Loyal Man's Psalter.

O R ;

Some Select P S A L M S in Latin and English Verse, fit for the Times of Persecution.

Carminē Dii Superi placantur, Carminē Manes.
Horat. lib. 1 Ep. ad Augustum

P S A L M I.

[To the TUNE of the 100 Psalm.]

1. BLeft is the Loyal Man whose steps,
No tray'trous Counsel lead aside,
Nor stands in Rebel's ways, nor sit's
Where God, and Justice Men deride.

2. But on God, and his lawful King:
Fix's his love, and whole delight:
And how to serve them well by day
Employ's his wakeful thoughts by night.

3. He like a tree from living streams
Derives his Sap, and kindly Juice;
Rebels shall never blast his hopes;
His Branches timely fruits produce.

4. No cross Events disturb his thoughts,
Or check the pleasures of his Mind:
Whilst wicked Traytors are dispers'd
Like Chaff, by every stormy Wind.

5. Tho' Rebels here may pass for Saints
And vile Hypocrits for Grace,
Their guilt when judg'd will find no plea;
Nor they among the Just a place.

6. God will reward the Just man's works,
As he approv's the ways they tread,
But the smooth paths of Rebels down
To Death, and to Damnation lead.

Felix ille animi quem non de tramite recto,
Impia perjura flexit Contagio turba:
Non iter Erroris tenuit, Sessore Catbedra
Pestifera, facilem dedit & rebellibus aurem
Sed vita rimatur iter melioris, & alta
Mente Dei leges noctesque diesque revolvit.
Ille velut rignua qua margine censa ripa est
Arbor erit: Quam non violento Sirius aestu
Exurit, non torret hiems, sed prodiga laeto
Proventus beat agricolam: nec flore caduco
Arridens, blanda dominum se lassat inanem.

Non ita Rebellis gens, pacti nefcitis sacri,
Contempnitque poli: Subito sed turbine reple
Pulveris instar erunt, volucris quem concita gyro
Aura levis torquet vacuo ludibria Caelo.

Ergo ubi veridicus inlax in nuba serena
Dicere jus vehiet, scelerisque coarguit orbem
Non coram impietas mastos atollere vultus
Nec misera audebit iusta se adungere turba
(rentum).

Nam pater arberem iustorum, & fronde ca-
Novis iter, sensumque tenet: curvosque secuta
Impietas fraudum anfractus scelerata peribit.

PSALM IV.

1. Hear me, O Lord, the great Support
Of mine Integrity,
Thou hast my former troubles eas'd,
Now to my Prayers draw nigh.
2. Rebels! that wou'd my glory stain,
My Government despise;
How long will ye pursue vain hopes,
And please your selves with Lyes?
3. Know that the Lord do's righteous men
With special favour own:
Tho' you despise me, he do's will
On my Petitions frown.
4. Rebel no more, let quiet thoughts
Instru't, and make you wise;
5. Join a pure heart, with trust in God
As the best Sacrifice.
6. Tho' others in distrust of thee
To other succours flie;
Thou art our hope, Lord, cast on us
A favorable eye.

(reflas)
O Pater, O hominum, diuinaq; aeterna po-
Si iocera mihi Conscie mentis,
Qui mihi consiliiq; inopi, incertoque salutis,
Imploranti rebus in arsis.
Turba quid sit, lasumq; educta in aequor,
Nunc obsequi fraude maligna
Da mihi te facilem, & iustis bonus annue votis,
Non dura placabilis aure.
O hominum caeca mentes, quo me usque relicto
Inuenti mendacibus umbris,
Sollicitum vana torquetis pectora curas?
Tandem credita uera monentii:
Quem Deus electum throno affertur honore,
Per discrimina cuncta tuctur. (roganti)
Me Dominus ad se clamantem auxiliumque
Mitit & exorabilis audit.
Ergo Dei Rebelles! saltem agnoscite numen!
Et uisitis absistite prauis.
Vobiscum in tacito per noctem expendite lecto
Longi dies, ac facti diei.

PSALM XII.

