

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ADVERTISEMENT.

AFTER the Author had written most of the Sacred Songs contained in the following pages, it was not his intention to say any thing to recommend them to the notice of the public ; but, upon mature deliberation he now thinks it right to state,

1st.—That all the Sacred Songs contained in this Version are his own composition, taken from the Psalms of David, and after the example of the late Venerable and truly pious Dr. Watts, “ Imitated in the language of the New Testament.”

2nd.—It contains a far greater variety of Musical measures than any other Book of the kind he has yet seen in the English language.

3rd.—To render the work still more complete, he has composed an entire NEW SET of the CHRISTIAN’S DOXOLOGIES (21 in number) adapted to the various Metres.

The Author makes no apology for this Publication. If it may be in any degree useful in promoting the glory of God, and the good of hī people, his highest wishes will be realized.

In the sincerity of his heart he has done what he could—Let those who can do better.

“What is there necessary for men to know, which the Psalms are not able to teach? They are to beginners an easy and familiar introduction—a mighty augmentation of all virtue and knowledge, in such as entered before;—a strong confirmation to the most perfect among others. Heroical magnanimity, exquisite justice, grave moderation, exact wisdom, repentance unfeigned, unwearied patience, the mysteries of God, the sufferings of Christ, the terrors of wrath, the comforts of grace, the works of providence over this world, and the promised joys of that which is to come; all good necessary to be either known or done, or had this one celestial fountain yieldeth. Let there be any grief or disease incident to the soul of man—any wound or sickness named for which there is not in this treasure-house a present comfortable remedy at all times ready to be found.”

PSALM I.

1st VERSION, four 8's & two 6's.

• Happiness of the Godly, and the Unhappiness of the Ungodly.—Tune, St. John.

I.

How happy every Saint of God
Who shuns the counsel and the road
Of the ungodly here ;
Avoids the sinner's way with care,
Nor sitteth in the scorner's chair,
But serves the Lord with fear.

II.

Jehovah's law of life and love,
With all his heart he does approve,
This, this is his delight ;
He reads the sacred page with care,
And faith, and hope, and fervent prayer,
His business day and night.

III.

Like to a tree he grows apace,
By living streams of Gospel grace
His branches strong and fair ;

His leaf shall neither fade nor die,
 His boughs shoot upwards to the sky,
 And heav'nly fruit shall bear.

IV.

But the ungodly are not so,
 Like chaff they are driven to and fro
 Before the sweeping blast;
 *They in the judgment shall not stand
 With righteous souls at God's right hand,
 But down to hell be cast.

— o —

PSALM I.

2nd VERSION.—C. M. D.

I.

How happy ev'ry pious man
 Who walketh not astray
 With the ungodly and profane,
 But shuns the sinner's way.
 He dares not with blasphemers walk,
 Lest he their guilt should share;
 His soul abhors their idle talk
 Who fill the scorner's chair.

II.

But in the statutes of the Lord,
 He ever takes delight;
 He reads by day the sacred word,
 And thinks and prays by night.
 Like to a tree he grows apace,
 His branches strong and fair,
 And fed by streams of Gospel grace,
 He holy fruit shall bear.

* Matt. xxxv, 46.

III.

The Lord shall prosper all he doth,
 Th' ungodly are not so,
 They like the chaff or empty froth,
 Are driven to and fro ;
 For known to God is all our race,
 The hearts of all he'll try,
 And all who slight his offer'd grace,
 In sin shall surely die.

PSALM II.—L. M

A Prophecy fulfilled in the Person of our Blessed Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

I.

WHY do the heathen storm and rage
 Against Jehovah on his throne ?
 Wherefore do Jews and Greeks engage
 To kill the Lord's anointed Son ?

II.

Kings of the earth themselves have set,
 And princes of the world agree
 To oppose the Lord enthron'd in state,
 And slay th' incarnate Deity !

III.

How foolish and how blind are they
 Who converse and determine thus ;
 "Come, let us break their bands," they say,
 "And cast away their cords from us."

* Isa. vii, 14. ix, 6.—Matt. i, 23.—Mark ix, 31, 34.—Luke xv, 14.—Acts iv, 25, &c.

IV.

But God, who sits in heav'n so high,
Shall all their wrath and spite deride ;
Their words and them he will defy,
And laugh to scorn their furious pride.

V.

Surely Jehovah shall perplex,
And grieve their hearts and minds full so
In hot displeasure he shall vex,
And wound their spirits more and more.

VI.

“ My King, (he says,) on Zion's hill
Shall reign and most securely sit ;
My cov'nant word I must fulfil,
To him shall earth and hell submit.”

VII.

I will declare through all the earth,
My firm unchanging high decree ;
Thou art my Son of royal birth,
This day have I begotten thee.

VIII.

Ask me, my Son, I'll give to thee
What'er thou shalt of me request ;
Gentile and Jew, and bond and free,
By thee shall surely be possess'd.

IX.

Them thou shalt break with iron rod,
Who dare thy sovereign will withstand ;
As potters vessels, thou O God
Shalt dash them from thy mighty hand.

X.

Therefore be wise ye judges all,
Ye kings embrace your Lord to-day ;

Lest he be angry, and ye fall,
And perish quickly from the way.

XI.

Worship the Lord with filial fear,
With rev'rent awe his name adore ;
Right humbly to his throne draw near,
And triumph in his saving pow'r.

XII.

Blessed are all in him that trust,
And on his merits now rely ;
Soon they shall join the heav'nly host,
And sing his love above the sky.

PSALM III.—L. M.

God the Comforter of a Persecuted and Afflicted Saint.

I.

JESUS behold my foes increase,
That vex my soul, that break my peace ;
Their numbers rise that trouble me,
They say I have no hope in thee.

II.

But thou my shield and glory art,
Thy word of promise cheers my heart ;
To thee I look for constant aid,
Thou liftest up my sinking head.

III.

When to my God with heart and voice
I cried, and made his word my choice ;
My soul's desire he did fulfil,
And heard me from his holy hill.

IV.

I laid me down and slept secure,
 Clasp'd in his arms of love and powe
 And here forever I'll remain,
 He ever will my soul sustain.

PSALM IV.—ALL 8's.

Jehovah our righteousness.—Jer. xxiii.

I.

O GOD of my righteousness hear,
 Whene'er for thy blessing I call,
 O Jesus in mercy appear,
 My helper, my Saviour, my all ;
 Fulfil thy most merciful word,
 My soul with thy spirit inspire,
 O never forsake me my Lord,
 Thy presence is all I desire.

II.

While those who believe not, nor pre
 Are vainly enquiring for good,
 Forgetting their Maker each day,
 Who gives them their health and th
 My language shali constantly be,
 Shew me thy salvation O Lord,
 Let me thy blest countenance see,
 And all thy rich mercy record.

III.

My soul I commit to thy care,
 For thou wilt in safety me keep,
 My Saviour for ever is near,
 His eyes never slumber nor sleep ;

He never will from me depart,
On whom I for all things depend,
His throne is set up in my heart,
His kingdom that never shall end.

— o —

PSALM V —s. m.

For the Lord's Day Morning.

I.

GIVE ear to me, O God,
In Jesus name I call,
Fulfil my heart's desire O Lord,
Be thou my all in all.

II.

Before the dawn of day,
I lift my soul to thee,
Answer me, Father, when I pray,
Keep me from evil free.

III.

Unto thy temple, I
Will with thy saints repair,
And Father, Abba Father, cry,
In humble love and fear.

IV.

From sin my feet restrain,
Instruct me in thy ways,
Make ev'ry path of duty plain,
And straight before my face.

PSALM VI.

1st VERSION, 6 Lines, all 8's.

I.

REBUKE me not in wrath, O God,
 Nor in displeasure me chastise,
 I groan beneath thy chast'ning rod,
 And lift to heav'n my longing eyes ;
 *Slay, if thou wilt, in thee I'll trust,
 Assur'd my God is good and just.

II.

Mine eyesight fails through pains and fear
 While all my foes are whole and strong,
 My couch I water with my tears,
 And cry to thee the whole night long ;
 Lord bid my sins and fears depart,
 Take thou and keep my willing heart.

III.

Now, now, in my behalf awake,
 Increase my faith, confirm my hope,
 O save me for thy mercies sake,
 Let thy salvation lift me up ;
 As death can ne'er thy praise proclaim,
 Spare me, my God, to bless thy name.

IV.

The Lord hath heard my humble prayer,
 The Lord will put my foes to shame,
 The Lord doth for his servant care,
 Let ev'ry creature bless his name.
 Each humble soul will he defend,
 From age to age, till time shall end.

* Job xiii, 15.

PSALM VI.

2nd VERSION, 4 Lines, all 7's.

TUNE—MOUNT HERMON.

I.

LORD in wrath rebuke me not,
 Nor chastise in anger hot ;
 Pity show, for I am weak,
 Heal a sinner faint and sick.

II.

Vex'd in soul from day to day,
 At thy feet I weep and pray ;
 Haste to heal my broken heart,
 Bid my sins and fears depart.

III.

Can thy creatures in the grave,
 Of thy name remembrance have ?
 How can dust give thanks to thee ?
 How can worms thy glory see ?

IV.

All night long I sigh, I groan,
 Saviour hear me make my moan ;
 See my couch bedew'd with tears,
 Know my pains, and griefs, and fears.

V.

Grief consumes my heart and eyes,
 Cruel foes against me rise :
 Now in this thy gospel day,
 Bid them all depart I pray.

VI.

Jesus ! be thy name rever'd,
 Thou my weeping voice hast heard ;
 Thou from sin hast set me free,
 Thou art all in all to me.

PSALM VII.—c. m.

Prayer.

I.

O GOD, my Saviour, brother, friend,
My help is laid on thee ;
Rise, and my feeble soul defend,
From danger set me free.

II.

Jesus in thee, in thee alone
I all my hopes repose,
Send now deliverance from thy throne
Now rid me of my foes.

III.

Lest Satan as a lion make
My feeble soul his prey,
Into thine arms of mercy take
And keep me night and day.

IV.

O let the wicked's malice end,
But 'stablish thou the just,
Who on thy love and power depend,
And in thy merits trust.

V.

In God the just, ye saints rejoice
With me, in joyful strains ;
Praise ye his name with heart and voice
Who o'er the nations reigns.

PSALM VIII.

8 LINES, 7's AND 6's.

It's glory manifested by his works, and by his love to mankind.—TUNE.—KINGSWOOD.

I.

LORD, our Lord, how excellent,
Is thy exalted name ;
O'er the spacious earth's extent,
And o'er heav'n's starry frame.
BABES and sucklings lisp thy praise,
Strength for them thou dost ordain,
THEY in heaven shall see thy face,
And with their Saviour reign.

II.

WHEN thy wond'rous works we view,
In earth, and sea, and sky,
SUN and moon of shining hue,
And stars in heav'n so high,
WHAT is man or all his race,
Fallen creatures here below,
THAT thy sov'reign gospel grace,
So free to all should flow ?

III.

BUT a little lower, thou
DID'ST man at first create,
THAN the angels just and true,
WHOM kept their first estate.
HIM with glory did'st thou crown,
AS thy majesty saw meet ;
ALL thy works below the sun,
WERE put beneath his feet.

IV.

Fowls, and worms, and beasts, and sheep,
 And fishes of the sea,
 All that passeth through the deep,
 He ruled Lord for thee.
 Lord, our Lord, how excellent,
 O how wond'rous is thy name ;
 Let creation's wide extent,
 Thy power and love proclaim.

PSALM IX.—S. M.

Praise to God for his goodness and justice.

TUNE.—WORWORTH.

I.

I'LL praise thee O my Lord,
 With all my heart and soul,
 Thy truth and justice I'll record,
 As years and minutes roll.

II.

My right dost thou maintain,
 And plead thy servant's cause,
 High on thy throne thou shalt remain,
 T' enforce thy righteous laws.

III.

The proud thou wilt rebuke,
 And all their works destroy,
 Their names thou blottest from thy book,
 They ne'er shall taste thy joy.

IV.

But all that know thy name,
 Will trust in thee the Lord ;

They never shall be put to shame,
Whose hope is in thy word.

V.

The Lord our God is known,
By all his judgments just ;
Let ev'ry saint his justice own,
And in his mercy trust.

PSALM X.

TUNE—SANDWICH.

I.

WHY Saviour full of truth and grace,
Dost thou stand off so far ?
Why hidest thou thy smiling face,
When times so griev'ous are ?

II.

Proud sinners now in per'lous times,
Would make the poor their prey ;
O let them fall by those designs,
Which they for others lay.

III.

Maintain thy right o'er earth and hell,
Display thy working hand ;
Evil of ev'ry kind expel
From this thy chosen land.

IV.

Surely thou wilt regard the prayer
Of humble mourners all,
Who cast on thee their ev'ry care,
And for thy mercy call.

V.

Judge thou the friendless poor, O Lord,
Plead thou their righteous cause,
Who love thy worship and thy word,
And strive to keep thy laws.

PSALM XI.—c. m.

I.

I PUT my trust in Christ the Lord,
Why then should sinners still Say to my soul, "fly as a bird
To yonder distant hill."

II.

For lo the wicked bend their bow,
Their shafts on strings they fit,
That upright Christians here below,
They privately may hit.

III.

If the foundations be o'erthrown,
Are righteous souls to blame?
Jehovah on his lofty throne,
Forever is the same.

IV.

His eye surveys the human race,
The hearts of all he'll prove;
And punish men who slight his grace,
And disregard his love.

V.

Brimstone and fire to burn them up,
On sinners he shall rain;
This as the portion of their cup,
Doth unto them pertain.

VI.

But Jesus doth and ever will,
 In righteous souls delight ;
 With pleasant countenance he still
 Beholdeth the upright.

PSALM XII.

Six Lines, all 8's.

The Saint's hope and security in Evil Times.

I.

HELP Lord, to thee for help I cry,
 A godly man can scarce be found ;
 The wicked sons of vanity,
 Spread their contagion all around ;
 Throughout the land religion fails,
 And vice o'er all the earth prevails.

II.

With double heart and flatt'ring tongue,
 Each seeks his neighbour to deceive ;
 They 're set on mischief all day long,
 Thy word of truth they disbelieve :
 But haughty souls that mock and scoff,
 Thou Lord in anger shalt cut off.

III.

Their tongues and lips with strife are full,
 " And are not these our own ?" say they
 " No lordly power shall disannul,
 What we shall either do or say ;
 Our will shall be our only rule,
 We must be right in heart and soul."

IV.

But God most holy, just, and wise,
Beholds th' oppressor and th' oppres'd ;
For all his saints he will arise,
And give his suffering people rest :
When e'er in faith to God they cry,
God is their helper ever nigh.

VII.

" I will arise, Jehovah saith,
And vindicate my peoples cause ;
I'll free them from the tyrant's wrath,
Who fear my name and keep my laws ;
My faithful saints I will defend,
From age to age, till time shall end "

VI.

Lord, we believe thy promise sure,
Thou wilt thy people safely guide ;
Right'ous are all thy words, and pure
As silver in the furnace tried ;
Mercy and truth are all thy ways,
To thee alone be endless praise.

PSALM XIII.—S. M.

Longing for Christ.

I.

How long wilt thou forget
Thy feeble servant Lord ?
Canst thou withhold thy mercy yet,
From one who trusts thy word.

II.

Come gracious God with speed,
 No more conceal thy face,
 From one who stands so much in need
 Of thy reviving grace.

III.

When'er to thee I pray,
 Attend to my complaint,
 Mark what my falt'ring lips would say,
 And grant me all I want.

IV.

Saviour from sin's remains,
 My fallen soul restore ;
 Break thou my bonds, unloose my chains,
 And bid me sin no more.

PSALM XIV.—4 lines, all 10's.

The General Corruption of Mankind.

I.

SOULS in their hearts presumptuously say,
 There is no God, 'tis vain to praise or pray ;
 It's eat and drink, and curse, and swear and lie,
 For life is short, to-morrow we may die.

II.

Howah looked down from heaven to see
 There was one who fear'd his Majesty ;
 At ev'ry human soul had gone astray,
 Corrupted, all had left fair virtue's way.

III.

God of love ! thy cov'nant word fulfil,

PSALM XV.—4 lines all 7's.

If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments
Matt. xix. 17.

I.

Who shall dwell in heav'n with thee,
Saviour, and thy glory see?
Who shall be accounted meet,
There to worship at thy feet?

II.

He alone thy word declares,
Who on earth thine image bears;
*All the pure in heart and hands,
All who practise thy commands.

III.

They who walk not in disguise,
They who hate deceit and lies,
They who give to all their due,
They whose hearts are form'd anew.

IV.

Cleans'd from sin by blood divine,
Here they in thy likeness shine;
Now by faith thy face they see,
Soon they'll dwell in heaven with thee.

* Matt. v. 8.

PSALM XVI.

1st PART.—S. M.

A Prayer for preservation from evil.

TUNE.—NEWCASTLE.

I.

PRESERVE me O my God,
 For in thy word I trust ;
 My soul hath said that thou, O Lord,
 Art holy, good, and just.

II.

I'll hope in thee alone,
 Thee only will I praise,
 And daily supplicate thy throne,
 For thy preserving grace.

III.

My refuge and my hope,
 My all in all thou art ;
 My lot, the portion of my cup,
 And strength'ner of my heart.

IV.

Thy word to me is sweet,
 And doth my heart engage ;
 Thy promises, both good and great
 Are my blest heritage.

—o—

PSALM XVI.

2ND PART.—S. M.

Man's goodness extends not to God.

I.

THE good which here I do,
 Extends not Lord to thee ;

But to thy saints on earth below,
Probationers with me.

II.

Though sinners can despise,
And treat them with disdain ;
They stand accepted in thine eyes,
And they with thee shall reign.

III.

In them I take delight,
They are my brethren all ;
Within thy courts, before thy sight,
By pray'r on thee we call.

PSALM XVI.

3RD PART.—C. M.

The Believer's Triumph over Death, Hell, and Grave. TUNE—OLD WINDSOR.

I.

THEE, O my God, I ever set
Before my wond'ring eyes ;
Thy promise never failed yet,
On which my faith relies.

II.

'Tis this that bears my courage up,
And makes my bones rejoice ;
My flesh shall also rest in hope,
To hear thy quick'ning voice.

III.

*As Christ the Lord, thine only Son,
Has fully kept thy law ;

*Acts ii. 25, 26, 27.

Since Jesus, thy most holy one,
Corruption never saw,

IV.

The path of life thou surely wilt
To all thy saints reveal ;
For them the Saviour's blood was spilt,
Thy pard'ning love to seal.

PSALM XVII.

1ST PART.—Eight Lines, 7's and 6's

Confidence in God, &c.

TUNE—KINGSWOOD.

I.

HEAR the right, O God, attend
Unto my feeble cry ;
Jesus, Saviour, brother, friend,
Bring thy salvation nigh.
Let my worship, prayer, and praise,
In thy sight accepted be ;
Keep me, keep me, all my days,
From ev'ry evil free.

II.

Let thy piercing eyes behold
What equal is and right ;
Thou who prov'st thy saints as gold,
And triest them in the night :
Search my soul, by grace inclin'd,
All my sins I'd fain confess ;
Keep my heart, and keep my mind,
That I no more transgress.

III.

From the evil works and ways
 Of sinners here below ;
 Keep me by thy mighty grace,
 Me save from ev'ry foe.
 Hold me in my goings all,
 That my feet may never slide ;
 Save me, for in faith I call,
 My God be thou my guide.

IV.

Now incline thy gracious ear,
 And answer while I pray ;
 Now in my behalf appear,
 Thy power and love display :
 Good and kind thou always art,
 To thy saints who trust in thee ;
 *All the pure in life and heart,
 Shall thy salvation see.

PSALM XVII.

2ND PART.—7's and 6's.

A Prayer for Protection and full Salvation.

I.

As the apple of thine eye,
 Keep me, O king of kings ;
 Hide me from ev'ry enemy,
 Beneath thy mighty wings ;
 From the sons of wrath and pride,
 Men who hate thy ways and thee ;
 Hide O Saviour, ever hide,
 Thy ev'ry saint and me.

* Matt. v. 8.

II.

Jesus, come and save thine own,
 From all that them oppress ;
 Cast the proud blasphemers down,
 Till they thy power confess ;
 All their good is here below,
 They no treasure have above ;
) that they at length might know,
 Thy sweet forgiving love.

III.

As for me, I shall behold,
 Thy face in righteousness ;
 Thou from me wilt ne'er withhold,
 The comforts of thy grace :
 Now my soul is satisfied,
 Now by faith thy face I see ;
 Like my Lord, and by his side,
 In glory I shall be.

PSALM XVIII.—L. M

The Christian Soldier.—Tim. i. 18.

I.

EE will I love, O Lord, my power,
 ' shield, my fortress, and my tower ;
 ' rock is Christ, th' Almighty Lord,
 ' horn, my strength, my shield, and sword.

II.

When Satan made my soul afraid,
 ought and found my Saviour's aid ;
 ' prayer came up to Jesus' ears,
 as he did save me from my fears.

III.

In thy salvation Lord I hope,
Thy promise bears my courage up ;
Strong in thy strength, and at thy call,
I'd face a troop, I'd leap a wall.

IV.

By thee my hands instructed are,
And fitted for the holy war ;
When'er thy Spirit's power I feel,
Then I can break a bow of steel.

V.

Thy way is perfect, just, and right,
In all thy saints thou tak'st delight ;
Thy ev'ry word is tried and sure,
Thy throne for ever shall endure.

I.

THE heav'ns declare thy glory Lord,
Each day fulfils thy *Cov'nant word ;
Sun, moon, and stars, thy power proclaim
And night to night confirms the same.

II.

Thou hast appointed for the sun
The circuit where we see him run ;
And all the planets as they move,
Make known thy wisdom, power, and love

III.

O God of might and majesty,
Thy law is perfect, like to thee ;

* Gen. viii. 22.

Thy precepts make the simple wise,
Thy pure commands illumine the eyes.

IV.

Warn'd by thy word from day to day,
I keep thy law, nor from thee stray;
My God in all his works I see,
Better than finest gold to me.

PSALM XX.

1st VERSION, all 7's.

Church and King.

I.

MAY the name of Jacob's Lord
Guard the king from hostile sword;
May Jehovah's gracious ear
All his prayers vouchsafe to hear.

II.

May his God, for ever nigh,
Send him succour from on high,
Wisdom, faith, and love impart,
Strength and comfort to his heart.

III.

In thy strength, Almighty Lord,
We'll obey thy holy word,
While our banners we uprear,
This our prayer shall reach thy ear.

IV.

Some in steeds and chariots trust,
We will think on God most just,
Confident in his defence,
Strong in his Omnipotence.

V.

Then shall Zion's foes cast down,
Thee the Lord triumphant own,
Then the just shall stand upright,
Round thy throne in glory bright.

VI.

Lord preserve thy churches here,
In thy stedfast faith and fear ;
Maker thou alike of all,
Save us, while in faith we call.

PSALM XXI.—L. M.

 A Prayer for the King.*

I.

LET Briton's King in songs of praise,
In thy salvation, Lord, rejoice,
And blest with ev'ry gospel grace,
To thee lift up his heart and voice.

II.

His help is in thyself alone,
O may he on thine arm rely ;
Let truth and grace surround his throne,
Descending from above the sky.

III.

At home, abroad, subdue his foes,
O'erthrow them with thy mighty hand,
Let righteous judgments punish those
That disregard his just command.

IV.

Let WILLIAM be thy constant care,
 Long may he live and reign for thee,
And after death in glory wear
 A crown to all eternity.

PSALM XXII.—C. M.

A Prayer under deep Distress.

TUNE.—WALSAL.

I.

My God, my God, hear thou my cry,
 Whilst to thy throne I flee,
 O condescend to tell me why
 Thou hid'st thy face from me.

II.

Forsake me not, my gracious Lord,
 When I so loudly pray;
 Fulfil the promise of thy word,
 Nor cast my pray'r away.

III.

Jesus, my Saviour, and my God,
 Regard thy helpless dust,
 Though but a worm, or breathing clod,
 In thee alone I trust.

IV.

O save me in this trying hour,
 Then will I praise thy name,
 And sing thy mercy, love, and power,
 Unchangeably the same.

PSALM XXIII.

1st VERSION.—L. M.

Jesus Christ the Good Shepherd.—John x. 11. H
xiii. 20.

I.

JESUS the Lord, my Shepherd is,
 My ev'ry want he will supply ;
 By gentle streams of health and peace,
 In pastures green he makes me lie.

II.

If I through weakness chance to stray,
 He doth my fainting soul restore ;
 He guides me in his righteous way,
 And I his glorious name adore.

III.

When I pass through death's dreary vale,
 The powers of hell I will not fear ;
 When heart and flesh shall faint and fail,
 He shall in my behalf appear.

IV.

Thou art my portion, Lord, and hope,
 My keeper, comforter, and guide ;
 Thy rod and staff shall bear me up,
 Since I in thee alone confide.

V.

A table thou hast richly spread,
 For me in sight of all my foes ;
 With oil thou dost anoint my head,
 My cup with living wine o'erflows.

VI.

Goodness and mercy, peace and love,
 Shall be my portion all my days ;

And in thy glorious house above,
I'll ever dwell to sing thy praise.

PSALM XXIII.

2nd VERSION.—S. M.

I.

MY Shepherd is the Lord,
He shall my wants supply;
In the green pastures of his word,
By streams of grace I lie.

II.

If I through weakness stray,
He doth my conscience wake;
And guides me in his righteous way,
For his name Jesu's sake.

III.

When through death's vale I go,
Saviour, I will not fear;
Thy word and spirit well I know,
Shall be my comfort there.

IV.

In sight of all my foes,
Thou dost my table spread;
My cup with living wine o'erflows,
Thine oil anoints my head.

V.

Thy mercy, power, and love,
Shall keep me all my days;
Nor from thy house will I remove,
Nor cease to sing thy praise.

PSALM XXIV.

1st PART.—L. M.

God's Lordship over this World.

I.

THE earth is all Jehovah's own,
 The world, and they that in it dwell ;
 He sits on his eternal throne,
 And governs all the nations well.

II.

Who shall ascend thy holy hill,
 Great God, and dwell before thy face ?
 The pure in heart who do thy will,
 Whose souls are full of truth and grace.

III.

The man that trusts in thee alone,
 Nor vainly boasts, nor falsely swears ;
 Who worships daily at thy throne,
 And here thy Saviour's image bears.

PSALM XXIV.

2nd PART.—L. M.

Repentance.—Acts xvii. 30.

I.

REPENT, believe, and understand,
 Ye sons of Adam's guilty race ;
 The king of glory gives command,
 To all mankind, in every place.

II.

Who is the king of glory, who ?
 *The Lord who died for me and you ;

* Zech. ix, 9. Luke xix, 38. Matt. ii, 2.

He reigns above, he reigns below,
Let ev'ry knee to Jesus bow.

III.

Repent, believe, forsake your sin,
Let ev'ry heart be open'd wide;
Admit the king of glory in,
And feel his precious blood applied.

IV.

Who is the king of glory, who?
Th' Almighty Lord of earth and heaven;
Jesus shall conquer every foe,
Glory to Jesu's name be given.

PSALM XXV.—T. M.

Prayer and Confidence.

I.

To thee Almighty Lord,
My feeble voice I raise;
I plead thy faithful word,
And humbly ask thy grace;
I make thy word my hope and choice,
And in thy saving strength rejoice.

II.

For none that wait on thee,
Shall e'er be put to shame,
That shall their portion be,
Who do not fear thy name;
But persecute without a cause
The men who love and keep thy laws.

III.

Pardon my sin, O Lord,
 For it is very great ;
 Now let me be restor'd,
 Made holy in thy sight ;
 Wash me, O Saviour, in thy blood,
 And tell me I am born of God.

PSALM XXVI.—L. M.

Prayer, Self Examination, &c.

I.

SEARCH me and try me thoroughly Lord,
 Prove thou my reins, prove thou my heart ;
 Fain would I love and keep thy word,
 Nor from thy righteous ways depart.

II.

Thy loving kindness, all the day,
 I set before my wond'ring eyes,
 And in thy strength urge on my way,
 To heav'n itself, the glorious prize.

III.

Saviour, on me the grace bestow,
 To love and keep thy just commands :
 And e'er I to thine altar go,
 *Wash thou my head, and heart, and hands-

PSALM XXVII.

2nd PART, 8 lines, 7's and 6's.

Pleading with God.

I.

ORD when I cry with my voice,
 ou wilt lend an ear to my prayer,
 thou art my hope and my choice,
 y all I commit to thy care

When thou didst say seek ye my face,
My heart did that instant reply,
I'll seek thee, O God of all grace,
And on thy salvation rely.

II.

O hide not thy merciful face
In anger, nor cast me away,
I need the support of thy grace,
For thou art my strength and my stay.
When parents and friends all forsake,
When all earthly comforts are fled,
Then, then to my succour awake,
And lift up my sorrowful head.

PSALM XXVIII.—L. M.

Prayer.

I.

JESUS, my rock, to thee I fly,
Make haste to help me lest I die;
Thy helpless servant ne'er forget,
Lest I descend into the pit.

II.

Hear thou and answer when I pray,
At morn, at even, or noon-day;
Whene'er I lift my heart to thee,
Saviour, in mercy think on me.

III.

