muck for the yirth.

11 Mak' thair riolyse like Oreb, an' like Zeeb: yis, a' thair chiefs as Zebah an' as Zalmunna.

12 Wha said, Let us tak' til oursel's a' the houses o' God in haudin'.

13 O my God, mak' thame as ane whurle, as the stibble afore the wund.

14 As the fire burns ane wud, an' as the flame setes the moun-tans on fire, 15 Sae persikute thame wi' thy tempist, an' mak' thame afeæret wi' thy stourm.

16 Fill thair feces wi' shæme, that thaye maye seik thy name, O Lord.

17 Trublet an' confuundet let thame be forevir: yis, let thame be putten til shæme, an' schent owtricht.

18 That men may ken that thou, whase nâme is JEHOVAH, art the Maist Hie ower a' the yirth.

LXXXIV.

¶ Til the chief musicien apou Gittith, Ane Psalm for the sons o' Korah.

HOWE lofelie ar thy taabernakles, O Lord o' hosts!

2 My saul langs, yis, een swarffs, for the cuurts o' the Lord: my hairt an' my flesh cryes owt for the leivin' God.

3 Yis, the sparra hæs fuund ane hous, an' the swalla ane est for hirsle', whare she may laye hir yung, een thine altars, O Lord o' hosts, my King an' my God.

4 Blisset ar thaye wha dwell in thy hous; thaye wull aye be praysin' thee.

5 Blisset is the man whase strenth is in thee; in whase hairt ar the wayes o' thame,

6 Wha gangin' throwe the vallie o' 'Baca, mak' in it ane wal: the raine alsua fills the puuls.

7 Thaye gae on frae strenth til strenth; ilka ane o' thame kythin' afore God in Zion.

8 Gie eær, O God o' Jacob; O Lord God o' hosts, heær my præyer. Selah.

9 Behald, O God, our sheeld, an' luik apou the fece o' thine anaintet.

10 For ane daye in thy cuurts is better nor ane thousan': I had astil be ane dor-keeper in the hous o' my God, nor dwell in the tentes o' wicketniss.

11 For the Lord God is ane sun an' sheeld: the Lord wull gie græce an' glorie; nae guid thing wull he wuthhaud frae thame that gang uprichtlie.

12 O Lord o' hosts, blisset is the man that trusts in thee.

LXXXV.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm for the sons o' Korah.

LORD, thou hest been faavorable untill thy lan'; thou hest brung bak the captivitie o' Jacob.

2 Thou hest forgien the inequitie o' thy peepel; thou hest kiveret thair sin. Selah.

3 Thou hest taen awa a' thy wræth: thou hest turnet thyself frae the frennisin' o' thine angir.

4 Turn us, O God o' our salvatione, an' caus thine angir to-wairds us til seelisse.

5 Wult thou be angrie wi' us forevir? wult thou twyne owt thine angir til a' ganæratians?

6 Wult thou nat revyfe us agayne, that thy peepel may rejoyce in thee?

7 Shaw us thy mercie, O Lord, an' wuthhaudna frae us thy salvatione.

8 I wull heær what God the Lord wull speik: for he wull speik peece untill his peepel, an' til his saunts; but let thame turnna agayne til follie.

9 Shurelie his salvatione is nie til thame that feær him, that glorie may dwell in our lan'.

10 Mercie an' trouth ar forgetheret; richteousniss an' peece hae kisset ilk ither.

11 Trouth sall spring owt o' the yirth; an' richteousniss sall luik doun frae heæven.

12 Yis, the Lord sall gie that whilk is guid; an' our lan' sall gie up hir inkresse.

13 Richteousniss sall gang afore him, an' sall set us in the waye o' his stepps.

LXXXVI.

¶ Ane Præyer o' David.

BOWE doun thine eær, O Lord, heær me; for I am puir an' needie.

2 Preserfe my saul, for I am haly; O thou my God, saufe thy servant that trusts in thee.

3 Be mercifu' untill me, O Lord; for I crie untill thee daylie.

4 Rejoyce the saul o' thy servent; for my saul untill thee, O Lord, do I lift up.

5 For thou, Lord, art guid, an' readie till forgie; an' routh in mercie untill a' thame that ca' apon thee.

6 Gie eær, O Lord, untill my præyer; an' tak' tent til the voyce o' my supplicationes.

7 In the daye o' my truble I wull ca' apon thee: for thou wult answir me.

8 Amang the gods ther is nane like untill thee, O Lord; næther ar ther onie warks like untill thy warks.

9 A' nationes wham thou hest mæde sall cum an' bowe doun afore thee, O Lord, an' sall glorifie thy næme.

10 For thou art grit, an' deth wunderfu' things; thou art God alane.

11 Teech me thy waye, O Lord; I wull gae in thy trouth: aneite my hairt til feær thy næme.

12 I wull prayse thee, O Lord my God, wi' a' my hairt; an' I wull glorifie thy næme forevirmair.

13 For grit is thy mercie gaitwairds me; an' thou hest freet my saul frae the leichist hell.

14 O God, the pruumd hae risin agayne me, an' the assemblies o' vielent men hae soucht efter my saul, an' haena sete thee afore thame.

15 But thou, O Lord, art ane God fu' o' tendir pitie, an' gracious, lang-tholance, an' waynesum in mercie an' trouth.

16 O turn untill me, an' hae mercie apon me; gie thy strenth untill thy servent, an' saufe the son o' thy maigmayden.

17 Shaw me an ærle for guid, that thaye whilk hæte me may see it an' be shæmet; becaus thou, Lord, hest holpen me an' comfirtet me.

LXXXVII.

† Ane Sang or Psalm for the sons o' Korah.

HIS fundatione is in the haly mountans.

2 The Lord loes the yettes o' Zion mair nor a' the dwallin's o' Jacob.

3 Glorious things ar spokin o' thee, O citie o' God. Selah.

4 I wull mak' menshone o' Rahab an' Babylon til thame that ken me: behald Philistia, an' Tyre, wi' Ethiopia; this man was born ther.

5 An' o' Zion it sall be said, This an' that man was born in hir; an' the Hieist himsel' sall sete an' mak' hir siccer.

6 The Lord sall cuunt, whan he writes up the peeples, that this man was born ther. Selah.

7 As weel the singirs as the players on instriments sall be ther: a' my springs ar in thee.

LXXXVIII.

† Ane Sang or Psalm for the sons o' Korah, til the chief musicien apon Mahalath Leannoth, Maschil o' Heman the Ezrahite.

O LORD God o' my salvatione, I hae cryet daye an' nicht afore thee.

2 Afore thee let my præyer cum; inclæine thine eær untill my crye.

3 For my saul is fu' o' troubles, an' my liffe draws nie til the graffe.

4 I am cuuntet wi' thame that gae down til the pitt: I am as ane man that heth nae strenth.

5 Free amang the deæd, like the slaen that lye in the graffe, wham thou mindist nae mair: an' thaye ar cutet aff frae thy han'.

6 Thou hest layde me in the lawist pitt, in mirk, in the deeps.

7 Thy wræth lyse sair, sair apon me, an' thou hest afflictet me wi' a' thy waves. Selah.

8 Thou hest putten awa mine akquantence fer frae me: thou hest made me ane scunner untill thame: I am shutten up, an' canna cum furth.

9 Mine ee murns becaus o' afflictshon: Lord, I hae ca't daylie apon thee: I hae strieket owt my han's untill thee.

10 Wult thou shaw ferlies til the deæd? sall the deæd ræise up an' prayse thee? Selah.

11 Sall thy loeinkindniss be declairet in the graffe, or thy faithfu'niss in the mools o' deæth?

12 Sall thy wunders be kennet in the mirk? an' thy richteousniss in the lan' o' forgetfu'niss?

13 But untill thee hae I cryet, O Lord, an' in the moornin' sall my præyer be afore thee.

14 Lord, why thrawist thou aff my saul? why hydist thou thy fece frae me?

15 I am afflicket an' readie til dee frae my youdith up: while I thole thy terrors I am distraucht.

16 Thy feerse wræth gangs ower me; thy terrors hae snagget me aff.

17 Thaye cam' daylie roun' about me like water; thaye cam' roun' an' roun' me thegither.

18 Loefer an' frien' hest thou putten fer frae me, an' mine akquantence intil derkniss.

LXXXIX.

¶ Ane Psalm for Maschil o' Ethan the Ezrahite til gie instructshon.

I WULL sing o' the mercies o' the Lord forevir: wi' my mooth wull I mak' kennet thy faithfu'niss til a' ganæratians.

2 I hae said, Mercie sall be buggen up forevir: thy faithfu'niss sallt thou sete up, an' mak' siccer in the verra heævens.

3 I hae mæde ane covenant wi' my chosin ane; I hae sworn untill David my servent.

4 Thy seid wull I siccerlie sete up forevir, an' bigg up thy throne til a' ganæratians. Selah.

5 An' the heævens sall prayse thy wunders, O Lord; thy faithfu'niss alsua in the congregations o' the saunts.

6 For wha in the heæven can be compairet wi' the Lord? wha amang the sons o' the michtie can be likenet til the Lord?

7 God is gritlie til be feæret in the forgetherin' o' the saunts, an' til be had in reverince o' a' thame that ar roun' about him.

8 O Lord God o' hosts, wha is ane strang Lord like untill thee? or til thy faithfu'niss roun' about thee?

9 Ye ruul the frennisin' o' the se; whan the waves o't ræise up, thou quashist thame.

10 Ye hae brokin Rahab intil flenders as ane that is slæen: ye hae skatteret thine enimies wi' thy strang ærm.

11 The heævens ar thine, the yirth alsua is thine; as for the world, an' the fu'niss o't, ye hae fuundet thame.

12 The north an' the south, ye hae creaatet thame: Tabor an' Hermon sall rejoice in thy næme.

13 Ye hae ane michtie ærm: strang is thine han', an' hic is thy richt han'.

14 Juustice an' juudgemint ar the habitatione o' thy throne :
mercie an' trouth sall gang afore thy fece.

15 Blisset ar the peeples wha ken the joyfu' suund ; thaye sall gae on in the licht o' thy countenance.

16 In thy name sall thaye rejoyce a' the daye : an' in thy richteousness sall thaye be liftet up.

17 For ye ar the glorie o' thair strength, an' in thy faavor our hoorn sall be sete heich.

18 For the Lord is our defense, an' the Haly Ane o' Israel our King.

19 Than thou spakist in vesion til thy Haly Ane, an' saidist,
I hae layde helpe apon ane that is nichtie : I hae eksaltet ane wælet owt frae mang the peeples.

20 I hae fuund David my servent ; wi' my haly oolie hae I anaintet him.

21 Wi' wham my han' sall be establishet ; mine ærm alsua sall strengthen him.

22 The enimie sallna exak apon him, nar the son o' wicketness afflick him.

23 An' I wull best down his faes afore his fece, an' plegue thame that hæte him.

24 But my faithfu'niss an' mercie sall be wi' him ; an' in my name sall his hoorn be liftet up.

25 I wull set his han' alsua in the se, an' his richt han' in the rivers.

26 He sall crye untill me, Thou art my faether, my God, an'
the rok o' my salvatione.

27 Alsua I wull mak' him my first-born heicher nor the kings o' the yirth.

28 My mercie wull I keepe for him forevirmair ; an' my covenant sall stan' siccer wi' him.

29 His seid alsua wull I mak' til enduur forever, an' his throne as the dayes o' heæven.

30 Gif his childer forhowe my law, an' gangna in my juudgements ;

31 Gif thaye brik my staatutes, an' keepna my commandements ;

32 Than wull I veesit thair wrangganin' wi' the rodd, an' thair inequitie wi' strypes.

33 Natheless my loeinkindness I wullna utterlie tak' frae him, nar thole my faithfu'niss til fæil.

34 My covenant I wullna brik, nar altir the thing that is gane owt o' my lipps.

35 Ance hae I mæde aith bie my haliniss, that I wullna lee untill David.

36 His seid sall induur forever, an' his throne as the sun afore me.

37 It sall be mæde til stan' siccer forever as the muun, an' as ane faithfu' wutniss in heæven. Selah.

38 But thou hest cast aff an' abhorret, thou hest been verra angrie wi' thine anaintet.

39 Thou hest mæde void the covenant o' thy servent; thou hest profaanet his crowne bie thrawin' it til the grund.

40 Thou hest brokin doun a' his hedjes: thou hest broucht his strang-halds til uutter wrecke.

41 A' that gang bie the waye spulsyie him; he is ane reproch til his neebers.

42 Thou hest sete up the richt han' o' his advarsaries: thou hest mæde a' his enimies til rejoyce.

43 Thou hest alsua turnet the edge o' his sword, an' hestna mæde him til stan' in the daye o' battel.

44 Thou hest mæde his glorie nat til be, an' thrawn his throne doun til the grund.

45 The dayes o' his youdith hest thou shortenet: thou hest kiveret him wi' shæme. Selah.

46 Howe lang, Lord, wult thou hyde thysel', forever? sall thy wræth burn like ane fire?

47 Remembir howe short my time is: wharefor hest thou mæde a' men in vaine?

48 What man is he that leives an' sallna see deæth? sall he delifer his saul frae the han' o' the graffe? Selah.

49 Lord, whare ar thy aforetime loeinknissies, whilk thou swurist untill David in thy trouth?

50 Remembir, Lord, the reproch o' thy servants; howe I do bæer in my bozim the reproch o' a' the michtie people;

51 Wharewi' thine enimies hae reprochet, O Lord; wharewi' thaye hae reprochet the fitstepps o' thine anaintet.

52 Blisset be the Lord forevermair. Saebeid, an' saebeid.

XC.

† Ane Præyer o' Moses, the man o' God.

LORD, thou hest been our dwellin'-plece in a' ganæratians.

2 Afore the mountans wer brung furth, or evir thou hadist formet the yirth an' the warld, een frae evirlestin' til evirlestin', thou art God.

3 Thou turnist man til the dust o' deæth, an' sayist, Return, ye childer o' men.

4 For ane thousan' yeers in thy sicht ar but as yisterdaye whan it gane bye, an' as ane watche in the nicht.

5 Thou carryist thame awa as wi' ane flude; thaye ar as ane sleepe; in the moornin' thaye ar like gerse whilk growes up.

6 In the moornin' it growes up an' flurishes; in the e'enin' it is shurn doun an' wuthirs.

7 For we ar consumet wi' thine angir, an' bie thy wræth ar we trublet.

8 Ye hae sete our inequities afore thee, our seceret sins in the licht o' thy countenance.

9 For in thy wræth a' our dayes ar passet awa; we spen' our yeers as ane tæle that is tauld.

10 The dayes o' our yeers ar thriescore an' ten; an' gif bie reesen o' strenth thaye be fourscore yeers, yit is thair strenth laabor an' sorra, for it is sune cutet aff, an' we flee awa.