1. Lord, if thou dost not come, and help,
Goodness will flie away,
And loyal men will find no place,
If thou much longer stay.
2. For treachery now credit gains,
They're wise that act a part,
Who tho' their words are smooth, intend
False Treason in their Heart.
3. God will these Traytors all destroy,
And all their Arts will shame;
Who fear not Gods revenge, and count
Religion but a Name.
4. Pow'r is their Justice, whose defects
By falsehood they supply,
And plead forth their injurious Tongues
Unbouded liberty
5. But God that hear's the sighs and groans
Of such as are oppress'd;
Will vindicate their Cause, and raise
His pow'r to give them rest.

Affer opem, seruator opem fer, pulsare-
Intrimerata fides: (cessit)
Nuda fides, hominum fugit Commercia; vana
Cum socio loquitur.
Quisque suo, blanda exereens mandacia lingua,
Corde scelus medians.
Ora Deo fraudum dulci medicata veneno.
Conterat, & potius
Falsi loquam extrema lingua radice recutit:
Quique pudore carent.
Dicere me: mecumui falsa ad perjuris linguis
Fortiter intrepidi
Assu: sciamus, & nos age confitemini ad omne
Flagitium. Neque enim
Oris frenam ei, linguarum repagula quendam,
Me nisi habere patet.
At Dominus planctus iustorum & dura ferent
Aure trahens gemitus; (non)
Surgam: et iudam iura ut respiciat in arce
Insidiisque procul.

God's

6. God's words from all deceit are free,
His truth hath oft been try'd;
Silver is not so free from dross,
Tho' seven times purify'd
7. Thy promise Lord, shall never fail
To keep the Just from harm,
8. Tho' when Usurpers rule, bad men
On every side will swarm

*Securum statuum, hæc Dominus, quod ab ore
Cumque fuit Domini, (fidei)
Auro purius est. Auro quod fusile fecit
Septima flamma coquens :
Dum fax in fumos exploratore Camino,
Crassa abiit & cineres.
Pollicii memor ergo, mala mæta toxica lingua
Sanctæ parvus inhibe :
Pestifera de gente hominum nos (cprime custos)
Asere perpetuo.
Nam late impietas grassatur libera, passim
Omnia plena malis,
Quum penes injustos jus est, & iusta malorum
Sunt metuenda bonis.*

P S A L M XIV.

- 1 Fools in their hearts have said, no God
Do's mind the Affairs below;
For tho' they speak it not aloud,
They live as if 'twere so.
Their Principles are all corrupt,
Their actions hateful are;
They're only skill'd in Treachery,
From Good estranged far.
2. God from his Throne above look'd down,
And took a strict survey,
What men did seek, and know the Lord,
And his just Laws obey.
3. He found them all degenerate,
With Treachery o're grown,
What was Religious, Just, and Good,
None practis'd, no not one. (morse,
4. Strange! that they shou'd without re-
Like Bread the Just devour:
Yet neither own thee by their Prayers,
Nor dread thy Mighty Pow'r.
5. For all their Confidence; strange Fears,
Shall seize them unawares:
When God do's help the Just, for these
Due vengeance he prepares.
6. You now deride their Trust in God,
But when his Pow'r shall bring
Salvation to his People, then
You'll sigh, and they shall sing.

*Sæcum insania callide
Indulgens vitiiis sic loquitur, Deum
Formido sibi creduli
Commenta est hominum, quum temerario
Casu fors feras omnia.
Ergo flagitium se penitus dedit
Secura impietas Dei:
Nec quisquam ex animo recta sequi studet.
De Templo Æthereo Deus,
Ad curas hominum lumina verterat,
Siquis non stolidè improbus.
Ad cultum revocet pectora huminis,
Omnes in scelera omnia
Conjurasse putes: fæda nefari,
Detestandaque perpetrari:
Nec cuiquam est studium recta capescere.
Nam qui recta capescerent?
Quem sanis aditum consilii darent
Quorum nequitia, & scelus
Infecere animos? Qui populum meum,
Ceu prædam fera devorant.
At illos gelido metu.
Horror concutiet, iustitia Deus
Quum patronus opem feret
Insonti: Incerpiscans salibus insidos,
Vobis ludibrio fuit.
Insomni pictas: Vos inopum pium
Rifistis studium, preces,
Spes lentas, trepidas sollicitudines:
At cui fides inops, Deum
Spes & vota bonos ducet ad exitus.*

P S A L M X V .