From sinners, and their works and way
Preserve me daily by thy grace,
Nor let me ever joined be
With those who hate thy saints and th

IV.

Deceiv'd themselves in mind and heart,
 They practice sin with guileful art,
 By them weak souls are led astray,
 From virtue's path, from wisdom's way.

V.

O Lord. regard thy peoples' pray'r,
 Who cast on thee their constant care ;
 Be thou their shield who in thee trust,
 Deliverance send to all the just.

VI.

Save thou thy saints, again we pray,
 Who hope in thee from day to day ;
 Feed them forever, lift them up,
 Be thou their comfort, joy, and hope.

PSALM XXIX —4 lines, all 7's.

Exhortation to Princes, &c. to give glory to God.

I.

GIVE unto the Lord most high,
 Glory, strength, and majesty ;
 All ye mighty of the earth,
 All of high and humble birth.

II.

Praise Jehovah, just and true,
 Give to him the glory due ;
 Let your worship ever be
 Beautified with purity

III.

Hark ! he speaks with awful voice,
 Thund'ring with tremendous noise ;

Loud as mighty waters he Speaks to all mankind and me.

IV.

See! he breaks the cedars too,
Oaks and pines before him bow;
Fiercest beasts his word fulfil,
Mountains skip to do his will.

V.

Praise Jehovah, bless his name,
He divides the fiery flame;
He the wilderness doth shake,
Hills and dales before him quake.

VI.

At the voice of God most high,
Hinds do calve, and cattle die;
Jesus rules both earth and air,
Jesus lays the forest bare.

VII.

Jesus in his temple reigns,
Praise his name in joyful strains,
All ye people ev'ry where
Sing his love, his power declare.

VIII.

He who bought us with his blood,
Sits upon the mighty flood;
King he reigns for evermore,
Let the world his name adore.

IX.

Strength he gives to all his saints,
He to them his spirit grants;
Jesus shall his people bless
With his peace and righteousness.

PSALM XXX.—6 lines, 8's.

Thanksgiving Psalm for deliverance from severe affliction.

I.

THEE, O my God will I extol,
For thou hast lifted up my soul ;
'Twas thou thyself did'st bid me live,
All power is thine the world to save
From death, destruction, and the grave,
All glory to thy name I give.

II.

Sing to the Lord, ye saints with me,
Our Saviour's face we soon shall see ;
Our sufferings here shall soon be past,
Though weeping may endure a night,
Joy comes before the morning light,
Redeeming love shall ever last.

III.

In my prosperity I said,
I'll ne'er be mov'd, nor be afraid ;
The Lord had made my hill so strong,
But Jesus hid his face, and I
Fear'd and was troubled grievously,
And wept and pray'd the whole night long.

IV.

I said, O Saviour, just and good,
What profit is there in my blood,
If I descend into the grave ;
Can dust and worms give thanks to thee ?
Or praise thy glorious majesty ?
The living show thy power to save.

V.

Hear thou my prayer, and save me, Lor
 According to thy faithful word,
 In which I confidently trust,
 I shall not die, but live to praise
 My Saviour, full of truth and grace,
 And make his saving strength my boast

PSALM XXXI.—6 lines, all 8's.

God a present help in time of trouble.

I.

BE thou my helper mighty Lord,
 My rock and sure abiding place ;
 My trust is in thy faithful word,
 My strength in thy Almighty grace !
 Whene'er my spirit fails with grief,
 In thee alone I find relief.

II.

I am forgotten, as one dead,
 No creature comfort can I find,
 My former friends from me have fled.
 They cease to bear my soul in mind ;
 I'm like a vessel broken small,
 I bear reproach from one and all.

III.

But still I trust in thee, my Lord,
 My times are in thy sov'reign hands,
 I love thy worship and thy word,
 And practice all thy just commands ;
 Beneath thy wings, O Saviour hide
 My soul from sons of wrath and pride

IV.

Blessed be God, who always shows
 The riches of his grace to me,
 While passing through a world of woes
 My father in his works I see ;
 From lying tongues of great and small
 He saves me when in faith I call.

V.

O love the Lord, all ye his saints,
 Your heart's desire he will fulfil ;
 He hears, and answers the complaints
 Of all who know and do his will ;
 Believe and hope unto the end,
 Your souls he surely will defend.

PSALM XXXII.

1st VERSION, all 7's.—PART I.

I.

HAPPY man, whom Christ the Lord,
 Has forgiv'n, redeem'd, restor'd ;
 His transgressions cover'd o'er,
 God records his guilt no more.

II.

From the power of sin set free,
 Cleans'd from all iniquity ;
 In his lips no guile is found,
 In his life good works abound.

III.

When distress'd I held my peace,
 Guilt and fear I found increase ;

Then I wept and pray'd to thee,

*God be merciful to me.

Now thy hand by day, by night,
Press'd my soul with grievous weight ;
I to dust was quickly brought,
Parch'd as with the summer's drought.

IV.

Now it was I own'd to thee,
All my base iniquity ;
Now thou did'st my sins forgive,
Heal my wounds, and bad me live.

V.

Hence thy saints who know my case,
Shall with me adore thy grace ;
And poor penitents like me,
Shall thy great salvation see.

PSALM XXXII.

1st VERSION, 7's.—PART II.

I.

WHEN the floods that rage and swell,
Sweep the wicked down to hell ;
These can ne'er o'ertake the just,
Who in God their Saviour trust.

II.

Thou, O Lord, hast set me free,
Thou my hiding place shalt be ;
I have mercy sought and found,
Mercy doth my soul surround.

* Luke xviii, 13.

III.

“ I'll instruct thee, saith the Lord,
 “ By my Spirit and my word ;
 “ I will guide thee with mine eye,
 “ Safe to Zion's Hill on high.”

IV.

“ Be not then as horse or mule,
 “ Which with bit and rein ye rule ;
 “ All my just commands obey,
 “ Make my promises your stay.”

V.

“ Wicked men, the rich, the poor,
 “ Many sorrows shall endure ;
 “ But the just wherever found,
 “ My rich mercy shall surround.”

VI.

Let the righteous then be glad,
 Sing for joy, no more be sad ;
 Upright souls rejoice, rejoice,
 Praise the Lord with heart and voice.

PSALM XXXII.

2nd, VERSION.—C. M.

Blessedness consisteth in forgiveness of Sin, &c.

I.

BLEST is the man and he alone,
 Whose guilt is all forgiv'n ;
 Who trusts in God's Almighty Son,
 And lives the life of heav'n.

II.

Blest is the man to whom the Lord
No more imputes his sin :
Whose spirit is by grace restor'd,
Whose life and lips are clean

III.

" I will instruct thee, saith the Lord,
" The way that thou should'st go ;
" According to my faithful word,
" I'll save from ev'ry foe."

IV.

" Only obey my written rule,
" Let dying love constrain ;
" And be not like the horse and mule,
" That need the curb and reign."

V.

" The wicked by my just decree,
" In sorrows shall abound ;
" But he that trusts alone in me,
" My mercy shall surround."

VI.

Rejoice, ye righteous in the Lord,
Your hearts and voices raise ;
Sing psalms and hymns with one accord
To your Redeemer's praise.

PSALM XXXIII.—L. M.

Praise to the Lord for his Works.

I.

REJOICE, ye righteous, in the Lord,
For praise is pleasant to the just ;

Sing of his name, his works, his word,
And make his promises your trust.

II.

His goodness o'er the earth extends,
To all mankind in ev'ry place ;
His tender mercy never ends,
How great his love, how vast his grace.

III.

Ye sons of Adam, every where,
Fear ye the Lord, and stand in awe ;
Confess his power, his name revere,
Observe, and keep his holy law.

IV.

Jehovah spake, and it was done ;
His purpose stands for ever fast ;
*The world was made by God the Son,
Whose throne eternally shall last.

PSALM XXXIV.

1st PART.—48's and 26's.

Praise.

I.

At all times will I bless the Lord,
His mighty deeds I will record,
And spread abroad his fame :
I ll ne'er forget his goodness shown,
But with all Saints, I will make known
His attributes, and name.

* John i, 3. Col. i, 16. Heb. i, 2, 8.

II.

My soul shall make her boast of God,
 Who gave his Son to shed his blood,
 For ev'ry soul of man:
 Ye humble souls with me rejoice,
 Praise ye his name with heart and voice,
 Who form'd redemption's plan.

III.

O magnify the Lord with me,
 Together let us all agree,
 To sing Redeeming love:
 I sought my Lord with heart sincere,
 He heard, and sav'd from sin, and fear,
 And rais'd my soul above.

PSALM XXXIV.

2nd PART.—48's and 26's.

 The Ministration of Angels.*

I.

ANGELS encamp around the saints,
 What'er they ask, Jehovah grants,
 When'er in faith they call:
 The poor man cries, and God doth hear,
 And brings his great Salvation near,
 The Lord his good to all.

II.

Come, taste the sweets of Gospel grace,
 Ye people all in ev'ry place,
 In Jesus' love confide:

• Heb. i, 14.

Happy are all that in him trust,
 And make his saving strength their boast,
 Their feet shall never slide.

III.

O fear the Lord, all ye his saints,
 He surely will supply your wants,
 His ev'ry word his true :
 Though Lions die for lack of food,
 His saints shall want no real good,
 The promise is to you.

PSALM XXXIV.

3rd PART.—48's and 26's.

Religious Education.

I.

COME, Children, harken unto me,
 All ye that wish good days to see,
 Or here desire long life :
 *Remember in your days of youth,
 To fear, and serve the Lord in truth,
 Abstain from lies, and strife.

II.

Depart from evil, and do good ;
 Seek peace, pursue the narrow road,
 That leads to joys on high :
 God loves the righteous ev'ry where,
 His ears are open to their prayer,
 Their souls shall never die.

* Ecc. xii, 1.

III.

But Jesus' face is ever set,
Against the wicked that forget,
Or break his holy laws :
Altho' 'twas he who gave them birth,
He cuts their mem'ry from the earth,
Sin is the only cause.

PSALM XXXIV.

4th PART.—48's and 26's.

*An Exhortation to Prayer, founded on the Promise
God : The affliction and consolation of the Right*

I.

Cry to the Lord, ye sinners, cry,
He is not willing you should die,
But bids you turn and live :
To all that be of contrite heart,
He will his pardoning love impart,
And grace and glory give.

II.

The saints that are of spirits poor,
Many afflictions here endure,
But sav'd they all shall be :
Jesus redeem'd their souls from hell,
And they with him in heav'n shall dwell
To all eternity.

PSALM XXXV.

1st VERSION.—7's and 6's.

The prayer and faith of a persecuted saint.

I.

PLEAD my cause, Almighty Lord,
 With them that strive with me;
 Take thy buckler, shield, and sword,
 Fight thou mine enemy;
 Be my helper ever near,
 Stop the persecutor's way;
 With thy vengeful rod and spear
 Protect me night and day.

II

Jesus, Saviour of my soul,
 Bring thy salvation near;
 All their rage and spite control,
 That hate thy servants here;
 Then with all my powers I'll say,
 Who is like to Christ my Lord?
 Jesus is my strength and stay,
 I'll ever trust his word.

PSALM XXXV.

2nd VERSION.—PART 1.—6 lines all 7s.

TUNE.—BEAUMONT.

A Prophetic Psalm.

I.

THOU wilt plead my cause, O Lord,
 'Gainst them who with me contend;
 With thy buckler, shield, and sword
 Thou wilt still my cause defend;

Fight with those who fight with me,
And from danger set me free.

II.

Those who persecute my way,
Thou shalt vanquish with thy spear,
Thou unto my soul dost say,
I am thy salvation here ;
They shall all confounded be
Who conspire to injure me.

III.

They shall fly before thy face,
Like the chaff before the wine ;
Thou their cheerful steps shall chase,
Rest or peace they ne'er shall find ;
O'er their dark and slippery way
Shall thy angel spread dismay.

IV.

They without a cause have set
All their snares O God for me ;
Thou shalt save me from their net,
Thou shalt ever set me free ;
They who else had 'scap'd the thrall,
By their own device shall fall.

V.

Then my soul, in God rejoice,
Jesu's love and power record ;
Say my bones, my heart, my voice,
Who is like to thee, O Lord ?
Foes though stronger far than thee,
Ne'er shall do the injury.

PSALM XXXV.

2nd VERSION, all 7's.—PART 2.

I.

MIGHTY Lord, how false are they,
 Who their wrath against me show ;
 To my charge such things they lay,
 As my heart did never know ;
 By their cruelty and spite,
 Mischief they for good requite.

II.

Yet when they were sick and poor,
 Brother-like I bow'd my head ;
 Sackcloth on my loins I wore,
 Weeping as for mother dead ;
 Oft I fasted, oft I mourn'd,
 But to me my pray'r return'd.

III.

But when I through grief was sad,
 They rejoic'd and gather'd near ;
 Yea, the abject souls were glad,
 Ceasing not my wounds to tear ;
 Mid their feasts in mockery,
 They did gnash their teeth at me.

IV.

Lord ! how long wilt thou look on ?
 When wilt thou salvation send ?
 Till the lion's rage is gone,
 Still my weary soul defend ;
 Then will I my voice in praise,
 Mid the congregation raise.

E

V.

Let not these my foes that rise,
Foes to me so wrongfully,
Wink at me with scornful eyes,
Or thy chosen one defy ;
They to breed contention strive,
They most fraudulent things contrive.

VI.

Gapes their mouth, and points their hand
When together they convene,
'Gainst the quiet of the land ;
Ah ! say they our eyes have seen,
But thyself dost better see ;
Lord ! no longer silent be.

VII.

Be thou near, my God, my friend,
Wake to help in time of need ;
Now to judge my cause attend,
Come, my Saviour, come with speed ;
Judge of me, and of my cause,
By thy righteous gospel laws.

VIII.

In their hearts ne'er let them say,
So it is, we have it thus ;
He at last is made our prey,
He is swallow'd up by us ;
Thou wilt free my soul from blame,
Thou shalt clothe my foes with shame.

IX.

Then shall those my friends indeed,
Those who love my righteousness ;
Praise the Lord who hath decreed,

All who love his name to bless ;
Then his justice I'll record,
All my powers shall praise the Lord.

PSALM XXXVI.—1st PART. L. M.

The awful condition of profane Sinners.

I.

THE sinner's wicked works and ways,
Declare he's void of truth and grace ;
And tell my heart, in deed and word,
He neither knows, nor fears the Lord.

II.

In vain he boasts his birth or blood,
He's shun'd by all the wise and good ;
Deprav'd in heart, and soul, and mind ;
To ev'ry hateful vice inclin'd.

III.

His heart and life are full of sin,
Impure, unholy, and unclean ,
He knows not Christ, the living way,
Nor has he ever learnt to pray.

IV.

Upon his bed he doth devise,
Mischief and folly, guile and lies ;
Puff'd up with self-conceit and pride,
His passions all his actions guide.

V.

O God of love, thy power display,
Convince him of his evil way ;
By mighty grace his soul convert,
Thyself alone canst change the heart.

PSALM XXXVI.—2nd PART. L. M.

The mercy and loving kindness of God.

I.

THE mercy of the Lord most high
 Is seen in earth, and sea, and sky ;
 His judgments are a mighty deep,
 Let ev'ry soul his precepts keep.

II.

Thy loving kindness, gracious Lord,
 Gladly thy servant will record,
 And sing thy grace, so vast, so free,
 Above all price—yet giv'n to me.

III.

Thy love shed in my heart abroad,
 O make me like thyself, my God ;
 That pride may ne'er o'er me prevail,
 Nor sons of earth, nor hosts of hell.

IV.

Since in thyself alone I hope,
 Let thy rich mercy hold me up ;
 Then all my ransom'd powers shall sing,
 Jesus my prophet, priest, and king.

PSALM XXXVII.—4 lines.—8's and 26's

An Exhortation to Patience, Confidence in God,

TUNE.—SOLEMNITY.

I.

FRET not thyself, O christian man,
 Be not thou envious, nor complain
 At wealthy sinners here ;

Like grass they soon shall be cut down,
And die like herbs before the sun,
The awful day is near.

II.

Trust in thy Saviour, and do good,
Depend on him for health and food,
Thou in the land shalt dwell ;
Yea, verily, thou shalt be fed
With heav'nly food, and daily bread,
He doeth all things well.

III.

Refrain from anger, rage, and strife,
Devote to God thy heart and life,
All evil paths forsake ;
On Jesus cast thy ev'ry care,
He loves to hear and answer prayer,
Him for thy Saviour take.

IV.

The little that the just possess,
Is better far, though it be less
Than wicked men enjoy ;
For rage, and pride, and stout self-will,
Jehovah's sovereign might shall still
And all his foes destroy.

V.

Depart from evil and do good,
Ye servants of the living God,
And dwell forevermore :
God loveth judgments, nor forsakes
His saints, but good his promise makes,
Let Israel's race adore.

VI.

Mark ye the man of perfect heart,
Whose life is clean in ev'ry part,
His end is joy and peace ;
His happy spirit on that day,
By angels shall be borne away,
To realms of endless bliss.

PSALM XXXVIII.—1st PART, all 7's.

Penitential.

I.

Do not Lord in wrath chastise,
Let not all thy storms arise ;
While thine indignation burns,
Here I groan and weep by turns.

II.

Thy sharp arrows me distress,
Doubts and fears my heart oppress ;
Sin and sorrow wound my soul,
Foes insult without controul.

III.

Through my frame no part is sound,
All my body is one wound ;
Bones, and heart, and flesh, and skin,
Find no rest because of sin.

IV.

Multiplied iniquities,
O'er my head as mountains rise ;
Like a heavy load they prove,
Far too great for me to move.

V.

For my foolishness I know,
Stink my wounds and loathsome grow ;
From my sins my woes proceed,
Sins of thought, and word, and deed.

VI.

Lord to thee my case is known,
Deeply humbled at thy throne ;
Desolate throughout the day,
Through the night I weep and pray.

PSALM XXXVIII.—2nd PART, all 7's.

I.

LOWLY at thy feet I lie,
O how wretched Lord am I !
Feeble, weak, and broken sore,
Pain'd in héart and mind I roar.

II.

Jesus see my woeful case,
At thy feet I sue for grace ;
See my soul dissolve in sighs,
Bitter pains, and groans, and cries.

III.

Pants my heart, my strength doth fail,
Tears have bath'd my face till pale ;
Dark mine eyes and pain'd my ears,
Press'd with sins, and doubts, and fears.

IV

Friends forsake, and foes despise,
Men and friends against me rise ;

Kindred from me stand afar,
Disunited now we are.

V.

They who seek my life agree,
Daily to lay snares for me ;
Set on mischief one and all,
Gladly would they see me fall.

VI.

But as deaf I would not hear,
Purposely I shut mine ear ;
I as dumb to speak forbore,
Yet did they reproach me more.

VII.

Still with fervent zeal did I
Trust in thee O God Most High ;
Though oppress'd by foes, I mourn'd,
Ill for ill I ne'er returned.

PSALM XXXVIII.—3rd PART, 7s.

I.

SAVIOUR hear my plaintive voice.
Lest my foes in pride rejoice ;
Surely they'll my hopes deride,
If my feet should chance to slide.

II.

Ready now to halt I'm found,
Press'd with suffering to the ground ;
Sorrow still beclouds my face,
Hides me from the light of grace.

III.

My transgressions I confess,
 All my desp'rate wickedness ;
 Now I'll own my faults to thee,
 For my sin I'll sorry be.

IV.

But my foes how strong are they,
 Those who seek my soul to slay ;
 Me without just cause they hate ;
 How their numbers rise of late.

V.

For my good they ill requite,
 Fill'd with hatred, rage, and spite ;
 They mine adversaries prove,
 As the thing that's good I love.

VI.

Leave me not my God, my Lord,
 Speak, O speak, mo soul restor'd ;
 Haste to save, come help me now,
 *Jesus my salvation thou.

PSALM XXXVIII.

2nd VERSION.—PECULIAR METRE.

" Confession of Sin, Supplication, Hope."

I.

O LORD rebuke me not,
 In thy displeasure hot,
 Nor in thine anger me chastise ;

* Song of Simeon.

Thy hand doth press my soul,
Billows o'er billows roll,
O let not all thy wrath arise.

II.

I'm troubled sore within,
I loath myself and sin,
Yea, I go mourning all the day ;
My countless crimes so vast,
My strength have quite surpass'd,
With guilt press'd down for grace I pra

III.

My flesh is all unsound,
Corrupt my ev'ry wound,
O Lord consider my distress ;
For loathsome though I be,
Jesus I come to thee,
To thee I all my sins confess.

IV.

In thee alone I hope,
Thy mercy holds me up,
Thou that did'st bleed and die for me ;
Forsake me not I pray,
But be my strength and stay,
My whole salvation is of thee.

PSALM XXXIX.—S. M. DOUBLE.

Pious Resolution. The Brevity of Human Life, &c.

I.

I'LL to my ways take heed,
 And daily watch and pray,
 That I sin not in word nor deed,
 While here on earth I stay ;
 I as one deaf became,
 And held my peace from good,
 Lest scoffers should blaspheme the name
 Of my Redeemer, God.

II.

But sorrow did awake,
 My heart was hot within ;
 While musing thus at last I spake,
 And loath'd myself and sin :
 Lord ! make me know mine end,
 The measure of my days ;
 O let thy servant comprehend,
 Thy righteous works and ways ;

III.

That I may see and know,
 How frail I am as man,
 My life a hand-breath here below,
 My length of days a span ;
 Mine age however great,
 Is nothing before thee ;
 Man even in his best estate,
 Is only vanity.

IV.

Surely in a vain show,
Does the proud sinner walk ;
His riches heap'd up here below,
He knows not who shall take :
His anxious cares are vain,
As all the world may see ;
And now O Lord, what is my aim ?
My hope is all in thee.

V.

Save me O Lord I pray,
From foolish men of strife ;
Nor let me be reproach'd alway,
In this uncertain life.
I open'd not my mouth,
The work was thine O God,
Father of mercies, love, and truth,
Remove thy chastening rod.

VI.

When thou dost man chastise,
For his iniquity,
Like to a moth his beauty dies ;
For man is vanity:
Hear thou my prayer O Lord,
My soul for mercy cries,
Hold not thy peace my King, my God,
When tears flow from my eyes.

VII.

A stranger here I am,
A sojourner with thee,
And all my fathers were the same,
Dependent Lord on thee.

Spare me O God Most High,
 Till I my strength retrieve,
 And when this mortal flesh shall die,
 To heav'n my soul receive.

PSALM XL.—1st PART. L. M.

Christian Experience.

I.

WAITED calmly for the Lord,
 The Sovereign Lord of earth and sky ;
 And faithful to his promis'd word,
 He bow'd his ear, and heard my cry.

II.

He pluck'd me from the fearful pit
 Of Sin, and from the miry clay ;
 Firm on a rock my feet he set,
 And taught to walk in wisdom's way.

III.

My mouth he fills with songs of praise,
 For gifts and grace on me bestow'd ;
 Many shall join my joyful lays,
 And learn to fear, and trust in God

— o —

PSALM XL.—2nd PART —L. M.

The Incarnation and Sacrifice of Christ.

I.

US saith the Lord, your works are vain,
 Ye Jews give your burnt-offerings o'er ;
 In Lambs, and Goats, and Bullocks slain,
 Henceforth my soul delights no more.

II.

But Jesu's ears were open'd wide,
Attentive to his Father's voice ;
" I come to do thy will," he cry'd,
" To do thy will shall be my choice.

III.

" As in the volume of thy Book,
" 'Tis written and fortold of me,
" The sinner's cause I undertook,
" And died for all upon the tree.

IV.

" Thy will, thy law is my delight,
" My glory to obey thy call ;
" I'll save the world by love, and might,
" My death brings life to each, to all.

V.

" In the great congregation, I
" Have preach'd thy righteousness my God
" To save poor sinners doom'd to die,
" On Calvary I shed my blood."

PSALM XL.—3rd PART. C. M.

A Sinner Pleading for Mercy.

I.

THY tender mercy, gracious Lord,
Withhold not thou from me ;
But let me be by grace restor'd,
And from my sins set free.

II.

More numerous ills than can be told,
 Have compass'd me around ;
 My sins on me have taken hold,
 And press me to the ground.

III.

Save thou thy servant, O my God,
 From guilt, and fear, and shame ;
 Remove my sins, a pond'rous load,
 And I will praise thy name.

IV.

Let all that seek thy servant's fall,
 'Sham'd and confounded be ;
 Drive back the tyrants, one and all,
 That hate thy saints, and me.

V.

Ye humble souls rejoice, rejoice,
 Your God is on your side ;
 Say ye, and sing with heart and voice,
 The Lord be magnified.

PSALM XLI.—1st PART, C. M.

Charity to the Poor—See Matt. xxv. 40.

I.

HE that relieves the sick and poor
 Is blessed of the Lord,
 Deliv'rance in each trying hour
 Jehovah shall afford

II.

His soul the Lord will keep and save,
 And cause him blest to live,

Nor to his foes, death or the grave
Will he his servant give.

III.

When worn with sickness on his bed
God shall his love reveal,
And pour salvation on his head,
And peace and pardon seal.

IV.

Then let the saints in ev'ry place
Join in one joyful strain,
And bless the God of Israel's race,
From age to age. Amen.

PSALM XLII.—C. M.

Hope in Affliction.

I.

As pants the heated hart to find,
And drink the cooling brook ;
So pants my soul, so longs my mind,
While to my God I look

II.

I thirst for God, the God of grace,
Who reigns in heav'n above,
I long to see my Saviour's face,
The source of life and love.

III.

Mine eyes are drench'd in tears by day,
Nor cease my groans by night,
While busy scoffers taunting say,
" Where's God, thy heart's delight ?"

IV.

Deep unto deep incessant calls,
O'er billows, billows roll ;
And floods of grief, like water falls
And waves, go o'er my soul.

V.

With pain and sorrow oft I now
Reflect on ancient days,
When with the saints of God below,
I join'd in prayer and praise.

VI.

Hope in the Lord my soul, I'll yet
Sing praises to his name ;
Patiently wait at Jesus' feet,
His love is still the same.

PSALM XLIII.—C. M.

Prayer and Confidence.

I.

JUDGE me, O God, and plead my cause,
And save me from th' unjust ;
Who know thee not, nor keep thy laws,
Nor in thy mercy trust.

II.

Be thou my refuge ev'ry hour,
While here on earth I stay ;
From sin, and Satan's cruel power,
Preserve me night and day.

III.

Lord send thy light and truth abroad,
That all may learn thy will,

And walk in wisdom's narrow road,
To Zion's holy hill.

PSALM XLIV.—8 lines, all 8's.

The goodness of God to Israel in ancient days—

I.

O God we have heard with our ears,
Our fathers thy wonders have told ;
In scripture thy mercy appears,
To Israel thy people of old ;
How thou did'st the heathen cast out,
And gave them the promised land,
This was thy own doing, no doubt,
Let all that shall read understand.

II.

They got not the land to possess,
By strength of their own, or the sword ;
'Twas given them freely by grace,
By thee, their Creator and Lord.
Thine arm was in mercy made bare,
All praise be ascrib'd to thy name ;
Thy people, thine own were thy care,
For thou had'st free favour for them.

PSALM XLV.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

PART I.

Christ.

I.

Now my heart with grace is stor'd,
Speak I of the King, my Lord ;

As a ready scribe, my tongue
Hastes to praise him with a song.

II.

Thou, O Christ, art fairer far,
Than the sons of Adam are ;
Grace into thy lips doth flow,
Ever blest above, below.

III.

Gird upon thy thigh, thy sword,
O most mighty, conquering Lord ;
With thy glories all divine,
O'er thy whole creation shine.

IV.

Ride thou with majestic grace,
Meekness, truth, and righteousness ;
Thy right hand in this glad day,
Shall things terrible display.

V.

See the hearts of rebels now,
Thy sharp arrows pierce them through ;
Now the people bought by thee,
At thy footstool bow their knee.

VI.

Everlasting is thy throne,
Thee our Saviour, God, we own ;
Lord and judge of quick and dead,
Glory crowns thy sacred head.

VII.

Just are all thy works and ways,
To thy name be endless praise ;
Sin is hateful in thy sight,
Justice is thy heart's delight.

VIII.

Therefore God by just decree
 Hath with oil anointed thee ;
 Ev'ry earthly lord and king
 Shall to thee their tribute bring.

IX.

Aloes, myrrh, and cassia sweet
 Scent thy robes from head to feet ;
 Ivory gladsome rooms also
 Thou dost occupy below.

X.

Daughters of great kings do stand,
 Honourable at thy right hand ;
 Here thy spouse the church is seen
 Cloath'd in gold, and nam'd the Queen.

PSALM XLV.—1st VERSION, 7's.

PART II. ❧

I.

HARK ! O daughter, bend thine ear,
 Jesus speaks, arise and hear ;
 Haste, obey thy Saviour's call,
 Leave thy earthly kindred all.

II.

So the king with joy divine
 Shall behold thy beauty shine ;
 He's thy Lord, his name adore,
 Worship, praise him evermore.

III.

Tyre's fair daughter now shall bring
 Gifts to Christ, her glorious king ;

Rich and poor, in ev'ry place,
Seek and find redeeming grace.

IV.

Glorious is the church within,
Wash'd in blood, and freed from sin ;
See her garments ting'd with gold,
Shining glorious to behold.