11 Wha kens the powir o' thine angir? een akordin' til thy feær, sae is thy wræth.

12 Sae teeche us til nummer our dayes, that we may applye our hairts untill wuðdoom.

13 Turn agayne, O Lord, howe lang? an' let it rew thee anent thy servents.

14 O satisfie us earlie wi' thy mercie, that we maye rejoyce an' be gladsume a' our dayes.

15 Mak' us gladsume akordin' til the dayes wharein ye hae afflicket us, an' the yeers wharein we hae seen ill.

16 Let thy wark kythe untill thy servents, an' thy glorie untill thair childer.

17 An' let the beutie o' the Lord our God be apoun us: an' sete thou siccer the wark o' our han's apoun us; yis, the wark o' our han's, sete thou siccer it.

XCI.

HE that dwalls in the seceret plece o' the Maist Hie, sall bide anunder the skaddaw o' the Almichtie.

2 I wull saye o' the Lord, He is my bield an' my fortriss; my God, in him wull I trust.

3 Shurelie he sall delifer thee frae the girn o' the fowlir, an' frae the noysume pestelince.

4 He sall kiver thee wi' his feathirs, an' anæth his wings sall ye trust: his trouth sall be thy sheeld an' bukhir.

5 Ye sallna be afeæret for the terror bie nicht, nar for the arra that flees bie daye.

6 Nar for the pestelince that gangs in mirkniss, nar for the distrustshon that waistes at nuun-daye.

7 Ane thousan' sall fa' at thy syde, an' ten thousan' at thy richt han': but it sallna cum næar til thee.

8 Onlie wi' thine eyne sall ye behald an' see the rewaird o' the wicket.

9 Becaus ye hae mæde the Lord, whilk is my bield, een the Maist Hie, thy habitatione;

10 Ther sall nae ill befa' thee: næther sall onie plegue cum nie thy dwallin'.

11 For he sall gie his angils chæрге anent thee, til keep thee in a' thy wayes.

12 Thaye sall beær thee up in thair han's, in kase ye devel thy fit agayne ane stane.

13 Ye sall stepp apon the lion an' eddart; the yung lion an' drægan sall ye tramp anunder feet.

14 Becaus he hæsete his loefe apon me, tharfor wull I delifer him: I wull sete him on hie, becaus he hæsete my næme.

15 He sall ca' apon me, an' I wull answir him: I wull be wi' him in truble, I wull delifer an' honer him.

16 Wi' lang liffe wull I satisfie him, an' shaw him my salvatione.

XCII.

¶ Ane Psalm or Sang for the Sabbeth-daye.

IT is ane guid thing til gie thanks untill the Lord, an' til sing prayses untill thy næme, O Maist Hie.

2 Til shaw furth thy loeinkindniss in the moornin', an' thy faithfu'niss ilka nicht.

3 Apon ane instriment o' ten strings, an' apon the psaltrie, apon the herp wi' ane solim suund.

4 For thou, Lord, hest mæde me gladsume throwe thy wark : I wull be heich o' the warks o' thy han's.

5 O Lord, howe grit ar thy warks ! an' thy thoughts ar verra deep.

6 The bruutish man kensna, næther deth ane fule tak' this intil his heæd.

7 Whan the wicket growe as the gerse, an' whan a' the wurkers o' inequitie do flurishe, it is that thaye sall be destroyet forever.

8 But thou, Lord, art Maist Hie forevirmair.

9 For lo, thine enimies, O Lord, for lo, thine enimies sall perishe ; a' the wurkers o' inequitie sall be skatteret.

10 But my hoorn sallt thou set hie as the hoorn o' ane unicoorn : I sall be anaintet wi' fresch oolie.

11 Mine ee sall alsua see my wush apon mine enimies, an' mine eærs sall heær my wush o' the wicket that ræise up agayne me.

12 The richteous sall flurishe as the pawm-trie ; he sall growe like anc cedar o' Lebanon.

13 Thaye that be sette in the hous o' the Lord sall flurishe in the courts o' our God.

14 Thaye sall stil bring furth frute in auld æge, thaye sall be fat an' fair ;

15 Til shaw that the Lord is upright ; he is my rok, an' ther is nae wanrichteousniss in him.

XCIII.

THE Lord rings ; he is claethet wi' magistie ; the Lord is claethet wi' strenth wharewi' he hæs girthet himsel' ; the warld is alsua sete siccer that it canna be muvet.

2 Sete siccer o' auld is thy throne ; thou art frae evirlestin'.

3 The fludes hae lyftet up, O Lord, the fludes hae lyftet up thair voyce ; the fludes lift up thair waves.

4 The Lord on hie is michtier nor the noyse o' monie waters, ay, nor the michtie waves o' the se.

5 Thy testimonies ar verra shure : haliniss becums thine hous, O Lord, for aye.

XCIV.

O LORD God, til wham vantage belongs; O God, til wham vantage belongs, shaw thysel'.

2 Lift up thysel', thou juudge o' the yirth; gie owt ane rewaird til the prund.

3 Lord, howe lang sall the wicket, howe lang sall the wicket glorie in the owerance?

4 Howe lang sall thaye utter an' speik sever things; an' a' the wurkers o' inequitie buost thamesel's?

5 Thaye brik in flenders thy peepel, O Lord, an' afflick thine heirskep.

6 Thaye sley the widaw an' the fremet ane, an' murther the faetherliss.

7 Yet do thaye saye, The Lord sallna se, næther sall the God o' Jacob tent it.

8 Understan', ye bruutishe amang the peepel, an' ye fules, whan wull ye be wyse?

9 He wha sett the cær, sall he heærna? he that framet the ee, sall he nat se?

10 He that chesteetzes the heæthin, sall he nat correck? he that teeche men wætin, sall he nat ken?

11 The Lord kens the thouchts o' man, that thaye ar vaintie.

12 Blisset is the man wham thou chesenist, O Lord, an' in-struckist him owt o' thy law;

13 That thou maye gie him rest frae the dayes o' wanluck, untill the pitt be howket for the wicket.

14 For the Lord wullna thraw awa his peepel, næther wull he forhowe his inheeritence.

15 But juudgemint sall turn bak untill richteousniss, an' a' the upricht in hairt sall follo 't.

16 Wha wull ræise up for me agayne the ill-deedie? or wha wull stan' up for me agayne the wurkers o' inequitie?

17 Unles the Lord had been my help, my saul had amaist dwalt in seelince.

18 Whan I said, My fit sklydes, thy mercie haudet me up.

19 In the multetud o' my thouchts wuthin me, thy comfirts delicht my saul.

20 Sall the throne o' inequitie hae fallaschip wi' thee, whilk frames mischeef bie ane law?

21 Thaye gether thamesel's thegither agayne the saul o' the richteous, an' condem the innicent bluid.

22 But the Lord is my saufegaird, an' my God is the rok o' my reive.

23 An' he sall bring apon thame thair ain inequitie; an' sall sneg thame aff in thair ain wicketniss; yis, the Lord our God sall sneg thame aff.

XCV.

O CUM, let us sing untill the Lord; let us mak' ane joyfu' noyse til the rok o' our salvatione.

2 Let us cum afore his presince wi' thanksgiein', an' mak' ane joyfu' noyse til him wi' psalms.

3 For the Lord is ane grit God, an' ane grit King aboone a' gods.

4 In his han' ar the deep plices o' the yirth; the strenth o' the hills is his alsua.

5 The se is his, an' he mæde it; an' his han' formet the drye lan'.

6 O cum, let us wurschip an' bowe doun, let us neel afore the Lord our Makir.

7 For he is our God; an' we ar the peeple o' his heff, an' the sheepe o' his han'. On this verra daye, gif ye wull heær his voyce,

8 Hardanna your hairts, as in the provokshon, an' as in the daye o' temptatione in the wuldirniss:

9 Whan your faethers tempet me, pruvet me, an' saw my wark.

10 Fortie yeers lang was I greifet wi' this ganæratian, an' said, It is ane peeple that do er in thair hairt, an' thaye haena kennet my wayes;

11 Untill wham I swuur in my frenn that thaye shudna entir intil my rest.

XCVI.

O SING untill the Lord ane new sang; sing untill the Lord, a' the yirth.

2 Sing untill the Lord, bliss his næme; shaw furth his salvatione frae daye til daye.

3 Speik furth his glorie amang the heæthin, his wunders amang a' kin-kyne.

4 For the Lord is grit, an' gritlie til be prayset; he is til be feæret aboone a' gods.

5 For a' the gods o' the nationes ar iidals; but the Lord mæde the heævens.

6 Honor an' magistie ar afore him; strencth an' beutie ar in his sanctuarie.

7 Gie untill the Lord, O ye kith an' kin o' the peeple, gie untill the Lord strencth an' glorie.

8 Gie ye untill the Lord the glorie due untill his næme; bring ane afferin', an' cum intil his cuurts.

9 O wurschip the Lord in the beutie o' haliniss; feær afore him a' the yirth.

10 Say amang the heæthin that the Lord rings; the warld sall alsua be sete siccer that it canna be muvet; he sall juudge the peeple richteouslie.

11 Let the heævens rejoyce, an' let the yirth be gladsume; let the se rair, an' the fu'niss thero'.

12 Let the feeld be joyfu', an' a' that is in't; than sall the tries o' the wud rejoyce

13 Afore the Lord; for he cums, for he cums til juudge the yirth: he sall juudge the warld wi' richteousniss, an' his peeple wi' trouth.

XCVII.

THE Lord rings; let the yirth rejoyce; let the multetud o' the isles o't be gladsume.

2 Cluds an' mirkniss ar roun' aboot him; richteousniss an' juudgemint ar the habitatione o' his throne.

3 Ane fire gaes afore him, an' burns up his enimies roun' aboot.

4 His lichtenin's enlichtenet the warld; the yirth saw, an' trimmlet.

5 The hills meltet like wauks at the presince o' the Lord o' the haill yirth.

6 The heævens speik his richteousniss, an' a' the peeple se his glorie.

7 Confuundet be a' thaye that ser' gravin imiges, that boust thamesel's o' iidals; wurship him, a' ye gods.

8 Zion heærd, an' was gladsume; an' the douchters o' Judah rejoycet becaus o' thy juudgemints, O Lord.

9 For thou, Lord, art hie aboone a' the yirth: thou art liftet up aboone a' gods.

10 Ye that loe the Lord, hæte ill; he preserfes the sauls o' his saunts; he delifers thame owt o' the han' o' the wicket.

11 Licht is sawn for the richteous, an' gladniss for the upright in hairt.

12 Rejoyce in the Lord, ye richteous, an' gie thanks at the memirie o' his haliniss.

XCVIII.

O SING untill the Lord ane new sang; for he heth dune mervellous things: his richt han' an' his haly ærm heth gainet him the vicerie.

2 The Lord heth mæde kennet his salvatione; his richteousniss he heth opinlie shawn in the sicht o' the heæthin.

3 He heth remembiret his mercie an' his trouth gaitwairds the hous o' Israel; a' the en's o' the yirth hae seen the salvatione o' our God.

4 Mak' ane joyfu' noyse untill the Lord, a' the yirth; mak' ane luud noyse, an' rejoyce, an' sing prayse.

5 Sing untill the Lord wi' the herp; wi' the herp an' the voyce o' ane psalm.

6 Wi' trumpits, an' suund o' cornit, mak' ane joyfu' noyse afore the Lord, the King.

7 Let the se rair, an' the fu'niss o't; the warld, an' thaye that dwell in't.

8 Let the fludes clapp their han's; let the hills be joyfu' thegither

9 Afore the Lord; for he cums til juudge the yirth: wi' richteousniss sall he juudge the warld, an' the peeple wi' equitie.

XCIX.

THE Lord rings; let the peeples trimmel: he sits atween the cherubims; let the yirth be muvet.

2 The Lord is grit in Zion; an' he is hie aboon a' peeples.

3 Let thame prayse thy grit an' terrabil næme; for it is haly.

4 The King's strenth alsua loes juudgemint: thou dest sete siccer equitie; thou exikutist juudgemint an' richteousniss in Jacob.

5 Eksalt ye the Lord our God, an' wurschip at his fitstule; for he is haly.

6 Moses an' Aaron amang the priests, an' Samuel amang thame that ca' apon his næme; thaye ca't apon the Lord, an' he answiret thame.

7 He spak' untill thame owt o' the cludie pillar; thaye keepet his testimonies, an' the ordenences that he gæfe thame.

8 Thou answiretist thame, O Lord our God: thou wast ane God wha forgæfist thame, though thou tuikist vengence o' thair contræivances.

9 Eksalt the Lord our God, an' wurschip at his haly hill; for the Lord our God is haly.

C.

† Ane Psalm o' prayse.

MAK' ane joyfu' noyse untill the Lord, a' ye lan's.
2 Ser' the Lord wi' gladsumeniss; cum afore his presence wi' singin'.

3 Ken ye that the Lord he is God; it is he that heth mæde us, an' nat we oursel's; we ar his peeples, an' the scheep o' his heffgang.

4 Entir intil his yettes wi' thanksgiein', an' intil his cuurts wi' prayse; be thankfu' untill him, an' bliss his næme.

5 For the Lord is guid; his mercie is evirlestin', an' his trouthe enduurs til a' ganæratians.

CI.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

I WULL sing o' mercie an' juudgemint: untill thee, O Lord, wull I sing.

2 My havins sall be oordiret wyselie in ane perfite waye. O whan wult thou cum untill me? I wull gang on in my hous wi' ane perfite hairt.

3 I wull sete nae wicket thing afore mine eyne; I hæte the wark o' thame that turn agley, it sallna cleefe til me.

4 Ane thrawart hairt sall gae awa frae me; I wullna ken ane ill-doir.

5 Whasae slanners his neebers unnerhan', him wull I sneg aff; him that hæes ane hie luik an' ane pruid hairt, thole I wullna.

6 Mine eyne sall be apon the faithfu' o' the lan', that thaye may wone wi' me: he that gaes on in ane perfite waye, he sall ser' me.

7 He that wurks deceete sallna bide wuthin my hous; he that tells lees sallna staye in my sicht.

8 I wull earlie destroye the wicket o' the lan', that I may sneg aff a' wicket-doirs frae the citie o' the Lord.

CII.