1. L Ord, let me know that happy Man,
Whom thou so well dost love;
That he may praise thee here below,
And dwell with thee above.
2. 'Tis he who loyal is, and good
Whose works are right, and just
Whose heart, and words are true, and whom
One may securely trust.
3. His Neighbour's Credit do's not wound
By a detracting Tongue,
Nor in his Infamy delights;
Much less to do him wrong.
4. Traytors, and their lewd Practices
His virtuous Soul do's loath;
But shews to just, and Loyal men
Kindness, and Honour both.
Who do's not break his Oath, tho' he
To his own damage swear's;
But his strict Virtue far before
His Interest prefer's.
5. Who hates Exactions, and reject's
Bribes to betray the Just:
This Man shall ne're be mov'd, but may
In God securely rest.

Sancta Sionis Tempia quis incolet
Rex magne secum? quem status-tima
Sanctum super montem, ut malorum
Liber agat placidam quietem?
Quem fraudis expert, simplicitas jurat
Urgetque rectum proposui tenax:
Nec mente sacra grata blandam
Edocuit simulare linguam.

Nec ore mendax exitiabilis
Concinnat arte: nec mala proximis
Excogitat, nec dulcem amicum
Opprobriis maculat pudendis.
Qui fastuosum despiciat infidum
Dei timentem suscipit & pium:
Tenaxque promissis, fideique
Indocilis temerare pactam.

Qui non egenos sanore perdidit,
Non innocentes munere prodidit.
In monte sancto, hac qui peragit,
Perpetua requie fruatur.

P S A L M XXXVII .

1. L Et none be troubl'd to behold
The Rebel's prosperous state;
Nor by their good Success grow bold
Their Crimes to imitate.
2. For grass is fresh, and green, before
The mower cuts it down,
And beauteous flowers within a while
Are wither'd by the Sun.
3. The loyal, and the just are wise
Who do on God rely,
4. He their Enjoyments will secure,
Their just desires supply.
5. Leave thy Concerns to him, in firm
Dependance on him live;
He'll either grant what thou wouldst
Or what is better give.

(have

Ne livor urat emulus
Te, si beatos videris
Rebeller, nec Euri tuis opes
Fugaciora invade.

Nam sic facessit illico
Umbratilis felicitas,
Marcent comis arenis
Ut falce secca gramina.

At tu Dei fiducia
Insumbe rectis artibus:
Dumque terram, ut incolas
Donabit ac te muniet.

In hoc sit oblectatio,
In hoc voluptas unice:
Is te fovebit fugiter,
Potique reddet competentem.

6. Tho' slanderous tongues should like a
Thy loyalty obscure; (cloud
He'll clear thy innocence, the light
Shall not appear more pure.

7. Think not meer wealth make's happy
For what Contents the poor, (Men,
Is better then Rebel's ill got,
Or ill Employed store.

Committite vitam, rem, decem

Animi tibi exsententia :

Confecta reddet omnia.

Illustris aurora ut jubar

Tua facies ut sis aquilas

Ut luce virum sis tua,

Terias vir justus incolet,

Sedisque linquet posteris.

PSALM LXXIII.

[As the 100 Psalm.]