V.

In a robe by needle wrought,
To the king she shall be brought ;
Virgins following in her train,
Praise him in a lofty strain.

VI.

Brought before his majesty,
Glad they raise their voices high ;
In the palace of their king
All unite his love to sing.

VII.

They from near and distant lands,
Leave their homes, and march in bands ;
They thy princes Lord shall be,
Reign they shall o'er earth with thee.

VIII.

I, saith God, will make thy name
Known throughout Creation's frame ;
Age to age shall praises bring,
People all thy praise shall sing.

PSALM XLV.—2nd VERSION, L. M.

Christ.

I.

'Tis God directs my thoughts aright,
Good is the matter I indite;
I sing the king, Messiah's praise,
And tell the world his works and ways.

II.

Fairer art thou, O Son of God,
Than sons of men, at home, abroad;
All grace within thy lips doth flow
In heav'n above, and earth below.

III.

Gird thou thy sword upon thy thigh,
Glorious in might and majesty;
Ride prosp'rously in righteousness,
Meekness and truth, and ev'ry grace.

IV.

Thy throne, O God, shall ever last,
As in eternal ages past;
Thy works and ways are just and right,
Mercy and truth are thy delight.

V.

But wickedness thou dost abhor,
Without respect to rich or poor;
Thou lov'st to do thy father's will,
And he with joy thy soul doth fill.

VI.

But who can set thy glory forth,
Or half describe thy matchless worth?
The wide creation fails to express,
The power and glory of thy grace.

VII.

With wond'ring eyes thy church we view,
 Adorn'd in robes of golden hue ;
 Wash'd in thy blood, redeem'd from sin,
 And glorious all without, within.

VIII.

Hark, all ye saints, now bend your ear,
 'Tis Jesus speaks, arise, and hear
 Forget the world's alluring snares,
 And all its sinful, needless cares.

IX.

So shall the king rejoice to see
 Your souls adorn'd with purity ;
 Your beauty this, your glorious dress,
 His precious blood and righteousness.

 PSALM XLVI.—1st PART, C. M.
The Churches safety and triumph.

I.

God is the refuge of his saints
 In times of deep distress :
 E'er we can offer our complaints,
 He sends our souls redress.

II.

Then wherefore should we yield to fear.
 Though kingdoms mov'd should be ;
 And lofty mountains far or near,
 Be cast into the sea.

III.

Although the mighty waters roar,
 And foaming waves run high,

And dash their rage against the shore,
We know our God is nigh.

IV.

Come all ye saints, be not afraid,
Behold the works of God ;
What desolation he has made
O'er all the earth abroad.

V.

He makes both war and tumult cease
Throughout his wide domain ;
That Christ his son, the prince of peace
May o'er the nations reign.

PSALM XLVI.—2nd PART, C. M.

The city of God, the waters of life, the security the saints, &c.

I.

THERE is a river gliding nigh
The city of our God,
The holy place of the Most High,
Where fix'd is his abode.

II.

How glad the Church on Zion's hill,
No power her faith can move ;
Jehovah is her helper still,
She shall right early prove.

III.

The heathen rag'd with clam'rous noise,
The kingdom mov'd around ;
Heard was Jehovah's mighty voice,
Earth melted at the sound.

IV.

The Lord of hosts is on our side,
 And so shall e'er remain,
 Our refuge, helper, God, and guide,
 He shall our souls sustain.

V.

Come all ye saints, behold with me,
 The wonders God hath wrought ;
 The desolations come and see,
 Which he on earth hath brought.

VI.

Through ev'ry land both far, and near,
 War into peace he turns ;
 He breaks the bow, and snaps the spear,
 With fire the Chariot burns.

VII.

" Be still, and know that I am God,
 " My name shall be ador'd ;
 " Through heathen realms, thro' earth abroad,
 " All shall proclaim me Lord.

VIII.

The Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
 Our refuge is, and guide ;
 The Lord our God, our joy, and boast,
 We know is on our side.

PSALM XLVII.—4 lines, all 7's.

Universal Praise—The Ascension of Christ, &c.

I.

CLAP your hands, ye people all,
 Praise the Lord, and on him call,

Triumph in th' eternal King,
Raise your voices, shout, and sing.

II.

Terrible is God Most High,
Cloth'd with might, and Majesty;
O'er the Universe he reigns,
Praise his name in joyful strains.

III.

Jesus is our sure defence,
We are his inheritance ;
He shall bless his blood-bought race,
Save the world by power, and grace.

IV.

He shall all our foes subdue,
Make the whole creation new ;
Sin, and Satan's power destroy,
*Fill the Universe with joy.

V.

Jesus is gone up on high,
Far above the starry sky ;
There the heav'nly armies sing,
Christ their Maker, and their King.

VI.

Mortals join the heav'nly throng,
Praise your Saviour with a song ;
†Ye shall soon his glory see,
And with him for ever be.

* Rev. v, 13.

† John xvii. 24.

PSALM XLVIII.—L. M.

The Privileges of God's People.

I.

ON Zion's Hill, the Lord is known,
 Where Saints unite to sing his praise ;
 Here Jesus from his lofty throne,
 The beauties of his face displays.

II.

With holy joy his servants wait,
 And hear with rev'rence his commands ;
 Within his holy temple gate,
 With filial awe, and love, they stand.

III.

Let Jews, and Gentiles, walk around,
 The City where the saints reside ;
 Built by the Lord, on holy ground,
 Mark well her walls on ev'ry side.

IV.

Ye humble souls with me adore,
 The Lord, while ye have life, and breath ;
 God is our God for ever more,
 And he will be our guide till death.

PSALM XLIX.—1st PART, C. M.

An Exhortation against Fretfulness, Man's Mortality, &c.

I.

HEAR all ye people near and far,
 What'er your states below ;
 My mouth shall wisdom's way declare,
 And hidden mysteries show.

II.

I now a parable to hear,
My earnest ears will bend ;
A mystery in my heart sincere,
To utter I intend.

III.

Drear days of evil when I see,
I'll neither fear, nor doubt ;
Though men devoid of Charity,
Should 'compass me about.

IV.

No man his Brother can redeem,
From sin. and Satan's sway ;
Nor to Almighty God for him,
Sufficient ransom pay

V.

Our soul's Redemption precious is ;
Nor can it ever be,
That man can rise to heav'nly bliss,
'Till from corruption free.

VI.

The beauty of the human race,
Shall perish in the grave ;
But in the Saviour's power, and grace,
We full Redemption have.

PSALM XLIX.—2nd PART, C. M.

The Love of Christ.

I.

WITH heart, and voice I will proclaim,
The Love of Christ to me;
To day as yesterday the same,
His grace forever free.

II.

Precious above all earthly good,
Is Jesus to my soul;
I have Redemption in his blood,
My faith shall make me whole.

III.

When heav'n, and earth, are fled and gone,
With all his saints I'll rise,
And sing his praise before the throne,
Immortal in the skies.

PSALM, L.—L. M.

*The Majesty of God—his pleasure not in ceremonies
but in sincere obedience.*

I.

THE Almighty God, the Sov'reign Lord
Hath spoken in his holy word,
And call'd mankind from sea to sea,
To hear his uncontroll'd decree.

II.

From Zion's Hill, behold him shine,
Perfections beauty, all Divine;
A fire devours before his face,
Tempests surround the God of grace.

III.

From highest heav'n, the Sov'reign Lord
Shall call, and earth shall hear his word ;
And witness when on his high throne,
He sits in truth to judge his own.

IV.

" But gather all my Saints," he says,
" Who love my worship, word and ways ;
" A cov'nant they have made with me,
" Seal'd with Blood on Calvary."

V.

The heav'n his right'ousness express,
For God himself shall Judge our race ;
Silence Jehovah will not keep,
Ye sinners hear your Maker speak.

VI.

" Hear, O my people what I say,
" I'll testify against your way ;
" I seated on my glorious throne,
" I am thy God, ev'n I alone.

VII.

" For want of gifts I'll not reprove,
" The world is mine, and all that move ;
" The blood of beasts I can't endure,
" I am thy God, a Spirit pure.

VIII.

" Offer to me, the God of grace,
" A thankful heart, a Song of praise.
" My presence fills both earth and sky ;
" Come pay thy vows to God Most High.

IX.

“ Call upon me when trouble’s near,
“ I’ll surely lend a gracious ear;
“ I’ll save from sin, and fear, and shame,
“ And thou shalt glorify my name.”

X.

But to the wicked God doth say,
“ Dost thou presume to praise, or pray ?
“ Wilt thou declare my word of truth,
“ Or take my cov’nant in thy mouth ?

XI.

“ Thou who dost hate instruction giv’n,
“ And will not hear me speak from heav’n ;
“ A hypocrite to virtue blind,
“ Who castest all my words behind.

XII.

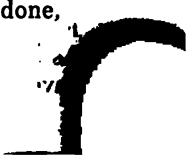

“ Thou, when thine eyes a thief did see.
“ With him thy heart did well agree ;
“ In thought, and word, and look, and deed,
“ Thou with adulter’rs hast agreed.

XIII.

“ To evil thou hast giv’n thy mouth,
“ And lov’dest lying more than truth,
“ Sland’ring thy friend and brother too,
“ More just and better men than thou.

XIV.

“ These things, O sinner, thou hast done,
“ At midnight, and before the sun ;
“ Silence I kept, for I am love,
“ Yet surely I will thee reprove.

XV.

" Thy sins before thy face I'll set,
" And make thee feel my power is great ;
" I'll tear off ev'ry false disguise,
" And fill thy soul with sore surprise.

XVI.

" Consider this, ye sinners now,
" My words most faithful are and true ;
" Ye that neglect, or slight my grace,
" Repent, believe, and seek my face.

XVII.

" My power and vengeance none can tell,
" I reign o'er heav'n, and earth, and hell ;
" Turn, lest your souls in wrath I tear,
" And there be no deliv'rer near.

XVIII.

" The man that offers thanks, and prays
" To me, and loves, and keeps my ways ;
" To him I'll my salvation show,
" And save him from eternal woe.

PSALM LI.

1st VERSION.—1st PART, all 7's,

I.

LORD have mercy now on me,
From my sins and fears set free ;
As thy mercies multiply,
Save a sinner doom'd to die.

II.

Wash me Saviour in thy blood ;
Tell me I am born of God ;
Purge me, make me pure within,
Make me free indeed from sin.

III.

I have sin'd against thy grace,
I've provok'd thee to thy face ;
Yet my faults I will confess,
All my sin and wickedness.

IV.

Now my fall from thee I mourn,
I in sin conceiv'd and born ;
Underneath my load I groan,
Prostrate now before thy throne.

V.

Well I know thy law requires
Truth in all my soul's desires ;
Wisdom then to me impart,
Saviour make me pure in heart.

VI.

Bring thy great salvation near,
Joy and gladness make me hear ;
Let me know thy pard'ning voice,
Bid my broken bones rejoice.

VIII.

From my sins turn back thine eyes,
Blot out my iniquities ;
Now from all my guilt set clear,
Make, O make me holy here.

PSALM LI.

2nd PART, all 7's.

I.

Jesus, Saviour, just and true,
 Form my heart and soul anew;
 With thy spirit rich and free,
 Let my faith establish'd be.

II.

Never cast me from thy sight,
 Down to everlasting night;
 Nor from me thy spirit take,
 For thy name and mercies sake.

III.

Thy salvation, Lord, restore,
 Joy and gladness evermore;
 With thy grace my soul sustain,
 Let me never fall again.

IV.

To transgressors then I will Show the road to Zion's Hill;
 So shall sinners such as I,
 Turn to thee, O God, Most High.

PSALM LI.

3rd PART, all 7's.

I.

SAVE me, save me, O my God,
 From the guilt of sin and blood;
 Then thy justice I'll proclaim,
 Shout and sing my Saviour's name

II.

Open. Lord my lips, and then
 I before the sons of men
 Will show forth thy glorious praise,
 Wond'rous works and righteous ways.

III.

Rent and contrite hearts shall prove,
 Sacrifices God does love ;
 Broken spirits in his eyes,
 Jesus never will despise.

IV.

Lamb of God for sinners slain,
 Build up Zion's walls again ;
 To the Jews thy mercy show,
 Let the world their Saviour know.

PSALM LI.—2nd VERSION, L M.

I.

HAVE mercy on me gracious Lord,
 According to thy mercies great ;
 Now let me be by grace restor'd,
 And rais'd from this my fallen state

II.

Wash me from all iniquity,
 And thoroughly purge me from my sin ;
 Set my captive spirit free,
 And make my heart and conscience clean.

III.

O thee I all my faults confess,
 My sins before my face I see ;

But plead the blood and righteousness,
Of Christ, thy Son, who died for me.

IV.

Against thyself, O God Most High,
I've sinn'd and trifi'd with thy grace;
Most justly I deserve to die,
And to be banish'd from thy face.

V.

I was conceiv'd and born in sin,
And from the womb have gone astray;
Impure, unholy, and unclean,
Foolish, and far from wisdom's way.

VI.

Thy holy, perfect law, requires
Truth rooted in the inward part;
For this I pray with strong desires,
Lord make me pure in life and heart.

VII.

O! let me hear thy pard'ning voice,
Then shall I be exceeding glad;
My broken bones shall all rejoice,
When I with thee my peace have made.

VIII.

Hide thou thy face from all my sins,
And blot out mine iniquities;
Wash me from all my guilty stains,
And let me in thine image rise.

IX.

O! never cast my soul away,
From thee the source of life and love;
But let thy spirit with me stay,
The Holy Ghost, the heav'nly dove.

X.

Then I will teach transgressors all,
The way in which I was restor'd ;
And sinners shall obey thy call,
Believe and trust in Christ the Lord.

XI

From bloody sins, from conscious guilt,
Rescue thy humbled servant now ;
Thy pow'r can save me if thou wilt,
The God of my salvation thou.

XII.

When I with all my heart and tongue,
Shall sing aloud thy righteousness ;
Redeeming love shall be my song,
Redeeming love and saving grace.

XIII.

Open my lips, O Lord Most High,
Then shall my mouth thy praises sing ;
And publish till the day I die,
The mercies of my God and King.

XIV.

Burnt off'rings I would gladly give,
But those thou dost not now desire ;
Broken heart thou wilt receive,
'Tis all thou dost of me require.

XV.

So good to Zion, gracious Lord ;
Build up thy church in ev'ry land,
Still ev'ry soul shall hear thy word,
Repent, believe, and understand.

PSALM LII.—C. M.

I.

WHY boast thyself, proud sinner so,
In mischief, wrath, and power ?
Jehovah's goodness well we know,
Forever shall endure.

II.

Thou lov'st to do thy neighbour wrong,
Thy heart is subtle still ;
Like a sharp razor is thy tongue,
Corrupted is thy will.

III.

Thy words are spears, and piercing swords,
Thou lov'st, and speakest lies ;
Inclin'd to all devouring words,
Thou dost the truth disguise.

IV.

But God shall soon destroy thee ; ye,
Remove thee, pluck thee out ;
From life, from land, and house of clay,
He'll thee entirely root.

V.

The just with fear shall see his fall,
And laugh to scorn his pride ;
For this shall be the doom of all,
Who make not God their guide.

VI.

For he in his abundant wealth,
This confidence did place ;
And strengthen'd by clandestine stealth,
His evil works and ways.

VII.

But I am in the House of God;
 Like to an Olive green :
 My hope for ev'ry real good,
 Has in his mercy been

VIII.

Thee O my God I'll ever praise,
 Thou only giv'st me rest ;
 With all thy saints my voice I'll raise,
 To praise is ever best.

 PSALM LIII

The depravity and corruption of the natural man.

I.

THE fool within his heart doth say,
 " There is no God, 'tis vain to pray ;"
 Corrupt are they, and full of sin,
 Impure, unholy, and unclean.

II.

God looked down from heav'n above,
 The God of glory, power, and love,
 To see if any understood,
 Or sought him as their only good.

III.

But ev'ry soul had gone astray
 From virtue's path, from wisdom's way ;
 Strangers to God, and Christ his Son,
 There's none that doeth good—not one.

IV.

O Jesus, full of truth and grace,
Thy gospel send to ev'ry place ;
Then shall the Gentile nations sing,
And Jacob's race adore their king.

PSALM LIV—C. M.

A Prayer for Deliverance from Enemies, confidin God, &c.

I.

HEAR thou my prayer, O God of truth,
When 'ere to thee I cry ;
Attend the op'ning of my mouth,
And raise my soul on high.

II.

For men and fiends against me rise,
And vex me night and day ;
With wrath and spite, deceit and lies,
They seek my soul to slay.

III.

But thou art still my strength and hope,
My helper ever near,
Thine arms of mercy bear me up,
Thy grace subdues my fear.

IV.

O God, I cast my care on thee,
I love, I fear thy name ;
'Tis good for all thy saints with me.
Thy mercy to proclaim:

V.

For thou my life and comfort art,
And shalt forever be,
Therefore my soul, and flesh, and heart
I freely give to thee.

PSALM LV.—1st PART, C. M.

A Complaint.

I.

GIVE ear, O Father, when I mourn,
And answer when I pray;
Nor from thy humble servant turn
Thy smiling face away.

II.

Mark how my foes with bitter words
Pour forth their spite and rage;
Their cruel tongues as spears and swords,
Against my soul engage.

III.

With fear and sorrow oft am I
In heart and soul oppress'd;
Till as a dove I'd gladly fly,
To distant lands for rest.

IV.

My soul on Jesus' power depend,
His grace shall thee sustain;
His tender mercies never end,
Nor shall thy hope be vain.

PSALM LV —2nd PART, L. M.

The Believer's Triumph over all his Foès : Pray: ~~and~~ Confidence in God, &c.

I.

IN Jesus' name I'll pray and praise,
With joyful noise my voice I'll raise ;
At evening, morning, and noon-day,
God hears me when in faith I pray.

II.

He hath my soul from sin set free,
My peace was bought on Calvary ;
From war and tumult, spear and sword,
I'm sav'd by Christ, my conqu'ring Lord.

III.

Jesus shall all my foes chastise,
Who up in arms against me rise ;
No changes they experience hear,
So God they neither love nor fear.

IV.

Against the peaceful of the land
They oft lift up their wrathful hand ;
Their solemn vows, and oaths are vain,
They but Jehovah's name profane.

V.

More smooth than butter are their words,
But in their hearts are unsheath'd swords =
Softer than oil their speeches are,
Yet are they still inclin'd to war.

VI.

But God the right'ous judge I know,
Shall them in justice overthrow ;

His anger like a stormy blast,
Shall hurl them down to hell at last.

VII.

Bloody deceitful men of crime,
Shall scarcely live out half their time ;
But I'll depend, O Lord, on thee,
For time and for eternity,

PSALM LVI.—1st PART, L. M.

Strong Confidence in God under Affliction.

Pro. xix. 26.

I.

HAVE mercy on me gracious Lord,
For man would swallow me outright ;
Arm'd with oppression's cruel sword,
He doth against me daily fight.

II.

My num'rous foes from day to day,
With hateful spite would me destroy ;
O God Most High thy power display,
Be thou my refuge, hope, and joy.

III.

When I'm afraid I'll trust in thee,
I'll praise my God, the Eternal Word ;
Nor fear what flesh can do to me,
My hope, my strength is Christ the Lord.

PSALM LVI—2nd PART, L. M.

God the Believer's Refuge.

I.

WHEN sore oppress'd with griefs and fears, —
To thee my God by faith I look ;
Thy bottle holds my counted tears,
My prayers are written in thy book.

II.

If now to thee in faith I call,
Shall not my foes turn back and flee ?
They shall—I dare believe they shall,
Jesus does all things well for me.

III.

In thee I confidently trust,
My rock, my strength for ever nigh ;
Satan, and all his cruel host,
The world, and sin, I now defy.

IV.

From sin thou hast redeem'd my soul,
And wilt my body from the grave ;
All worlds are under thy controul,
All power is thine, mankind to save.

V.

Thy vows are on thy servant, Lord ;
All, all, I have to thee I give ;
Forever be thy name ador'd,
By all that breathe, and move, and live

LVII.—L. M.

Prayer and Praise.

I.

Be merciful O God to me,
 A sinner who believes in thee ;
 Beneath thy wings my soul I hide,
 From hosts of hell, and sons of pride.

II.

I'll cry to God Most High, for He
 Performeth all things well for me ;
 He gave his Son my soul to save,
 In him I full redemption have.

III.

My soul doth with fierce lions dwell,
 Both cruel men, and fiends of hell ;
 Whose teeth are spears, whose tongues are swords,
 Who shoot like arrows, bitter words.

IV.

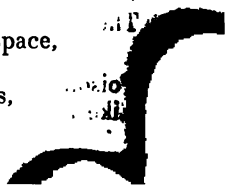

My heart is fix'd, O God of Love,
 My heart is fix'd on things above ;
 Awake my glory, shout and sing,
 The praises of thy God and King.

V.

I'll praise thee, O my Saviour God,
 With all thy Saints, at home, abroad ;
 Through nations far and near, I'll tell
 My Jesus doeth all things well

VI.

Great God thy presence fills all space,
 Thou lovest all the human race ;
 Above the stars thy truth extends,
 Thy tender mercy never ends.

III.

God is my helper ev'ry hour,
 My rock and sure abiding place ;
 I'll sing my Saviour's love and power,
 Glorious in all his works and ways.

PSALM LX.—6 lines, all 8's.

National Humiliation:

I.

LORD hast thou cast our nation off?
 Shall thy fierce wrath forever burn?
 Say to thy sword, it is enough,
 Let tender mercy now return ;
 O let thy indignation cease,
 Return, and bring us health and peace.

II.

Thine awful voice the earth doth shake,
 The world is crush'd at thy command ;
 Yet, for thy truth and goodness sake,
 Heal all the sick throughout the land ;
 Then shall thy people join to sing,
 The grace, and justice of their King.

PSALM LXI.—C. M.

Prayer.

I.

FATHER of mercies hear my cry,
 Thine ear in mercy lend ;
 Where'er I dwell, to thee will I
 My supplication send.

When overwhelm'd in deep distress,
 And sore perplex'd I lie,
 Lead me to Christ my righteousness,
 A higher rock than I.

III.

Thou art my refuge well I know,
 My shelter and my power ;
 A sure defence from ev'ry foe,
 A strong and mighty tower.

IV.

Within thy tabernacle I
 Forever will abide ;
 Beneath thy wings O God Most High,
 With confidence I hide.

V.

The solemn vows I made to thee,
 Thou God hast heard the same,
 The heritage thou gav'st to me,
 Of those that fear thy name.

PSALM LXII.—1st PART, S. M.

Waiting on God.

I.

MY soul on Jesus waits,
 He is my strength and stay ;
 Within his holy temple gates,
 I praise his name and pray.

II.

His promise bears me up,
 I on his power depend ;
 H

I'll ne'er be moved from my hope,
But hope unto the end.

III.

Their counsel shall be vain
That seek to cast me down ;
My excellency shall remain,
Though men and devils frown.

IV.

My soul, wait thou on God,
Thy Saviour, and thy friend ;
Bow to his sceptre, kiss his rod,
And on his word depend.

V.

Trust him, ye people all,
To him pour out your prayers ;
Hear, and obey his gospel call,
For all mankind he cares.

PSALM LXII.—2nd PART, 7's.

Man Walketh in a Vain Show.

I.

SURELY men of low degree
Are but dust and vanity ;
Others here accounted high,
Like the poor, are born to die.

II.

To a puff of empty air,
Rich and poor we may compare ;
Like the smoke they pass away,
Turning to their native clay.

III.

God hath spoken in his word,
 Twice I've heard, and bear record ;
 Power belongs to God alone,
 Seated on his lofty throne.

IV.

Mercy mild, and truth, and grace,
 God in Jesus' face displays ;
 Come to Christ whoever will,
 He receives poor sinners still.

PSALM LXIII.—6 lines, all 8's.

Delight in God.

I.

O God my Saviour and my King,
 Early and late I'll sing thy praise ;
 Thy fame through heav'n and earth shall ring,
 Glorious are all thy works and ways ;
 The springs of gospel grace o'erflow,
 Refreshing all thy saints below.

II.

Thy loving kindness, gracious Lord,
 Than length of days is better far ;
 I love thy worship and thy word,
 And all thy saints where'er they are ;
 My all to thee I freely give,
 Resolv'd to serve thee while I live.

III.

With all my powers of heart and voice,
 I'll praise my Saviour while I've breath ;

He is my portion, hope, and choice,
In health and sickness, life and death ;
Jesus my all in all shall be,
In time, and in eternity.

VI.

In the night watches on my bed,
I think on Jesu's dying love ;
With living bread I'm dearly fed,
And living wine sent from above ;
My soul is fully satisfied,
I know for me the Saviour died.

V.

The fatness of his house I share,
The marrow of his gospel grace ;
I shall his heav'nly image bear,
And see my Saviour face to face ;
With all his saints I'll join to bless
Jesus the Lord, our right'ousness.

VI.

O Lamb of God, for sinners slain ;
My soul delights to follow thee ;
In spite of sin, and fear, and pain,
I shall in heav'n thy glory see ;
O'er hills and dales I'll urge my way
To realms of everlasting day.

PSALM LXIV.—1st VERSION, C. M.

A Prayer for deliverance from Persecutors.

I.

OFF as I make my prayer to thee,
 Lord to my voice give ear,
 And from oppressors set me free,
 Of whom I stand in fear.

II.

Me from their secret counsels hide,
 Who in their sins delight,
 And from rebellious sons of pride,
 And wrath, and lies, and spite.

III.

Their tongues with malice oft they whet,
 And make them cut like swords;
 Their bows are bent, their arrows set,
 Ev'n sharp and bitter words.

IV.

That at the perfect man they may
 In secret aim their shot;
 Yea suddenly they'd wound, they'd slay,
 They shoot, and fear it not.

V.

Inspir'd with ill, profanely bold,
 Their snares they closely lay;
 Together conference they hold,
 And "who shall see," they say.

VI

The sins I once in weakness wrought,
 They've search'd, and still retain;
 Though they themselves in heart and thought
 Deceitful are, and vain.

VII.

But God with darts shall wound them all,
 His power and wrath are nigh ;
 When their own tongues shall make them fall,
 And men behold and fly.

VIII.

A fear shall fall on all mankind,
 All shall God's works declare ;
 And wisely think, and bear in mind,
 What these his doings are.

IX.

But in the Lord, the just shall all
 Triumphantly rejoice ;
 Who fear his name, and on him call,
 And make his word their choice.

— o —

PSALM LXV.—6 lines, all 8's,

Praise.

I.

PRAISE waits for thee in Zion, Lord,
 Perform'd shall be our solemn vow ;
 Forever be thy name ador'd,
 By black and white, and Greek and Jew ;
 For thou wilt hear they people all,
 Whene'er in faith on thee they call.

II.

When our iniquities prevail
 Against us, and are multipli'd ;
 When grief and shame our souls assail,
 We fly to Jesus' wounded side ;
 His blood for all did once atone,
 And now it pleads before thy throne.

III.

Blest is the man whom thou dost choose
To stand before thy glorious face ;
Who worship in thy holy house,
Shall banquet on thy richest grace ;
Thrice happy all thy saints and I,
When faith beholds the Saviour nigh.

IV.

Jesus! thy blood and right'ousness,
We set before our wond'ring eyes ;
We triumph in thy saving grace,
Thy all sufficient sacrifice ;
All power into thy hand is giv'n,
Thou reign'st o'er hell, and earth, and heav'n.

V.

The worlds were fashion'd by thy hands,
Earth, air, and sky, thy power confess ;
All heav'n submits to thy commands,
O Jesus! full of truth and grace ;
This is the father's own decree,
The knees of all shall bow to thee.

VI.

The Lord drops fatness on the ground,
Both hills and dales his love declare ;
The year is with his goodness crown'd,
Throughout the land, both far and near ;
Birds, beasts, and sheep, their praises bring,
They shout for joy, they also sing.

PSALM LXVI.—1st VERSION, C. M.

A General Exhortation to praise God, &c.—c.

I.

ALL lands with joyful noise proclaim,
 Jehovah's works and ways ;
 Sing forth the honour of his name,
 And glorious make his praise.

III.

Say unto God, how terrible
 In all thy works art thou ;
 Thy power shall conquer earth and hell,
 And all thy foes subdue.

III.

All, all the earth shall worship thee,
 And their Redeemer bless,
 With heart and voice most cheerfully
 They shall thy praise express.

IV.

Come, and the works of God behold,
 With pleasing wonder view ;
 His doings t'wards mankind of old,
 And us his people now.

V.

The sea he turn'd to solid land,
 Israel a passage had ;
 On foot they march'd at God's command,
 And they in him were glad.

VI.

God rules the nations, kings, and thrones,
 His eyes the people try ;

Let not the rebellious ones
Lift up themselves on high.

VII.

The Lord your highest strains deserves,
Ye people shout his praise ;
Our souls in life his power preserves,
Our feet from sliding stays.

SALM LXVI.—1st VERSION, 2nd PART, C. M.

Christian Experience.

I.

THE Lord has our salvation wrought,
We'll sing his power and grace ;
Through fire and water he has brought
Us to a wealthy place.

II.

Come all that fear the Lord, and hear
What for my soul he's done ;
When unto him I made my prayer,
Through faith in Christ his Son.