¶ Ane Præyer o' the afflicket whan he is sair owercum, an' teems owt his meane afore the Lord.

HEÆR my præyer, O Lord, an' let my crye cum untill thee.
2 Hydena thy fece frae me in the daye whan I am in truble; inclæine thine ær untill me; in the daye whan I ca', swuftlie answir me.

3 For my dayes ar consumet like reek, an' my banes ar brunt as ane herthstane.

4 My hairt is snibbet an' wuthiret like gerse, sae that I forget til eet my breæd.

5 Bie reesen o' the voyce o' my greanin' my banes cleefe til my skin.

6 I am like ane pelican o' the wuldirniss; I am like ane houlat
o' the desart.

7 I watche, an' am as ane sparra alane apon the hous-tap.

8 Mine enemies reproch me a' the daye; an' thaye that ar wud agayne me ar my sworn faes.

9 For I hac eeten assis like breæd, an' ming my drynk wi' greetin',

10 Becaus o' thy indignashon an' thy wræth; for thou hest liftet me up an' thrawn me down.

11 My dayes ar as ane skaddaw that eelys awa; an' I am wu-thiret like gerse.

12 But thou, O Lord, sallt induur forever, an' thy memorall til a' ganæratians.

13 Thou sallt ræise up, an' hac mercie apon Zion; for the time til faavor hir, yis, the sete time, is cum.

14 For thy servents tak' pleesur in hir stanes, an' faavor the verra dust o' hir.

15 Sae the heæthin sall feær the næme o' the Lord, an' the kings o' the yirth thy glorie.

16 Whan the Lord sall bigg up Zion, he sall kythe in his glorie.

17 He wull tak' tent til the præyer o' the destetuut, an' de-spæysena thair præyer.

18 This sall be writtan for the ganæration til cum, an' the people whilk sall be creaatet sall prayse the Lord.

19 For he heth looket down frae the heicht o' his sanctuarie, frae heæven did the Lord behald the yirth;

20 Til heær the greanin' o' the prisener, til unfestyn thae that ar appoyntet til deæth;

21 Til declair the næme o' the Lord in Zion, an' his prayse in Jerusalem;

22 Whan the peeple ar getheret thegither, an' the kingdooms, til ser' the Lord.

23 My strencth he mæde waff bie the waye; he shortenet my dayes.

24 I said, O my God, tak'na me awa in the middle o' my dayes; thy yeærs ar throweowt a' ganæratians.

25 O' auld hest thou layde the fuundatione o' the yirth; an' the heævens ar the wark o' thy han's.

26 Thaye sall decaye owtricht, but thou sallt induur; yis, a' o' thame sall growe auld as ane garmint; as ane vester sallt thou change thame, an' thaye sall be changet.

27 But thou art the same, an' thy yeær's sall hae nae en'.

28 The childer o' thy servents sall continua, an' thair seid sall be sete siccer afore thee.

CIII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

BLISS the Lord, O my saul; an' a' that is wuthin me, bliss his haly næme.

2 Bliss the Lord, O my saul, an' forgetna a' his kin' an' guid gifties.

3 Wha forgies a' thine inequities, an' hæles a' thy ailments;

4 Wha redeims thy liffe frae destruckshon; wha crownes thee wi' loeinkindniss an' tendir-mercies:

5 Wha satisfies thy mooth wi' guid things, sae that thy youdith is renewet like the eegle's.

6 The Lord exikutes richteousniss an' juudgemint for a' that ar sair haudden in thrawll.

7 He mæde kennet his wayes untill Moses, his deeds untill the childer o' Israel.

8 The Lord is mercifu' an' græcious, slaw til angir an' routh in mercie.

9 He wullna aye flyte, næther wull he keepe his angir forever.

10 He hethna deelt wi' us efter our sins, nar rewairdet us akordin' til our inequities.

11 For as the heæven is hie aboone the yirth, sae grit is his mercie gaitwairds thame that fæær him.

12 As fer as the east is frae the wast, sae fer heth he remuvet our trangressiones frae us.

13 Like as ane faether feels tendir wae for his childer, sae deth the Lord feel for thame that fæær him.

14 For he kens our mak': he remembirs that we ar dust.

15 As for man, his dayes are as gerse; as ane flouer o' the field, sae he bluums.

16 For the wund gaes ower it, an' it is gane; an' the plece whare it was sall ken it nae mair.

17 But the mercie o' the Lord is frae evirlestin' til evirlestin' apon thame that fæær him, an' his richteousniss untill childer's childer.

18 Til sic as keepe his taylye, an' til thae that beær in mind his commandements til do thame.

19 The Lord heth alreadie sete up his throne in the heævens, an' his kingdoom ruuls ower a'.

20 Bliss the Lord, ye his angils that eksell in strenth, that do his commandements, herkenin' til the voyce o' his wurd.

21 Bliss the Lord, a' ye his hosts, ye ministers o' his that do his pleasur.

22 Bliss the Lord, a' his warks, in a' peeces o' his damain; bliss the Lord, O my saul.

CIV.

BLISS the Lord, O my saul. O Lord my God, thou art verra grit; thou art claethet wi' honor an' magistie:

2 Wha kiverist thysel' wi' licht as wi' ane garmint, wha streekist owt the heævens like ane contain.

3 Wha layes the kipples o' his chammers in the waters, wha mak's the cluds his chariat, wha waaks upon the wings o' the wund;

4 Wha mak's his angils speerits, his messingirs ane bleezin' fire.

5 Wha layde the foundationes o' the yirth, that it shudna be remuuet forever.

6 Thou didst kiver it wi' the deepe as wi' ane garmint; the waters stude aboone the mountans.

7 At thy rebuik thaye gaed bak; at the voyce o' thy thunner thaye hæstenet awa.

8 Thaye gae up bie the heichts; thaye gae doun bie the howes untill the plice whilk thou hest fuundet for thame.

9 Thou hest sete ane buund that thaye mayena gae ower; that thaye turnna agayne til kiver the yirth.

10 He sen's the springs intil the glens, whilk rin amang the hills.

11 Thaye gie drynk til ilka beæst o' the feeld; the untæmet cuddies slocken thair drouth.

12 Bie thame sall the fowlis o' the heæven hae thair habitatione, whilk sing amang the bouchs.

13 He waters the hills frae his chammers; the yirth is satisfiet wi' the frute o' thy warks.

14 He causis the gerse til growe for the kattle, an' yirb for the service o' man; that he may bring furth fude owt o' the yirth, 15 An' wine that mak's gladsume the hairt o' man, an' oolie that mak's his fece shyne, an' breæd whilk strenthens man's hairt.

16 The tries o' the Lord ar fu' o' sapp, the cedars o' Lebanon whilk he heth sette, 17 Whare the burds mak' thair ests: as for the stork, the fir-tries ar hir hæme.

18 The heich hills ar ane howff for the wild-gæets, an' the roks for the rabbits.

19 He appoyntet the muun for seesens, the sun kens his gangin' doun.

20 Thou makist mirk, an' it is nicht, wharein a' the beæsts o' the greenwud do krawll furth.

21 The yung lions rair efter thair preye, an' seik thair fude frae God.

22 The sun upræises, thaye gether thamesel's thegither an' laye thame doun in thair dens.

23 Man gaes furth til his wark, an' til his laabor untill the gloamin'.

24 O Lord, howe moniefald ar thy warks! in wusdoom hest thou mæde thame a': the yirth is fu' o' thy riches.

25 Sae is this grit an' wyde se, wharein ar things krawlin' in-numerall, baith sma' an' grit beæsts.

26 Ther gae the schips; ther is that leviathan wham thou hest mæde til playe in't.

27 Thae waite a' apone thee, that thou mayist gie thame thair meæt in due seesen.

28 That thou gieist thame thaye gether; thou opinist thine han', thaye ar fillet wi' guid.

29 Thou hydest thy fece, thaye ar trublet; thou takist awa thair breæth, thaye dee, an' return til thair dust.

30 Thou sen'ist furth thy speerit; thaye ar createt, an' thou makist new agayne the fece o' the yirth.

31 The glorie o' the Lord sall induur forever; the Lord sall rejoyce in his warks.

32 He luiks on the yirth, an' it trimmels; he tuches the hills, an' thaye reek.

33 I wull sing untill the Lord as lang as I leive; I wull sing prayse untill my God while I hae my bein'.

34 My meditatione o' him sall be sweet; I wull be gladsume in the Lord.

35 Let the sinnirs be consuemet owt o' the yirth, an' let the wicket be nae mair. Bliss thou the Lord, O my saul. Prayse ye the Lord.

CV.

OGIE thanks untill the Lord; ca' on his næme, his dooin's mak' kennet amang the peeples.

2 Sing untill him, sing psalms untill him; speik ye o' a' his wunderfu' warks.

3 Glorie ye in his haly næme; let the hairt o' thame rejoyce that seik the Lord.

4 Seik the Lord, an' his strenth; seik his fece evirmair.

5 Ca' til mind his mervellous warks that he hæsdune; his wonders, an' the juudgemints o' his mooth;

6 O ye affspring o' Abraham his servent, ye childer o' Jacob his chosin.

7 He is the Lord our God; his juudgemints ar in a' the yirth.

8 He hæsd remembiret his covenant for aye, the wurd whilk he commandet til ane thousan' ganæratians.

9 Whilk covenant he mæde wi' Abraham, an' his aith untill Isaac;

10 An' settelet an' mæde siccer the sæme til Jacob for ane law, an' til Israel for ane evirlestin' covenant;

11 Sayin', Untill thee wull I gie the lan' o' Canaan, the fief o' your inheeritance:

12 Whan thaye wer but fewe men in nummer; yis, varra fewe, an' fremet in it.

13 Whan thaye gaed frae æ natione til anither, frae æ kingdom til anither peeples;

14 He tholet nae man til do thame wrang: ay, he een repruvet kings for thair sak's;

15 Sayin', Tuchna mine anaintet, an' do my prophets nae skaith.

16 Mairattour he ca't for ane fæmyne apon the lan': he brak' the haill staffe o' bræd.

17 He sendet ane man afore thame, een Joseph wha was sauld for ane slæfe:

18 Whase feet thaye hurtet wi' fettirs; he was layde in ern:

19 Untill the time that his wurd cam': the wurd o' the Lord tryet him.

20 The king sendet an' loweset him; een the ruulir o' the peepel, an' lut him gae free.

21 He mæde him lord o' his hous; the ruulir o' a' his haudin:

22 Til bin' his cheefs at his pleesur, an' teeche his state-ad-væisers wusdoom.

23 Israel alsua cam intil Egypt; an' bæde in the lan' o' Ham.

24 An' he inkresset his peepel gritly, an' mæde thame stranger nor thair enimies.

25 He turnet thair hairt til hæte his peepel, til deel slee an' slidlie wi' his servents.

26 He sendet Moses his servant, an' Aaron wham he had chosin.

27 Thaye shawet his sygns amang thame, an' wunders in the lan' o' Ham.

28 He sendet mirkniss, an' mæde it mirk; an' thaye didna ræise up til gaynesaye his wurd.

29 He turnet thair waters intil bluid, an' sleyet thair fisch.

30 Thair lan' brang furth paddas in plentie, een in the chambers o' thair kings.

31 He spak', an' ther cam sindrie sortes o' flees an' lice in a' thair boordirs.

32 He gæfe thame hail for raine, an' bleezin' fire in thair lan'.

33 He smat thair vines alsua an' thair fig-tries, an' brak the tries o' thair kosts.

34 He spak', an' the locasts cam, an' katterpillers, an' that wuthoutten nummer.

35 An' did eet up the yirbs o' thair lan', an' devooret the frute o' thair grund.

36 He smat alsua the first-born o' thair lan', the cheef o' a' thair strenth.

37 He brang thame owt alsua wi' siller an' gowd, an' ther wasna ane feckliss persen in a' thair clans.

38 Egypt was richt gladsume whan thaye gaed aff; for the feær o' thame fell on thame.

39 He spreæd ane clud for ane kiverin', an' fire til gie licht in the nicht.

40 The peepel axet, an' he broucht quails, an' satisfiet thame wi' the breæd o' heæven.

41 He opinet the rok, an' the waters bocket owt; thaye ran in the drye pleges like ane river.

42 For he remembiret his haly promish, an' Abraham his servant.

43 An' he brang furth his peeples wi' joye, an' his chosin wi' gladsumeniss:

44 An' gæfe thame the lan's o' the heæthin: an' thaye inheeritet the laabor o' the peeples;

45 That thaye nicht tak' tent til his staatutes, an' keepe his laws. Prayse ye the Lord.

CVI.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. O gie thanks untill the Lord, for he is guid; his mercie induurs forever.

2 Wha can utter the michtie dooin's o' the Lord? wha can shaw furth a' his prayse?

3 Blisset ar thaye that keep juudgemint, an' he that deth richteousniss at a' times.

4 Remembir me, O Lord, wi' the faavor that thou beærist untill thy peeples: O veesit me wi' thy salvatione;

5 That I may see the guid o' thy chosin, that I may joye in the gladsumeniss o' thy natione, that I may glorie wi' thy inheeritance.

6 We hae sinnet wi' our faethers, we hae committet inequitie, we hae dune wicketlie.

7 Our faethers understudena thy wonders in Egypt; thaye remembiretna the multetud o' thy mercies; but provooket him at the se, een at the Ried Se.

8 Natheless he saufet thame for his næme's sak', that he nicht mak' his michtie powir til be knawn.

9 He rebuiket the Ried Se alsua, an' it was dryet up; sae he lede thame throwe the deeps as throwe the wuldirniss.

10 An' he saufet thame frae the han' o' him that hætet thame; an' redeinit thame frae the han' o' the enimie.

11 An' the waters kiveret thair enimies; ther wasna ane o' thame lefte:

12 Than beliefet thaye his wurd, an' sang his prayse.

13 Thaye sunc forgat his wurks; thaye waitetna for his cunsil.

14 But greinet exsessivlie in the wuldirniss, an' tempet God in the desert.

15 An' he gæfe thame galore for thair greed; but sendet ane traikieniss intil thair saul.

16 Thaye ill-wullet Moses alsua in the camp, an' Aaron the saunt o' the Lord.

17 The yirth opinet an' swalloet up Dathan, an' kiveret the comrades o' Abiram.

18 An' ane fire was kinlet in thair clan; the flame brunt up the wicket.

19 Thaye mæde ane cauffe in Horeb, an' wurschippet the moltin mæmmit.

20 Thus thaye changet thair glorie intil the lykeniss o' ane ous that eets gerse.

21 Thaye forgat God thair Saavior, whilk had dune grit things in Egypt;

22 Wunderfu' warks in the lan' o' Ham, an' terrabil things bie the Ried Se.

23 Therfor he said that he wad destroye thame, hadna Moses, his chosin, stude afore him in the gaupe, til turn awa his wræth, in kase he shude sley thame.