1. Certain it is that God is Kind
to those that loyal are, and good;
2. But yet my faith was at a loss,
My feet did stagger where I stood.
3. I saw the Rebel's prosperous state,
My Envy at those fools did rise
4. That when a healthful age was past
A quiet Death should close their Eyes.
5. Exempt from plagues, and miseries
That just men seek t' escape in vain;
6. They're cover'd o're with violence
And pride surround's them like a Chain.
7. Pamper'd with ease, luxury,
Their body thrives look's fat and fair;
Their wealth rol's in with a full tide,
Beyond their hopes, without their Care.
8. Such is their pride that they profess
Oppressive Courts without shame,
9. Dare Heav'n it self with blasphemies,
And blast their lawful monarch's name.
10. This give's disturbance to his mind;
And passion make's his tears to flow,
11. Doubts rise within him whether God
Discern's, or minds things here below.
12. These Rebel's are the prosperous men
Thrive in the World, and riches gain;
13. I've wash'd my Hands in inno cence,
And cleans'd my Heart (say's he) in vain,

Tellus ut nudis hospitium neget
Undaque terras fluctibus obruant,

Aer coruscis fulminet ignibus,

Ruina mundi sidera miscet :

Dei potentis non bonitas tamen

In rebus arctis destruitur pavor.

Purascue mentes nequitia sinet

Maroris astu funditus opprimi.

Quam pene lapsu pes mihi lubrico

Gressum fessellit, dum pede melior

Immensi parvo, dum trivina mea

Expendo stultus iudicium Dei !

Fervebat ira pectus, & amulo

Livoris astu quum scelerum omnium

Contaminatis sordibus Rebelles,

Florere cunctis conspicerem bonis.

Sors illa cunctis invida, mobilis,

Infida servat perpetua fide

Istis tenorem, & robere vivido

Firmos senectum ducit ad ultimam.

Exempta duris vita molestiis,

Curisque (pavidus quae relinquit coquunt

Mortalibus) per latitiam fluit

Luxumque, & aegris para laboribus.

Hac mente spectant attentis pii,

Et adstanti pectore fluctuant :

Secumque musant, scilicet haec Deus

Quem cernat dris abstinere ignibus ?

Opes abunde suppeditant milis,

Crescitque nullo fine pecunia :

Secura pacis molliter omnia

14. I oft consider'd with my self
Th' unequal ways of providence,
I found them hard to be resolv'd
And doubts long kept me in suspense.
15. At last I enquir'd at God's house,
And there did my mistakes amend;
Before I only View'd their way,
But now I understood their End.
16. I saw the slippery precipice
On which their tottering Feet were plac'd
17. And with what terrours they were
When down to sudden ruin Cast, (scis'd)
18. Their happiness was like adream,
Or shade that quickly vanishe's
19. Lord what a stupid beast was I!
20. To vex my self at their Success.
21. For all this while I was thy Care
By thee sustain'd, tho' suffering;
- 22 Thy Counsels here shall guide me still
And afterward to glory bring.

Quassante nullo turbine transigunt.
Frustra ergo puro pectore vivunt.
Frustra innocentem contemno manum:
Frustra Labores perfero, varquos
Dolore, nullis non erucior malis;
Rursus verebar ne temerario
Ausu improbarem Consilium Dei
Ac arbitrata forte miserrimos
Selectos quos is pigriora muncipat,
Causas latentes dum sequor anxius,
Et pertinacis viribus ingeni
Pugno, profundum se chaos ingerit,
Et nolle mentis tamen adobruit.
Labore tandem ferens inutili
Ad te recurro, Rex bone celitum:
Quietus expello ex auditu tuis
Quid hos & illor separaret exitus.
Vidi repente quam pade lubrico
Starent Rebelles, quam stabiles parum
Opes tenerent quam fragili loco
Fultos ruina precipiti trahent,
Procella vindicet ac sonitus tue
Ire, fugaces cum dampno suo
Evanescent divitiæ: Manet
Umbra invidenda nulla potentie.

PSALM XCIV.