III.

If in my heart I sin regard,
The Lord will not me hear ;
But well I know he has me heard,
And still to prayer gives ear.

IV.

Let God eternally the same,
Forever blessed be,
Who turned not my prayer from him,
Nor yet his grace from me.

PSALM LXVI.—2nd VERSION, 7's and 6's.

Praise.

MAKE a joyful noise to God
 Ye sons of Adam all ;
 Praise the great eternal word,
 And at his footstool fall.
 Bless the dear Redeemer's name,
 All mankind where'er ye be ;
 Jesus power and love proclaim
 To all eternity.

PSALM LXVII.—6 lines, 8's

A Prayer for the enlargement of Christ's kingdom.

I.

BE merciful to us, O God,
 On all the earth arise and shine ;
 Pity thy people bought with blood,
 Claim ev'ry human soul for thine ;
 Let the Redeemer's name be known,
 Far as the sun and moon have shown.

II.

Let all the people praise thy name,
 Let Jews and Greeks their praises bring,
 Converted Turks thy love proclaim,
 And black and white thy mercy sing ;
 Let ev'ry soul thy power confess,
 And sing thy justice, truth, and grace.

III.

Then shall the earth her increase yield,
 And God, our God, his servants bless ;

The world shall be a fruitful field,
Adorn'd with ev'ry gospel grace ;
And all the people far and near,
Shall worship God with faith and fear.

PSALM LXVIII.—1st PART, C. M.

Prayer and Praise.

I.

LET God arise, and let his foes
Before him scatter'd be ;
Let all who hatefully expose
His will, before him flee.

II.

As smoke is driv'n, so drive them, Lord ;
As fire melts wax away,
So drive them by thy mighty word,
To perish in dismay.

III.

But let the just rejoice and sing,
Before their Maker's sight ;
Let them be joyful in their King,
And sing with all their might.

IV.

Sing to the Lord who reigns on high,
With cheerful heart and voice ;
Praise him who rules the earth and sky,
And in his strength rejoice.

V.

A father of the fatherless,
Is God forever near ;
The widow's judge when in distress,
Is Christ the Saviour here.

PSALM LXVIII.—2nd PART, C. M.

The goodness of God.

I.

God doth the solitary set
In families, and bands ;
The slave he frees, but rebels yet
Inhabit desert lands.

II.

O God, when thou of old didst go,
Before thine Israel's face,
In yonder wilderness to show,
Thy sovereign power and grace :

III.

Then at thy presence, at thy word,
The drops from heaven fell ;
Mount Sinai shook before the Lord,
The God of Israel.

IV.

Thou to thine heritage, O God,
Didst send a plenteous rain ;
The parched lands where Israel trod,
Thou didst refresh again.

V.

For Israel thou thyself didst make,
A habitation there ;
And for the poor, for thy loves sake
O God thou didst prepare.

PSALM LXVIII.—3rd PART, C. M.

The spread of the Gospel.

I.

God gave the word, all praise to him,
 The Gospel spread and ran;
 Great was the company of them,
 That then to preach began.

II.

Great Kings and armies foiled were,
 And forc'd to flee away;
 And women, who made home their care,
 Did take and share the prey.

III.

Ye humbl'd saints be strong, be bold,
 Ye shall as doves appear;
 Whose wings and feathers as with gold,
 And silver cover'd are.

IV.

God's Chariots twenty thousand be,
 A host of Angels strong;
 God in his holy place they see,
 Amidst a glorious throng.

PSALM LXVIII.—4th PART, C. M.

The Ascension of Christ, &c.

I.

THOU hast O Christ, our life, our head,
 Ascended up on high;
 And hast victoriously led
 Captive, captivity.

II.

Thou hast received gifts for men,
And such as did rebel ;
That God with us might dwell again,
And curb the powers of hell.

III.

Bless'd be the God of Adam's race,
Our Saviour ever near ;
Who daily gives us bread and grace,
In rich abundance here.

IV.

Of our salvation he is God,
Who is a God so strong ;
On death, and sin our Saviour trod,
And so shall we e'er long.

V.

The knees of all, both near and far,
Shall bow to Christ our King ;
And men who now delight in war,
Shall peaceful off'rings bring.

VI.

Princes shall come from earth abroad,
From near and distant lands ;
And Ethiopia to God,
Shall stretch her willing hand.

PSALM LXVIII —5th PART, C. M.

A general Exhortation to praise God.

I.

O! ALL ye nations of the earth,
Sing praise to God our King ;

He reigns and rules who gave you birth,
Let all his praises sing.

II.

Praise him with all the hosts on high,
Ye saints where'er ye be ;
Praise him who rides upon the sky,
And calms the raging sea.

III.

Praise the Almighty ev'ry hour,
And bless his glorious name ;
Our strength, and refuge, shield, and tower,
Unchangeably the same.

IV.

Thou from thy temple dreadful art,
Jehovah, God alone ;
Let all mankind with mind and heart,
Adore thee on thy throne.

PSALM LXIX — Ist PART, C. M.

A Prophetic Psalm.

I.

SAVE me, O God, for floods of grief
Break in upon my soul ;
In thee alone I seek relief,
When billows o'er me roll.

II.

Fast in the mire I downward go,
Yet look I to thy throne ;
To thee alone, 'midst floods of woe,
I make my sorrows known.

III.

I groan beneath a heavy load,
My throat is parch'd and dry'd,
My eyesight fails, while for my God,
I waiting do abide.

IV.

Without just cause, the men I dread
Oft hateful words devise ;
Then as the hairs upon my head,
Their numbers often rise.

V.

The mighty persecute me, Lord,
And seek my soul to slay ;
Compell'd by them, I have restor'd
What I ne'er took away.

VI.

All, all my sins are known to thee,
Confession oft I make ;
Yet let not saints belov'd by me,
E'er suffer for my sake.

PSALM LXIX —2nd PART, C. M.

I.

LORD God of Israel thou art mine,
O hear the prayer I make ;
Nor let one chosen saint of thine
E'er suffer for my sake.

II.

For I for thee reproach have borne,
My face is hid with shame ;

To brethren strange, to friends a scorn,
An alien I became.

III.

Because thy zeal did eat me up,
Which to thy house I bear,
Reproaches cast on thee, my hope,
Are fallen to my share.

IV.

My tears and fasts t' afflict my soul,
They turn'd but to my shame,
When I in sackcloth did me roll,
A proverb I became.

V.

The men who at the gate did sit,
Against me evil spake ;
And drunkards both by word and writ
Of me their songs did make.

VI.

But in an acceptable hour,
My prayer shall rise to thee ;
In mercy, truth, and saving power
Thou wilt remember me.

PSALM LXIX.—3rd PART, C. M.

Prayer under deep Distress.

I.

Out of the deep thy servant save,
From sinking, Lord me keep ;
Free me from all the foes I have ;
And from the water's deep.

II.

Let not the flood o'er me prevail,
Whose swelling tide o'erflows ;
Nor let the deep, the pit of hell,
Her mouth upon me close.

III.

Hear me O Lord, for well I know,
Thy kindness is most good ;
But turn to me, according to
Thy mercies' multitude.

IV.

Nor from thy servant hide thy face,
In trouble, Lord defend ;
Comfort me with Redeeming grace,
And love me to the end.

PSALM LXIX.—4th PART, C. M.

A Prophetic Psalm.

I.

FATHER ! my griefs are known to thee,
My censure and disgrace ;
My numerous foes thine eyes do see,
They're all before thy face.

II.

Reproach my inmost soul doth wound,
My heart is torn with grief ;
Pity from man I never found,
None came to my relief.

III.

Gall for my meat they gave to me,
As Prophets did foretell ;

And vinegar on Calvary,
My parching thirst to quell,

IV.

Before them let their table be
A snare ; and do thou make
Their riches and prosperity,
A trap themselves to take.

V.

Darken their eyes by just decree,
That sight may them forsake ;
And let their loins be made by thee,
Continually to shake.

VI.

Pour out thy fury on them Lord,
Thine indignation too ;
Let wrath according to thy word,
The rebel race pursue.

VII.

In waste and dissolation be,
Their habitations all ;
Their empty tents let nations see,
In dust and ruins fall.

VIII.

Because they persecuted him
Whom thou didst smite before,
And grieved thy humble servants, whom
Thyself had'st wounded sore.

IX.

Add thou iniquity to all,
Who thus thy laws transgress ;
Nor let the men who slight thy call,
Enjoy thy righteousness.

X.

Out of the book of life, O Lord,
Blot thou their ev'ry name,
From 'mong the just who keep thy word,
True follow'rs of the lamb.

PSALM LXIX.—5th PART, C. M.

Prayer under Affliction.

I.

SEE Lord, a helpless breathing clod,
In grief before thee lie;
Let thy salvation, O my God,
Set up my soul on high.

II.

Thy name O Saviour, with a song,
Most cheerfully I'll praise;
While life shall last, be it short or long,
To heav'n my voice I'll raise.

III.

This in the Lord, Jehovah's eyes
Shall more acceptance find
Than hecatombs for sacrifice,
And all oblations join'd.

IV.

When this the humble saints shall see,
It joy to them shall give;
O ye that fear the Lord like me,
Your souls shall surely live.

V.

Jehovah hears the poor, nor will
His prisoners contemn;

Heav'n, earth, and sea, adore him still,
And all that dwell in them.

VI.

For God will Judah's cities build,
Israel in them shall dwell,
His promis'd word he must fulfil,
In spite of earth and hell.

VII.

Their seed also, Jehovah's care,
They shall possess the same;
Yea, they shall have their dwelling there,
Who love the Saviour's name.

PSALM LXX.—L. M.

A Prayer for Deliverance from Evil Men.

I.

MAKE haste to help me, O my God,
Preserve my life from men of blood;
Their rage subdue, their spite control,
Who seek to persecute my soul.

II.

Let them be turned back in shame,
Who know thee not, nor fear thy name;
But let the saints in thee rejoice,
And shout, and sing, with heart and voice.

III.

Let all who thy salvation love,
Whose treasure is laid up above;
Unite in pure Seraphic lays,
To sing the great Redeemer's praise.

IV.

Lord I am poor and need thy grace,
Life, light, and truth, to guide my ways;
To me be thy good spirit giv'n,
To seal me thine, an heir of heaven.

PSALM LXXI.—1st VERSION,

PART 1, 6 lines, 7's.—TUNE, BEAUMONT.

I.

LORD in thee I put my trust,
From my youth thy face I've sought;
Let me ne'er with men unjust,
E'er be to confusion brought;
In thy justice save me still,
Keep me safe from ev'ry ill.

II.

Be my habitation strong,
Where I always may resort;
Lord against th' oppressor's wrong,
Thou art still my rock and fort;
From the wicked save thou me,
Sons of wrath and cruelty.

III.

All my hopes in thee O Lord,
God my Saviour, God my friend;
Thee I fear, and trust thy word,
Thee adore, till time shall end:
From the womb thou strengthen'st me,
I will praise thy majesty.

IV.

Though to many here below,
I a wonder seem to be ;
Yet thyself, my God, I know,
Art a refuge strong for me ;
Thou hast fill'd my mouth with praise,
Thee I'll bless through endless days.

PSALM LXXI.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

PART II.

I.

CAST not off thy servant, Lord,
When old age shall me o'ertake ;
Hear me plead thy faithful word,
" I'll ne'er leave thee, ne'er forsake ;
Death and hell I will not fear
If my God, my strength be near.

II.

But my foes presume to say,
I abandon'd am of thee ;
Now they'd make my soul their prey,
None to rescue can they see ;
Fain would they make me afraid,
Saviour, haste, to give me aid.

III.

They shall fall before my face,
Who against me lift their arm,
Cover'd all with deep disgrace,
They shall be who seek my harm ;
I through grace both can and will
Hope in thee, and praise thee still.

IV.

Fain I would thy righteousness,
Love and power to sinners show,
But thy numbers merciless
Far exceeds my thoughts to know ;
Yet thy justice all divine,
Name I will, and only thine.

PSALM LXXI.—1st VERSION, all 7th

PART III.

For an Aged Person.

I.

FROM my youth, O God, hast thou
Graciously instructed me,
And I've publish'd hitherto
Many wonders wrought by thee ;
Now my head with age is gray,
Leave me not, O God, I pray.

II.

That in days to come, I may
Still thy love, and power declare ;
All thy Gospel Grace display,
Through the nations far and near ;
That mankind till time shall end,
On their Saviour may depend.

III.

Now thy Justice, King of Kings,
We with pleasing wonder see ;
Thou alone dost wond'rous things,
Mighty God, none's like to thee ;
No created greatness, dare
With Almighty God compare.

IV.

When I'm troubled, low and weak,
Thou my God shalt quicken me ;
Though in dust my body sleep,
From the grave thou'lt set it free ;
Like my Lord from earth I'll rise,
To behold him in the skies.

V.

Thou wilt make me great, O Lord,
(Thou dost now for me provide,)
I shall rise to heav'n restor'd,
Comforted on ev'ry side ;
Thee my God I'll praise alone,
Israel's God, and Holy one.

VI.

Greatly shall my soul rejoice,
I will shout my Saviour's praise ;
Lips, and tongue, and heart, and voice,
Bless the Lord through endless days ;
Jesus does my foes controll,
Jesus has Redeem'd my Soul.

PSALM LXXI.—c. m.For a Christian Minister.

I.

By thee, O Saviour, from my youth,
Thy servant has been taught ;
Help me to preach thy Gospel truth,
And sing thy wonders wrought.

II.

Forsake me not, O Lord, when I
Old and gray-headed grow ;
Till I thy power and Majesty,
Throughout the world shall show.

III.

Thy precious blood, and right'ous grace,
How deep and high they be ;
Thou hast Redeem'd our ruin'd race,
None can compare with thee.

IV.

Thou, great adversities, O Lord,
And sore, to me didst show ;
Yet shall I hear thy quick'ning word,
From deeps of earth below.

V.

Thou wilt my greatness, and my power,
Increase, and far extend ;
On ev'ry side in grief's dark hour,
Thou wilt me comfort send.

IV.

My tongue thy justice shall proclaim,
Throughout the whole day long ;
For thou hast brought my foes to shame,
Who sought to do me wrong.

PSALM LXXII.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

PART I.

Church and King.

I.

To the King, O Mighty Lord,
Wisdom from above afford ;
And to all his Royal race,
Give thy justice, power, and grace.

II.

May our Sovereign in thy sight,
Judge of Church, and State, aright ;
Taught of Christ the Prince of Peace,
He shall reign in Righteousness.

III.

He shall judge the poor man's cause,
Only by thy Gospel laws ;
Saints from him shall find redress,
When tyrannic foes oppress.

IV.

Fram'd in heav'n born charity,
All thy Churches shall agree ;
Constantly by day, by night,
While the Sun and Moon give light.

V.

Then thy grace shall fall from heav'n,
As the dew to mountains giv'n ;
Or as soft refreshing rain,
Wat'ring ev'ry hill, and plain.

PSALM LXXII.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

PART II.

The glory of Christ's kingdom, and the happiness of his people.

I.

Now the just in peace shall live,
Peace the Prince of Peace shall give,
Peace for them his death procures,
While the sun and moon endures.

II.

He who died upon the tree,
King shall reign from sea to sea ;
His dominion shall extend
To the earth's remotest end.

III.

They who dwell in deserts now,
At the throne of grace shall bow ;
All his foes shall lick the dust,
All confess his sway is just.

IV.

See the kings of Tarnish bring
Presents to their God and King ;
Sheba's king, and Seba's too,
Offer gifts and worship due.

V.

Yea, all Kings their King before
Now shall worship and adore ;
Greek and Jew, and bond and free,
Shall their great Redeemer see.

PSALM LXXII.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

PART III.

The Omnipresence of Christ, and the privileges of his people.

I.

CHRIST who hears the poor man's cry,
Christ to save is ever nigh;
Who no other help that have,
Jesus came to help and save.

II.

He his needy saints shall spare,
Who on earth his image bear;
Faithful souls where'er they be,
Shall his great salvation see.

III.

He from fraud and all that's ill,
Shall redeem his people still;
He shall do his servants good,
Precious in his sight their blood.

IV.

Live forever, Mighty Lord,
By thy creatures all ador'd;
Let thy kingdom come, we pray,
O'er the earth thy sceptre sway.

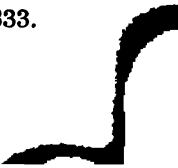

PSALM LXXII.—1st VERSION, all 7s.

PART IV.

A Prophecy now fulfilling, 1833.

I.

SEE the Seed of Gospel grace,
Spring, and grow in ev'ry place;

Like the grass, or Leb'non's trees,
Waving in the evening breeze.

II.

Jesu's name shall still endure,
All his promises are sure ;
Blest in him the world shall be,
While the Sun and Moon we see.

III.

Let the saints in ev'ry place,
Bless the God of Israel's race ;
Lord of Lord's, and King of Kings,
He alone doth wond'rous things.

IV.

All mankind from pole to pole,
Bless the LORD with heart, and soul ;
Praise his name again, again,
Evermore—Amen—Amen.

PSALM LXXII.

1st VERSION.—1st PART, c. m.

Christ.

I.

ALL power, O Father, thou hast giv'n
To Christ thy Son, our Lord ;
He reigns o'er hell, and earth, and heav'n,
According to thy word.

II.

On mountains high is publish'd peace,
On hills, and dales the same ;
And justice, truth, and Gospel grace,
Are preach'd in Jesus' name.

III.

The Lord will save for his dear sake,
The needy, and distress'd ;
And all their foes in pieces break,
Who oft have them oppress'd.

IV.

While Sun and Moon shall rise and set,
The people shall him fear ;
As fertile meadows often wet,
His grace shall bless them here.

V.

The just shall flourish in his days,
And prosper in his reign ;
They ne'er shall cease to sing his praise,
And truth, and peace maintain.

PSALM LXXII.

2nd VERSION.—2nd PART, c. m.

I.

THE Gospel shall from south, to north,
From sea, to sea, extend ;
Like to a river rushing forth,
To earth's remotest end.

II.

At Jesu's name, on bended knees,
Shall saints adore, and trust ;
And those who are his enemies,
Shall bow, and lick the dust.

III.

Both Kings and subjects, far and near,
To him shall praises bring ;
And glorify his name with fear,
Their rightful Lord and King,

IV.

Princes and potentates on earth
Shall bow before his throne,
All, all of high and humble birth
His sovereign power shall own.

PSALM LXXII.—2nd VERSION, 3rd PART, C. M.

Praise.

I.

God shall preserve each humble saint,
When human help is fled ;
He hears th' afflicted poor's complaint.
And sends them timely aid.

II.

From all deceit and outrage too,
He shall their souls set free ;
Right precious in Jehovah's view,
And dear their blood shall be.

III.

Now blest be God, our only Lord,
The God of Israel ;
His wond'rous works and gospel word,
To all the nations tell.

VI.

Blest be his great and glorious name,
While endless ages roll ;

Praise him throughout creation's frame,
Amen, say ev'ry soul

PSALM LXXII.—3rd VERSION, 1st PART, 7's.

1 Prayer for the King, his successor, and the British nation in general.

I.

TEACH the King thy judgements, Lord,
By thy spirit, and thy word ;
Teach his successor thy ways,
Fill her soul with gospel grace.

II.

Let Britannia fear her God,
Walk where Christ her Saviour trod ;
Live in peace and love divine,
While the sun and moon shall shine.

PSALM LXXII —3rd VERSION, 2nd PART, s. m.

Praise.

I.

BLEST be the King of Kings,
The God of Israel,
Who only doeth wond'rous things,
And doeth all things well.

II.

Blest be his glorious name,
Both now and evermore,
Jesus eternally the same,
In wisdom, love, and power.

III.

Let earth and heav'n unite
In one harmonious strain,
And sing his majesty and might
Through ev'ry age. Amen.

PSALM LXXIII.—8 lines, 7's and 6's.

Christ the Believer's portion, &c.

I.

WHOM have I in heav'n but thee,
Or whom on earth below?
Thou my portion, Lord, shalt be,
No other good I know
When my heart shall faint and fail,
When this mortal flesh shall die,
Guide me, Saviour, through the vale,
And raise my soul on high.

II.

Surely they shall perish all,
Who from thy ways depart;
All who disregard thy call,
And die unchang'd in heart.
But 'tis always good for me
To draw near to thee, my Lord;
Here by faith thy face I see,
And learn to keep thy word.

PSALM LXXIV.—1st PART, 6 lines, all 8's.

A Prayer for the restoration of the Jews.

I.

HAST thou cast Israel off, O Lord,
Scatter'd o'er all the earth to mourn ?
O call to mind thy cov'nant word,
Which thou to Jacob's race hast sworn ;
Now if it be thy gracious will,
Return and dwell on Zion's hill.

II.

Lift up thy feet, O God make haste,
Open thine eyes, O Lord, and see
Thine ancient temple lying waste,
According to thy just decree ;
Saviour, thine ancient church restore,
Bid Israel live and sin no more.

III.

How long shall Zion's cruel foes
Blasphe'me thy great and glorious name ?
How long thy gospel word oppose,
And seek to put thy saints to shame ?
Lift up thy hand, thy power exert,
Come Saviour reign in ev'ry heart.

—o—

PSALM LXXIV.—2nd PART, C. M.

Praise.

I.

EARLY and late I'll praises bring,
To God, who gave me birth ;
With heart and voice I'll praise my King
Who reigns o'er heav'n and earth.

II.

Both day and night are thine, O Lord,
The light and darkness too ;
The seasons all obey thy word,
All praise to thee is due.

III.

Summer and winter, cold and heat,
Are subject to thy sway ;
Let sinners worship at thy feet,
And learn to keep thy way.

PSALM LXXV.—C. M.

A Prayer for the King, Queen, and the British Nation in general

I.

GIVE heav'nly wisdom, Lord, we pray,
To Britain's rightful King ;
And let his consort day by day
With him thy praises sing.

II.

O may our sov'reign ever be
Belov'd of thee his Lord ;
And all our rulers rul'd by thee,
According to thy word.

III.

Throughout the land thy sceptre sway,
O God of power and love ;
Let rich and poor thy word obey,
And thy salvation prove.

PSALM LXXVI.—C. M.

The British Church.

I.

IN Britain is Jehovah known,
Where crowds of christians meet,
Here Christ the Lord has fix'd his throne,
And mercy is his seat.

II.

Let Jesus' name be lov'd and fear'd
Throughout the British land ;
If once his judgements are prepar'd,
Who can his vengeance stand.

III.

The wrath of wretched guilty men
Shall but show forth his praise,
And what remains he will restrain,
How just are all his ways.

IV.

Vow to the Lord in holy fear,
All ye that near him dwell ;
Let thanks and praise, and prayer sincere
Your holy anthems swell.

PSALM LXXVII.—C. M.Hope triumphing over Doubts, Fears, &c.

I.

OPPRESS'D with trouble I complain'd,
To God, the Lord, Most High,
Nor was my feeble prayer disdain'd,
For he did hear my cry.

II.

I call'd to mind the days of old,
The years of ancient times ;
My sufferings all to God I told,
To God confess'd my crimes.

III.

Will God forever cast me off,
And favour me no more ?
Shall mercy ever stand aloof,
While mercy I implore ?

IV.

Hath God forgotten to be kind,
Or can his promise fail ;
Will he not call his grace to mind,
While I my sins bewail.

V.

'Tis my infirmity, I said,
And not my Maker's will ;
Trust God, my soul, ne'er doubt his aid,
His word he must fulfil.

VI.

Great God thy way is in the sea,
Thy paths are oft unknown ;
Thy footsteps are conceal'd from me,
And clouds surround thy throne.

VII.

By Moses and by Aaron thou
Led'st Israel's ancient band ;
'Twas thou thyself their foes o'erthrew,
And gave them Canaan's land.

PSALM LXXVIII.—1st PART, C. M.

The wonderful works of God displayed in behalf of Ancient Israel.

I.

I'LL sing the wonders God hath wrought
For Jacob's chosen race,
When like a flock his church he brought
From Egypt by his grace.

II.

Jehovah gave his written law,
His glory was reveal'd,
Jacob his power and goodness saw
On ancient Zoan's field.

III.

He clave for them the mighty deep,
And brought them safely through ;
On either hand, as in an heap
The waters stood to view.

IV.

A cloudy pillar day by day
Appear'd before their sight ;
And with a light of fiery ray
He guided them by night.

V.

With angel's food he fed his flock,
As saith the written word,
And water from the flinty rock,
A type of Christ the Lord.

PSALM LXXVIII.—2nd PART, C. M.

The Justice and Mercy of God exemplified.

I.

WHEN Israel sin'd against the Lord,
 He did their race abhor,
 And gave them over to the sword
 We tremble and adore.

II.

See twice ten thousand souls retire
 At once from earth away ;
 Jehovah's wrath like raging fire
 Consum'd them in one day.

III.

Thy mercies and thy judgments, Lord,
 In ev'ry age appear ;
 Let sinners tremble at thy word,
 And saints rejoice with fear.

PSALM LXXVIII.—3rd PART, T. M.

Election.—TUNE, REDEMPTION.

I.

A MAN of perfect heart,
 Jehovah once did choose ;
 David was set apart
 To govern Israel's house ;
 From the sheep cots, by grace alone,
 He rose to fill the Jewish throne.

II.

With skilfulness of hands,
And in a perfect way,
He taught them God's commands,
And oft for them did pray,
And sang with them sweet songs of praise,
To God, the God of Israel's race.

PSALM LXXIX.—1st PART, C. M.

Prayer.

I.

O LORD in our behalf awake,
Bring thy salvation near ;
Come save us for thy mercy's sake,
From sin and shame, and fear.

II.

Now let the pris'ner's sighs ascend,
Before thy throne on high,
And by thy love and power defend
Poor sinners doom'd to die.

III.

So we who on thy power depend.
Shall give thee thanks always ;
From age to age till time shall end
We'll sing thy constant praise.

PSALM LXXIX.—2nd PART, 6 lines, 8's.

A Prayer for deliverance from Oppressors.

I.

O LORD, the wicked seek to slay,
 Thy people in the British land;
 Arise and help us, now we pray,
 Display thy wonder-working hand;
 Jesus be thou our sure defence,
 Our strength is thine, Omnipotence.

II.

O let our crying reach thine ears,
 Let mercy o'er our sins prevail;
 Save us from all our guilty fears,
 And all the rage of earth and hell;
 Now, now in our behalf awake,
 And save us for thy mercy's sake.

PSALM LXXX.—1st PART, 8 lines, 8's.

The Shepherd of Israel.

I.

O SHEPHERD of Israel give ear,
 Thou Lord, who hast died for thy sheep;
 O Jesus in mercy appear,
 To lead, and to guide, and to keep.
 Protect us, thy people, we pray,
 From lions and wolves set us free;
 No more let us wander or stray,
 But constantly cleave unto thee.

PSALM LXXX.—2nd PART, L. M.

The Election and Reprobation of the Hebrew Nation ; prayer for its final Restoration, &c.—See Rom. 10

I.

REMEMBER Jacob's race, O Lord,
O call to mind thy cov'nant word ;
Made to thy church a lovely tree,
Brought out of Egypt's land by thee.

II.

Planted by thine Almighty hand,
Deep root it took in Canaan's land ;
Its boughs o'er all the vallies spread,
The hills were cover'd with its shade.

III.

But now its boughs all broken are,
And birds and beasts its branches tear ;
Cut down, and burnt with fire we see,
Thy once belov'd and chosen tree.

IV.

Yet God shall save all Israel still,
No creature can resist his will,
Nor alter the eternal plan,
* Of the Almighty Husbandman.

V.

O Lord, stir Israel up to pray,
In this thy glorious gospel day ;
Give faith, and love, and power divine,
And graft them into Christ the vine.

* John 15. i.

VI.

Lover of all the human race,
Display the glories of thy face ;
On all the earth arise and shine,
Claim ev'ry soul of man for thine.

PSALM LXXXI.—C. M.

Praise.

I.

COME. sing aloud to Jacob's God,
Ye saints with heart and voice,
Sing praises to the sov'reign Lord,
And make a joyful noise.

II.

In psalms and hymns of grateful praise,
The Saviour's love proclaim,
Whose goodness as in ancient days
Forever is the same.

III.

Let Jews and Gentiles all agree
In one harmonious strain,
And praise the Holy Trinity
From age to age—Amen.

PSALM LXXXII.—C. M.

God the Righteous Judge of all, &c.

I.

AMONG the mighty sons of earth,
The great Jehovah stands ;

Let all of high and humble birth
Obey his just commands.

II.

Let not the rich oppress the poor,
Unjustly in his sight,
Nor haughty sinners dwell secure
In worldly pomp and might.

III.

I've said of Princes, Ye are gods,
And sons of the Most High,
Yet Kings and Emp'rors, Dukes and Lords
As men shall surely die.

IV.

Arise, O Lord, and judge the earth,
Possess the nations all,
Let all of high and humble birth
Obey the Gospel call.

PSALM LXXXIII.—7's and 6's.

KEEP not silence gracious Lord,
Hold not thy peace we pray,
See thy foes with one accord,
Make tumult all the day ;
Crafty counsels oft they take
'Gainst thy hidden ones and thee ;
Lord in our behalf awake,
O present helper be.

PSALM LXXXIV.—L. M.