24 Yis, thaye despæiset the pleesint lan'; thaye beleifetna his wurd;

25 But yammeret on in thair tents, an' herkenetna untill the voyce o' the Lord.

26 Therfor he liftet up his han' agayne thame, til owerthraw thame in the wuldirniss:

27 Til owerthraw thair affspring alsua amang the nationes, an' til skattir thame in the lan's.

28 Thaye aneitet thamesel's alsua untill Baal-peor, an' eetet the saacrifices o' the deæd.

29 Thus thaye provooket him til angir wi' thair contræivences; an' the plegue brak' in apon thame.

30 Than stude up Phinehas, an' exikutet juudgemint; an' sae the plegue was stayet.

31 An' that was cuuntet untill him for richteousniss untill a' ganæratians forevirmair.

32 Thaye angiret him alsua at the waters o' striffe, sae that it gaed ill wi' Moses for thair sak's:

33 Becaus thaye provooket his speerit, sae that he spak' rashlie wi' his lipps.

34 Thaye didna destroye the nationes, anent wham the Lord commandet thame;

35 But wer minget amang the heæthin, an' lærnet thair warks.

36 An' thaye ser't thair iidals, whilk wer ane girn untill thame.

37 Yis, thaye saacriticet thair sons an' thair douchters untill deevils, 38 An' shede innicent bluid, een the bluid o' thair sons an' o' thair douchters, wham thaye saacriticet til the iidals o' Canaan: an' the lan' was pollutet wi' bluid.

39 Thus wer thaye fylet wi' thair ain warks, an' gaed a-lustin' wi' thair ain contræivences.

40 Therfor was the frenn o' the Lord kinlet agayne his peeples, insaemeikle that he abhorret his ain inheeritince.

41 An' he gæfe thame intil the han' o' the heæthin; an' thaye that hætet thame ruulet ower thame.

42 Thair enimies alsua oppresset thame, an' thaye wer brought intil thrawldoom anunder thair han's.

43 Monie times did he delifer thame; but thaye provooket him wi' thair cunsil, an' wer brought leuch for thair inequitie.

44 Natheless he tuik thought o' thair afflickshon, whan he heærd thair crye.

45 An' he remembiret for thame his covenant, an' rewet akordin' til the multetud o' his mercies.

46 He mæde thame alsua til be pytiet o' a' thae that carryet thame captife.

47 Saufe us, O Lord our God, an' gether us frae mang the heæthin, til gie thanks untill thy haly næme, an' til triumff in thy prayse.

48 Blisset be the Lord God o' Israel, frae evirlestin' til evirlestin': an' let a' the peeples say, Saebeid. Prayse ye the Lord.

CVII.

O GIE thanks untill the Lord, for he is guid; for his mercie induurs foraye.

2 Let the redeimet o' the Lord say sae, wham he hæes redeimet frae the han' o' the enimie;

3 An' getheret thame owt o' the lan's, frae the east an' frae the wast, frae the north an' frae the south.

4 Thaye danderet aboot in the wuldirniss in ane wearifu' an' lanlie wayc: thaye fand nae citie til dwall in.

5 Hungirie an' thristie, thair sauls sank down wuthin thame.

6 Than thaye cryet untill the Lord in thair truble, an' he deliferet thame owt o' thair destressis.

7 An' he lede thame furth bie the richt waye, that thaye nicht gang til ane citie o' habitatione.

8 Och that men wad prayse the Lord for his guidniss, an' for his wunderfu' warks til the childer o' men!

9 For he satisfies the langin' saul, an' fills the hungirie saul wi' guidniss.

10 Sic as sit in mirkniss, an' in the skaddaw o' deæth, being bund in afflickshon an' ern;

11 Becaus thaye ræse up agayne the wurd o' God, an' condemet the cunsil o' the Maist Hie:

12 Therfor he brang down thair hairt wi' laabor: thaye fell down, an' ther was nane til helpe.

13 Than thaye cryet untill the Lord in thair truble, an' he saufet thame owt o' thair destressis.

14 He broucht thame owt o' mirkniss an' the skaddaw o' deæth, an' brak thair bands asinder.

15 Och that men wad prayse the Lord for his guidniss, an' for his wunderfu' warks til the childer o' men!

16 For he hæs brokin the yettes o' brass, an' cutet the bars o' ern asinder.

17 Fules, becaus o' thair transgression, an' becaus o' thair inequitie, ar afflicket;

18 Thair saul abhorrs a' kind o' meæt, an' thaye draw nær til the yettes o' deæth.

19 Than thaye crye untill the Lord in thair truble, an' he saufes thame owt o' thair destressis.

20 He sendet his wurd an' hælet thame, an' deliferet thame frae thair destruckshons.

21 Och that men wad prayse the Lord for his guidniss, an' for his wunderfu' warks til the childer o' men!

22 An' let thame saacrifice the saacrifices o' thanksgiein', an' speik furth his warks wi' rejoycin'.

23 Thaye that gae down til the se in schips, that trafaike in the grit waters;

24 Thae see the warks o' the Lord, an' his wunders in the deepe.

25 For he commands, an' ræises up the stormie wund, whilk thero' lifts on hie the waves.

26 Thaye muunt up til the heàven, thaye gae doun agayne til the deepes; thair saul is meltet becaus o' truble.

27 Thaye reel bak-an-forward, an' stotter like ane drunken man, an' ar at the en' o' thair wuts.

28 Than thaye crye til the Lord in thair truble, an' he brings thame owt o' thair destressis.

29 He mak's the storm ane cawm, sae that the waves thero' ar seeliset.

30 Than ar thaye gladsume becaus thaye be quæet; sae he brings thame untill the haven that thaye lang for.

31 Och that men wad prayse the Lord for his guidniss, an' for his wonderfu' warks til the childer o' men!

32 Let thame eksalt him alsua in the congregatioun o' the people, an' prayse him in the assemblie o' the eldiers.

33 Rivers he turns intil ane wuldinriss, an' the wallees intil drye grund;

34 Ane frutefu' lan' intil barrenniss, for the wicketniss o' thame that byde in't.

35 He turns the wuldinriss intil ane stannin' water, an' drye grund intil wals o' water.

36 An' ther he mak's the hungirie til dwell, that thaye may bigg ane citie til wone in.

37 An' saw the feelds, an' sette vinyairds, whilk may gie furth frutes o' inkresse.

38 He blisses thame alsua, sae that thair nummer growes gritlie, an' tholesna thair kattel til dekresse.

39 Agayne thaye ar minishet, an' brung leuch throwe thrawl-doom, afflickshon, an' sorra.

40 He teens contemp apon princes, an' causes thame til dander in the wuldinriss whare ther is nae waye.

41 Natheless setes he the puir on hie frae afflickshon, an' mak's him families like ane flock.

42 The richteous sall see it, an' rejoyce, an' a' inequitie sall stapp hir mooth.

43 Whasae is wyse, an' wull tak' tent o' thae things, een thaye sall understan' the loeinkindniss o' the Lord.

CVIII.

† Ane Sang or Psalm o' David.

O GOD, my hairt is fiksit; I wull sing an' gie prayse een wi my glorie.

2 Awauken psaltrie an' herp, I mysel' wull awauken earlie.

3 I wull prayse thee, O Lord, amang the peeples; an' wull sing prayses untill thee amang the nationes.

4 For thy mercie is grit aboone the heævens, an' thy trouth raxes untill the cluds.

5 Be thou liftet up, O God, aboone the heævens, an' thy glorie aboone a' the yirth;

6 That thy belofet may be deliferet: saufe wi' thy richt han', an' answir me.

7 God heth spokin in his haliniss: I wull rejoyce; I wull devyde Shechem, an' measur owt the vallie o' Succoth.

8 Gilead is mine; Manasseh is mine; Ephraim alsua is the strenth o' mine heæd; Judah is my law-gieffer;

9 Moab is my wasch-pat; ower Edom wull I thraw my shoos; ower Philistia wull I triumff.

10 Wha wull bring me intil the strang citie? wha wull leede me intil Edom?

11 Wultna thou, O God, wha hest casen us aff? an' wultna thou, O God, gang furth wi' our hosts?

12 Gie us help frae truble; for vaine is the help o' man.

13 Throwe God we sall do vielentie; for he it is that sall tramp doun our enimies.

CIX.

† Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

HAUDNA thy peece, O God o' my prayse;

2 For the mooth o' the wicket, an' the mooth o' the gylefu' ar opinet agayne me: thaye hae spokin' agayne me wi' ane leein' tung.

3 Thaye cam roun' aboot me alsua wi' wurd o' hætret; an' focht agayne me wuthoutten ane caus.

4 For my loefe thaye ar my advsaries; but I gie mysel' untill præyer.

5 An' thaye hae rewairdet me ill for guid, an' hætret for loefe.

6 Sete thou ane wicket man ower him; an' let Sattan stan' at his richt han'.

7 Whan he sall be juudget, let him be condemet, an' let his præyer becum sin.

8 Let his dayes be fewe, an' let ane ither tak' his charje.

9 Let his childer be faetherliss, an' his wyffe ane widaw.

10 Let his childer be continwallie stravaigers an' beg; let thame seik thair breäd alsua owt o' thair waiste pleges.

11 Let the ekstourtir clutche a' that he hæs, an' let the fremet spulyie his laabor.

12 Let ther be nané til eksten' mercie untill him; næther let ther be onie til faavor his faetherliss childer.

13 Let his affspring be snagget aff; an' in the ganæratian folloin' thair næme be blotchet owt.

14 Let the inequitie o' his faethers be boorne in mind wi' the Lord, an' letna the sin o' his mither be dune awa.

15 Let thame be afore the Lord continwallie, that he may snag aff the memerie o' thame frae the yirth:

16 Becaus that he remembiretna til shaw mercie, but persikutet the puir an' needie man, that he nicht een sley the brokin in hairt.

17 As he loefet bannin', sae let it cum untill him; as he delichtetna in blissin', sae let it be fer frae him.

18 As he claethet himsel' wi' cursin' like as wi' his garmint, sae let it cum intil his interils like water, an' like oolie intil his banes.

19 Let it be untill him as the garmint whilk kivers him, an' for ane girdin wharewi' he is girthet continwallie.

20 Let this be the rewaird o' mine advsaries frae the Lord, an' o' thame that speik ill agayne my saul.

21 But do thou for me, O God the Lord, for thy næme's sak'; becaus thy mercie is guid, delifer thou me.

22 For I am puir an' needie, an' my hairt is wuundet wuthin me.

23 I am gane like the skaddaw whan it eelyes awa; I am torfellet up an' doun as the locast.

24 My nees ar waff throwe fastin', an' my flesh fæils o' fatniss.

25 I becam' alsua ane reproch untill thame; whan thaye luiket on me thaye shuuk thair heæds.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God ; O saufe me akordin' til thy mercie :

27 That thaye may ken that this is thy han', that thou, Lord, hest dune it.

28 Let thame ban, but bliss thou : whan thaye ræise up, let thame be shæmet ; but let thy servent rejoyce.

29 Wi' shæme let mine advarsaries be claethet ; an' let thame kiver thamesel's wi' thair ain confuushon as wi' ane rocklay.

30 I wull gritlie prayse the Lord wi' my mooth ; yis, I wull prayse him amang the multetud.

31 For he sall stan' at the richt han' o' the puir, til saufe him frae thae that condem his saul.

CX.

† Ane Psalm o' David.

THE Lord said untill my Lord, Sit at my richt han', untill I mak' thine enimies thy fit-stule.

2 The Lord sall sen' the rodd o' thy strenth owt o' Zion : ruul thou in the middle o' thine enimies.

3 Thy peeple sall be wullin' in the daye o' thy powir ; in the beutie o' haliniss, frae the wome o' the moornin' ; thou hest the dewe o' thy youdith.

4 The Lord heth swurn, an' wullna rew, Thou art ane priest forevir efter the oordir o' Melchizedek.

5 The Lord at thy richt han' sall strike throwe kings in the daye o' wræth.

6 He sall juudge amang the heæthin ; he sall fill the pleges wi' the deæd boukes ; he sall wuund the chiefs ower monie cuuntries.

7 He sall drynk o' the bruik in the waye, therfor sall he lift up the heæd.

CXI.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. I wull prayse the Lord wi' my hail hairt, in the assemblie o' the upright an' in the congregatione.

2 The warks o' the Lord ar grit, soucht owt o' a' thame that hae pleasur therin.

3 His wark is honorabel an' glorious, an' his richteousniss induurs forever.

4 He hæ s mæde his wunderfu' warks til be remembiret; the Lord is gracious an' fu' o' tendir pitie.

5 He hæ s gien meæt untill thame that feær him: he wull evir be mindfu' o' his covenant.

6 He hæ s shawet his peeple the powir o' his warks, that he may gie thame the heirskep o' the heæthin.

7 The warks o' his han' ar veritie an' juudgemint, a' his commandements ar shure.

8 Thaye stan' siccer forever an' evir, an' ar dune in trouth an' uprichtniss.

9 He sendet redempshon til his peeple: he heth commandet his covenant forever; haly an' reverant is his næme.

10 The feær o' the Lord is the begynnin' o' wusdoom: ane guid understannin' hæ a' thaye that do his commandements: his prayse induurs forever.

CXII.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. Blisset is the man that feærs the Lord, that delichts gritlie in his commandements.

2 His affspring sall be michtie apone the yirth; the ganæratian o' the upright sall be blisset.

3 Walth an' riches sall be in his hous, an' his richteousniss induurs forever.

4 Untill the upright ther ræises up licht in the mirk; he is gracious, an' fu' o' tendir pitie, an' richteous.

5 Ane guid man shaws faavor an' len's; he wull gæide his affaires wi' discrætione.

6 Shurelie he sallna be muvet forever; the richteous sall be in evirlestin' remembirence.

7 He sallna be afearet o' ill tydin's; his hairt is fikset, trustin' in the Lord.

8 His hairt is mæde sekuur; he sallna be afearet untill he see his wush apone his enimies.

9 He hæ s layde owt; he hæ s gien til the puir; his richteousniss induurs forever: his hoorn sall be liftet up wi' honor.