1. Thou great Avenger of all wrongs,
At length thy justice shew,
2. Arise, and to proud Rebels give
Rewards that are their due.
3. How long shall traytors thus triumph,
And boast their Villanies
4. Speak scornfully of God himself,
And Providence despise;
5. Who whilst the ruin of the just
And loyal men they plot.
Say that the Lord do's not discern,
Or else regard's it not.
6. Since (God and his Vicegerent then,)
These brutes will not obey,
God g've's them up to be devour'd
By foreign Beasts of prey.
7. Lord, he's a happy man whom thou;
By chastisements hast taught;

O fraudis ultor, sceleris O vindex Deus,
Ostendas nomen perfidiosis Contray
O just iudex orbis ex pergisce (cum
Meritisque pavis reprime arrogantiam,
Quoqueque tandem, Rector orbis optime,
Sese superbi jectitabunt insidi?
Deus a sceleri factus in scelero suo
Plaudis: sibi que sabulis stultis placet:
Tumuge populum pedibus interim premunt
Tuam protervum hie raditatem proterunt,
Vidua mruclaudis, advenamus, & omnibus
Parente cassis abruvum molestiis
Secum, missans, hec Deus non aspicit,
Nec fanda prorsus & nefanda intelligit.

- And thereby to a sence of thee,
And of his duty brought.
8. God willing mercy at the length
From troubles set him free.
Whilft vengeance ruin's treach'rous Men's
Short-lived prosperity.
9. Tho' loyal men a while Chastis'd,
May under troubles grone;
God will not utterly forsake,
Nor cast away his own.
10. Neglected Judgment shall return,
Again to act its part.

And then felicity shall Crown
The men of loyal Heart.

11. T' oppose my traitrous foes, I call'd
To other aids in vain.

Without thy succours in the grave,
I and my hopes had lain

12. When I despair'd to keep my Feet,
Thy mercy me upheld:
Thy Comforts eas'd my troubl'd thoughts
And Swelling passions quell'd.

PSALM XCVII.

1. God Reign's let all the Earth rejoice;
2. Tho' darkness may surround,
And clouds his ways of providence,
Yet justice is their ground:
3. Lightings, when God prepare's for
Do flame around the skies; (wrath,
4. A fire before him go's to burn
Up all his Enemies.
The Earth see's this and quaking the Hills,
5. Like melted Wax flow down;
6. The Heav'ns his Righteousness declare,
And men his glories own.
7. Confounded be those Rebels all,
That to Usurpers bow,
And make what Gods and Kings they please,
And worship them below.
8. Good men rejoice when punishments
shall on these Rebels fall;
9. Which shew their Gods and Kings were
And thou above them all. (vain,

*Beatus ille deum quem parent

Ope destitutam negliger, nec infidis

Al iquitatis dirigit norma non sine
Vitæque ad illam dirigens boni suam.*

*Contra Rebelles quis mihi auxilium ferat?
Necum impium quis premet superbiam?
Nam jam sepulchris frigidus sub frigido

Firmasset animum, & jam vacillantem gradu
Fulsisset, & me pene submersum malis

Illiæque flammis obruit sequacibus
Fulguribusque micat late flagrantibus æther
Attonita tellus intremisces: montium.
Saxa sinunt capido cœcera liquefit ab igne,
A sempiterni pavido vulsu nuntius
Terra sui a vultu domini tremefacta liquefit

10. All ye that love, and fear the Lord;
Preserve your innocence.
Then let these Rebels seek your fall,
God will be your defence.
11. Th'immortal seeds of light, and bliss
For loyal Men are sown;
A joyful harvest will at length
Their work, and sorrows Crown
12. Then let your Cheerful temper show
The God you serve is kind;
Praise him for mercies past, and wait
With Joy for these behind.

*Dumque sacris placeant pectus ludibria trunci,
Se gloriantur impio scelere pias
Leta Sini amabas errorum cernet abactas

Sacrilega ad spicem vani sacraria ritus
Inversa, penas lucra meritis infido,
Ergo deum quicumque pio complexus amore,
A scelere mentem carmine parumque manum,
Nam domini cordi est pius ac vitæ omne bonorum
A vi tenetur impietis iramissis.
Et letum offundit lumen cultoribus æqui
Et pura sceleris corda recreas gaudio.
Vos quibus est cordi reverentia juris Et æqui
Gaudete domino spe favoris ac opis.
Secum gratoque Deum super æthera cantu
Sanctumque nomen ejus usque polite.*