Public Worship.

I.

How beautiful thy temples stand,
O Lord of hosts, in this our land ;
In them thy children often meet,
And worship at the Saviour's feet.

II.

One day in thy blest courts to spend,
In hope of Sabbaths ne'er to end,
With all thy people I prefer,
To tens of thousands spent elsewhere.

III.

God is a sun, the Lord a shield,
His light and truth are now reveal'd ;
My heart and soul to him I give ;
Long as I breath, or move, or live.

IV.

The Lord gives grace and glory too,
To upright saints whose hearts are true,
If such I am, 'tis his decree,
No good thing to withhold from me.

PSALM LXXXV.—6 lines, 8's.

The Goodness of God to Israel of old.

I.

LORD ! thou wast kind in ancient days
To Israel's house, thy chosen race ;
The captives at thy sov'reign word,
Were brought to Zion and restor'd ;

From all idolatry set free,
Henceforth they've worship'd none but thee.

II.

When they began in faith to pray,
Thy wrath was quickly turn'd away ;
And still thy love remains the same,
Forever blessed be thy name :
* Zeal for their God they yet retain,
O may they Gospel knowledge gain.

III.

Mercy and truth in Jesus meet,
Justice and peace united are ;
Sinners shall bow and kiss his feet,
And saints his power and love declare ;
Justice and truth shall spring and grow,
And heav'nly joy the earth o'erflow.

IV.

Thy great salvation, mighty Lord,
Is nigh to all who fear thy name ;
Faithful and true's thy ev'ry word,
In ev'ry age and place the same :
The world shall bow at thy command,
And glory dwell in ev'ry land.

PSALM LXXXVI — 1st PART, C. M.

A Prayer under Affliction, &c.

I.

JESUS ! in mercy think on me,
A sinner in distress ;

• Rom. 10. ii.

Oppress'd with grief and poverty,
From thee I seek redress.

II.

O wash me in thy cleansing blood,
And make me holy here ;
Now set me free, thou Son of God,
From sorrow, shame, and fear.

III.

For thou art kind to sinner's all,
And ready to forgive,
And rich in mercy ; they who call
On thee, shall surely live.

IV.

Thy way of truth, apart from sin,
Teach me, O Lord, that I
May fear thy name, and walk therein
To heav'n, my home on high.

V.

O Lord my God, long as I live,
To thee I'll render praise ;
All glory to thy name I'll give,
And sing thy works and ways.

VI.

For thy great mercies shown to me,
My highest thoughts excel ;
Thy saving grace my soul did free
From lowest deeps of hell.

PSALM LXXXVI.—L. M.

The Universal Dominion of God.

I.

OF all the earthly Gods that are,
None with Jehovah can compare ;
His throne eternally shall stand,
Creation bows at his command.

II.

'Twas he that made the earth and sky,
And all the shining worlds on high ;
Angels and men his praise rehearse,
He form'd and rules the Universe.

III.

O'er all his works his care extends,
His tender mercy never ends ;
The heav'nly hosts before him fall,
And own him sov'reign Lord of all.

PSALM LXXXVII.—L. M.

The Security of the Church under the Universal Dominion of Christ.

I.

THE Church securely rests,
By faith, on Christ alone,
Here Jesus, Kings and Priests
Bow down before his throne.
In God's own house, on his own day,
They join to praise his name, and pray.

II.

Of thee Jerusalem,
 What glorious things we hear;
 From thee the Saviour's name
 Is publish'd far and near.
 Thou City of our God and King,
 Thy fame through heav'n and earth shall ring.

III.

Jesus, true *King of peace
 Shall govern nations all;
 And war and strife shall cease
 Throughout this earthly ball:
 The Greek, the Jew, with all below,
 Before his awful throne shall bow.

PSALM LXXXVIII.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

TUNE, MOUNT HERMON.—A Lamentation.

PART I.

I.

SAVE me Lord, to thee I cry,
 Thou my guide art ever nigh,
 Day and night I pray to thee,
 Lord in mercy think on me.

II.

Let my prayer, from heart sincere,
 Find acceptance in thine ear;
 Hear, O hear the moan I make,
 For thy Son, my Saviour's sake.

III.

See my soul by sin oppress'd,
 See my spirit pant for rest,

* Heb. Chap. v.

Life is spent, no strength I have,
Fast I sink into the grave.

IV.

Number'd with the sick I sit
On the borders of the pit ;
I'm as one already dead,
Strength is gone and beauty fled.

V.

Free among the dead, like those
Whom the grave's dread gates enclose ;
Those whom thou rememb'rest not,
Left to putrify and rot.

VI.

Thou hast laid me in the deeps,
Which the earth embosom'd keeps ;
I entomb'd in darkness sigh,
I in dust and ashes lie.

VII.

For my sins I justly smart,
Thy just judgements wound my heart ;
All thy waves that o'er me roll,
Drown me in distress of soul,

VIII.

All my friends hast thou estrang'd,
Those who lov'd me once are chang'd ;
Tied and bound with galling chain,
When shall I come forth again ?

IX.

I in sin was made to mourn,
I am to affliction born.
See me stretch my hands to thee,
Lord in mercy think on me.

PSALM LXXXVIII.—All 7's.

PART II.

I.

WILT thou, Lord, thy wonders show
To the dead, in earth laid low?
How can they of life depriv'd,
Praise thee, till by thee reviv'd?

II.

Shall thy love and kind regard
Be by dust and worms declar'd?
Can thy faithfulness be known,
Or thy power in darkness shown?

III.

Where night's gloom bedims the sight,
Who can see thy glories bright?
How can man thy justice know
In the silent grave below?

IV.

See a fainting sinner, see,
Making his requests to thee;
Hear, O hear my mournful prayer,
Lest I sink into despair.

V.

Why dost thou cast off my soul?
Why refuse to make me whole?
Can'st thou still my suit disdain?
Shall I seek thy face in vain?

VI.

I a sinner born to die,
Prostrate at thy footstool lie,
See my sore distraction, see,
Lord in mercy think on me.

VII.

Griev'd ~~and vex'd~~ from day to day,
 Overwhelm'd in sore dismay,
 Sin and sorrow, shame and fear,
 Rob me of my quiet here.

VIII.

Like the mighty waters, they
 Burst around my troubl'd way ;
 Far from me hast thou remov'd
 All the dearest friends I lov'd.

SALM LXXXVIII.—2nd VERSION, 1st PART,
 6 lines, 8's.

A Sinner seeking Mercy.

I.

O GOD of my salvation, I
 Have pray'd and waited long for thee ;
 Incline thine ear, and hear my cry,
 O let thy mercy come to me :
 My sins forgive, my soul restore,
 And bid the sinner sin no more.

II.

Bound with a chain, my spirit lies,
 Devoid of ev'ry creature hope ;
 Speak, Saviour, and the dead shall rise,
 A word of thine can raise me up :
 My sins forgive, my soul restore,
 And bid the sinner sin no more.

PSALM LXXXVIII.—2nd PART, C. M.

A Prayer under Severe Affliction.

I.

SEE, Lord, a sinner lying low,
 Afflicted and distress'd ;
 Thy righteous judgements press me so,
 That I can find no rest.

II.

I mourn, I groan, from day to day,
 My eyesight fails with grief ;
 Hear me, my God, now hear me pray,
 And haste to my relief.

III.

Shall dust and worms thy name revere,
 In the dark silent grave ?
 Can I when dead thy praise declare,
 Or tell thy power to save ?

IV.

Saviour, I trust in thee alone,
 And weep and pray to thee ;
 Now send salvation from thy throne,
 In love remember me.

PSALM LXXXIX.—1st PART, 8 lines, all 8's.

God our Covenant God in Christ.

I.

I'LL sing of the mercies of God,
 How good and how faithful is he ;
 I firmly believe in his word,
 Reveal'd in the Scripture to me.

My Father hath spoken the word,
 His word is most faithful and true,
 That Christ my Redeemer and Lord
 Shall form all creation anew.

II.

“A cov’nant with Jesus I’ve made,
 “My word I have sworn to fulfill;
 “All people for whom he has bled
 “Shall surely submit to his will.
 “His seed throughout every land,
 “Most firmly establish’d shall be;
 “All power I commit to his hand,
 “And converts as sands of the sea.”

III.

“In all generations have I
 “Unchangeably establish’d his throne;
 “All creatures below and on high
 “Shall worship Jehovah the Son.*
 “For his own good pleasure they are,
 “He formed them all with his word;
 “No angel nor man can compare
 “With Christ their Creator and Lord.”

PSALM LXXXIX.—2nd PART, 7's.

TUNE.—MOUNT HERMON.

To the Holy Trinity.

I.

God is greatly to be fear'd,
 Be his awful name rever'd;

* Heb. i. 6. Phils. ii. 10. 11.

Christians all, where'er ye be,
Praise the Holy Trinity.

II.

Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
Of thy saving strength we boast ;
Thou the creatures all hast made,
Be by all thy works obey'd.

III.

North and south thy power confess,
East and west thy praise express ;
Tabor shall her praises bring,
Hermon shall rejoice and sing.

IV.

Blest are all who hear thy voice,
All who make thy word their choice ;
All who thee, their Saviour know,
Light and joy their souls o'erflow.

V.

Cloath'd with heav'nly righteousness,
Meekness, truth, and ev'ry grace ;
Here by faith thy face they see,
Soon they'll dwell in heaven with thee

PSALM LXXXIX.—3rd PART, L. M.

Rejoicing in God.

I.

IN God alone will we rejoice,
Our only refuge, strength, and stay ;
With all our powers of heart and voice
We'll praise his name from day to day.

II.

On his Almighty only Son
The sins of all the world were laid ;
He dy'd for sinners ev'ry one,
For ev'ry soul his hands had made.

III.

The Father to the Son hath said,
" Sit thou in state at my right hand,
" Till I thine enemies have made
" Bow down at thy supreme command."

IV.

" All power into thy hands I give,
" Power to deliver lost mankind ;
" All who believe on thee shall live,
" In thee they full redemption find."

PSALM LXXXIX —4th PART, C. M.

The Glory of Christ's Kingdom, &c.

I.

" JESUS protects our souls, and shall
" Us safe to glory bring ;
" The Holy One of Israel
" Is our anointed King."

II.

" The Lord himself hath sworn and said,
" In vision from his throne ;
" Sinners believe, your help I've laid
" On my atoning Son."

III.

" His fame through heav'n and earth shall ring
" My chosen servant he ;

“ And with my holy oil my King
“ Anointed is by me.”

IV.

“ His arm of power shall reach afar
“ O’er seas and rivers too ;
“ And creatures all, where’er they are,
“ At Jesus name shall bow.”

V.

“ My first-born Son I’ll make more high
“ Than Kings of any land ;
“ With him who stoop’d to bleed and die
“ My cov’nant firm shall stand.”

VI.

“ His seed shall by my power alone
“ Eternally endure ;
“ And as the days of heav’n, his throne
“ Shall be establish’d sure.”

PSALM XC.—1st PART, L, M.

The Frailty of Man, and the Eternity of God.

I.

LORD Jesus, full of truth and grace,
Thy mercy shall for ever last,
And thou hast been our dwelling place,
In ev’ry generation past.

II.

Before the mountains, world, or sky
Were form’d by thy Almighty word,
Through ev’ry age, O God Most High,
From everlasting thou art Lord.

III.

Unto destruction thou dost turn
The sons of men from day to day.
All human kind of woman born,
Like fleeting shadows pass away.

IV.

Lord God of might and majesty,
How short are ages in thy sight ;
A thousand of our years, with thee
Are only as a watch of night.

V.

Thou carriest us all away,
As with a flood or sweeping stream ;
At thy command we turn to clay,
Our life's a vapour and a dream.

VI.

From time into eternity,
Through death's dark vale we daily pass ;
In health at noon, e'er night we die,
Cut down and wither'd as the grass.

VII.

Our age is three score years and ten,
When past it scarce appears a day,
Or if we reach four score, e'en then
In toil and grief we fade away.

VIII.

Thy awful vengeance who can tell ?
Thine indignation none can bear,
They burn unto the lowest hell,
Thy wrath's according to thy fear.

IX.

Teach us, O Lord, to count our days,
And all our ransom'd powers apply

To wisdom's pleasant sacred ways,
That we may be prepar'd to die.

PSALM XC.—2nd PART, 48's and 26's.

Longing for Christ.—TUNE, TEMPERLEY'S FAREWELL

I.

O JESUS, full of truth and grace,
How long wilt thou conceal thy face,
While we thine absence mourn ;
O send thy holy spirit down,
And take and seal us for thine own,
In mercy, Lord, return.

II.

O satisfy our souls with grace,
Life, health and peace, and righteousness,
Our present Saviour thou !
Nor let thy work to all appear,
Give faith, and love, and filial fear,
And peace, and pardon, now.

III.

"Spare us, good Lord," we humbly pray,
O lengthen out our life's short day,
If such thy will should be.
Establish all our hearts with grace,
So shall we love and keep thy ways,
And live and die for thee.

PSALM XCI.—1st VERSION, L. M.
Safety in God.

I.

He that hath God his refuge made,
Shall dwell secure beneath his shade ;
The Almighty's power protects the just,
Who in their dear Redeemer trust.

II.

My soul, thy Saviour's love and power
Shall be thy fortress and thy tower ;
Hope in his word from day to day,
And make his promises thy stay.

III.

His constant love and guardian care,
Shall keep thee from the fowler's snare ;
O'er thee his mighty wings are spread,
To cover thy defenceless head.

IV.

No terrors that appear by night,
Shall e'er thy happy spirit fright ;
Nor deadly shafts that fly by day,
Nor plagues that oft in darkness stray.

V.

A thousand at thy side shall die,
At thy right hand ten thousand lie,
Yet shall thy life and health remain
To praise the Lamb for sinners slain.

VI.

Since Jesus is thy confidence,
Thy rock, thy refuge, and defence,
He shall throughout thy life's short day
Lead thee in wisdom's narrow way.

VII.

He gives his angels strict commands,
To bear thee safely in their hands,
Lest thou with fiends of hell should'st meet,
Or stones, or gins to catch thy feet.

VIII.

Dragons and snakes that thirst for blood,
And roaring lions of the wood,
Beneath thy feet in death shalt lie,
*But thou shalt never, never die.

PSALM XCI.—2nd VERSION, S. M.

Strong Confidence in God.

I.

THE saints of the Most High,
Need never be afraid,
By night and day their God is nigh,
With his Almighty aid.

II.

My soul thy God revere,
And trust his faithful word ;
Nor fear the pestilence, nor war,
Nor famine, spear, nor sword.

III.

Though tens of thousands fall
And perish at thy side,
Still hope in God, he saveth all
Who in his word confide.

* John xi. 26.

IV.

Thou with thine eyes shalt see
The sons of pride cast down,
And die in their iniquity,
Beneath their Maker's frown.

V.

My soul, praise thou the Lord,
Thy Saviour and thy friend ;
Hope in him still, believe his word,
Till grace in glory end.

PSALM XCI —3rd VERSION, 6 lines, 8's.

The Safety of God's People.

I.

THE Lord preserves his people all,
Who fear his name, and on him call ;
Angels surround them night and day,
To keep them in fair virtue's way :
Obedient to their God's commands,
They bear his saints up in their hands.

II.

The righteous shall hold on his way,
In spite of snakes and beasts of prey ;
Though sons of earth against them join,
And all the hosts of hell combine :
Sin, death, and hell, they scorn to fear,
For God their strength is ever near.

III.

" I'll save my people," saith the Lord,
" According to my faithful word ;

" Since they have set their love on me,
" From all their foes I'll set them free :
" Long life and health on them bestow,
" To them my great salvation show."

PSALM XCII.—C. M.

Thanksgiving and Praise.

I.

'Tis good to thank and bless the Lord,
And shout his praises high ;
Most true and faithful is his word,
His mercy's ever nigh.

II.

Loud, as with ten string'd instrument,
And harp of solemn sound ;
To praise my God I'm fully bent,
With all his saints around.

III.

I'll sing thy loving kindness, Lord,
Before the dawning light ;
And all thy faithfulness record,
Within my heart at night.

IV.

Thy counsels all are deep and high,
None can compare with thee ;
Tho' brutish men that swear and lie,
Thy wonders never see.

V.

But faithful saints shall spring and grow,
And holy fruit shall bear ;

As palm trees and as cedars blow,
They are thy constant care.

PSALM XCIII.—L. M.

The power, Majesty, faithfulness, and universal Dominion of God.

I.

JEHOVAH reigns enthron'd in light,
Girded with Majesty and might;
The worlds he made remain secure,
Upheld by his Almighty power.

II.

I'll sing his power, and truth, and love,
Eternal in his throne above;
His saving grace for all is free,
It reaches all, it reaches me.

III.

The floods and seas that rage and swell,
His boundless power and wisdom tell;
He made them, and is mightier far
Than winds, and storms, and waters are.

IV.

His word of grace is try'd and sure,
His mercy ever shall endure,
And all his works aloud proclaim,
The Lord unchangeably the same.

PSALM XCIV.—1st PART, 6 lines, 8's.

ALMIGHTY God thy power display,
Vengeance belongs to thee alone;
M

Hear thou, and answer when we pray,
And send salvation from thy throne,
Nor let our foes forever boast,
And say our hope in thee is lost.

PSALM XCIV.—2nd PART, C. M.

I.

THAT man is truly bless'd, O Lord,
Whom thou dost now chastise,
And teach to understand thy word,
Where heav'nly treasure lies.

II. .

Thou never, never wilt forsake
Thy saints who fear thy name;
* By force they shall the kingdom take,
And all thy love proclaim.

III.

Had'st thou not helped me, O Lord,
By thy Almighty power,
I'd perish'd, but thy faithful word
Upholds me to this hour.

IV.

When crowds of thoughts impress my head,
And through my bosom roll;
Thy comforts still thou dost impart,
Thy love delights my soul.

* Matt. xi. 12.

PSALM XCV.—1st VERSION, 8 lines, all 7's.

Praise.

I.

COME ye saints with heart and voice,
Let us sing unto the Lord,
God our rock, our health, our choice,
Let us bless with one accord ;
Let us come before his face,
Let us at his footstool fall,
Sing we psalms of grateful praise,
To the sovereign Lord of all.

II.

Why? the Lord we cannot doubt,
Is a great and mighty God ;
King above all Gods throughout,
All the spacious earth abroad,
Secret parts of earth most deep,
All the corners of the land,
Hills and rocky mountains steep,
He upholds them with his hand.

III.

See what wonders God has wrought,
Seas and waters all are his,
He at first from nothing brought
Earth and all that therein is ;
Let us then with one consent
At his throne devoutly fall,
Praise the Lord most excellent,
God who made the creatures all.

IV.

Why? Jehovah is our God,
He doth for us all provide,

We're his people, bought with blood,
 Sheep for whom our shepherd died;
 We will never cease to praise,
 We will never cease to love,
 We will bless our God always,
 While we breathe, and live, and move.

PSALM XCV.—2nd VERSION, 1st PART, P. M.

Praise.

I.

O COME let us sing to Jesus our King,
 With heart and with voice, [choice.
 He's our strength and salvation, our hope and our

II.

'Tis right and 'tis meet to bow at his feet,
 And bless his dear name,
 And with psalms of thanksgiving his praises proclaim

III.

For all Adam's race in store he has grace,
 His mercy is free;
 For kings and for beggars, and sinners like me.

IV.

'Twas he that gave birth to the deep of the earth
 The mountains and seas
 Were made by his power, and fulfil his decrees.

V.

O come let us all with reverence fall,
 And kneel before God,
 Bow down to our Saviour, for he is *THE LORD

* Jehovah, in the Hebrew Bible.

VI.

Our souls he shall keep, for we are his sheep,
 Sustain'd by his hand,
 And fed in his pasture, in this happy land.

PSALM XCV.—2nd PART, L. M.

The Voice of God.*

I.

HEAR ye my voice, saith God most high,
 To day, ye sinners, lest ye die ;
 From all your sinful ways depart,
 Harden no more your stubborn heart.

II.

For, if ye, like the ancient Jews,
 My great salvation do refuse,
 My promis'd rest ye ne'er shall see,
 In time nor in eternity.

PSALM XCVI.—1st PART, 8 lines, 8's.

Universal Praise.

I.

O SING to the Lord a new song,
 All creatures on earth and in sky ;
 Rejoice in him all the day long,
 And lift up your voices on high.
 Ye Britons with reverence bow,
 And bless your Creator's great name ;
 Most merciful, faithful, and true,
 Forever and ever the same.

II.

Jehovah our Maker is great,
The Lord our Redeemer is good ;
O praise him in church and in state,
Who ransom'd the world with his blood.
Jehovah the father we'll bless,
Jehovah the son we'll revere ;
Jehovah the spirit confess,
And worship with reverence and fear.

PSALM XCVI.—2nd PART, C. M.

I.

JEHOVAH judgeth righteously,
Throughout his wide domain ;
He reigns o'er heav'n, and earth, and sea,
And shall forever reign.

II.

Let heav'n rejoice, let earth be glad,
And all that in them dwell ;
The Lord our God, who all things made,
Rules all the nations well.

III.

Ye creatures all, your praises bring
To God the sov'reign Lord ;
Let universal nature sing
His wond'rous works and word.

PSALM XCVII.—C. M.

'ehovah reigneth. Britons exhorted to praise him.

I.

JEHOVAH reigns o'er heav'n and earth,
Come sing your Maker's praise ;
Ye British isles, with sacred mirth,
Proclaim his works and ways.

II.

Though clouds and darkness round him are,
By faith our Lord we see ;
No creature can his anger bear,
Nor from his presence flee.

III.

Zion hath heard thy voice, O Lord,
And Britain shall rejoice,
And sing thy wond'rous works and word,
With cheerful heart and voice.

IV.

Let all that love and fear the Lord,
Hate ev'ry evil way ;
Deep in your hearts his love record,
And make his word your stay.

V.

Light for the right'ous here is sown,
And joy for the sincere ;
This blessed truth is felt and known
By christians far and near.

VI.

Rejoice ye right'ous in the Lord,
Adore and bless his name ;
His wond'rous works, his gospel word,
From age to age proclaim.

PSALM XCVIII.—1st PART, T. M.

A Song of Praise to Christ.

I.

SING a new song of praise,
To Christ the king of kings ;
Proclaim his works and ways,
Who doeth wond'rous things.
Jesus who died on yonder tree,
Has got himself the victory.

II.

Salvation in his name,
Both men and angels sing ;
The dear Redeemer's fame
Thro' earth and heav'n shall ring.
With earth and heav'n I'll join to tell,
My Jesus doeth all things well.

PSALM XCVIII.—2nd PART, all 7's.

A general Exhortation to Praise God.

I.

MAKE a joyful noise to God,
All mankind, at home, abroad ;
Shout and sing the Saviour's name,
With a psalm his praise proclaim.

II.

Sing with harp and cornet too,
Sing his praise who died for you,
Sing his power with trumpet sound,
Sing his love the world around

III.

Let the sea from shore to shore,
Lift its waves, and foam, and roar ;
Earth and all that in it dwell,
Jesus' love to sinners tell.

IV.

Creatures all, wherever found,
Rivers, floods, and solid ground ;
Fruitful fields, and desert sands,
Praise the Lord and clap your hands.

V.

Christ in glory shall descend,
Ev'ry knee to him shall bend ;
He shall judge with equity,
All mankind from sea to sea.

PSALM XCIX —6 lines, all 8's.

I.

JEHOVAH reigns, let all mankind
Tremble and fear before their king ;
Let ev'ry understanding mind
His mercy and his justice sing.
The Lord is great, the Lord is high
Above his works in earth and sky.

II.

Let ev'ry creature bless thy name,
O God, most holy, just and true ;
In ev'ry age and place the same,
How great, how terrible art thou.
Let earthly kings thy power confess,
And sing thy justice and thy grace.

III.

Extol your Maker and your Lord,
Right humbly at his footstool fall ;
Praise him ye saints with one accord,
Whose kingdom ruleth over all.
Let ev'ry soul, in ev'ry place,
Sing praises to the God of grace.

PSALM C.—1st VERSION, L. M.

A general Exhortation to Praise God.

I.

YE people all, in ev'ry land,
With joyful noise your voices raise ;
Obey Jehovah's just command,
Serve him with gladness all your days.

II.

With rev'rent awe approach his throne,
And humbly bow before his face ;
Be sure the Lord is God alone,
Creator of the human race.

III.

We are his people, we his sheep,
Fed in his pasture day by day ;
His flock he will in safety keep,
In virtue's path, in wisdom's way.

IV.

Enter his holy temple gate,
From thence into his courts repair ;
In psalms and hymns your thanks repeat,
And sing his power and goodness there.

V.

For God our God is just and good,
To day as yesterday that's past ;
His truth which always firmly stood
Through ev'ry future age shall last.

PSALM C.—2nd VERSION, L. M.

I.

YE people all, with one accord,
Adore your Maker and your Lord ;
Lift up your hearts, your voices raise,
And sing Jehovah's constant praise.

II.

Know that the Lord, the God of grace,
Made creatures all, in ev'ry place ;
But they are his peculiar care,
Who love his holy house of prayer.

III.

They are his people, they his sheep,
Who love and strive his laws to keep ;
In the green pastures of his word
They taste the goodness of their Lord.

IV.

Then let us hasten to his gate,
And for his great salvation wait ;
Within his courts devoutly fall,
And crown him sov'reign Lord of all.

V.

The Lord in ev'ry age the same,
Let ev'ry creature bless his name ;

His truth shall stand forever fast,
His mercy shall forever last.

PSALM C.—3rd VERSION, C. M.

I.

With joyful noise, ye people all
To God your voices raise ;
Right humbly at his footstool fall,
And sound his highest praise.

II.

'Tis he that made the human race
Of ev'ry clime and hue ;
Come sing his power, and truth, and grace,
All praise to him is due.

III.

We are his flock who love the Lord,
And walk in wisdom's way ;
In the green pastures of his word
He keeps us night and day.

IV.

Then let us hasten to his gate,
And to his courts draw near ;
With rev'rence in his temple wait,
And worship in his fear.

V.

For God most holy, good, and just,
Forever is the same ;
Let all mankind his promise trust,
And praise his glorious name.

PSALM CI.—C. M.
For the Master of a Family.

I.

OF mercy and of judgements just,
I'll sing, O God to thee ;
In thee I put my hope and trust,
When wilt thou visit me ?

II.

Thy heav'nly wisdom, Lord, bestow,
Instruct me in thy way ;
Preserve my life from ev'ry foe,
Be thou my strength and stay.

III.

My house I consecrate to thee,
My heart shall be thy throne,
And I, with all my family,
Will worship thee alone.

IV.

My servants all shall serve the Lord,
And dwell before my face ;
But those who disregard his word
With me shall have no place.

V.

Dissembl'rs walking in disguise,
With me shall never dwell ;
The sons of wrath, and spite and lies
I'll from my house expel.

VI.

* I and my house will serve the Lord,
While life and breath shall last ;
We'll sing and pray, and read his word
Till life's short day is past.

* Joshua xxiv. 15.

PSALM CII.—1st VERSION, 1st PART, all 7's.

I.

LORD ! my prayer in mercy hear,
Lend, O lend thy gracious ear ;
Let my voice thy pity move,
Send an answer from above.

II.

In thy wrath hide not thy face,
I in trouble need thy grace ;
Answer now my soul's request,
O my Saviour give me rest.

III.

See my days consume like smoke,
As an hearth with heat burnt up ;
See my soul of peace bereft,
Moisture all my bones has left.

IV.

Weary days and nights I pass,
Smitten, wither'd as the grass ;
Whilst from me thy face is hid,
I forget to eat my bread.

V.

Father, my affliction see,
* I have sin'd 'gainst heav'n and thee ;
See my bones cleave to my skin,
I've no rest because of sin.

VI.

As a Pelican am I,
From my foes compell'd to fly ;
Like an Owl alone by night,
In the desert loathing light.

* Luke xv. 18.

VII.

Watching here I make my moan,
 As a Sparrow left alone ;
 By my own relations left,
 Of my former friends bereft.

VIII.

Num'rous foes from day to day,
 Seek my shame and would me slay ;
 Ill of me they often speak,
 Each and all my ruin seek.

IX.

Humbled at my Saviour's feet,
 Ashes I for bread did eat ;
 Sore oppress'd with griefs and fears,
 Mingled was my drink with tears.

X.

I was smitten with thy blast,
 Thy just judgments o'er me past ;
 Still thy justice, Lord, I own,
 Rais'd by thee, by thee cast down.

PSALM CII.—1st VERSION, 2nd PART, all 7's.

I.

LIKE a shade my days appear,
 Quickly fly my minutes here ;
 As the with'ring grass am I,
 Sprung from earth to fade and die.

II.

But O Christ, from changes free,
 Thou eternally shalt be ;

God, unchangeably the same,
Age to age shall praise thy name.

III.

Thou shalt surely Zion save,
Thou shalt rise, and mercy have ;
Now's the time by thee design'd,
* Thou wilt save all human kind.

IV.

See thy church with joy appear,
Living stones cemented here ;
Happy saints in thee who trust,
Precious in thy sight's their dust.

V.

Nations all thy name shall fear,
Yea all kings shall thee revere ;
Black, and white, and Greek, and Jew,
Ev'ry knee to thee shall bow.