10 The wicket sall see it, an' be greifet; he sall grunch wi' his teeth, an' melt awa; the desyre o' the wicket sall decaye owtricht.

CXIII.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. Prayse, O ye servents o' the Lord, prayse the næme o' the Lord.

2 Blisset be the næme o' the Lord frae this time furth an' for-evirmair.

3 Frae the ræisin' o' the sun untill the gaein' doun o' the same the næme o' the Lord is til be prayset.

4 The Lord is hie aboone a' nationes, an' his glorie aboone the heævens.

5 Wha is like the Lord our God? wha dwalls on hie;

6 Wha hummels himsel' til behald the things that ar in heaven an' in the yirth.

7 He ræises up the puir owt o' the dust, an' lyfts up the needie owt o' the midden.

8 That he maye sete him wi' chiefs, een wi' the princes o' his peeple.

9 He mak's the barrin woman til keepe hous, an' til be ane joyfu' mither o' childer. Prayse ye the Lord.

CXIV.

WHAN Israel gaed owt o' Egypt, the hous o' Jacob frae ane peeple o' fremet tung,

2 Judah was his sanctuarie, an' Israel his damain.

3 The se saw it, an' fledge; Jordan was dreæn bak.

4 The mountans skiffet like tips, an' the wee hills like lams.

5 What ailet thee, O thou se, that thou fledist; thou Jordan, that thou wast dreæn bak?

6 Ye mountans, that ye skiffet like tips; an' ye wee hills like lams?

7 Trimmel, thou yirth, at the presince o' the Lord, at the presence o' the God o' Jacob;

8 Whilk turnet the rok until ane stannin' water, an' mæde ane fountain o' waters o' the flint.

CXV.

NAT untill us, O Lord, nat untill us, but untill thy næme gie glorie; for thy mercie, an' for thy trouth's sak'.

2 Wharefor shud the heæthin say, Whare is now thair God?

3 But our God is in the heævens: he heth dune whatsaevir he heth pleeset.

4 Thair iidals ar siller an' gowd, the wark o' men's han's.

5 Thaye hae mooths, but thaye speikna; eyne hae thaye, but thaye seena;

6 Thaye hae lugs, but thaye dinna heær; noses, but thaye hae nae smelle.

7 Thaye hae han's, but thaye hanlena; feet hae thaye, but thaye canna gang; næther speik thaye throwe thair hass.

8 Thaye that mak' thame ar like til thame; sae is ilka ane that trusts in thame.

9 O Israel, trust ye in the Lord; he is thair helpe an' thair sheeld.

10 O hous o' Aaron, trust in the Lord; he is thair helpe an' thair sheeld.

11 Ye that feær the Lord, trust in the Lord; he is thair helpe an' thair sheeld.

12 The Lord hæs been mindfu' o' us; he wull bliss us: he wull bliss the hous o' Israel; he wull bliss the hous o' Aaron.

13 He wull bliss thame that feær the Lord, baith sma' an' grit.

14 The Lord sall inkresse you mair an' mair, you an' your childer.

15 Ye ar blisset o' the Lord, whilk mæde heæven an' yirth.

16 The heæven, een the heævens ar the Lord's; but the yirth heth he gien til the childer o' men.

17 The deæd praysena the Lord, næther onie that gae doun intil seelence.

18 But we wull bliss the Lord frae this time furth an' forever-mair. Prayse the Lord.

CXVI.

ILOE the Lord, becaus he hæs heærd my voyce an' my supplications.

2 Becaus he hæc inclæinet his eær untill me, therfor wull I ca' apon him sae lang as I leive.

3 The sorras o' deæth cam' roun' aboot me, an' the paines o' hell gat haud on me: I fand truble an' dool.

4 Than ca't I apon the næme o' the Lord; O Lord, I beseik thee, delifer my saul.

5 Gracious is the Lord an' richteous; yis, our God is mercifu'.

6 The Lord preserfes the simpel; I was broucht leuch, an' he helpet me.

7 Return untill thy rest, O my saul; for the Lord heth deelt buntifullie wi' thee.

8 For thou hest deliferet my saul frae deæth, mine eyne frae teærs, an' my feet frae fa'in'.

9 I wull gae on afore the Lord in the lan' o' the leivin'.

10 I beleifet, therfor hae I spokin; I was gritlie afflictet.

11 I said in my hæste, A' men ar leirs.

12 What sall I gie untill the Lord for a' his guid gyftes gait-wairds me?

13 I wull tak' the cup o' salvatione, an' ca' apon the næme o' the Lord.

14 I wull paye my vows untill the Lord nowe in the presince o' a' his peepel.

15 Pracious in the sicht o' the Lord is the deæth o' his saunts.

16 O Lord, trewlie I am thy servent: I am thy servent, an' the son o' thine han'maiden; thou hest loweset my bands.

17 I wull affer til thee the saacrifice o' thanksgiein', an' wull ca' apon the næme o' the Lord.

18 I wull paye my vows untill the Lord nowe in the presince o' a' his peepel, 19 In the cuurts o' the Lord's hous, in the middle o' thee, O Jerusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

CXVII.

O PRAYSE the Lord, a' ye nationes; prayse him, a' ye peepel.
 2 For his mercifu' kindniss is grit gaitwaird us; an' the trouth o' the Lord induurs forever. Prayse ye the Lord.

CXVIII.

OGIE thanks untill the Lord, for he is guid; becaus his mercie induurs forevir.

2 Let Israel nowe saye, that his mercie induurs forevir.

3 Let the hous o' Aaron nowe saye, that his mercie induurs forevir.

4 Let thame nowe that feær the Lord saye, that his mercie induurs forevir.

5 I ca't apoun the Lord in destresse: the Lord answiret me, an' sete me in ane wyde an' free plece.

6 The Lord is on my syde; I wullna feær; what can man do untill me?

7 The Lord tak's my pairt wi' thame that helpe me: therfor sall I see my desyre apoun thame that hæte me.

8 It is better til trust in the Lord nor til pit confydedence in man.

9 It is better til trust in the Lord nor til pit confydedence in princes.

10 A' nationes cam' roun' aboot me; but in the næme o' the Lord wull I destroye thame.

11 Thaye cam' roun' aboot me; yis, thaye cam' roun' aboot me; but in the næme o' the Lord wull I destroye thame.

12 Thaye cam' roun' aboot me like bies: thaye ar slockenet as the fire o' thoorns; for in the næme o' the Lord I wull destroye thame.

13 Thou hest stogget sair at me, that I nicht fa'; but the Lord helpet me.

14 The Lord is my doucht an' sang, an' is becum my salvatione.

15 The voyce o' rejoycin' an' salvatione is in the taabernakles o' the richteous: the richt han' o' the Lord deth vielentlie.

16 The richt han' o' the Lord is liftet up; the richt han' o' the Lord deth vielentlie.

17 I sallna dee, but leive, an' speik furth the warks o' the Lord.

18 The Lord heth chesenet me sair: but he hethna gien me ower untill deæth.

19 Opin til me the yettes o' richteousniss; I wull gae intil thame, an' I wull prayse the Lord.

20 This yette o' the Lord, whilk the richteous sall gae in at.

21 I wull prayse thee; for thou hest heärd me, an' hest becum my salvatione.

22 The stane whilk the buuldirs despæiset hæs becum the heärd stane o' the kornir.

23 This is the Lord's doin'; it is mervellous in our eyne.

24 This is the daye whilk the Lord heth mæde; we wull rejoyce an' be gladsume in it.

25 Saufe nowe, I beseik thee, O Lord: O Lord, I beseik thee, sen' nowe prosperitie.

26 Blisset be he that cums in the næme o' the Lord; we hæe blisset yow owt o' the hous o' the Lord.

27 God is the Lord, wha heth shawet us licht: bin' the saacri-fice wi' coords, een untill the hoorns o' the altar.

28 Thou art my God, an' I wull prayse thee; thou art my God, I wull eksalt thee.

29 O gie thanks untill the Lord, for he is guid; for his mercie induurs forevir.

CXIX.

ALEPH.

BLISSET ar the unfylet an' perfite in the waye, wha wauk in the lawe o' the Lord.

2 Blisset ar thaye that keepe his testimonies, an' that seik him wi' thair haill hairt.

3 Thaye alsua do nae inequitie; thaye wauk in his wayes.

4 Thou hest commandet us til keepe thy precepts eidentlie.

5 Och that my wayes wer mæde gatelins til keepe thy staatutes!

6 Than shude I nat be shæmet, whan I hæe respeck til a' thy commandements.

7 I wull prayse thee wi' uprichtniss o' hairt whan I hæe lærnet thy richteous juudgemints.

8 I wull keepe thy staatutes; O dinna forhowe me owtricht.

BETH.

9 Wharewutha' sall ane yung man cleense his waye? Bie takin' tent thertil akordin' til thy wurd.

10 Wi' my haill hairt hæe I soucht thee: O letna me dander awa frae thy commandements.

11 Thy wurd hae I hyddan in my hairt, that I nichtna sin agayne thee.

12 Blisset art thou, O Lord; teech thou me thy staatutes.

13 Wi' my lipps hae I spokin owt a' the juudgemints o' thy mooth.

14 I hae rejoycet in the waye o' thy testimonies as mickle as in a' thesaures.

15 I wull dwell in thought on thy precepts, an' hae respeck untill thy wayes.

16 I wull delicht mysel' in thy staatutes; I wullna forgett thy wurd.

GIMEL.

17 Deel buntifullie wi' thy servent, that I may leive, an' keepe thy wurd.

18 Opin thou mine eyne, that I may behald wonderfu' things owt o' thy law.

19 I am ane fremet in the yirth; hydena thy commandements frae me.

20 My saul briks for the langin' that it hæes untill thy juudgemints at a' times.

21 Thou hest snibbet the pruum that ar curset, whilk gae asyde frae thy commandements.

22 Remuve frae me reproch an' contemp; for I hae keepet thy testimonies.

23 Princis did alsua sit an' speik agayne me; but thy servent sete deepe thought on thy staatutes.

24 Thy testimonies alsua ar my delicht an' my cunsillers.

DALETH.

25 My saul cleefes doun untill the dust; quikan thou me akordin' til thy wurd.

26 I hae spokin owt anent my wayes, an' thou hest heærd me: teech me thy staatutes.

27 Mak' me understan' the waye o' thy precepts; sae sall I tauk o' thy wonderfu' warks.

28 My saul melts for hiviniss: strencthen me akordin' til thy wurd.

29 Remuve frae me the waye o' leein'; an' graciouslie vooch-saue me thy law.

30 I hae chosin the waye o' trouth : thy juudgemints hae I layde afore me.

31 I hae stuken untill thy testimonies ; O Lord, pitna me til shæme.

32 I wull rin the waye o' thy commandements, whan thou sallt releich my hairt.

HE.

33 Teech me, O Lord, 'the waye o' thy staatutes, an' I sall keepe it untill the en'.

34 Gie me understan'in', an' I sall keepe thy law ; yis, I sall tak' tent til't wi' my haill hairt.

35 Mak' me til gang in the peth o' thy commandements ; for therin do I delight.

36 Inclæine my hairt untill thy testimonies, an' nat til greediness.

37 Turn awa mine eyne frae behaldin' vaintie, an' quikan thou me in thy waye.

38 Mak' siccer thy wurd untill thy servant, wha is hairt-bund til thy feær.

39 Turn awa my reproch, whilk I dreæd ; for thy juudgemints ar guid.

40 Behald, I hae langet efter thy precepts ; quikan me in thy richteousniss.

VAU.

41 Let thy mercies cum alsua untill me, O Lord ; een thy salvatione akordin' til thy wurd.

42 Sae sall I hae wharewi' til answir him that reproches me ; for in thy wurd do I trust.

43 An' tak'na the wurd o' trouth a'thegither owt o' my mooth ; for I hae houpet in thy juudgemints.

44 Sae sall I keepe thy law forever an' evir.

45 An' I sall gang on in freedom ; for I seik thy precepts.

46 I wull speik o' thy testimonies alsua afore kings, an' wullna be blate.

47 An' I wull delicht mysel' in thy commandements, whilk I hae loet.

48 My han's wull I alsua lift up untill thy commandements, whilk I hae loet ; an' I wull dwell in deepe thought on thy staatutes.

ZAIN.

49 Remembir the wurd untill thy servent, apou whilk thou hest causet me til houpe.

50 This is my comfirt in my afflickshon; for thy wurd hæe quikanet me.

51 The proude hæe had me gritlie in derishon; natheless hæe I nat fa'n aff frae thy law.

52 I ca't til mind thy juudgemints o' auld, O Lord, an' hæe comfirtet mysel'.

53 Horrur hæe ta'en haud apou me, becaus o' the wicket that forhowe thy law.

54 Thy staatutes hæe been my sang in the hous o' my pil-grimadje.

55 I hæe remembiret thy næme, O Lord, in the nicht; an' hæe keepet thy law.

56 This I had becaus I keepet thy preceeps.

CHETH.

57 Thou art my portione, O Lord; I hæe said that I wad keepe thy wurd.

58 I wooet thy faavor wi' my haill hairt; be mercifu' til me akordin' til thy wurd.

59 I thought on my wayes, an' turnet my feet til thy testimonies.

60 I taiggletna, but mæde hæste til keepe thy commandements.

61 The gangs o' the wicket hæe reifet me; but I haena forgottan thy law.

62 At howenicht I wull ræise til gie thanks untill thee, becaus o' thy richteous juudgemints.

63 I am ane comerade o' a' thame that feær thee, an' o' thame that keepe thy preceeps.

64 The yirth, O Lord, is fu' o' thy mercie; teech me thy staa-tutes.

TETH.

65 Thou hest deelt weel wi' thy servent, O Lord, akordin' untill thy wurd.

66 Teech me guid juudgemint an' wætin'; for I hæe beleifet thy commandements.

67 Afore I was afflicket I gaed agley; but nowe hæe I keepet
thy wurd.

68 Thou art guid, an' doist guid ; teeche me thy staatutes.

69 The pruid hae forgdjet ane lee agayne me ; but I wull keepe thy preceeps wi' my hailt hairt.

70 Thair hairt is as fat as taugh ; but I delight in thy law.

71 It is guid for me that I hae been afflicket ; that I micht lærn thy staatutes.

72 The law o' thy mooth is better untill me nor thousan's o' gowd an' siller.

JOD.