VI.

Jesus ! in thy word we hope,
Thou wilt build our Zion up ;
All thy saints in spotless white,
Thou shalt raise to glory bright.

VII.

Those who now no helper have,
Thou wilt comfort, help, and save ;
They are precious in thine eyes,
Thou their prayer wilt ne'er despise.

* Eph. i. 9. 10.

PSALM CII—3rd PART, all 7's.

I.

NATIONS yet unborn, O Lord,
 Thy salvation shall record ;
 Thou hast died for all our race,
 Thou wilt save the world by grace.

II.

From his sanctuary's height
 God looks down with glory bright ;
 Rich and poor, and young, and old,
 All mankind his eyes behold.

III.

Praying captives in distress,
 Jesus hears, and brings redress ;
 Mourners left of men to die,
 Christ shall raise to joys on high.

IV.

Thy free mercy, gracious Lord,
 Sion gladly shall record ;
 In Jerusalem we'll sing,
 Christ our prophet, priest, and king.

V.

Here when saints together meet,
 When they bow at Jesus' feet ;
 Kingdoms all with one accord,
 Shall concur to serve the Lord.

PSALM CII.—1st VERSION, 4th PART, all 7's.

I.

God ! my days are shorten'd here,
 Fails my strength, my end is near ;
 N

E'er my nature's course expires,
Days to which my youth aspires.

II.

Spare me, O good Lord, I pray,
Take not yet my life away ;
Generations all proclaim,
Thee eternally the same.

III.

Thou, O Lord, of old gav'st birth,
To this wide extended earth ;
Thou hast made the heav'ns likewise,
Sun, and moon, and stars, and skies.

IV.

They shall perish in a day,
Heav'n and earth shall pass away ;
As a vesture they shall be,
Changed by thy supreme decree.

V.

But with thee, my God, my friend,
Years with thee shall never end ;
And thy saints before thy sight,
Firm shall stand in glory bright.

PSALM CII.—2nd VERSION, 1st PART, C. M.
A Prayer for Deliverance from Affliction, &c.

I.

HEAR thou my cry, O God, and let
My prayer ascend to thee ;
O never Lord my soul forget,
Nor hide thy face from me.

II.

Bow down thine ear, in mercy bow,
And help me lest I die ;
Come quickly, Lord, come save me now,
Send succour from on high.

III.

Behold my days consume away,
As smoke they vanish here ;
My bones are dried like dust or clay,
When shall thy grace appear ?

IV.

I am become like wither'd grass,
And bowed down with grief ;
What dreary days and nights I pass !
Come Lord to my relief.

V.

Oppress'd from day to day I groan,
My bones cleave to my skin ;
I'm like a sparrow left alone,
Till saved from all my sin.

VI.

Or as a pelican or owl,
Far from my God I mourn ;
Come Jesus come, and save my soul,
In mercy Lord return.

PSALM CII.—2nd VERSION, 2nd PART, C. M.

I.

JESUS my Saviour, and my Lord,
Forever is the same ;

Let all mankind with one accord,
Unite to bless his name.

II.

Throughout the universe he reigns,
How boundless is his might ;
The worlds he made, he still sustains,
And doeth all things right.

III.

All people shall of God be taught,
And all shall understand,
Since Jesus has the nations bought,
All men in ev'ry land.

IV.

Surely he'll build his churches up,
And make them holy here ;
Hope in the Lord, ye sinners hope,
Your full redemption's near.

V.

All, all your woes to him are known,
In whom you 've life and breath ;
He hears the prisoners when they groan,
And are giv'n o'er for death.

VI

On His Omnipotence rely,
He'll break your iron chains ;
O'er all his works below, on high,
The Almighty Jesus reigns.

PSALM CII.—2nd VERSION, 3rd PART, L. M.

For an Afflicted Person.

I.

WHILE christians meet to praise and pray,
 In God's own house, on his own day ;
 Oppress'd with sickness here I lie,
 And often fear that I shall die.

II.

O Saviour, full of truth and grace,
 Righteous are all thy works and ways ;
 If now it be thy blessed will,
 Do thou my heart's desire fulfil.

III.

O lengthen out my life's short day,
 Prop for a while my feeble clay ;
 And may my few remaining days
 Be all devoted to thy praise.

IV.

Unchangeably thou art the same,
 Forever blessed be thy name ;
 Happy are all that trust in thee,
 Forever sure their faith shall be.

PSALM CIII —1st PART, 6 lines, all 7's

Praise to God for Temporal and Spiritual Blessings, particularly Forgiveness of Sin, &c.—See Matt. ix. 6.

I.

BLESS Jehovah, O my soul,
 All within me praise his name ;

Bless the Lord who made thee whole,
Jesus' dying love proclaim :
Jesus did thy sins forgive,
Heal'd thy wounds, and bade thee live.

II.

Mighty is my Lord to save,
All the human race and me ;
He can rescue from the grave,
And from sin and fear set free ;
Jesus' love what tongue can tell ?
Jesus' love's unspeakable.

III.

Jesus fills my soul with good,
Faithful is his word, and true ;
He gives life, and health, and food,
He gives grace and glory too :
Jesus saves from death and hell,
Jesus doeth all things well.

PSALM CIII.—2nd PART, 6 lines, 8's.

The unbounded Goodness and Mercy of God.

I.

JEHOVAH makes his mercy known,
To ev'ry soul of Adam's race ;
He sends salvation from his throne,
To ev'ry land, to ev'ry place,
That all mankind with one consent,
Might know and keep his covenant.

II.

He doth not always chide, we see,
Nor from his gracious purpose swerve ;

For sin and for iniquity,
 We're punish'd less than we deserve ;
 To all our race his grace extends,
 His love to sinners never ends.

III.

Far as the east is from the west,
 He hath from us our sins remov'd ;
 * Come sinners, Christ will give you rest,
 By him you're pity'd and beloved ;
 Let ev'ry burden'd sinner come,
 In Jesus' arms there yet is room.

PSALM CIII.—3rd PART, L. M.

The Universal Dominion of Jehovah. A general Exhortation to Praise Him.

I.

IN heav'n the Lord hath fix'd his throne,
 And all its hosts before him fall ;
 On earth he makes his glory known,
 His kingdom ruleth over all.

II.

Ye angels that in strength excel,
 Bless ye the God of love and might ;
 And all ye saints that round him dwell,
 Array'd in pure and spotless white.

III.

All ye his ministers below,
 Unite with all the choirs above ;

* Matt. ix. 28, 29, 30.

Jehovah's power and glory show ;
Bless ye the Lord of life and love.

IV.

With all his works both far and near,
In ev'ry place, from pole to pole ;
Jehovah's name I will revere,
With all my heart, and mind, and soul.

PSALM CIV.—1st PART, 6 lines, all 7's.
The Goodness of God in Creation and Providence.

I.

BLESS Jehovah, O my soul ;
O my God ! how great art thou ;
Nature under thy controul,
Speaks thee holy, just and true ;
All thy works ascribe to thee,
Honour, might, and majesty.

II.

Cloath'd with light as with a robe,
None can with the Lord compare ;
Maker of the solid globe,
Earth and water, fire and air :
Thou, O God, the heav'ns hast spread,
As a curtain o'er our head.

III.

Clouds and storms thy chariots are,
Winds and seas obey thy word ;
All Creation is thy care,
Be by all thy works ador'd :
Creatures all, your tribute bring,
Praise the Universal King.

PSALM CIV.—2nd PART, L. M.

The Unbounded Power and Goodness of God.

I.

GREAT is thy power and love, my God,
Both earth and heav'n declare thee good ;
Thou giv'st the seas their fixed bound,
And showers to fertilize the ground.

II.

Both man and beast thy hand doth feed,
Thou giv'st them all whate'er they need ;
The winged tribes in rapturous lays,
Among the boughs show forth thy praise.

III.

Birds, fish, and dragons, of the deeps,
Thy hand supplies, thy bounty keeps ;
Bread upon man thy hand bestows,
From thee our ev'ry blessing flows.

PSALM CIV.—3rd PART, 6 lines, 8's.

The wonderful works of God.

I.

THY works how vast through air and sea,
In heav'n, and o'er this earthly ball ;
Lord God of might and majesty,
In wisdom hast thou made them all,
Thy throne is fix'd in heav'n above,
Where saints and angels sing thy love.

II.

Thy wond'rous works, thy power declare,
All glory to thy name is due ;

Beasts, wild and tam'd, where'er they are,
 And men of ev'ry clime and hue ;
 The raging seas obey thy word,
 And earth and air confess their Lord.

III.

If for our sins thou hid'st thy face,
 In deep distress to heav'n we sigh ;
 If thou withhold'st preserving grace,
 And tak'st away our breath, we die ;
 But spare us, Lord, we humbly pray,
 O lengthen out our life's short day.

IV.

Thy truth and wisdom, mighty God,
 Through endless ages shall endure ;
 Let saints and angels sing aloud,
 Thy boundless love, and saving power ;
 Thy mercy shall forever last,
 When years and hours, and time are past.

V.

While I have breath I'll praise the Lord,
 With all my heart, and mind, and voice ;
 Redeeming love I will record,
 And in my Saviour's strength rejoice ;
 I'll make his promises my stay,
 And bless his name from day to day.

 PSALM CV.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

PART I.

An Exhortation to Seek and Praise God.

I.

SEEK the Lord, and praise his name,
 Earth and sea his love proclaim ;

Make his actions known among
Ev'ry land, with joyful song.

II.

All your ransom'd powers employ,
Sing ye psalms with holy joy ;
Hearts and tongues, his works proclaim,
Shout for joy the Saviour's name.

III.

Ever be his name ador'd,
Holy, holy, is the Lord ;
Ye who seek his glorious face,
Triumph in his saving grace.

IV.

Seek the Lord from day to day,
Seek his face, and strength alway ;
Seek with persevering zeal,
Wait his boundless love to feel.

V.

Now with admiration view
All his judgements just and true ;
Call his bleeding love to mind,
Jesus died for all mankind.

VI.

Ye, his servant Abraham's seed,
See ! behold your Saviour bleed ;
Isaac's sons, and Jacob's race,
Homage pay to Jesus' grace.

VII.

Christ ! the everlasting God,
Has for you the wine-press trod ;

* O'er the earth his judgements true,
Now are verifi'd in you.

VIII.

Yet the cov'nant of his will,
He in love remembers still ;
Yea ! a thousand ages prove,
God, our God, is only love.

PSALM CV.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

PART II.

God's Covenant with Abraham, &c.

I.

God ! a covenant of grace,
Made with Araham and his race ;
Bound by oath, it firmly stood,
And was solemnly made good.

II.

For a law ordain'd to be Kept by Jacob's progeny ;
Fully God his will reveal'd,
And the holy compact seal'd.

III.

Thus th' Almighty, " As I live,
Canaan's land to you I'll give ;"
This shall your possession be,
This your lot by my decree.

IV.

Few were they, a feeble band,
Few and strangers in the land ;

Yet did they withstand their foes,
Who in arms against them rose.

V.

Christ their rock, their joy, their song,
Suffer'd none to do them wrong ;
He redeem'd the souls he lov'd,
Kings for them he oft reprov'd.

PSALM CV.—1st VERSION, all 7's.

PART III.

Israel brought out of Egypt, fed in the wilderness, and planted in Canaan.

I.

God brought out his chosen race,
Rich from Egypt by his grace ;
Not one sickly could be found,
Through their numerous tribes around.

II.

Egypt's sons were glad in heart,
When God's Israel did depart ;
Fear of the Almighty's power,
Seiz'd them in that awful hour.

III.

God with cloud his church did hide
From the oppressive sons of pride ;
And with fire he clear'd their way,
Through each night, till dawn of day.

IV.

He with quails his people fed,
When to him they cry'd for bread ;

IV.

Obeys his just commandments all,
As in his written word ;
His power can raise you when ye fall,
Praise ye the faithful Lord.

PSALM CVI.—1st VERSION, 10's and 11's.

Praise.

I.

O PRAISE ye the Lord, give thanks to his name,
The truth of his word is always the same ;
Rejoice, O believer, in Jesus secure,
His mercy forever to thee shall endure.

II.

But who can express the love of my Lord ?
Or half of his grace and mercy record ?
His favour extendeth to sinners like me,
His love never endeth who dy'd on the tree

III.

How happy are they who judgements do keep,
Who go not astray like wandering sheep ;
To whatever nation or tribe they belong,
God is their salvation, their joy, and their song.

IV.

O praise ye the Lord, speak good of his name.
The truth of his word is always the same ;
Rejoice, O believer, in Jesus secure,
His mercy forever to thee shall endure.

PSALM CVI.—1st VERSION, 2nd PART, C. M.

Prayer and Praise.

I.

IN love remember me, O Lord,
And to my prayer give ear ;
Let thy salvation, O my God,
In my behalf appear.

II.

That I thy chosens' good may see,
And in their joy rejoice ;
Remember me, and visit me,
My God, my hope, my choice.

III.

Thy people save, O God Most High,
From all that do them wrong ;
Then shall we praise thy Majesty,
In a triumphant song.

IV.

Jehovah, Israel's God we'll bless,
While endless ages roll ;
In psalms and hymns his praise express,
Amen, say ev'ry soul

PSALM CVI.—2nd VERSION, all 7's.

An Exhortation to Praise God.

I.

PRAISE the Lord, give thanks and sing,
Constantly your praises bring ;
Bless his name for favours past,
Jesus' mercies ever last.

O

II.

Who can tell his acts of might ?
 Who describe his glories bright ?
 Who can all his praises show,
 As his name deserves below ?

III.

Blest are they who judgements keep,
 Like the Saviour, mild and meek ;
 They who rule their heart's desires,
 As God's holy law requires.

IV.

Pour upon me from above,
 Mighty God, thy grace and love ;
 Let me all thy mercies own,
 To thy chosen people shown.

V.

Thus with thine elect may I
 Sing for joy triumphantly ;
 See with them thy glories shine,
 Own with them thy power divine.

PSALM CVI.—2nd VERSION, all 7's.

PART II.

For the Jews, Confession of Sin, what God did for their Fathers, &c.

I.

LIKE our fathers, now we see,
 We have done iniquity ;
 We in deed, and word, and thought,
 Wickedly have folly wrought.

II.

Lord ! our sires in Egypt's land,
 Ne'er thy ways did understand ;
 Numerous mercies wrought by thee,
 Their blind eyes could never see.

III.

Hence at the Red Sea did they
 Tempt thy Christ in wrath to slay ;
 Yet he sav'd them in that hour,
 To make known his name and power.

IV.

At the Saviour's high command,
 Waves congeal'd as walls did stand ;
 On dry land, did Christ their rock,
 As a shepherd lead his flock.

V.

Those who did their ruin seek,
 They saw perish in the deep ;
 Then they sang Jehovah's praise,
 Glorious in his works and ways.

PSALM CVI.—2nd VERSION, all 7's.

PART III.

The Rebellion of Ancient Israel, the Tempted Christ, &c. &c.

I.

ANCIENT Israel soon forgot,
 All the wonders God had wrought ;
 For his counsel, good and great,
 They did not with patience wait.

II.

In the desert, long did they
Grieve his spirit, day by day ;
Christ they tempted with their lust,
Christ whom they were bound to trust.

III.

Therefore God in righteous ire,
Gave them all their heart's desire ;
Gave them flesh, and heard their call,
But made lean their souls with all.

IV.

Aaron yea, and Moses too,
Saints of God, they envied now ;
Then the earth did open wide,
Down the rebels sank, and died.

V.

They a calf in Horeb made,
" This be Israel's God," they said ;
But as they to idols turn'd,
Flaming fire the wicked burn'd.

VI.

Thus did they their glory change,
For idolatry most strange ;
All the wonders God had wrought,
Faithless Israel soon forgot.

VII.

Then the Lord in anger rose,
To destroy them as his foes ;
Till meek Moses in that day,
Turn'd his wrath by prayer away.

VIII.

They the pleasant land despis'd,
 Nor Jehovah's promise priz'd;
 Would not hearken to his word;
 Would not trust in Christ the Lord.

IX.

-In the wilderness, therefore,
 God did lift his hand, and swore;
 They should ne'er enjoy his rest,
 With the promis'd blessing blest.

X.

Hence in all the nations, where
 He dispers'd them here and there;
 They by plagues, or heathen bands,
 Were o'erthrown in various lands.

PSALM CVI.—2nd VERSION, all 7's.

PART IV.

God's Judgements and Mercies to Ancient Israel.

I.

ISRAEL sins of deepest dye,
 Fired with wrath, the Lord Most High,
 So that he, their sov'reign Lord,
 His inheritance abhor'd.

II.

He defenceless left them then,
 To the pagan sons of men;
 Subject to a heathen band,
 Wicked foes did them command.

III.

But though grieved with their crimes,
God did save them many times ;
Yet did he chastise them so,
As to bring them very low.

IV.

Whensoe'er they did repent,
God as often did relent,
And in answer to their cry,
Brought his cov'nant mercy nigh.

V.

He compassion did impart
To their foes obdurate heart ;
Taught the conquerers to know,
Pity for the captive's woe.

VI.

Break, O Lord, thy Israel's bands,
Bring them back from heathen lands,
Then we'll triumph and adore,
Thank and praise thee evermore.

VII.

Let the God of Israel be
Blest to all eternity ;
Angels, men, with one accord,
Say Amen and praise the Lord.

PSALM CVII.—1st PART, T. M.

General Thanksgiving.

I.

GIVE thanks unto the Lord,
Ye sons of Adam all,

Believe his faithful word,
 And at his footstool fall ;
 His truth forever stands secure,
 His mercy ever shall endure.

II.

Let ransom'd sinners say,
 The Lord is good and just ;
 Let all believe and pray,
 And in the Saviour trust,
 He hears whene'er in faith we cry.
 And sends us mercy from on high.

III.

When sore distress'd we mourn,
 Or groan beneath our load,
 God's spirit shall return,
 T' apply our Saviours blood ;
 And guide us in the narrow way,
 To realms of everlasting day.

PSALM CVII.—2nd PART, C. M.

Deliverance from Despair.

I.

JEHOVAH hears th' afflicted cry,
 For whom the Lamb was slain ;
 'Twas ne'er his pleasure they should die,
 Or dead in sin remain.

II.

Although in darkness long they mourn,
 O'erwhelm'd with sin and grief ;
 Jesus in mercy shall return,
 And bring them sure relief.

III.

Because they slighted the Most High,
And trifl'd with his grace,
He left them in their sins to lie,
And justly hid his face.

IV.

Laden with guilt, and bowed down
With toil their spirits fail'd ;
Then did they his just judgements own.
And o'er their sins bewail'd.

V.

When creature help was fled and gone,
To God they humbly pray'd ;
*And Jesus made his mercy known,
On him their help was laid.

VI.

He broke the bars of hell and death,
All power is in his hands ;
Let all above and all beneath
Obey his just commands.

PSALM CVII —3rd PART, all 10's.

Sin Punished in this World.

I.

FOOLS who delight to walk in crooked ways,
Bring on themselves affliction and disgrace ;
Their souls abhor the most delicious food,
Brought near the grave, they taste no real good.

* Isa. lxi. 1.—Luke iv. 18, 19.—Psalm 87, 18, 19.

II.

y, happy life of temperance,
 n'd of God, our comfort springs from hence;
 admir'd by all the wise and good,
 ng through Christ, to glory and to God.

III.

) unhappy all who go astray,
 o their fleshly passions fall a prey;
 r'd, unblest'd, in Satan's chains they lie,
 emn'd of God eternally to die.

IV.

inc'd of sin, at length to God they pray,
 d! save us now, in this our gracious day;"
 Jesus hears, and sends their souls redress,
 e alone can save in deep distress.

V.

ends his word, and heals their broken hearts,
 life, and health, and joy, and peace imparts;
 en let sinners shout the Saviour's praise,
 are his judgements, merciful his ways.

 PSALM CVII.—4th PART, L. M.
The Mariner.

I.

SAILORS of high and low degree,
 Who trade upon the briny deep;
 The wonders of Jehovah see,
 Whose wakeful eyes do never sleep.

II.

At his command the winds arise,
 Which lift them on the foaming wave;

Now they salute the lofty skies,
Now deep they sink as in a grave.

III.

Lord save, we perish, is their cry,
And Jesus hears their ev'ry groan;
He brings deliverance from on high,
And saves them by his power alone.

IV

The winds and seas obey his voice,
* "Be still," he says, and all his calm;
The ragings billows cease their noise,
Obedient to the great I AM.

V.

Be glad, ye sailors, and rejoice,
In God your Saviour, and your king;
With all your powers of heart and voice,
His justice and his mercy sing.

PSALM CVII.—5th PART, C. M.

To be used in a Time of Death and Scarcity.

I.

WHEN Britain sins the Lord reproves,
And makes his judgements known;
Our earthly comforts he removes,
In anger from his throne.

II.

He makes the springs and channels dry,
By his supreme command;

* Mark iv. 39.

Or pours his torrents from the sky,
Who can his vengeance stand ?

III.

Yet for his hungry saints he will
A safe retreat prepare ;
He'll give them food and raiment still,
They are his constant care.

IV.

While guilty rebels faint and die
For want of daily food ;
The saints shall grow and multiply,
And know the Lord is good.

PSALM CVII.—6th PART, L. M.

The Justice and Goodness of God.

I.

JEHOVAH pours contempt and scorn
On sons of pride who from him stray ;
Strangers to peace, and left forlorn,
In desert lands they miss their way.

II.

Yet setteth he the poor on high,
They are his people, they his flock ;
He is their helper ever nigh,
Their Saviour and Almighty rock.

III

His hand of power by faith they see,
And shout, and sing, believe, and hope,
While sons of vile impiety,
For evermore their mouths shall stop.

IV.

Whoe'er observes these things aright,
And reads with prayer the sacred word;
They, not the sons of wrath and spite,
Shall know the love of Christ the Lord.

PSALM CVIII —L. N.

Praise.

I.

My heart is fixed, O my God,
I'll sing thy praise at home, abroad;
Awake my powers of heart and voice,
In Jesus' power and love rejoice.

II.

Where'er I go, where'er I dwell,
Thy love to sinners I will tell;
Among the nations far and near,
I'll praise my God with heart sincere.

III.

Thy promises are try'd and sure,
Thy throne forever shall endure;
Above the stars thy truth extends,
Thy tender mercy never ends.

IV.

Exalted let my Saviour be,
By all mankind from sea to sea,
Let all below and all above
Sing praise to God, for God is love.

PSALM CIX.—1st VERSION, 7's.

PART I.

I.

O THOU God of all my praise,
Hold not thou thy peace always ;
See how sons of wrath increase,
How they rage and never cease.

II.

Compass'd round me day by day,
Hateful lying words they say ;
In debate they take delight,
Full of malice, rage and spite.

III.

Those who were my foes before,
Hate me for my love the more ;
Yet on thee I cast my care,
O my God, by faith and prayer.

SALM CIX.—1st VERSION, 2nd PART, 7's.

I.

LORD ! I needy am and poor,
Here before thy mercy's door ;
Wounded sore, by sin oppress'd,
Pants my troubl'd heart for rest.

II.

Weak by my long fasting now,
See my knees begin to bow ;
See my flesh of fatness fail,
Hear me in affliction wail.

III.

Scorn I bear from men of spite,
 Who in scoffing take delight ;
 These whene'er my frame they see,
 Shake their heads in rage at me.

IV.

Let thy mercy, Lord with speed,
 Send me help in time of need ;
 That my foes thy work may own,
 Which thy hands alone have done.

V.

Let them curse, but bless thou me,
 Soon they all asham'd shall be ;
 When they rise to make me sad,
 Thou shalt make my heart most glad.

VI.

Thou wilt clothe my foes with shame,
 Blest forever be thy name ;
 With the multitude I will Praise my God, my Saviour, still.

VII.

God the poor shall still attend,
 God shall all his saints defend ;
 With his own right hand he will Lead them safe to Zion's Hill.

— o —

PSALM CIX.—2nd VERSION, L. M.

A Prayer for Deliverance from Oppression and Falsehood.

I.

GOD of my praise, hold not thy peace,
 When men of wrath and spite increase ;

But do for me, my God, my Lord,
According to thy faithful word.

II.

As all thy ways are just and good,
Preserve my life from men of blood ;
Nor let the lying lips prevail,
Nor tongue that's set on fire of hell.

PSALM CX.—L. M.

The Kingdom, Priesthood, Conquest, and Reign of Christ.

I.

THE Lord unto my Lord hath said,
" At my right hand ascend and sit,
" Till I thine enemies have made
" To bow and worship at thy feet."

II.

" Thy rod of strength the Lord shall send,
" From Zion's consecrated place ;
" To thee the nations all shall bend,
" And sing thy justice, power and grace "

III.

" Thy people num'rous as the sands,
" Or like the drops of morning dew,
" Shall willing run at thy commands,
" And praise thee, the Messiah, true."

IV.

" I have pronounc'd my firm decree,
" My word, my oath, I'll never break ;

"A priest forever thou shalt be,
 "In order as Melchizedek."

V.

Jesus shall judge the nations all,
 And ev'ry knee to him shall bow;
 Angels and men before him fall,
 And devils own his word is true.

PSALM CXI.—c. m.

The Goodness of God in Christ Jesus.

I.

THE righteousness of Christ my God,
 Forever shall endure;
 His works o'er all the earth abroad,
 Bespeak his mighty power.

II.

Full of compassion Jesus is,
 His grace for all is free;
 O! what a happiness is this!
 I know he cares for me.

III.

He giveth food to all our race;
 He died our souls to save;
 And the rich blessings of his grace,
 * All, all who ask may have.

IV.

All his commands are firm and sure,
 Abide they ever shall;

* Matt. vii. 7, 8.—James i. 6, 7.

His mercy ever shall endure,
The Lord is good to all.

V.

Redemption through the Saviour's blood,
To all we will proclaim ;
The Lord is holy, just and good,
And Jesus is his name.

PSALM CXII.—6 lines, all 8's.

The Blessedness of a True Christian.

I.

BLEST is the man who fears the Lord,
* And is a doer of his word,
Delighting to perform his will ;
Mighty his seed on earth shall be,
His children's children he shall see ;
God shall his vast desires fulfil.

II.

The Lord his rock and strength ~~shall~~ prove,
The rock of ages cannot move
In which he puts his steadfast trust ;
No tidings ill his fears assail,
Omnipotence can never fail ;
God is the strength of all the just.

* James i. 22.

PSALM CXIII.—C. M.

Universal Praise.

I.

COME all ye servants of the Lord,
 And bless your Saviour's name ;
 Let old and young, with one accord,
 Show forth his glorious fame.

II.

Let ev'ry heart, and ev'ry voice,
 His reverend name adore ;
 Sing praises with a joyful noise,
 Both now and evermore.

III.

Each morning with the rising sun,
 And till the sun shall set,
 Think on the wonders he has done,
 His mercies ne'er forget.

IV.

Who ? who is like our glorious Lord,
 Who dwells in heav'n so high ?
 Worthy to be rever'd, ador'd,
 By all in earth and sky.

V.

Let ev'ry son of Adam hope,
 And in the Saviour trust ;
 'Tis he alone that raiseth up
 The poor out of the dust.

VI.

At his Almighty sov'reign word,
 The barren womb shall bear ;
 Praise ye the universal Lord,
 Ye creatures ev'ry where.

PSALM CXIV.—4 lines, all 7's.

The Miraculous Power of God displayed.

I.

WHEN from Egypt Israel fled,
By the great Redeemer led ;
God in Israel reign'd alone,
Judah was his chosen throne.

II.

Seas beheld, and were afraid,
Jordan's channel dry was laid ;
Mountains skip'd like frightened rams,
Little hillocks leap'd like lambs.

III.

What disturb'd or ailed thee,
O thou troubl'd restless sea ?
That thy waves did heave so high,
Foaming upwards to the sky ?

IV.

Why was Jordan thus afraid ?
Why flow backward to its head ?
Why did mountains skip like sheep ?
Why did little hillocks leap ?

V.

Jacob's God did then appear,
Nature quak'd with awful fear ;
See the rock at his command,
Flows with water o'er the land.

PSALM CXV.—1st PART, C. M.

Praise only due to God.

I.

NOT unto us, Almighty God,
But to thyself alone ;
We give the praise for ev'ry good,
And bow before thy throne.

II.

O Israel ! make the Lord thy trust,
Thy refuge and thy rest ;
His arms of love surround the just,
His word declares they're blest.

III.

O God of boundless power and love,
Maker of earth and sky ;
Let the whole world thy mercy prove,
Bring thy salvation nigh.

PSALM CXV.—2nd PART, S. M.

I.

LET all that love the Lord,
Hope in his power and grace ;
Rely on his most faithful word,
And walk in wisdom's ways.

II.

* The Lord the meek shall bless,
He knows them all by name ;
Surely they shall the earth possess,
And spread abroad his fame.

* Matt. v. 5.

III.

The dead can never praise
The God whom we adore ;
But saints shall live through endless days,
And praise him evermore.

PSALM CXVI.—1st PART, C. M.

Psalm for Deliverance from Severe Affliction.

I.

I LOVE the Lord, he heard my cry,
When in distress I pray'd ;
I'll pray and hope until I die,
Nor doubt his promis'd aid.

II.