73 Thy han's hae mæde me an' fashanet me ; gie me understandin', that I may lærn thy commandements.

74 Thaye that fear thee wull be gladsume whan thaye see me ; becaus I hae houpet in thy wurd.

75 I ken, O Lord, that thy juudgemints ar richt, an' that thou in faithfu'niss hest afflicket me.

76 Let, I præy thee, thy mercifu' kindniss be for my comfirt, akordin' til thy wurd untill thy servant.

77 Let thy tendir mercies cum untill me, that I may leive ; for thy law is my delight.

78 Let the pruid be shæmet, for thaye hae deelt contrairisumlie wi' me wouthoutten ane caus ; but I wull muuse on thy preceeps.

79 Let thae that fear thee turn untill me, an' thae that hae knawn thy testimonies.

80 Let my hairt be suund in thy staatutes, that I bena shæmet.

CAPH.

81 My saul swarffs for thy salvatione ; but I houpe in thy wurd.

82 Mine eyne fæil for thy wurd, sayin', Whan wult thou comfirt me ?

83 For I am becum like ane bottell in the reek ; natheless do I nat forget thy staatutes.

84 Howe monie ar the dayes o' thy servant ? Whan wult thou exikute juudgemint on thame that persikute me ?

85 The pruid hae howket pitts for me whilk arna efter thy law.

86 A' thy commandements ar faithfu' : thaye persikute me wrangfullie ; helpe thou me.

87 Thaye had amaist consumet me apon yirth ; but I forhowetna thy preceeps.

88 Quikan me efter thy locinkindniss; sae sall I keepe the testimonies o' thy mooth.

LAMED.

89 Forevir, O Lord, thy wurd is settelet in hæven.

90 Thy faithfu'niss is untill a' ganæratians; thou hest sete sicer the yirth, an' it bydes sae.

91 Thaye continua this daye akordin' til thine oordinences, for a' ar thy servents.

92 Hadna thy law been my delicht, I wad hae deet owtricht in mine afflickshon.

93 I wull nevir forget thy preceeps; for wi' thame ye hae quikanet me.

94 I am thine; saufe me, for I hae soucht thy preceeps.

95 The wicket hae waitet for me, til destroye me; but I wull weie weel thy testimonies.

96 I hae seen ane en' o' a' perfekshon; but thy commandement is excessivlie braid.

MEM.

97 O howe loe I thy law! my thought dwalls deeplie on it a' the daye lang.

98 Thou throwe thy commandements hest mæde me wysir nor mine enimies; for thaye ar evir wi' me.

99 I hae mair understan'in' nor a' my teechirs, for thy testimonies ar my serious thought.

100 I understan' mair nor did thaye o' auld lang syne, becaus I keepe thy preceeps.

101 I hae hauden bak my feet frae ilka ill waye, that I nicht keepe thy wurd.

102 I haena gane agley frae thy juudgemints; for thou hest instruket me.

103 Howe sweet ar thy wurds til my tæste! ay, sweetir nor hinnie til my mooth.

104 Throwe thy preceeps I gete understan'in'; therfor ilka fause waye do I hæte.

NUN.

105 Thy wurd is ane lampe til my feet, an' ane licht til my peth.

106 I hae sworn, an' wull stan' til't, that I wull keepe thy richteous juudgemints.

107 Afflicket I am verra mickle; quikan me, O Lord, akordin' til thy wurd.

108 Accep, I do beseik thee, the free-wull afferin's o' my mooth, O Lord; an' teeche me thy juudgemints.

109 My saul is in my han' continwallie; natheless do I nat forgete thy law.

110 The wicket hae layde ane girn for me; natheless I stravaigetna frae thy preceeps.

111 Thy testimonies hae I ta'en as ane heirskep forever; for thaye ar the rejoycin' o' my hairt.

112 I hae inclæinet mine hairt til performe thy staatutes alwæyse, een untill the en'.

SAMECH.

113 I hæte vaine thoughts; but thy law do I loe.

114 Thou art my hydein'-plece an' my scug; I houe in thy wurd.

115 Be aff frae me, ye ill-doors; for I wull keepe the commandments o' my God.

116 Uphaud me akordin' untill thy wurd, that I may leive; an' letna me be ashæmet o' my houe.

117 Haud me up, an' I sall be saufe; an' I wull hae respeck untill thy staatutes continwallie.

118 Thou hest strampet doun a' thame that stravaig frae thy staatutes; for thair deceite is fausehuud.

119 Thou pittist awa a' the wicket o' the yirth like dros; therfor I loe thy testimonies.

120 My flesh trimmels for feær o' thee, an' I am rade o' thy juudgemints.

AIN.

121 I hae dune juudgemint an' justice, leefena me til mine oppressirs.

122 Be shuurtie for thy servant for guid; letna the pruid oppresse me.

123 Mine eyne fæil for thy salvatione, an' for the wurd o' thy richteousniss.

124 Deel wi' thy servant akordin' til thy mercie, an' teeche me thy staatutes.

125 I am thy servant; gie me understan'in', that I may ken thy testimonies.

126 It is fu' time for thee, Lord, til wurk; for thaye hae mæde væide thy law.

127 Therfor I loe thy commandements aboone gowd, ay, aboone fyne gowd.

128 Therfor I haud a' thy preceeps anent a' things til be richt ; an' I hæte ilka fause waye.

PE.

129 Thy testimonies ar wunderfu' ; therfor deth my saul keepe thame.

130 The ingangin' o' thy wurd gies licht ; it gies understan'in' untill the simpill.

131 I opinet my mooth an' pantet ; for I langet for thy commandements.

132 Luik thou apon me, an' be mercifu' untill me, akordin' til thine use an' wunt til thae that loe thy næme.

133 Oordir my stepps in thy wurd ; an' letna onie inequitie hac powir ower me.

134 Delifer me frae the crewiltie o' man ; sae wull I keepe thy preceeps.

135 Mak' thy fece til shyne apon thy servant ; an' teeche me thy staatutes.

136 Grit rinnals o' water rin down mine eyne, becaus thaye keepena thy law.

TZADDI.

137 Richteous art thou, O Lord, an' upright ar thy juudgemints.

138 Thy testimonies that thou hest commandet ar richteous an' verra faithfu'.

139 My zele hæe consumet me becaus mine enimies hæe forgottan thy wurd.

140 Thy wurd is verra pure ; therfor thy servant loes it.

141 I am sma' an' despæiset ; natheless I dinna forgete thy preceeps.

142 Thy richteousniss is ane evirlestin' richteousniss, an' thy law is the trouth.

143 Truble an' verra sair paine hæe ta'en haud on me ; natheless thy commandements ar my delichts.

144 The richteousniss o' thy testimonies is evirlestin' : gie me understan'in', an' I sall leive.

KOPH.

145 I cryet wi' my haill hairt : hæer me, O Lord ; I wull keepe thy staatutes.

146 I cryet untill thee ; saufe me, an' I wull keepe thy testimonies.

147 I was afore the dawin' o' the moornin', an' cryet ; I houpet in thy wurd.

148 Mine eyne prevente the nicht-watchis, that I may dwell in deepe thought apon thy wurd.

149 Hear my voyce, akordin' til thy loeinkindniss, O Lord ; quikan me akordin' til thy juudgemint.

150 Thaye edge nie wha follo efter mischeef ; thaye ar fer frae thy law.

151 Thou art neer, O Lord, an' a' thy commandements are trowth.

152 Anent thy testimonies I hae kennet o' auld that thou hest fuundet thame forever.

RESH.

153 Tak' thought on my afflickshon, an' delifer me ; for I dinna forgete thy law.

154 Plede my caus, an' delifer me ; quikan me akordin' til thy wurd.

155 Salvatione is fer frae the wicket ; for thaye seikna thy statutes.

156 Grit ar thy tendir mercies, O Lord : quikan me akordin' til thy juudgemints.

157 Monie ar my persikutirs an' mine enimies ; natheless I dinna fa' aff frae thy testimonies.

158 I saw the transgressers, an' was greifet ; becaus thaye keepetna thy wurd.

159 'Tak' thought howe I loe thy preceeps ; quikan me, O Lord, akordin' til thy loeinkindniss.

160 Thy wurd is trew frae the begynnyn', an' ilka ane o' thy richteous juudgemints induurs forever.

SCHIN.

161 Athils hae persikutit me wuthoutten ane caus ; but my hairt stan's in aw o' thy wurd.

162 I rejoyce in thy wurd, as ane that fin's grit spulsye.

163 I hæte an' abhorr leein' ; but thy lawe do I loe.

164 Se'en times a-daye do I prayse thee, becaus o' thy richteous juudgemints.

165 Grit peece hae thaye that loe thy law, an' naething sall offen' thame.

166 Lord, I hae houpet for thy salvatione, an' dune thy commandements.

167 My saul hæes keepet thy testimonies, an' I loe thame excessive.

168 I hae keepet thy precepts an' testimonies; for a' my wayes ar afore thee.

TAU.

169 Let my crye cum near afore thee, O Lord; gie me understandin' akordin' til thy wurd.

170 Let my supplicatione cum afore thee: delifer me akordin' til thy wurd.

171 My lipps sall utter prayse, whan thou hest taucht me thy statutes.

172 My tung sall speik o' thy wurd; for a' thy commandements ar richteousness.

173 Let thy han' helpe me; for I hae chosin thy precepts.

174 I hae langet for thy salvatione, O Lord; an' thy law is my delight.

175 Let my saul leive, an' it sall prayse thee; an' let thy iudgemints help me.

176 I hae gane astraye like ane tint sheep: seik thy servant; for I dinna forgete thy commandements.

CXX.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries.

IN my destresse I cryet untill the Lord, an' he heerd me.

2 Delifer my saul, O Lord, frae leein' lipps, an' frae ane gylefu' tung.

3 What sall be gien untill thee? or what sall be dune untill thee, thou fause tung?

4 Sherp arras o' the michtie, an' cools o' junipir.

5 Wae's me that I saejurn in Mesech; that I dwell in the tents o' Kedar!

6 My saul hæes lang dwalt wi' him that hætes peece.

7 I am for peece; but whan I speik, thaye ar for weir.

CXXI.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries.

I WULL lift up mine eyne til the hills, frae whance cums my helpe.

2 My helpe cums frae the Lord, wha mæde heæven an' yirth.

3 He wullna thole my feet til be muvet: he that keepes thee wullna dover.

4 Behald, he that keepes Israel sall næther sloom nar sleepe.

5 The Lord is thy keepir; the Lord is thy scug apon thy richt han'.

6 The sun sallna smyte thee bie daye, nar the muun bie nicht.

7 The Lord sall preserfe thee frae a' ill; he shall preserfe thy saul.

8 The Lord sall preserfe thy gaein's owt, an' thy cumin's in, frae this time furth an' een forevirmair.

CXXII.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries o' David.

I WAS gladsume whan thaye said untill me, Let us gae intil the hous o' the Lord.

2 Our feet sall stan' wuthin thy yettes, O Jerusalem.

3 Jerusalem is buggin as ane citie that is compak thegither.

4 Whidder the clans gae up, the clans o' the Lord, untill the testimonie o' Israel, til gie thanks untill the næme o' the Lord.

5 For ther ar sete thrones o' juudgemint, the thrones o' the hous o' David.

6 Præy for the peece o' Jerusalem; thaye sall do weel that loe thee.

7 Peece be wuthin thy wa's, an' prospiritie wuthin thy paleces.

8 For my brithrin an' comerades' sak's, I wull nowe saye, Peece be wuthin thee.

9 Becaus o' the hous o' the Lord our God, I wull seik thy guid.

CXXIII.

† Ane Sang o' degries.

UNTILL thee do I lift up mine eyne, O thou that dwallist in the heàvens.

2 Behald, as the eyne o' servents luik untill the han' o' thair maisters, an' as the eyne o' ane maidin untill the han' o' hir guiddæme, sae our eyne wait apon the Lord our God, untill that he hae mercie apon us.

3 Hae mercie apon us, O Lord, hae mercie apon us; for we ar excessivlie fillet wi' contemp.

4 Our saul is excessivlie fillet wi' the scoornin' o' thae that ar at eese, an' wi' the contemp o' the pruud.

CXXIV.

† Ane Sang o' degries o' David.

GIF it hadna been the Lord wha was on our syde, nowe may Israel say;

2 Gif it hadna been the Lord wha was on our syde, whan men
ræse up agayne us;

3 Than had thaye swalliet us up quik, whan thair wræth was kinlet agayne us.

4 Than had the waters fairlie owerwhalmet us; the streem had gane ower our saul:

5 Than the pruud waters had gane ower our saul.

6 Blisset be the Lord, wha hethna gien us ower as ane preyc til thair teeth.

7 Our saul hæs mæde aff as ane burd frae the girn o' the fowlirs; the girn is brokin, an' we ar fairlie free.

8 Our helpe is in the næme o' the Lord, wha mæde heàven an' yirth.

CXXV.

† Ane Sang o' degries.

THAYE that trust in the Lord sall be as Muunt Zion, whilk canna be remuvet, but bydes forever.

2 As the mountans ar roun' about Jerusalem, sae the Lord is roun' about his peepel frae hansefurth an' forever.

3 For the rodd o' the wicket sallna lye on the lote o' the righteous, in kase the richteous pit foret thair han's untill inequitie.

4 Do guid, O Lord, untill thae that be guid, an' til thame that ar upright in thair hairts.

5 As for sic as turn agley til thair camshauchelet wayes, the Lord sall leede thame furth wi' the wurkers o' inequitie ; but peece sall be apou Israel.

CXXVI.

† Ane Sang o' degries.

WHAN the Lord brang agayne the captivitie o' Zion, we wer like thame that dreæm.

2 Than was our mooth fillet wi' lauchtir, an' our tung wi' singin': than said thaye amang the heæthin, Grit things heth the Lord dune for thame.

3 The Lord trewlie hæd dune grit things for us, an' for whilk we ar gladsume.

4 As the streems in the south, turn agayne, O Lord, our captivitie.

5 Thaye that saw in teærs, sall sheer in joy.

6 He that gangs ow't greetin' carryin' pracious seede, sall doutliss cum bak agayne rejoycin', bringin' his sheefes wi' him.

CXXVII.

† Ane Sang o' degries for Solomon.

GIFF the Lord dinna bigg the hous, thaye laabor in vaine that bigg it: gif the Lord keepena the citie, the watcheman is waukrife in vaine.

2 It is vaine for you til ræise up sune, til sit up late, til eet the breæd o' sorras; for sae he gies his belofet sleepe.