When death and hell encompass'd me,
And pains on me took hold,
I fled for refuge, Lord, to thee,
To thee my sufferings told.

III.

Save me, I said, my God, my Lord,
Most holy just and true ;
Jesus in mercy speak the word,
"I'm thy salvation now."

IV.

Return, my soul, enjoy thy rest,
In Jesus' love confide :
They only can be truly blest,
Whom he vouchsafes to guide.

PSALM CXVI.—2nd PART, 48's and 26's.

Thanksgiving before receiving the Lord's Supper on the Lord's Day.

I.

WHAT shall I render to my God,
For all his benefits bestow'd
On such a worm as I ?
Salvation's cup I'll gladly take,
And with all saints my prayer I'll make,
And lift my voice on high.

II.

Now to the Lord my vows I'll pay,
Before his saints, on this his day,
And join in praise and prayer.
His people are my heart's delight,
Their death is precious in his sight,
Who Jesus' image bear.

III.

Truely I am thy servant, Lord,
I love thy worship and thy word,
And surely thou lov'st me ;
For this I'll bless thy glorious name,
And all thy power and love proclaim,
To all eternity.

PSALM CXVII.—PECULIAR METRE.

Universal Praise.

I.

PRAISE the Lord through ev'ry nation,
All ye people bless his name ;

Jesus brings the world salvation,
Let the world his praise proclaim;
Praise the Saviour, praise the Saviour, praise
the Saviour,
Spread abroad his glorious fame.

II.

God's free mercy and compassion,
Reacheth all our fallen race;
To the latest generation,
Christ is full of truth and grace;
Come to Jesus, come to Jesus, come to Jesus,
All mankind in ev'ry place.

III.

Jesus' love endures forever,
True and faithful is his word;
Ev'ry genuine believer
To his truth will bear record;
Hallelujah, Hallelujah, Hallelujah,
Praise the Lord.

PSALM CXVIII.—1st PART, 7's and 6's.

Universal Praise.

I.

O GIVE thanks unto the Lord,
For he is good to all;
Chiefly those who keep his word,
And daily on him call:
Gracious is my Lord and kind,
God unchangeably the same;
All who seek shall surely find
Salvation in his name.

II.

Mercy shall forever last,
Let ev'ry sinner know ;
Now, as yesterday that's past,
Salvation's streams do flow.
All that fear the Lord shall say,
His mercy ever shall endure ;
Jesus hears when sinners pray,
And saves them by his power.

PSALM CXVIII — 2nd PART, C M.

Thanksgiving for Deliverance from Affliction.

I.

WHEN overwhelm'd in deep distress,
To God I humbly pray'd ;
In him I quickly found redress,
He sent me heav'nly aid.

II.

Now since I know he's on my side,
My foes I'll scorn to fear ;
Ev'n unto death he'll be my guide,
My helper ever near.

III.

'Tis better far in God to trust,
Who made the heav'n's and earth,
Than to confide in glitt'ring dust,
Or men of noble birth.

IV.

In strength divine I'll urge my way,
In spite of earth and hell,
To realms of everlasting day,
With all the saints to dwell.

PSALM CXVIII.—3rd PART, C. M.

Jehovah the Strength and Glory of a Christian.

I.

JEHOVAH is my strength and song,
My Saviour and my king ;
With all my powers of heart and tongue,
I will his praises sing.

II.

The right hand of Jehovah now
I see exalted high ;
The Lord's right hand with joy I view,
It doeth valiantly.

III.

The voice of joyful praise and prayer,
Among the saints I hear ;
They all are God's peculiar care,
Who worship in his fear.

IV.

Fling open wide the righteous gate,
I'll gladly enter in,
And praise my God enthron'd in state,
Apart from self and sin.

V.

I shall not die, I know it well,
But be by grace restor'd ;
I shall be spar'd, that I may tell
The mercies of the Lord.

VI.

For sin he justly chasten'd me,
But left me not to die ;
Now in his light the way I see,
That leads to joys on high.

VII.

I'll praise thee, O my Saviour, God,
For thou hast heard my prayer ;
Free full salvation through thy blood
I'll publish ev'ry where.

PSALM CXVIII —4th PART, L. M.

Christ the foundation of his Church.—See Acts, iv. 11.—Eph. ii. 20.—Eph. iv. 11.—Isa. xlii. 1.—Matt. xviii. 12.—Pet. ii. 6.

I.

THE stone the builders did reject,
This precious stone is God's elect ;
A type of Christ to sinners giv'n,
On which we build our hopes of heav'n.

II.

Join'd to the Lord the corner stone,
By living faith, by faith alone ;
Each stone with each doth well agree,
Fram'd in one perfect symmetry.

III.

O God, most holy, just and wise,
Thy work is wonderous in our eyes ;
Let ev'ry soul, in ev'ry place,
Adore the riches of thy grace.

PSALM CXVIII.—5th PART, L. M.

For the Lord's Day.

I.

THE Lord has made this sacred day,
In it we'll sing, rejoice, and pray ;
* Now Jesus condescends to meet
The souls who worship at his feet.

II.

O Saviour, full of power and might,
We bless thy name for gospel light ;
Thy blood was shed for all our race,
How vast, how boundless, is thy grace.

III.

From day to day we'll bless thy name,
Thy mercy and thy truth proclaim ;
Let ev'ry son of Adam sing,
Jesus, our prophet, priest, and king.

PSALM CXIX.—1st PART, L. M.

Blessed are the Pure in Heart.

I.

THE undefil'd in wisdom's way,
My God, how highly blest are they ;
With all their powers they seek thy face,
And triumph in thy saving grace.

II.

They never wilfully offend
Thee, their creator, father, friend ;

* Matt. xviii. 20.

But read thy word, and understand,
And walk as thou hast giv'n command.

III.

My heart and mind, O God, prepare
To keep thy laws, thy name revere ;
Walk in thy statutes, free from blame,
Devoid of guilt, and fear, and shame.

IV.

Taught of thyself, I will observe
Thy just commands, nor from them swerve ;
Thy righteous judgements I shall see,
And daily render thanks to thee.

PSALM CXIX.—2nd PART, C. M.

For a Young Person.

I.

How shall a young man cleanse his way,
Before thy face, O Lord ?
O give me power to watch and pray,
And love, and keep thy word.

II.

Thy word I'll hide within my heart,
Lest I should e'er offend ;
O never from me Lord depart,
But keep me to the end.

PSALM CXIX.—3rd PART, L. M.

Supplication.

I.

DEAL kindly with thy servant, Lord,
My heart's delight is in thy word ;

Light in thy light, O let me see,
Fill my whole soul with purity.

II.

While I'm a stranger here below,
Show me the way my feet should go ;
Saviour in thee is all my hope,
O let thy mercy hold me up.

PSALM CXIX.—4th PART, C. M.

Seeking full Redemption.

I.

Unto the dust my soul doth cleave,
Revive thy servant, Lord ;
Fain would I stedfastly believe,
And trust thy faithful word.

II.

My weaknesses I have confess'd,
And all my sins to thee ;
With pardon let my soul be bless'd,
From guilt O set me free.

III.

Spare me, good Lord, thy servant spare ;
O lengthen out my days,
Till I thy power and love declare,
And shew forth all thy praise.

IV.

My soul with heaviness doth melt,
Till thou thy love reveal ;
Lord ! cleanse me from remaining guilt,
And stamp me with thy seal.

PSALM CXIX.—5th PART, C. M.

A Prayer for the graces of the Holy Spirit.

I.

TEACH me thy righteous judgements, Lord,
Thy Holy Spirit send ;
Fain would I understand thy word,
And keep it to the end.

II.

Incline my heart thy will t' obey,
From evil keep me free,
And turn my wakeful eyes away
From scenes of vanity.

III.

Since I'm devoted to thy fear,
Defend me Lord from shame ;
Now bring thy great salvation near,
And I will praise thy name.

PSALM CXIX.—6th PART, C. M.

A Sinner seeking Mercy.

I.

O LET thy mercy come to me,
My Saviour and my God,
Now let my faith establish'd be,
In thy atoning blood.

II.

Then shall I silence all my foes,
Who seek my fall and shame,
And sinners who my soul oppose,
Shall learn to fear thy name.

III.

O never take thy word from me,
'Tis both my lamp and light,
By it I converse hold with thee,
And live as in thy sight.

IV.

O let me walk at liberty,
And keep thy precepts still;
Let all my powers forever be Devoted to thy will.

PSALM CXIX.—7th PART, 6 lines, 8's.

God's Covenant with a true Believer.

I.

REMEMBER Lord thy cov'nant word
On which I fix my faith and hope;
My comfort springs from thee, my Lord,
Thy power and goodness holds me up;
Into thine arms of love I flee,
Thy precious word doth quicken me.

II.

Though sons of earth my hopes despise,
And load me with reproach and shame;
Thou wilt in my behalf arise,
And free my humbl'd soul from blame;
Thy judgements just I call to mind,
In thee I always comfort find.

III.

Horror and grief on me take hold,
When sinners break thy holy law,

*For nothing they themselves have sold,
While on their heads thy wrath they draw,
O Jesus save a guilty race,
By free unbounded sov'reign grace.

IV

Thy statutes, Lord, my heart engage,
In them I've always sweet employ,
In this my house of pilgrimage
True peace I have, and solid joy.
I make thy promises my stay,
And sing thy praise from day to day.

PSALM CXIX.—8th PART, 48's and 26's.

God the Believer's portion.

I.

THOU art my portion precious Lord,
I've said that I will keep thy word,
With all my mind and heart.
I thought on all my sinful ways,
And sought and found thy pard'ning grace,
My God now good thou art.

II.

I did make haste without delay,
Thy just commandments to obey,
Thy word I kept in mind.
At midnight oft I rise to bless,
Jesus my strength and righteousness,
Who dy'd for all mankind.

* Isaiah lii. 3.

III.

I a companion am of all,
 Who fear the Lord and on him call,
 And keep his precepts pure.
 O'er heav'n and earth his care extends,
 His tender mercy never ends,
 In him I rest secure.

PSALM CXIX.—9th PART, S. M.

Whom the Lord loveth he Chastizeth.

I.

THOU hast dealt well with me,
 Thy humble servant, Lord ;
 Thy great salvation now I see,
 Revealed in thy word.

II.

Since I thy truth believe,
 Good judgments let me know ;
 Let me thy spirit now receive,
 And grow in grace below.

III.

Before I felt thy rod,
 My feet were apt to stray ;
 But now I've learn'd to keep thy word,
 And walk in wisdom's way.

IV.

'Tis good for me that I
 Have felt the chast'ning rod ;
 By it I've learn'd to live and die,
 And better know my God.
 Q

V.

My God I know is kind
To all who fear his name ;
With all his saints I daily find
He always is the same.

PSALM CXIX.—10th PART, C. M.

A Prayer for the Divine Teaching.

I.

THY hands, O Lord, have fashion'd me,
O let me understand
The duties I must do for thee,
As thou hast giv'n command.

II.

Since I delight to keep thy law,
And Christ has made me free,
Let thy good spirit sweetly draw
My willing heart to thee.

III.

Then with thy saints who fear thy name,
Thy power and love I'll show ;
Preserv'd from sin, and fear, and shame,
In grace my soul shall grow.

PSALM CXIX.—11th PART, C. M.

A Prayer under Severe Affliction.

I

FOR thy salvation, Lord, I faint,
Yet in thy word I hope ;

My spirit fails, my heart doth pant,
When wilt thou lift me up?

II.

Like leathern bottles in the smoke,
I'm dried with pain and grief ;
My eyesight fails, my heart is broke,
O haste to my relief.

III.

How many are the evil days
Which I shall live to see ?
Come, turn my mourning into praise,
Come, Lord, and comfort me.

IV.

The proud for me have digged pits,
They'd gladly see me fall ;
To catch my feet they've spread their nets,
They hate thy servants all.

V.

Be thou my helper, mighty God,
Inspire my soul with grace,
That I thy mercies may record,
And show forth all thy praise.

PSALM CXIX.—12th PART, C. M.

The Wisdom, Power, and Goodness of God.

I.

FOREVER, Lord, in heav'n above,
Thy word of truth shall stand ;
Thy boundless wisdom, power and love,
Are seen in ev'ry land.

II.

Earth, sea, and sky, and night, and day,
 Thy high designs fulfil ;
 The whole creation owns thy sway,
 And speaks thy matchless skill.

III.

Had I not trusted in thy power,
 Thy mercy, truth, and grace,
 I'd perish in affliction's hour,
 And turn'd from wisdom's ways.

IV.

Thy gospel word I'll ne'er forget,
 By this I quicken'd am ;
 I love to worship at thy feet,
 And all thy love proclaim.

V.

O save me for thy mercy's sake,
 For I am thine alone ;
 My heart and soul vouchsafe to take,
 And seal me for thine own.

PSALM CXIX.—13th PART, T. M.

 Delight in the Law of Christ.*

I.

SAVIOUR, I love thy law,
 'Tis daily my delight ;
 From thence I comfort draw,
 In wakeful hours of night ;

* Matt. v. 17, 18, 19, 20.—Rom. iii. 31.—1st Cor. ix.

Taught by thy word, I wiser grow,
And more than all my teachers know.

II.

By ~~dying love~~ constrain'd,
Thy precepts I obey;
And have my feet restrain'd
From ev'ry evil way:
I think on all thy judgments just,
And make thy promises my trust.

III.

Thy word is sweeter far
Than honey to my taste;
Thy gospel graces are
The food on which I feast;
On thee my faith and hope I stay,
And hate the sinner's wicked way.

PSALM CXIX.—14th PART, 8 lines, 8's.

The Inestimable Value of the Holy Scriptures.

I.

THY word is a lamp to my feet,
Thy gospel a light to my path;
I've sworn, and I'll never forget
To keep thy commandments in faith;
When sorely afflicted and low,
Regard thou my groaning, O Lord;
Thy comforting spirit bestow,
As thou hast engag'd in thy word.

II.

My off'rings of prayer and of praise,
Which now I present at thy throne,

Accept them, O God of all grace,
Through Jesus's merits alone :
My soul to thy care I commit,
On thee I for all things depend ;
O never thy servant forget,
But save me, O save to the end.

PSALM CXIX.—15th PART, L. M.

Praying for the Spirit.

I.

INCLINE my feet, O God of grace,
To walk in thy appointed ways ;
And let thy word my heart engage,
And be my chosen heritage.

II.

Support me in affliction's hour,
And save from sin and Satan's power ;
Hold thou me up, and I shall stand,
Safe in the hollow of thy hand.

III.

Lord God of might and majesty,
My flesh doth quake for fear of thee ;
The terrors of thy holy law
Fill my whole soul with reverent awe.

PSALM CXIX.—16th PART, 6 lines, 8's.

Seeking full Redemption.

I.

JUSTICE and mercy both are thine,
O Lord my strength and righteousness ;

When shall I in thy likeness shine,
 O Jesus full of truth and grace?
 Mine eyes for thy salvation fail,
 While I my num'rous sins bewail.

II.

Deal kindly with thy servant, Lord,
 According to thy mercies great;
 Now let me be by grace restor'd,
 And rais'd from this my fallen state:
 Now, now in my behalf awake,
 Now save me for thy mercy's sake.

 PSALM CXIX.—17th PART, C M.

A Prayer for Forgiveness of Sin, &c.

I.

O SAVIOUR! hide my sins from view,
 And free my soul from blame,
 As thou art ever want to do
 To those who fear thy name.

II.

Order my thoughts, and words, and ways,
 According to thy will;
 With health, and peace, and gospel grace,
 My soul forever fill.

III.

O sun of righteousness, arise,
 And on thy servant shine;
 To full salvation make me wise,
 And keep me ever thine.

PSALM CXIX.—18th PART, S. M.

Zeal for God, the Communion of Saints, &c.

I.

RIGHTEOUS art thou, O Lord,
In all thy works and ways ;
Most true and faithful is thy word,
And rich and free thy grace.

II.

Consum'd I am with zeal,
For thee and for thy cause ;
I weep, and for offenders feel,
Who break thy righteous laws.

III.

For careless souls I pray,
Who throng the downward road ;
Lord ! turn their feet to wisdom's way,
Mark'd out in lines of blood.

IV.

Thy word is just and pure,
Therefore I love it well ;
Afflicted as I am, and poor,
Thy mercies I will tell.

V.

Thy righteous law, O Lord,
Unchanged shall endure ;
Thy truth revealed in thy word,
Remains forever sure.

PSALM CXIX.—19th PART, C. M.

Prayer.

I.

I CRIED with all my heart and voice,
Almighty God to thee ;
Thou art my portion, hope, and choice,
I love thy face to see.

II

In loving kindness hear my cry,
And grant my heart's request ;
Now bring thy great salvation nigh,
O Saviour give me rest.

III.

Let wisdom from above descend,
Upon thy servant now ;
So shall I fully comprehend
Thy judgments just and true.

PSALM CXIX.—20th PART, L. M.

A Prayer for deliverance from Persecution.

I.

CONSIDER my afflictions, Lord,
Speak, and my soul shall be restor'd ;
Against my foes plead thou my cause,
According to thy gospel laws.

II.

Many there be who seek my fall,
Who know not thee, nor on thee call ;
For these I pray with heart sincere,
Lord, stop them in their mad career.

III.

O Lord, my soul's desire fulfil,
Assist me to perform thy will ;
In thee alone is all my trust,
My God, my Saviour, good and just.

PSALM CXIX.—21st PART, C. M.

I.

THE mighty persecute me, Lord,
And hate me without cause ;
Yet will I trust thy promis'd word,
And strive to keep thy laws.

II.

Above all spoil I do prefer,
Thy Gospel word of grace ;
Thy promises how sweet they are,
How full of joy and peace.

III.

Seven times a day I bless thy name,
O God most just and true ;
I love thy praises to proclaim,
All praise to thee is due.

PSALM CXIX —22nd PART L. M.

I.

In thy Salvation Lord I hope,
I love to know and do thy will ;
O let thy mercy hold me up,
And bring me to thy holy hill

II.

Now let my crying reach thine ears,
 Bid all my unbelief remove;
 Save me from all my guilty fears,
 And fill my soul with peace and love.

III.

Then shall my life proclaim thy praise,
 Thy great and glorious name I'll bless;
 And all thy righteous works and ways,
 My tongue to sinners shall confess.

IV.

All thy commands are just and right,
 I love, I choose to do thy will;
 And since thy law is my delight,
 My heart's desire thou wilt fulfil.

V.

Like a lost sheep I've gone astray,
 O seek thy servant, and restore;
 Lead me in wisdom's pleasant way,
 And let me never wander more.

— o —

PSALM CXX.—C. M.

A Prayer under Persecution.

I.

IN my distress I cry to thee.
 O God of love and power;
 Incline thine ear, and answer me,
 In ev'ry trying hour.

II.

From lying lips and tongues of strife,
 Set thou thy servant free,

Nor let the men that seek my life,
E'er triumph over me.

III.

Woe's me I with dissemblers dwell,
Who full of mischief are ;
Peace I pursue, thou know'st it well,
But they are all for war.

PSALM CXXI —C. M.

Confidence in God.

I.

Lo to the hills I lift mine eyes,
From whence my help comes down ;
The God who made the earth and skies,
Now for my God I own.

II.

My feet shall neither slide nor fall,
Since God my soul doth keep ;
His ears attend the softest call,
His eyes do never sleep.

III.

Rest thou, my soul, in God secure,
And trust his constant aid ;
Jehovah keeps thee ev'ry hour,
He's both thy sun and shade.

IV.

Ye faithful souls hold on your way,
Who in God's law delight ;
No damp by night, nor heat by day,
Your heads shall ever smite.

V.

His arms shall compass you about,
 His power preserve from sin ;
 The Lord shall bless your going out,
 And bless your coming in.

VI.

Let Israel bless Jehovah's name,
 Both now and evermore ;
 His mercy and his truth proclaim,
 His power and love adore.

PSALM CXXII.— 6 lines, all 8's.

Public Worship.

I.

GLAD was I when 'twas said to me,
 Together let us all agree,
 To go to Zion's Hill to-day ;
 Within the house of God we'll meet,
 And worship at the Saviour's feet,
 And hear his word, and sing and pray.

II.

With all his saints we'll gladly bring,
 Our thanks and praise to Christ our King,
 All glory to his name is due :
 Seated on his majestic throne,
 He makes his power and glory known,
 *Behold, he maketh all things new.

III.

O Jesus, full of truth and grace,
 Revive thy work in ev'ry place,
 Prosper thy work begun below ;

* Rev. xxi. 5.

Now, if it be thy gracious will,
Return and dwell on Zion's Hill,
Let Gospel grace the earth o'erflow.

PSALM CXXIII.—L. M.

I.

O THOU who dwell'st above the sky,
To thee we lift our longing eye ;
As servants on their master wait,
We stand before thy temple gate.

II.

O Lord regard our fervent cry,
And bring thy great salvation nigh ;
From sin and sorrow set us free,
Then shall our souls rejoice in thee.

PSALM CXXIV.—T. M.

Praise for Victory.

I.

HAD not the Almighty Lord,
For us his Israel fought,
Had not Jehovah's sword
Our full deliverance wrought,
We had been smitten by our foes,
Who up in arms against us rose.

II.

The tide had stopp'd our breath,
So swiftly did it roll,
And plung'd us down to death.
And overwhelm'd our soul ;

We leap for joy, we shout and sing,
As doth the lark on cheerful wing.

III.

Jesus, our conquering Lord,
Has broken ev'ry snare;
He saves from spear and sword;
And makes our souls his care;
Our help is in Jehovah's name,
Who made and rules Creation's frame.

PSALM CXXV.—1st VERSION, C. M.

The Security of the Saints, &c.

I.

THE saints who Jesus trust and love,
Like Zion's Hill shall be;
The rock of ages cannot move
To all eternity.

II.

As round Jerusalem below,
The lofty mountains stand;
So God surrounds his church we know,
In ev'ry christian land.

III.

The wicked's rod shall never rest
On righteous christian bands,
Lest they by sore temptations prest,
To ill put forth their hands.

IV.

To all thy people ev'ry where,
Thy favour Lord impart;

Do good, we pray, to all that are
Sincere in mind and heart.

V.

But those who turn to earth again,
Can ne'er be truly blest ;
They'll find thy threat'nings not in vain,
But peace on saints shall rest.

PSALM CXXV.—2nd VERSION, L. M.

I.

THE saints who in the Saviour trust,
Know he is faithful, good and just ;
Like Zion's Hill they firmly stand,
Upheld by his Almighty hand.

II.

From sin and Satan's cruel power,
He keeps the faithful ev'ry hour ;
But liars all, and men of spite,
Shall perish in eternal night.

PSALM CXXVI.—1st VERSION, L. M.

Regeneration.

I.

WHEN God revealed his Son in me,
And set my captive spirit free,
My joy appeared as a dream,
And Jesus' love was all my theme.

II.

My mouth was fill'd with songs of praise,
To God who sav'd me by his grace ;

My neighbours all his hand did see,
And own'd a charge was wrought in me.

III.

As southern streams of water glide,
The Saviour draws us to his side ;
We sow in tears, but reap in joy,
Which Satan's power can ne'er destroy.

IV

The man who bearing precious seed,
In going forth does mourn indeed ;
With joy again shall doubtless come,
And bring a plentiful harvest home.

PSALM CXXVI.—2nd VERSION, P. M.

I.

WHEN the Almighty Lord,
Our captive souls restor'd,
We were like to those who dream ;
Then our mouth was fill'd with joy ;
Jesus' love was all our theme ;
Heart and tongue found sweet employ.

II.

The heathen world did see
Our glorious liberty :
God said they great things has done
For them ; Yes, our hearts replied ;
God for us has given his Son,
We by faith are justified

III.

O God ! our strength and stay,
Turn us again we pray ;

R.

Turn our soul's captivity,
 As the southern waters glide ;
 Draw our willing hearts to thee,
 Let us now be sanctified.

IV.

They who in tears forth go,
 And precious seed do sow,
 Doubtless shall with joy return,
 Bring their sheaves with vast increase :
 Of the Holy Spirit born,
 Perfected in holiness.

PSALM CXXVII.—L. M.

“Without me ye can do nothing.”—JESUS CHRIST

I.

EXCEPT the Lord his churches build,
 What profit can our labours yield ?
 Except the Holy Spirit teach,
 In vain we read, or hear, or preach.

II.

Jesus alone our souls can keep,
 By night, by day, awake, asleep ;
 'Tis only he the word can bless,
 And crown his gospel with success.

PSALM CXXVIII.—1st VERSION, L. M.

Family Blessings.

I.

O HAPPY man who fears the Lord,
 And walks in his appointed ways ;

The pledge of heav'n his great reward,
On earth his Maker daily pays.

II.

Thy wife shall as a fruitful vine,
Around thy dwelling-place be found ;
Thy seed as olive plants shall shine,
And thy blest table compass round.

III.

Still fear the Lord, and thou shalt live,
And of Jehovah blessed be ;
The Lord shall out of Zion give
His choicest blessings unto thee.

IV.

Thou shalt Jerusalem's good behold,
And see thy children's children too ;
Yea ! thou in years and virtue old,
With joy shall peaceful Israel view.

PSALM CXXVIII.—2nd VERSION, T. M

The Happiness of True Believers.

I.

THE men who fear the Lord,
And walk in wisdom's way ;
Who love and keep his word,
Throughout their life's short day :
Such holy souls on earth are blest,
In heav'n they shall with Jesus rest.

PSALM CXXIX.—Eight lines, 7's and 6's.

I.

MANY times since days of youth,
May Israel truly say,
Foes devoid of love and truth,
Afflict me day by day ;
Yet they never can prevail,
God defends his people still :
Jesus' power can never fail
To save from all that's il.

II.

God hath Zion set apart,
For his abiding place ;
Sons of wrath and guileful art,
He'll banish from his face :
God for Israel doth fight,
Israel on thy God depend ;
Christ shall keep thee day and night,
Till all thy troubles end.

— o —

PSALM CXXX.—1st VERSION, C. M.

I.

JESUS, to thee with heart and voice,
I make my prayer sincere ;
My Saviour, thou, my hope, my choice,
Bow down thy gracious ear.

II.

Lord, who could stand if all amiss
Were strictly mark'd by thee ;
But there with thee forgiveness is,
That thou may'st feared be.

III.

I wait for God, my soul doth wait,
 My hope is in his word ;
 More than the watch before his gate,
 I wait on Christ my Lord,

IV.

More than the watch that wait I say,
 The morning light to see ;
 Let Israel hope in God alway,
 For with him mercy be.

V.

Redemption plenteous for all,
 Is ever found in him ;
 From ev'ry sin, he will, he shall,
 His chosen race redeem.

PSALM CXXX.—2nd VERSION, L. M.

I.

Out of the deeps I've cry'd to thee,
 O God be merciful to me ;
 Bow down thine ear and hear me pray,
 Take all, take all my sins away.

II.

Lord should'st thou mark iniquity,
 Who, who could bear the scrutiny ?
 Not one of Adam's fallen race
 Could stand before thy glorious face.

III.

But there forgiveness is with thee,
 Purchas'd with blood on Calvary ;

That humbled souls might thee revere,
And worship thee in faith and fear.

IV.

For this my sin-sick soul doth wait,
And watch and pray before thy gate ;
Thy faithful word is all my hope,
Saviour, in mercy lift me up.

V.

Let Israel in the Saviour trust,
And in his merits make their boast ;
Us from our sins he will release,
And fill our hearts with joy and peace.

PSALM CXXX.—3rd VERSION, all 7's.

I.

FROM the dang'rous deeps have I
Cried to thee, O Lord Most High ;
Hear my voice, in mercy hear,
Lend me an attentive ear.

II.

Did'st thou mark iniquity ?
Who could stand the scrutiny ?
But forgiveness is with thee,
Bought with blood on Calvary.

III.

I with earnest care and zeal,
Wait thy pardoning love to feel ;
Constantly my God, my Lord,
Hope I in thy faithful word.

IV.

See I wait by day, by night,
 More I long for Christ my light;
 More than watchmen wait, I say,
 For the dawning of the day.

V.

Hope in Christ, O Israel's race,
 Mercy is with him and grace;
 Yea redemption plentious too,
 With him is, for me, for you.

VI.

Trust in God, believe and pray,
 Make his promises your stay;
 From iniquity he will,
 Ransom all his people still.

 PSALM CXXXI.—L. M.
The Christian's Temper.

I.

A HAUGHTY spirit, Lord, I hate,
 I seek no worldly pomp or state;
 From lofty thoughts I do refrain,
 Pride and ambition I disdain.

II.

Humble and patient, meek and mild,
 My soul is as a weaned child;
 Thine own I am in heart and mind,
 To thee in ev'ry wish resign'd.

III.

In Christ the Lord let Israel hope,
 He will exalt you, lift you up;

The Saviour's name revere, adore,
And praise his goodness evermore.

PSALM CXXXII.—1st PART, L. M.

Prayer and Praise.

I.

O LORD, for good remember me,
When in distress my griefs I tell ;
Think on my love and zeal for thee,
Thou Holy One of Israel.

II.

I'll to thy tabernacles go,
And at thy footstool humbly bow ;
With all thy servants here below,
I'll sing thy praise in anthems new.

III.

Arise, O Lord, into thy rest,
Shew forth the glories of thy grace ;
God over all forever blest,
Display the beauties of thy face.

IV.

Now for the Son of David's sake,
Set ev'ry captive spirit free ;
Of us a holy temple make,
One living temple, Lord, for thee.

PSALM CXXXII —s. m.

Public Worship.

I.

ARISE, O gracious God,
And in thy temple rest ;
Send forth thy light and truth abroad,
And make the nations blest.

II.

Clothe all thy servants here
With righteousness and peace ;
Fill ev'ry soul with filial fear,
And love and holiness.

III.

For Jesus' sake we pray,
No more conceal thy face ;
Upon thy word our faith we stay,
Our refuge is thy grace.

PSALM CXXXIII.— 6 lines, all 8's.

Brotherly Love.—See John, xiii. 34.

I.

BEHOLD, how good, how wise it is,
For Christian Brethren to agree
In ties of harmony and peace,
In bonds of heaven born charity ;
'Tis like the precious ointment shed,
Of old on Aaron's sacred head.

II.

O happy, happy family,
That in such cordial union dwell ;

From wrath and spite completely free,
And all the rage of earth and hell :
Where all are of one heart and soul,
And love divine inspires the whole.

III.

'Tis like the precious morning dew,
On Hermon's beauteous hill that fell ;
For God most holy, just and true,
With loving souls will ever dwell ;
To them for his exhaustless store,
He giveth life for evermore.

PSALM CXXXIV.—L. M.

An Exhortation to Praise God.

I.

YE servants of the living Lord,
Adore and bless his glorious name ;
In his own house, with one accord,
With all your powers his praise proclaim.

II.

Lift up your voices, hearts and hands,
By night, by day, his praise express ;
Observe and keep his just commands,
And triumph in your Saviour's grace.

III.

The Lord who made the earth and sky,
From Zion shall his servants bless ;
He brings his great salvation nigh,
And freely saves the world by grace.

PSALM CXXXV.—1st VERSION, C. M.

Praise.

I.

PRAISE ye the Lord, and bless his name,
O ye his servants all ;
In his own courts his praise proclaim,
And at his footstool fall.

II.

Praise ye the Lord, for good it is,
His glorious praise to sing ;
To God the God of Israel's race,
Your constant praises bring.

III.

Jacob, is chosen of the Lord,
It was his pleasure good ;
And all who love and keep his word,
His people bought with blood.

IV.

I know, assuredly I know
The Lord is very great ;
Our God above all Gods below,
In glory hath his seat.

V.

What things soever pleas'd the Lord,
That in the heav'n did he ;
Earth, sea, and sky, obey his word,
And places deep that be.

VI.

From earth's remotest end, he makes
The vapours to ascend ;
Rain, wind, and fire, creation shakes,
Which from his stores descend.

VII

See Egypt's first-born, man and beast,
Before him fall and die ;
Great kings and nations of the east,
Before him prostrate lie

VIII.

His power and vengeance who can tell ?
'Twas he to Jacob gave
An heritage, which Israel
His chosen race should have.

IX.

Thy name, O Lord, shall still endure.
And thy memorial too ;
From age to age we'll sing thy power,
And pay thee worship due.

X.

Sing ye his sceptre and his rod,
Ye who his servants are ;
Bless ye the holy name of God,
And worship in his fear.

XI.

Bless ye Jehovah's name, our God,
All ye that round him dwell ;
Let all mankind, at home, abroad,
His power and mercy tell.

PSALM CXXXV.—2nd VERSION, C. M.

A General Exhortation to Praise God.

I.

COME all ye servants of the Lord,
Adore, and bless his name ;

In his own house with one accord,
His truth and love proclaim.

II.

Our God is kind in all his ways,
His word is just and true ;
Gladly we'll sing our Saviour's praise,
All praise to him is due.

III.

Jesus the Lord is very great,
The only King of Kings ;
Enthron'd in everlasting state,
He doeth wond'rous things.

IV.

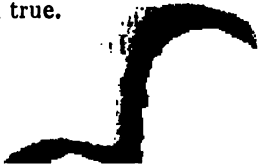

What'er he willeth to be done,
In heaven or earth below ;
He doth it by his word alone,
He speaks, and it is so.

V.

Thy glorious name, Almighty Lord,
Forever shall endure ;
All, all thy works with one accord,
Bespeak thy love and power.

VI.

Jesus shall judge the nations all,
All knees to him shall bow ;
Let all that breathe before him fall,
And own him just, and true.

PSALM CXXXVI.—6 lines, 7's and 8's.

General Thanksgiving.

I.

O GIVE thanks unto the Lord,
For he is good to all;
Chiefly those who keep his word,
And for his mercy call.
God of Gods alone is he,
All his words are firm and sure,
Through a vast eternity
His mercy shall endure.

II.

King, and Universal Lord,
How boundless is his might;
Sun and moon obey his word,
And all the stars of light.
*Jesus made the earth and sea,
All his works bespeak his power,
Through a vast eternity,
His mercy shall endure.

III

He did ancient Israel save
From cruel Pharaoh's hand;
The Red Sea and Jordan cleave,
At his supreme command.
Mighty Kings by his decree,
Fell in one decisive hour;
Through a vast eternity,
His mercy shall endure.

* St. John i. 3.

IV.

He remember'd us when low,
 Ev'n in our fallen state ;
 Jesus saves the world from woe,
 His love is vastly great.
 We shall soon his glory see,
 Sav'd from sin and Satan's power,
 Through a whole eternity,
 His mercy shall endure.

PSALM CXXXVII.—PECULIAR METRE.

The constancy of the ancient Jews in captivity.

I.

WITH Babylon's reverse expos'd to our view,
 O'erwhelmed with sorrow and crying ;
 Our harps on the willows we carlessly threw,
 And wept when we thought on our Zion.
 For Zion we'll never, no never forget ;
 Our hearts from it nothing shall sever ;
 Jehovah is just but he's merciful yet,
 His mercy endureth forever.

PSALM CXXXVIII.—1st PART, S. M.

Praise for Loving Kindness, and Unchanging Tender Mercy.

I.

THY praise I will proclaim,
 My God with heart and tongue ;
 Before the Gods I'll bless thy name,
 In a new thankful song.

II.

Within thy temple I
Will with thy people meet ;
And " Father, Abba, Father," cry
Before thy mercy seat.

III.

Thy loving kindness, Lord,
Forever is the same ;
And thou hast magnifi'd thy word,
Above thy glorious name.

IV.

In each distress to thee
I'll make my humble prayer ;
Since sure I am thou lovest me,
And for my soul dost care.

PSALM CXXXVIII.—2nd PART, S. M.

 A Prophecy now Fulfilling.*

I.

ALL kings in ev'ry land
Shall bow at Jesus' name ;
Shall hear his word, and understand,
And all his love proclaim.

II.

Yea ! they shall shout and sing,
In wisdom's pleasant ways ;
And bless the Lord, their God and king
In psalms and hymns of praise.

III.

Altho' the Lord be high
Above his creatures all,
He'll hear the poor afflicted cry,
Whene'er in faith they call.

IV.

When I in trouble am,
His word shall be my stay ;
* I'll look to Christ the Lord, the lamb,
And still hold on my way.

V.

Against my soul I know
My foes shall not prevail ;
† From conquering I to conquer go,
In spite of earth and hell.

VI.

Perfect I soon shall be,
To holiness restor'd ;
From sin and fear forever free,
And here be as my Lord. .

VII.

Christ for my Lord I take,
His grace shall set me free ;
He never will my soul forsake,
To all eternity.

* Rom. viii. 37.—Rev. vi. 2.—Heb. xiii. 5.

† Isa. xlii. 18.—xlv. 22,—Heb. xii. 2.

PSALM CXXXIX.—1st PART, LONG METRE

God's all seeing Providence.

I.

LORD, thou hast searched me, and known
 My rising up and lying down ;
 * My secret thoughts are known to thee,
 Before they are conceiv'd by me.

II.

Thou compassed my path about,
 My coming in and going out ;
 I can't attain such knowledge bright,
 'Tis deep and high beyond my sight.

III.

Where from thy Spirit can I fly ?
 † Thy presence fills both earth and sky ;
 All, all thy works are full of thee,
 In heav'n, and hell, and land, and sea.

IV.

The darkness and the light of day,
 Alike thy sov'reign power display ;
 Thou hold'st creation in thy hand,
 All worlds are under thy command.

PSALM CXXXIX.—2nd PART, L. M.

God our Creator and Preserver.

I

THOU hast possess'd my reins, O God,
 And form'd me from a lifeless clod ;

* John xxi. 17.

† Jer. xxiii. 24.

Ev'n from the womb I've been thy care,
O let my life thy praise declare.

II.

My substance was not hid from thee,
Thine eyes my members' all did see ;
When none of them was form'd as yet,
Within thy book they all were writ.

III.

O God of might and majesty,
My wond'rous frame was made by thee ;
What'er thou dost, is done right well,
Thy power and goodness who can tell.

IV.

Search thou my heart, O God of love,
Know thou my thoughts, my actions prove ;
And guide me in fair wisdom's way,
To realms of everlasting day.

PSALM CXL.—1st VERSION, C. M.

prayer for deliverance from oppression & falsehood.

I.

LORD, if thou wilt, thou canst I know
Deliverance send to me ;
Then from each false deceitful foe,
O Saviour set me free.

II.

Mischievous things in heart do they Continually devise ;
Together both by night and day,
They utter spiteful lies.

III.

Like serpents to do evil-wise,
Their whetted tongues they make ;
Beneath their lips forever lies,
The poison of a snake.

IV.

Preserve me from the cruel foe,
From violent men me save,
Who seek my life to overthrow,
And sink me in the grave.

V.

The proud for me a snare have hid,
A gin, a trap, a net ;
By the way side for me they've spread
And in my paths they've set.

VI.

Jesus, my all in all thou art,
My helper well I know ;
Keep thou the issues of my heart,
And save from ev'ry foe.

PSALM CXL.—2nd VERSION, s

I.

COME save me O my God,
From sons of wrath, and strife ;
From men, and fiends that seek my
Preserve thy servants life.

II.

On mischief they are set,
They all delight in war ;

Their tongues as spears, and swords they whet,
They all as serpents are.

III.

O keep me from their hands,
Make thou my soul thy care;
Break all their gins, and nets, and bands,
And save from ev'ry snare.

IV.

So shall thy servant dwell,
Secure before thy face;
And all thy love to sinners tell,
And shew forth all thy praise.

PSALM CXLI.—1st PART, all 7's.

Praying for full Redemption.

I.

LORD, I daily call on thee,
Hear my voice and answer me;
Save me, for in faith I pray,
Take, O take my sins away.

II.

Let my prayer as incense rise,
Pure accepted sacrifice;
Let my life with virtue shine,
Fill my soul with love divine.

III.

Keep, O keep my lips and heart,
Let me ne'er from thee depart;
Holy, happy, may I be Perfect, O my God like thee.

PSALM CXLI.—2nd PART, L. M.

I.

A WATCH set o'er this mouth of mine,
Keep Saviour, of my lips the door ;
Nor let my treach'rous heart incline,
To evil which I should abhor.

II.

O may I ne'er my talents waste,
With men that work iniquity ;
Nor once their delicacies taste,
Who fear thee not nor worship thee.

III.

Let him that righteous is me smite,
It shall to me a kindness prove ;
Let him reprove by day or night,
'Tis precious oil, it flows from love.

IV.

Such smiting shall not break my head,
For yet the time shall surely fall,
That I, when they are troubled,
Shall pray to God, for each, for all.

PSALM CXLII.—C. M.

Praying for full Redemption.

I.

I CRY'D with all my heart to God,
I sought his heav'nly aid ;
Bow'd down beneath his chast'ning rod,
I wept, believ'd, and pray'd.

II.

God only knew I pray'd in faith,
His eyes did also see,
That men and fiends in cruel wrath,
Laid secret snares for me.

III.

I look'd for creature help in vain,
None for my soul did care ;
Then to my God did I complain,
With all my powers in prayer.

IV.

I said, thou art my portion Lord,
My Saviour, Brother, Friend ;
I dare believe, and trust thy word,
And on thy power depend.

V.

When I am brought exceeding low,
To thee in faith I'll cry,
Thy power shall save from ev'ry foe,
Though stronger far than I.

VI.

Lord, bring my soul from prison now,
And I will praise thy name ;
Jesus the Saviour, just, and true,
Unchangeably the same.

PSALM CXLIII.—1st VERSION, C. M.
Pleading with God.

I.

THY truth and faithfulness I plead,
O hear thy servant, Lord ;

A thick, dark, curved decorative flourish or ornament.

Come now and make me free indeed,
Now speak my soul restor'd.

II.

To judgment enter not with me,
Since none beneath the skies,
Could stand, or justified be,
Should'st thou in judgment rise.

III.

Each morning to my soul reveal,
The beauties of thy face ;
Thy loving kindness let me feel,
And taste thy saving grace.

IV.

Teach me to know and do thy will,
As angels do above ;
My heart and soul for ever fill,
With joy, and peace, and love.

PSALM CXLIII.—2nd VERSION, 1st PART, al

I.

FATHER, hear the prayer I make,
For thy Son, my Saviour's sake ;
As thou just and faithful art,
Speak the answer to my heart.

II.

Into judgment with thy clay,
Enter thou, O Lord, I pray ;
For should'st thou in anger rise,
Who could stand before thine eyes.

III.

See my persecuting foe,
Makes my humbled heart lie low ;
He in darkness makes me dwell,
As one dead, and doom'd to hell.

IV.

Overwhelm'd, and sore distress'd,
See my spirit pants for rest ;
See my heart is desolate,
Whilst I for thy mercy wait.

V.

I on days of old have thought,
When thy hand great wonders wrought,
Mercies oft I think upon,
Shown to me in days agoe.

VI.

Thee, O Lord, I now will praise,
Heart and hands to thee upraise ;
Hear me in the spirit groan,
For my God I long alone.

PSALM CXLIII.—2nd VERSION, all 7's.

PART II.

I.

PANTS my fainting heart for grace,
Lord, display thy beauteous face ;
Lest I sink into the grave,
Haste, O haste my soul to save.

II.

Let me hear thy voice betimes,
Wash out all my guilty crimes ;

Let me feel my sins forgiv'n,
Make me Saviour, meet for heav'n.

III.

Hide me underneath thy wings,
Keep me from all evil things ;
I to thee for refuge fly,
Save, O save, for sin is nigh.

IV.

Now my soul's desire fulfil,
Let me know and do thy will ;
To an upright land me bring,
Safely there thy love to sing.

V.

For the glory of thy name,
Quicken, Lord, my feeble frame ;
And as thou dost justice love,
All my sins and fears remove.

VI.

Now in mercy send me aid,
Bruise, O bruise the serpent's head ;
Sin and Satan's power destroy,
Fill my soul with peace and joy.

PSALM CXLIV.—1st PART, S. M.

The Christian Soldier.

I.

I'LL bless my Saviour God,
Who doeth all things right ;
Arm'd with his Spirit's two-edg'd sword,
Against my foes I'll fight.

II.

My goodness, and high tower,
 My fortress, and my shield;
 Depending on his love, and power,
 I'll boldly take the field.

III.

My Saviour shall subdue,
 The powers of earth and hell;
 Behold he maketh all things new,
 He doeth all things well.

PSALM CXLIV.—2nd PART, L. M.

A Prayer for Great Britain.

I.

O God, thy saving power display,
 In Britain's highly favour'd land;
 Inspire the hearts of all to pray,
 As in thy word thou giv'st command.

II.

Let rich and poor their praises bring,
 To thee the universal Lord;
 And ever pray, God save the King,
 And people, from the hurtful sword.

III.

Let Briton's sons and daughters grow,
 In ev'ry Gospel grace divine;
 Their faith by their obedience show,
 And in the Saviour's Image shine.

IV.

With peace and plenty bless the Land,
 Let men and beasts thy bounty share;

Supply our wants with liberal hand,
Make Britain thy peculiar care.

V.

Happy the dear peculiar race,
Whom Jesus thus vouchsafes to bless ;
Thrice happy all in such a case,
Whose God the Lord, the Saviour is.

PSALM CXLV.—1st PART, C. M.

Praise.

I.

THEE, O my God, will I extol,
With heart and voice I'll sing ;
As years, and hours, and minutes roll,
I'll praise my heav'nly King.

II.

While life, and thought, and being last,
I'll bless my Saviour's name ;
Jesus as yesterday that's past,
Eternally the same.

III.

How, great, how high my Saviour is,
Eternal be his praise ;
Glorious in truth and holiness,
And just in all his ways.

IV.

Full of compassion Jesus is,
His grace for all is free ;
O what a happiness is this,
I know he died for me.

V.

The Lord is good to all mankind,
 In ev'ry age and place ;
 Come, ask and have ; come, seek and find,
 Come, taste my Saviour's grace.

VI.

All, all thy works shall praise thee, Lord,
 And saints shall bless thy name ;
 Be thou by all thy works ador'd,
 Throughout Creation's frame.

PSALM CXLV.—2nd PART, C. M.

The goodness of God.

I.

THE Lord upholdeth all that fall,
 And raiseth up the poor ;
 When bowed down on him they call,
 And find his promise sure.

II.

The eyes of all his creatures wait,
 On him for daily food ;
 From day to day he gives them meat,
 And ev'ry needful good.

III.

Thou, Lord art nigh to all thy saints,
 Who thy great name revere ;
 Surely thou wilt supply the wants,
 Of all that be sincere.

IV.

I'll sing aloud my Saviour's praise,
 I love him and adore ;

With all his saints my voice I'll raise,
And praise him evermore.

PSALM CXLVI.—1st PART, L. M.

Praise.

I.

PRAISE ye the Lord from pole to pole,
I'll join the song with all my soul ;
Long as I breathe, or live, or move,
I'll shout and sing Redeeming Love.

II.

In mortal men put not your trust,
Since princes die, and turn to dust ;
Their breath departs, their pomp and power,
And thoughts, all perish in an hour.

III.

Blest is the man, and none but he,
That loves the Lord who died for me ;
He sees by faith the Saviour's face,
And banquets on his Gospel grace.

PSALM CXLVI.—2nd PART,

4 lines all 8's, and 26's.

The Goodness and Justice of God.

I.

THE Lord gives eyesight to the blind,
The Lord lifts up the sinking mind,
The Lord loves all the just ;

He helps the stranger in distress,
The widow and the fatherless,
Who in his mercy trust.

II.

But all who slight the Saviour's grace,
Shall surely fall before his face,
And feel his vengeful rod ;
All power is in his sov'reign hand,
In heav'n, and hell, and sea, and land,
Praise ye your Saviour God.

PSALM CXLVII.—1st PART, L M.

A General Exhortation to praise God.

I.

PRAISE ye the Lord, 'tis good to sing
Praises to God the Heav'nly King ;
'Tis pleasant daily to proclaim
The power and glory of his name.

II.

Jesus builds up his churches all,
And saves whene'er in faith we call ;
He gathers Israel's outcasts still,
And brings them to his holy hill.

III.

He healeth all of broken heart,
Who mourn for sin with inward smart ;
*His balmy blood their wounds can cure,
And all the pains his saints endure.

* Jer. viii. 22.

IV.

I'll sing his power and love divine,
†He made the stars, and bids them shine;
He knows their names and numbers too,
Let ev'ry knee to Jesus bow.

PSALM CXLVII.—2nd PART, L. M.

Universal Praise and Thanksgiving.

I.

SING to the Lord a thankful song,
With all your powers of heart and tongue;
Angels and men where'er ye be,
Praise ye his glorious majesty.

II.

Great is the Lord, and great his might,
His understanding's infinite;
He beautifies the meek with grace,
And clothes them with his righteousness.

III.

He spreads his clouds along the sky,
And showers down blessings from on high;
He makes the grass on mountains spring,
And fruitful vallies shout and sing.

IV.

'Tis he, Jehovah, just and good,
Gives men and beasts their daily food;
Sparrows and worms his hands supply,
And the young ravens when they cry.

† Col. i. 16, &c.

V.

The warlike horse or limbs of men,
 Delight not God, they are but vain ;
 But he takes pleasure in the just,
 Who fear him, and his promise trust.

PSALM CXLVII.—3rd PART, C. M.

A Song of Praise for Great Britain.

I.

O BRITAIN praise the Lord thy God,
 He is thy strength and stay ;
 Let all thy children keep his word,
 And walk in wisdom's way.

II.

He gives thee peace throughout the land,
 And pleasant food to eat ;
 Year after year his lib'ral hand
 Supplies with finest wheat.

III.

His light and truth, and Gospel grace
 On thee has ris'n and shown ;
 O happy people, blessed place,
 Where Christ the Lord is known.

IV.

Hail, fire and storm, are from the Lord,
 And rain, and frost, and snow :
 Floods, streams, and seas obey his word,
 And all the winds that blow.

V.

His statutes, and his judgments just,
 He brought us from above ;

O then let Britons fear and trust
The Lord of life and love.

PSALM CXLVIII —1st VERSION, C. M. D.

Universal Praise to God.

I.

PRAISE ye Jehovah, shout and sing,
Extol his glorious name ;
From day to day your praises bring,
His power and love proclaim.
All, all ye saints, where'er ye be,
And angels round his throne,
Praise ye the Co-eternal Three,
The Great Mysterious One,

II.

O sun and moon your maker praise,
And stars of feeble light ;
O heav'n of heav'ns in joyful lays
Adore the God of might.
Let earth and water, fire and air
Praise the Eternal King,
All, all ye creatures ev'ry where,
Your constant praises sing.

PSALM CXLVIII.—2nd VERSION, T. M.

I.

LET all things praise the Lord,
And bless his holy name,
By whose Almighty word
They into being came ;

All, all the creatures everywhere
By his decree establish'd are.

II.

Come praise him from the earth,
Ye dragons, and ye deeps,
Praise him who gave you birth,
And still preserves and keeps ;
He made the earth, and sea and sky,
And all the shining worlds on high.

III.

Ye vapours, hail, and snow,
Unite to praise the Lord,
And stormy winds that blow,
To execute his word ;
Come clap your hands and sing with me,
Ye vallies, hills, and ev'ry tree,

IV.

Young men and maidens bring
Your sacrifice of praise ;
Old men and children, sing
His wond'rous works and ways.
Kings, judges, people, great and small,
Praise ye the sov'reign Lord of all.

V.

O praise the Lord Most High,
How excellent his name ;
His glory fills the sky,
And all creation's frame.
Let Briton's sons above the rest,
With all their powers proclaim him blest.

PSALM CXLIX.—1st PART, 10's and 11's.

I.

O PRAISE ye the Lord, ye saints for 'tis meet,
Confide in his word, and bow at his feet ;
Let each congregation his praises proclaim,
Ascribing salvation to God and the Lamb.

II.

Ye Britons rejoice in Jesus's name,
With heart and with voice his mercy proclaim,
Be constantly trying his praises to sing,
Praise Jesus, O Zion, thy Seer, Priest and King.

PSALM CXLIX.—2nd PART, L. M.

I.

THE Lord takes pleasure in the just,
That fear him, and his promise trust ;
He beautifies the meek with grace,
And cloathes them with his righteousness.

II.

Ye suffering saints, lift up your heads,
Shout ye and sing upon your beds ;
Eternal rest for you remains,
The end of cares, and fears, and pains.

PSALM CL.—1st VERSION, L. M.

Universal Praise.

I.

PRAISE ye the Lord, his house within,
Apart from earth, and sense, and sin ;

Praise him who made the earth and sky,
With heart and voice uplifted high.

II.

His mighty acts your praise demands,
Ye are the work of his own hands ;
O praise him, as he doth excel
In power, and love unspeakable.

III.

How great his love, how vast his grace,
He gave his Son to save our race ;
For us the children of the fall,
The Saviour died for each, for all.

IV.

Praise ye Jehovah's glorious name,
With all your powers his praise proclaim,
Let all that breathe, and live, and move,
Sing praise to God, for GOD IS LOVE,

PSALM CL.—2nd VERSION, T. M.

I.

WITHIN the house of God,
Praise ye his holy name,
And o'er the earth abroad,
His mighty acts proclaim ;
Let all that breathe, and live, and move
Sing praise to God, for GOD IS LOVE.

THE CHRISTIAN'S DOXOLOGIES.

6 Lines, 48's, and 26's, as Psalm 1, 11, &c.

To God the Father, God the Son,
And God the Spirit, Three in One,
 Be endless praises giv'n ;
Angels and men with one consent,
Praise ye the Lord most excellent,
 The Lord of earth and heav'n.

6 Lines, all 8's, as Psalm 12, 30, &c.

Now to the Holy Trinity,
The Father, Son, and Spirit, be
Glory and thanks, and praises giv'n,
By saints on earth, and hosts of heav'n..
Angels and men with one accord,
Praise ye your Maker, and your Lord.

Long Metre, as Psalm 2, 18, &c:

Now to the Holy Trinity,
The Father, Son, and Spirit, be
Glory and praise forever giv'n,
By all his works, in earth and heav'n

6 Lines, all 7's, as Psalm 104. &c.

PRAISE the Lord ye heav'nly host,
Praise the Holy Trinity,
Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
Three in One, and One in Three.
Shout his praise ye people all,
O'er the whole terrestrial ball.

8 Lines, all 8's, as Psalm 4, 27, &c.

LET all holy angels of light,
Adore their Creator and King,
And all human beings unite
His justice and mercy to sing.
Jehovah the Father we'll bless,
Jehovah the son we'll revere,
Jehovah the Spirit we'll praise,
And worship with reverence and fear.

Long Metre Double.

To God the Father's glorious throne,
We'll ceaseless Hallelujah's raise,
And bless our Saviour, God the Son,
In psalms of never-ceasing praise.
The Holy Ghost we'll ever bless,
With all his shining choirs above ;
His Godhead and his power confess,
Th' unchanging source of life and love.

Common Metre.

To Father, Son, and Spirit, be
Eternal praises giv'n ;
Let all of high and low degree,
Adore the God of heaven.

Short Metre, as Psalm 13, &c.

LET God the Father, Son,
And Spirit be ador'd ;
In persons three, in essence one,
One Universal Lord.

Short Metre Double.

To God the Father's throne,
We'll constant praises bring ;
And praise his well beloved Son,
Our Saviour, and our King.
The Holy Ghost we'll bless,
With all the hosts above,
Spirit of truth and holiness,
And everlasting love.

Common Metre Double.

To God the Father's glorious throne,
We'll constant praises bring ;
And praise our Saviour, God the Son,
Our Prophet, Priest, and King.

The Holy Ghost our God we'll praise,
With all the hosts above,
And sing the riches of his grace,
And comforts of his love.

8 Lines, 7's and 6's, as Psalm 8, &c.
Now to the eternal Three,
The great mysterious One,
Father, Son, and Spirit, be
Perpetual honours done.
Angels all your praises bring,
Mortals join with one accord,
Let the whole creation sing
The praises of the Lord.

Peculiar Metre, as Psalm 38: 2nd Version.

PRAISE ye th' Almighty Lord,
The Father and the word ;
Also the pure Celestial Dove ;
Angels and men unite,
Praise God with all your might,
Th' unchanging source of life and love.

Trumpet Metre, as Psalm 148, &c.

To God the Father, Son,
And Spirit, glory be ;
The undivided one,
The Co-eternal three :

YE creatures all, below, above,
Sing praise to God, for GOD IS LOVE.

4 Lines, all 7's, as Psalm 47, &c.

Now to the eternal three,
Father, Son, and Spirit, be
Universal praise address'd,
God o'er all forever bless'd.

4 Lines, 10's and 11's, as Psalm 106, and 149.

YE saints of the Lord sing praise to his name,
The truth of his word is always the same ;
The Father, the Son, and the Spirit adore,
Whose nature is one, and who reigns evermore.

Peculiar Metre, as Psalm 117.

GLORY, honour, thanks, and blessing,
To the Trinity be giv'n ;
Praise Jehovah without ceasing,
Saints on earth and hosts of heav'n ;
Praise the Father, praise the Son,
Praise the Spirit, three in one.

4 Lines, all 10's, as Psalm 107, 3rd Part.

YE creatures all, in earth and heav'n agree,
With all your powers, to praise the Trinity ;

The Father bless, the Son revere, adore,
With God the Holy Ghost, for evermore.

Peculiar Metre, as Psalm 95, 1st Part, 2nd Versio

LET God be ador'd,
The Father and word,
And Spirit of grace,
On God in three persons eternally praise.

6 Lines, 26's and 47's, as Psalm 126, 2nd Versio

COME sing Jehovah's praise,
Ancient of endless days ;
Praise the Father, praise the Son,
Praise the holy Heav'nly Dove ;
One in three, and three in one,
One eternal God or LOVE.

Peculiar Metre, as Psalm 137.

WITH angels and seraphs in heav'n so high,
Jehovah three one we adore thee ;
Our spirits now ransom'd, can angels outvie ?
Though casting their crowns now before th
Jehovah the Father, all praise to thy name,
Jehovah the Son we will bless thee ;
Jehovah the Spirit, our God we proclaim,
As Father and Son we confess thee.

8 Lines, all 7's, as Psalm 95, 1st Version.

CREATURES all, with one accord,
Bless the great Jehovah's name ;
Praise the Universal Lord,
Through the whole Creation's frame.
Praise the Holy Trinity,
Praise the Father, praise the Son ;
To the Holy Spirit be Everlasting honours done.