3 Lo, childer ar the heirskep o' the Lord; an' the frute o' the wome is his rewaird.

4 As arras ar in the han' o' ane michtie man, sae ar childer o' the youdith.

5 Happie is the man wha hæs his quivir fu' o' thame; thaye sallua be blate, but thaye sall speik wi' thair enimies in the yette.

CXXVIII.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries.

BLISSET is ilka ane that feärs the Lord, that wauks in his wayes.

2 For ye sall eet the laabor o' thine han's; couthie an' blythesume sall ye be, an' weel sall it be wi' ye.

3 Thy wiffe sall be as ane frutefu' vine bie the syde o' thine hous; thy childer like olive-settin's roun' aboot thy tabil.

4 Behald, een thus sall the man be blisset that feärs the Lord.

5 The Lord sall bliss thee owt o' Zion; an' ye sall see the guid o' Jerusalem a' the dayes o' thy liffe.

6 Yis, ye sall see thy childer's childer, an' peece apou Israel.

CXXIX.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries.

WHEEL may Israel nowe say, monie ane time hae thaye afflicket me frae my youdith.

2 For frae my youdith monie ane time hae thaye afflicket me, yet hae thaye nat gotten the upper han' o' me.

3 The plewers plewet apou my bak; thaye mæde lang thair furrs.

4 The Lord is richteous; the coords o' the wicket he heth cutet asinder.

5 Let thame a' be confuundet an' turnet bak that hæte Zion.

6 Let thame be as the gerse apou the hous-taps, whilk wuthirs afore it growes up;

7 Wharewi' the mawer fillsna his han', nar the bandstir his bozim.

8 Næther do thaye that gae bye saye, The blissin' o' the Lord be apou ye: we bliss ye in the næme o' the Lord.

CXXX.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries.

OWT o' the deepes hae I cryet til thee, O Lord.

2 Lord, heær my voyce; let thine eær be tentfu' til the voyce o' my supplicationes.

3 If ye, O Lord, shude merk inequitie, wha sall stan'?

4 But ther is forgieniss wi' thee, that ye may be feæret.

5 I waite for the Lord; my saul deth waite, an' in his wurd do I houpe.

6 My saul waites for the Lord mair nor thaye that watche for the moornin'; I say, mair nor thaye that watche for the dawin' o' the daye.

7 Let Israel houpe in the Lord; for wi' the Lord ther is mercie, an' routhe o' redempshon.

8 An' Israel he sall redeim frae his inequities.

CXXXI.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries o' David.

LORD, my hairt isna puffet up an' pruum, nar do mine eyne, gentin', luik hie: næther do I leazle mysel', makin' a-wark in meikle mattirs, or in things ower heich for me.

2 Shurelie I hae dune douselie, an' quæietet mysel' as ane wean spainet o' its mither: my saul is een as ane spainet bairn.

3 Let Israel houpe in the Lord, frae this time furth an' foraye.

CXXXII.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries.

LORD, remembir David an' a' his afflictshons:

2 Howe he swuur untill the Lord, an' vowet til the michtie God o' Jacob.

3 Shurelie he wullna cum intil the taabernakle o' my hous, nar gae up intil my bed.

4 I wullna gie sleepe til mine eyne, or sloom til mine eelyds,

5 Till ance I fin' owt ane plece for the Lord, ane habitatione for the michtie God o' Jacob.

6 Lo, we heærd o't at Ephratah; we fand it in the links o' the wud.

7 We wull gang intil his taabernakles; we wull wurschip at his fit-stule.

8 Ræise up, O Lord, intil thy rest, thou, an' the airk o' thy doucht.

9 Let thy priests be claethet wi' richteousniss, an' thy saunts crye owt luudlie for joye.

10 For thy servent David's sak' turnna awa the fece o' thine anaintet.

11 The Lord hæs swuurn in trouth untill David; he wullna gae bak frae't :

12 O' the frute o' thy bodie wull I sete apon thy throne.

13 Gif thy childer wull keepe my covenant an' my testimonie that I sall teeche thame, thair childer sall alsua sit apon thy throne forevirmair.

14 For the Lord hæs chusin Zion; he hæs desyret it for his habitatione.

15 This is my rest forevir; here wull I dwell, for I hæe desyret it.

16 I wull routhlie bliss hir provydin'; I wull satisfie hir puir wi' breæd.

17 I wull alsua claethe hir preests wi' salvatione, an' hir saunts sall crye owt aluud for joye.

18 Ther wull I mak' the hoorn o' David til budde: I hæe oordeenet ane lampe for mine anaintet.

19 His enimies wull I claethe wi' shæme; but apon himsel' sall his crowne flourish.

CXXXIII.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries o' David.

BEHALD howe guid an' howe pleesint it is for brithren til dwell thegither aneit in kindniss.

2 It is like the pracious aintment apon the heæd, that ran down apon the beird, een Aaron's beird; that gaed down til the bords o' his garmints :

3 As the dewe o' Hermon, an' as the dewe that fa's on the mountans o' Zion : for ther the Lord comman's his blissin', een liffe forevirmair.

CXXXIV.

¶ Ane Sang o' degries.

BEHALD, bliss ye the Lord, a' ye servents o' the Lord whilk bie nicht stan' in the hous o' the Lord.

2 Lift up your han's in the sanctuarie, an' bliss the Lord.

3 The Lord, that mæde heæven an' yirth, bliss thee owt o' Zion.

CXXXV.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. Prayse ye the næme o' the Lord ; prayse him, O ye servents o' the Lord.

2 Ye that stan' in the hous o' the Lord, in the cuurts o' the hous o' our God.

3 Prayse the Lord, for the Lord is guid ; sing prayses untill his næme, for it is pleesint.

4 For the Lord hæs chusin Jacob untill himsel', an' Israel for his ae ain deær thesaure.

5 For I ken that the Lord is grit, an' that our Lord is aboone a' gods.

6 Whatsaeevir the Lord pleeset, that did he in heæven an' in yirth, in the ses an' a' deepe pleses.

7 He gars the rouks ascen' frae the en's o' the yirth : he mak's lichtenin's for the raine : he brings the wund owt o' his thesauraries.

8 Wha smat the first-born o' Egypt, baith man an' beæst.

9 Wha sendet tokins an' ferlies intil the middle o' thee, O Egypt, apon Pharaoh an' a' his gillies.

10 Wha smat grit nationes, an' sleyet michtie kings ;

11 Sihon king o' the Amorites, an' Og king o' Bashan, an' a' the kingdoms o' Canaan :

12 An' gæfe thair lan' for ane heirskep, ane heirskep untill Israel his peeple.

13 Thy næme, O Lord, induurs forevir ; an' thy memorall, O Lord, throweowt a' ganærations, 14 For the Lord wull juudge his peeple, an' he wull rew himself anent his servents.

15 The iudals o' the heathin ar siller an' gowd, the wark o' men's han's.

16 Thaye hae mooths, but thaye speikna; eyne hae thaye, but thaye seena:

17 Thaye hae lugs, but thaye dinna heær; næther is ther onie breæth in thair mooths.

18 Thaye that mak' thame ar like til thame; sae is ilka ane that trusts in thame.

19 Bliss the Lord, O hous o' Israel: bliss the Lord, O hous o' Aaron:

20 Bliss the Lord, O hous o' Levi: ye that fæær the Lord, bliss the Lord.

21 Blisset be the Lord owt o' Zion, whilk dwalls in Jerusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

CXXXVI.

OGIE thanks untill the Lord, for he is guid: for his mercie induurs forever.

2 O gie thanks untill the God o' gods: for his mercie induurs forever.

3 O gie thanks untill the Lord o' lords: for his mercie induurs forever.

4 Til him wha alane deth grit wunders: for his mercie induurs forever.

5 Til him that bie wusdoom mæde the heævens: for his mercie induurs forever.

6 Til him that streeket owt the heævens aboone the waters: for his mercie induurs forever.

7 Til him that mæde grit lights: for his mercie induurs forever.

8 The sun til ruul bie daye: for his mercie induurs forever.

9 The muun an' sterns til ruul bie nicht: for his mercie induurs forever.

10 Til him that smat Egypt in thair first-born: for his mercie induurs forever.

11 An' brought owt Israel frae amang thame: for his mercie induurs forever.

12 Wi' ane strang han', an' wi' ane streeket owt ærm: for his mercie induurs forevir.

13 Til him that devydet the Reid Se intil pairts: for his mercie induurs forevir.

14 An' mæde Israel til gae throwe the middle o't: for his mercie induurs forevir.

15 But owerthrewe Pharaoh an' his host in the Reid Se: for his mercie induurs forevir.

16 Til him that lede his peeple throwe the wuldirniss: for his mercie induurs forevir.

17 Til him whilk smat grit kings: for his mercie induurs forevir.

18 An' sleyet renommet kings: for his mercie induurs forevir.

19 Sihon king o' the Amorites: for his mercie induurs forevir.

20 An' Og the king o' Bashan: for his mercie induurs forevir.

21 An' gæfe thair lan' for ane heirskep: for his mercie induurs forevir.

22 Een ane heirskep untill Israel his servant: for his mercie induurs forevir.

23 Wha mindet us in our leuch condishon: for his mercie induurs forevir.

24 An' heth redeimet us frae our enimies: for his mercie induurs forevir.

25 Wha gies fude til a' flesh: for his mercie induurs forevir.

26 O gie thanks untill the God o' heàven: for his mercie induurs forevir.

CXXXVII.

BIE the rivirs o' Babylon, ther we sate doun: yis, we grat whan we remembiret Zion.

2 We hang our herps apon the wullos in the middle thero'.

3 For ther thaye that carryet us awa captife exaket o' us ane sang; an' thaye that layde us in waiste heeps exaket o' us mirthfu' glee, sayin', Sing us ane o' the sangs o' Zion.

4 Howe sall we sing the Lord's sang in ane fremet lan'?

5 Gif I forgete thee, O Jerusalem, let my richt han' forgete hir ingyne.

6 Gif I dinna remembir thee, let my tung cleefe til the ruff o' my mooth ; gif I dinna gie the gree til Jerusalem aboone my cheef joye.

7 Remembir, O Lord, the childer o' Edom in the daye o' Jerusalem ; wha said, Rute up an' destroye it een til the verra fuundatione.

8 O douchter o' Babylon, wha ar til be destroyet, happie wull he be that rewairds ye as ye hae serfet us.

9 Happie sall he be that tak's an' devals thy wee anes agayne the stanes.

CXXXVIII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

I WULL prayse thee wi' my haill hairt ; afore the gods wull I sing prayse untill thee.

2 I wull wurschip gaitwairds thy haly temple, an' prayse thy næme for thy loeinkindniss an' for thy trouth ; for thou hest mæde grit thy wurd aboone a' thy næme.

3 In the daye whan I cryet thou didist answir me, an' didist strencthen me wi' pithe in my saul.

4 A' the kings o' the yirth sall prayse thee, O Lord, whan thaye hæer the wurd o' thy mooth.

5 Yis, thaye sall sing in the wayes o' the Lord ; for grit is the glorie o' the Lord.

6 Thouch the Lord be hie, natheless heth he respeck untill the lawlie ; but the pround he kens afer aff.

7 Thouch I wauk in the middle o' truble, thou wult reveeve me : thou sallt streek owt thine han' agayne the wræth o' mine enimies, an' thy richt han' sall saufe me.

8 The Lord wull mak' perfite that whilk belongs me ; thy mercie, O Lord, induurs forëvir ; forhowena the warks o' thine ain han's.

CXXXIX.

¶ Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

O LORD, thou hest pryet clooslie intil me, an' kennet me.

2 Thou kennist my sittin' doun an' my ræisin' up ; thou understan'ist my thoughts afer aff.

3 Thou art roun' me, an' syftist my peth an' my lyin' doun, an' art acquaint wi' a' my wayes.

4 For ther isna ane wurd in my tung, but lo, O Lord, thou kennist it a'thegither.

5 Thou hest besett me ahint an' afore, an' layde thine han' on me.

6 Sic wætin' is ower wunderfu' for me; it is hie, I canna at-teen til't.

7 Whuther sall I gae frae thy Speerit? or whuther sall I flie frae thy presince?

8 Gif I ascen' up intil heæven, thou art ther; gif I mak' my bed in hell, behald, thou art ther.

9 Shude I tak' the wings o' the moornin', an' dwall in the maist owtbye pairts o' the se;

10 Een ther sall thy han' leede me, an' thy richt han' sall haud me.

11 Gif I say, Shurelie the mirk sall kiver me; een the nicht sall be licht about me.

12 Trewelie the mirkieniss hydesna frae thee: but the nicht shynes as the daye; the derkniss an' the licht ar baith alike til thee.

13 For thou hest hauden my reens: thou hest kiveret me in my mither's wome.

14 I wull prayse thee; for I am feærfullie an' wunderfullie mæde: mervellous ar thy warks, an' that my saul kens richt weel.

15 My substince wasna hidden frae thee whan I was mæde in seceret, an' queerlie wroucht in the leachist pairts o' the yirth.

16 Thine eyne did see my substince, bein' yit imperfite; an'
in thy buik a' my membirs wer writ, whilk on an' on wer fashanet, whan as yit ther was nane o' thame.

17 Howe pracious alsua ar thy thoughts untill me, O God!
howe grit is the amunt o' thame!

18 Gif I shude count thame, thaye ar mair in nummer nor the san': whan I awauken, I am still wi' thee.

19 Shurelie thou wult sleye the wicket, O God: be aff frae me, therfor, ye bluidie men.

20 For thaye speik agayne thee wicketlie, an' thine enimies tak' thy næme in vaine.

21 Dinna I hæte thame, O Lord, that hæte thee? an' amna I greifet wi' thame that ræisc up agayne thee?

22 I hæte thame wi' ane perfite hæteret; I count thame mine enimies.

23 Seerch me, O God, an' ken my hairt; trie me, an' ken my thoughts;

24 An' see gif ther be onie wicket waye in me, an' leede me in the waye evirlestin'.

CXL.

† Til the chief musicien, Ane Psalm o' David.

DELIFER me, O Lord, frae the ill man: preserfe me frae the man o' violence;

2 Whilk imagin mischeefs in thair hairt: for weir continwallie ar thaye getheret thegither.

3 Thaye hae sherpenet thair tungs like ane serpint; eddarts' venom is anunder thair lipps. Selah.

4 Keepe me, O Lord, frae the han's o' the wicket; preserfe me frae the violent man, wha hae determinet til owerthraw my gaein's.

5 The pruid hae sete hiddlinslie ane girn for me, an' coords: thaye hae spreæde ane nett bie the wayesyde; girns hae thaye sete for me. Selah.

6 I said untill the Lord, Thou art my God; O Lord, heær the voyce o' my supplicationes.

7 O God the Lord, the strenth o' my salvatione, thou hest kiveret my heæd in the daye o' battel.

8 Dinna gie, O Lord, the wicket his wushes; furderna his wicket contræivence, in kase thaye eksalt thamesel's. Selah.

9 As for the heæd o' thae that sete thamesel's roun' about me, let the mischeef o' thair ain lipps kiver thame.

10 Let kinlie cools fa' apoun thame: let thame be thrawn intil the fire; intil deepe pitts, that thaye ræisena up agayne.

11 Letna ane ill speiker be mæde siccer in the yirth; ill sall hunt the violent man til owerthraw him.

12 I ken that the Lord wull manteen the caus o' the afflicket, an' the richt o' the puir.

13 Shurelie the richteous sall gie thanks untill thy næme; the upright sall dwell in thy presince.

CXLI.

† Ane Psalm o' David.

LORD, I crye untill thee; mak' hæste untill me; gie eær untill my voyce whan I crye untill thee.

2 Let my præyer be gatelins afore thee as insense; an' the liftin' up o' my han's as the eenin' saacrifice.

3 Sete ane watche, O Lord, afore my mooth; keepe the dor o' my lipps.

4 Inclæinena my hairt til onie ill thing, til carrie foret wicket warks wi' men that wurk inequitie; an' letna me eet o' thair dainteths.

5 Let the richteous smite me, it sall be ta'en as kin'; an' let him reprove me, it sall be as ane eksellent oolie, whilk sallna brik my heäd; for yit my præyer alsua sall be in thair wandrethes.

6 Whan thair juudges ar owerthrown in stanie plices, thaye sall hear my wurd; for thaye ar sweet.

7 Our banes ar skatteret at the mooth o' the graffe, as whan ane hags an' cleefes wud apun the yirth.

8 But mine eyne ar gaitwairds thee, O God the Lord; in thee is my trust; leefena my saul destituut.

9 Keepe me frae the wyles whilk thaye hae layde for me, an' the girns o' the wurkers o' inequitie.

10 Let the wicket fa' in thair ain nette, quhile I wutha' gang free.

CXLII.

† Maschil o' David; Ane præyer whan he was in the cave.

I CRYET untill the Lord wi' my voyce; wi' my voyce untill the Lord did I mak' my supplicatione.

2 I teemet out my meane afore him; I shawet him my truble.

3 Whan my speerit was owerwhalnet wuthin me, than thou didist ken my peth; in the waye wharein I gaed hae thaye previlie layde ane trapp for me.

4 I luiket on my richt han', an' coud see; but ther was nae man that wad ken me: remeid fæilet me: nae man caret for my saul.

5 I cryet untill thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my refege, an' my portione in the lan' o' the leivin'.

6 Tak' tent untill my crye, for I am brung verra leuch; delifer me frae my persikuters, for thaye ar stranger nor me.

7 Bring my saul owt o' prisen, that I may prayse thy nàme: the richteous sall be roun' about me; for thou sallt deel buntifullie wi' me.

CXLIII.

¶ Ane Psalm o' David.

HEÆR my præyer, O Lord; gie eær untill my supplicationes: in thy faithfu'niss answir me, an' in thy richteousniss.

2 An' entirna intil juudgemint wi' thy servent; for in thy sicht sall nae man leivin' be justifiet.

3 For the enimie hæ s persikutet my saul; he hæ smitet my liffe down til the grund: he hæ s mæde me til dwall in mirkniss, as thae that hæ lang been deæd.

4 Therfor is my speerit owerwhalmet wuthin me; my hairt wuthin me is waefu' an' lane.

5 I remembir the dayes o' auld: I dwall in series thought on a' thy warks: I muuse on the wark o' thy han's.

6 I streek furth my han's untill thee: my saul thrists efter thee as ane thristie lan'. Selah.

7 Heær me swuiftlie, O Lord; my speerit fæils: hydena thy fece frae me, in kase I be like untill thame that gae down intil the pitt.

8 Caus me til heær thy loeinkindniss in the moornin'; for in thee do I trust: caus me til ken the waye in whilk I shude wauk; for I lift up my saul untill thee.

9 Delifer me, O Lord, frae mine enimies: I flie untill thee til hyde me.

10 Teech me til do thy wull, for thou art my God: thy speerit is guid; leede me intil the lan' o' uprichtniss.

11 Quikan me, O Lord, for thy nàme's sak'; for sak' o' thy richteousniss bring my saul owt o' truble.

12 An' o' thy mercie sneg aff mine enimies, an' destroye a' thame that afflick my saul; for I am thy servent.

CXLIV.

† Ane Psalm o' David.

BLISSET be the Lord my strenth, whilk teeches my han's til mak' weir, an' my fingirs til ficht.

2 My guidniss, an' my reive; my hie towir, an' my deliferer;
my sheeld, an' he in wham I trust: wha brings doun my peeples anunder me.

3 Lord, what is man, that thou takist wætin o' him! or the son o' man, that thou o' him takist account!

4 Man is like til vaintie; his dayes ar as ane skaddaw that eelies awa.

5 Ben' thy heævens, O Lord, an' cum doun; tuch the mountains, that thaye may reek.

6 Thraw owt lichtenin', an' skatter thame; schuut owt thine arras, an' destroye thame.

7 Sen' thine han' frae aboone; rede me, an' delifer me owt o' grit waters, frae the han' o' fremet childer.

8 Whase mooth speiks vaintie; an' thair richt han' is ane richt han' o' fausehuud.

9 I wull sing ane newe sang untill thee, O God; apoun ane psalterie, an' ane instriment o' ten strings, wull I sing prayse untill thee.

10 It is he that gies salvatione untill kings; wha delifers David his servent frae the skaithfu' sword.

11 Rede me, an' delifer me frae the han' o' fremet childer; whase moath speiks vaintie, an' thair richt han' is ane richt han' o' fausehuud.

12 That our sons may be as plants growne up in thair youdith; that our douchters may be as nuik-stanes, polishet efter the likeniss o' ane pælice.

13 That our girnalls may be fu', affuridin' a' kinkind o' provendir; that our sheepe may bring furth thousan's an' ten thousan's in our throwegangs;

14 That our owsen may be strang til laabor; that ther be nae brikin' in nar gaein' owt; that in our throwegangs ther be nae compleenin'.

15 Happie is that peeples that is in sic ane kase; yis, happie is that peeples whase God is the Lord.

CXLV.

¶ David's Psalm o' prayse.

I WULL ekstol thee, my God, O King; an' I wull bliss thy næme forever an' evir.

2 Ilka daye wull I bliss thee; an' forever an' evir wull I prayse thy næme.

3 Grit is the Lord, an' gritlie til be prayset; an' his gritniss nane can seik an' fin' owt.

4 Ae ganæratian sall prayse thy warks til anither, an' speik furth thy michtie deeds.

5 I wull speik o' the glorious honor o' thy magistie, an' o' thy wunderfu' warks.

6 An' men sall speik o' the micht o' thy terrabil aks; an' thy gritniss wull I declare.

7 Thaye sall abundintlie utter the memirie o' thy grit guidniss, an' sall sing o' thy richteousniss.

8 The Lord is gracious an' fu' o' tendir pitie; slaw til angir, an' o' grit mercie.

9 The Lord is guid til a'; an' his tendir-mercie is ower a' his warks.

10 A' thy warks sall prayse thee, O Lord; an' thy saunts sall bliss thee.

11 Thaye sall speik o' the glorie o' thy kingdom, an' tauk o' thy powir.

12 Til mak' kennet til the childer o' men his michtie aks, an'
the glorious magistie o' his kingdom.

13 Thy kingdom is ane evirlestin' kingdom, an' thy dominione induurs throweowt a' ganæratians.

14 The Lord uphauds a' that fa', an' ræises up a' thae that be bowet down.

15 The eyne o' a' waite apon thee, an' thou gieist thame thair meæt in due seesen.

16 Thou opinist thy han', an' satisfieist the langin' o' ilka leivin' thing.

17 The Lord is richteous in a' his wayes, an' haly in a' his warks.

18 The Lord is nie til a' thame that ca' apon him, til a' that ca' apon him in trouth.

19 He wull fu'fill the desyre o' thame that fæer him: he wull hæer thair crye, an' saufe thame.

20 The Lord preserfes a' thame that loe him; but a' the wicket wull he destroye.

21 My mooth sall speik the prayse o' the Lord; an' let a' flesch bliss his haly næme forevir an' evir.

CXLVI.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. Prayse the Lord, O my saul.

2 While I leive wull I prayse the Lord: I wull sing prayses untill my God while I hae onie bein'.

3 Pitna your trust in athils, nar in the son o' man, in wham ther is nae helpe.

4 His breæth gaes owt, he turns til his ain mool; in that verra daye his thoughts perrishe.

5 Happie is he wha hæs the God o' Jacob for his helpe, whase houpe is in the Lord his God.

6 Whilk mæde heæven an' yirth, the se an' a' that therin is; whilk keepes trouth forevir.

7 Whilk exikutes juudgemint for the oppresset; whilk gies fude til the hungirie. The Lord lowses the prisenirs:

8 The Lord opins the eyne o' the blin': the Lord ræises thame that ar bowet down: the Lord loes the richteous:

9 The Lord preserfes the fremet; he releifes the faetherliss an' wedaw; but the waye o' the wicket he turns upsyde down.

10 The Lord sall ring forevir, een thy God, O Zion, untill a' ganæratians. Prayse ye the Lord.

CXLVII.

PRAYSE ye the Lord: for it is guid til sing prayses untill our God; for it is pleesint, an' prayse is bonnie.

2 The Lord deth bigg up Jerusalem, he gethers thegither the owt-casen o' Israel.

3 He hæles the brokin o' hairt, an' bin's up thair wuunds.

4 He tells the nummer o' the sterner; he ca's thame a' bie thair næmes.

5 Grit is our Lord, an' o' grit powir; his understan'in' is infinite.

6 The Lord lifts up the meik : he dings the wicket down til the gruund.

7 Sing untill the Lord wi' thanksgiein' ; sing prayse apon the herp untill our God ;

8 Wha kivers the heàven wi' cluds, wha prepairs raine for the yirth, wha mak's gerse til growe apon the mountans.

9 He gies til the beàst his fude, an' til the yung corbies whilk crye.

10 He delichtsna in the strenth o' the hors ; he taksna pleesur in the shanks o' ane man.

11 The Lord tak's pleesur in thame that fear him, in thae that houpe in his mercie.

12 Prayse the Lord, O Jerusalem ; prayse thy God, O Zion :

13 For he heth strencthenet the bars o' thy yettes ; he heth blisset thy childer wuthin thee.

14 He mak's peece in thy boordirs, an' fills thee wi' the fyneist o' the wheet.

15 He sen's furth his commandement apon yirth ; his wurd rins verra swufflie.

16 He gies snaw like woo', he skatters the haar-frost like assis.

17 He thraws furth his ice like morsils ; afore his cauld wha can stan' ?

18 He sen's owt his wurd an' melts thame : he gars his wund blaw, an' the waters fleet.

19 He shaws his wurd untill Jacob, his staatutes an' his juudge-mints til Israel.

20 He hæsna deelt sae wi' onie ither natione ; an' as for his juudgemints, thaye haena kennet thame. Prayse ye the Lord.

CXLVIII.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. Prayse the Lord frae the heàvens ; prayse him in the heichts.

2 Prayse him, a' his angils ; prayse him, a' his hosts.

3 Prayse him, sun an' muun ; prayse him, a' ye sterns o' licht.

4 Prayse him, ye heàvens o' heàvens, an' ye waters that be aboone the heàvens.

5 Let thame prayse the nàme o' the Lord ; for he commandet, an' thaye wer createt.

6 He hæ s alsua set thame siccer forevir an' evir ; he hæ s mæde ane decrie whilk sallna passe awa.

7 Prayse the Lord frae the yirth, ye drægans, an' a' deepes :

8 Fire an' hail ; snaw an' rouk ; stormie wund fu'fillin' his wurd.

9 Mountans, an' a' hills ; frutefu' tries, an' a' cedars :

10 Beæsts, an' a' kattel ; creepin' things, an' fleecin' fowlis :

11 Kings o' the yirth, an' a' peeple ; prinses, an' juudges o' the yirth :

12 Baith yung men an' maidins, auld men an' childer :

13 Let thame prayse the næme o' the Lord : for his næme alane is eksellent ; his glorie is aboone the yirth an' heæven.

14 He alsua ræises up the hoorn o' his peeple, the prayse o' a' his saunts ; e'en o' the childer o' Israel, ane peeple nær untill him. Prayse ye the Lord.

CXLIX.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. Sing untill the Lord ane newe sang, an' his prayse in the congregacione o' saunts.

2 Let Israel rejoyce in him that mæde him ; let the childer o' Zion be joyfu' in thair King.

3 Let thame prayse his næme in the danse ; let thame sing prayses untill him wi' the timbril an' herp.

4 For the Lord tak's pleesur in his peeple : he wull mak' the meik bonnie wi' salvatione.

5 Let the saunts be joyfu' in glorie ; let thame sing aluud apoun thair beds.

6 Let the hie prayses o' God be in thair mooth, an' ane twadget sword in thair han' ;

7 Til exikute vantage apoun the heæthin, an' punishmint apoun the peeple ;

8 Til bin' thair kings wi' cheens, an' thair riolyse wi' fettirs o' ern ;

9 Til exikute apoun thame the juudgemint writ : this honor hæ a' his saunts. Prayse ye the Lord.

CL.

PRAYSE ye the Lord. Prayse God in the sanctuarie; prayse him in the firmement o' his powir.

2 Prayse him for his michtie aks; prayse him akordin' til his eksellent gritniss.

3 Prayse him wi' the suund o' the trumpit; prayse him wi' the psalterie an' herp.

4 Prayse him wi' the timberel an' danse. Prayse him wi' the stringet instriments an' organs.

5 Prayse him apon the luud symbels; prayse him apon the heich-suundin' symbels.

6 Let ilka thing that heth breæth prayse the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

Of this volume we certify that only Two Hundred and Fifty Copies were printed, including one on thick paper.

ROBSON, LEVEY, AND FRANKLYN.

LONDON:

PRINTED BY ROBSON, LEVEY, AND FRANKLYN, Great New Street and Petter Lane.

BS198 .D5S42

The book of Psalms in lowland Scotch

Princeton Theological Seminary-Speer Library

1 1012 00053 7177